EAST BAY EXPLOSION — A fireball roared up from flames at the M&T Chemical Co. plant near Richmond early this morning following an explosion and fire that shook homes and awakened residents in the East Bay, Marin County and as far away as Napa to the north and Redwood City to the south. Nine persons were injured, none seriously.

SAN PABLO — An explosion tore through a chemical plant early today, sending huge fireballs hundreds of feet into the air, breaking windows a mile away and awakening Bay Area residents as far as 50 miles from the scene.

Nine persons were injured in the blast and fire which caused an estimated $1 million damage to the M&T Chemical Co. Most were injured by flying glass in their homes nearby.

A huge cloud of smoke drifted over the East Bay after the 4:27 a.m. explosion. Residents in Marin County, San Francisco, and as far away as Redwood City and Palo Alto said they were awakened. Many far from the scene said it sounded like a sonic boom or felt like an earthquake.

San Quentin officials who live at the prison and some of the prisoners were awakened by the blast, although heavy sleepers reportedly felt nothing.

In Larkspur, police said their building was shaken and that they received four or five calls before the Marin County Communications Center broadcast that the disturbance probably resulted from an explosion in Richmond.

One Belvedere resident reported that his house shook as if involved in an earthquake and several calls were received by Corte Madera police asking what had happened.

Police switchboards in East Bay communities were jammed with calls.

Chief Manuel Teixeira of the San Pablo Fire Department said the damage would come to "more than a million dollars, you can be sure of that."

Brookside Hospital's emergency room reported treating nine persons, all for minor injuries. None of the injured came from within the plants themselves but from homes in the largely agricultural area north of Richmond.

Periodically, 55-gallon steel drums in the plant exploded. Mrs. Catherine Martin, who lives across the road from the plant, said drums were blown 100 feet in the air.

Firemen said the explosions, near the center of the two-acre complex, flattened and tore up buildings in a widening circle.

The blasts ripped up basketball-sized chunks of pavement and hurled them 150 feet across the street where they tore ragged holes through the sheet metal siding of DeCarlo's Cabinet Co.

Tough New Smog Rules Suggested

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Mandatory inspection and maintenance of automobile antismog devices has been proposed for four of California's major air basins — the San Francisco Bay Area, San Diego, Sacramento Valley and San Joaquin Valley.

In addition, the installation of catalytic converter devices on used vehicles has been recommended for the Bay Area, San Diego and Sacramento Valley basins.

The recommendations were made Wednesday in a staff report to the California Air Resources Board, which set hearings on them during the last half of May.

The proposals are aimed at achieving acceptable air quality levels of oxidant and carbon monoxide by 1977. They were made after the Federal Environmental Protection Agency demanded revisions of standards in the four basins, plus the South Coast air basin.

The South Coast basin was excluded from the latest proposals because the EPA held hearings on its plan there in March, and the board wishes to evaluate the information obtained by the EPA before making further recommendations, a spokesman said.

For the Bay Area, tighter controls on emissions from organic solvents in such industries as dry cleaning were also recommended.

Treatment At 'Hanoi Hilton'

By MARY LEYDECKER
(Second of three articles)

For Capt. William W. Butler of San Rafael, his first four days in the "Hanoi Hilton" in 1967 were probably the worst of the more than five years he was to spend in North Vietnam as a prisoner of war.

The Communist captors never "considered us American officers or prisoners of war," Butler said. "We were always called 'war criminals' ".

Although the treatment Butler and other Americans received at the hands of the North Vietnamese was never a bed of roses, he considers himself lucky because his periods of solitary confinement and torture were relatively short.

When he first was taken to the Hanoi prison after being shot down over a village northwest of the city, Butler received the torture he said was a customary part of efforts to extract military information.

Butler said he was first beaten, then put into "the straps," ropes with which his arms were tied behind him in a painful position and his body immobilized.

"I was gagged — so that was painful, too — so no one could hear screams," he said.

Then his captors from time to time pulled on his elbows and arms, causing more pain. When he was released from the ropes fom time to time, "it was just as painful," he said.

Off and on during the four days, he was asked if he was ready to answer a particular question, and while pain made him answer, Butler said, "I never told them the truth."

He said his captors asked such questions as the location of the next bombing targets in North Vietnam, but because of the possibility of capture, he and other pilots were never given such information.

Nonetheless, Butler said he apparently satisfied his tormentors by making up answers and "then sticking to them."

After what turned out to be a relatively short torture period, Butler was returned to a three-man cell.

"There were extremely heavy bombings of Hanoi at that time, and quite a number of people (Americans) were captured," so Butler speculated the North Vietnamese guards were too busy to concentrate

Prices Up By Leaps In March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With finished food costs rising by record proportions, wholesale prices overall leaped 2.2 per cent in March for their biggest one-month advance in 22 years, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said consumer finished foods — those ready for retail sale and ranging from canned goods to completely processed meats — soared 4.6 per cent in March after seasonal adjustment. The increase far exceeded a 1.6 per cent rise in February and was the highest since the government began keeping such records in 1947.

AFL-CIO President George Meany called the report "proof positive" that all food prices must be controlled immediately, but presidential economic adviser Herbert Stein said more controls were unnecessary and that administration action "will alleviate the food problem later this year."

The jump for consumer finished foods was coupled with record highs for lumber and sharp increases for fuels, among other items.

The BLS said the overall March increase, largest for any month since January, 1951, meant that the Wholesale Price Index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 21.5 per cent, in the first three months of 1973, also the largest quarterly increase in 22 years.

Leading the increases among consumer finished foods were meats, poultry and fish, up 7.8 per cent; eggs, 17.3 per cent; fresh and dried fruits and vegetables, 7.9 per cent, and dairy products, 2.3 per cent.

There also were increases of 9.3 per cent for livestock and 20.3 per cent for live poultry.

Meany said the report was "proof positive that all food prices must be controlled stringently and at once."

The administration has resisted putting controls on farm products.

The March statistics were compiled before President Nixon ordered retail price ceilings on beef, pork and lamb a week ago.

County Superagency Proposal Is Unveiled

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A major reorganization to consolidate three county departments in one was recommended yesterday by County Administrator John F. Barrows who said the proposal was part of a move to streamline local government.

As outlined by him, the departments of planning, public works and parks and recreation would be combined in a new Department of Planning and Public Facilities.

Barrows recommended that Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. head the new department while Parks Director Pierre W. Joske and Planning Director Werner von Gundell be demoted to third level supervisory slots.

The position of assistant director would be filled by Foreaker, who is believed to be leaning toward filling the slot with someone with an administrative background.

"It became apparent that there are many similar and somewhat parallel activities being conducted in these departments," Barrows said, adding that consolidation would eventually save tax dollars and provide better service.

"For instance," he said, "maintenance of facilities is carried on by both public works and parks and recreation.

"While planning is the primary function of the planning

Judge Refuses To Shift Trial

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Superior Court Judge Kenneth Eyman yesterday refused to transfer the trial for two men charged in the shooting of two Sonoma sheriff's deputies.

The defense attorney for Doublas Savory and David Ferguson sought to have the trial removed to San Francisco on grounds that adverse publicity would prevent the defendants from getting justice in Sonoma County.

The two men are accused of shooting the two deputies March 2 in a kidnap incident near Sebastopol.

Heroin User Admits Till Tapping Risky

By LARRY MOWELL

Stephen Luis Young makes his living stealing from unguarded cash registers. It is a high risk business, which has landed him behind bars for almost five of the past seven years, but he has kept at it with singular determination in order to satisfy his craving for heroin.

From New York City to Los Angeles and finally to the Bay Area and Marin County, the 28-year-old till tapper has left a trail littered with 66 arrests and probation violations.

His 11-year drug habit and method of financing it have withstood the punitive assaults of fines and jail and the rehabilitative efforts of probation officers, halfway houses and even the California Rehabilitation Center for treatment of drug addiction.

Young, in short, is "an example of failure" by the legal system, according to Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court. Nevertheless, the judge yesterday made another effort to turn Young around by ordering him to spend six months in jail and 18 months in a treatment program or go to prison.

The judge wasn't too optimistic. In the words of probation officer Jesse W. Johnson, "Mr. Young apparently has never developed any other method of existence except by furtively stealing money from store cash registers. The instant offense is simply one more of these acts, which he obviously performs for personal gain in terms of food and clothing and to support his drug addiction."

The "instant offense," the theft Jan. 2 of $300 in cash and food stamps from a cash register in a Tamalpais Valley Market, made Young the headache of Marin courts for the first time.

Young's long list of till taps and other thefts astounded Marin officials. "I think society is getting, sick, sore, lame and disabled from arresting this man," Menary said.

But apart from the length of his record and his choice of till tapping instead of burglary, Young is not unlike numerous others caught in the vicious circle of heroin and theft.

In his case and many others that appear on Menary's criminal calendar, the resilient power of a narcotic has outmuscled all punitive and rehabilitative measures.

Malvino Is New Mayor Of Larkspur

Malvino, elected to the council in 1966, served his first term as mayor in 1968. He operates a furniture store in San Francisco.

Malvino was the only nominee for mayor, and was unanimously elected.

Councilman Joan Sestak also was nominated for vice mayor, by Councilman Robert H. Lee — like Mrs. Sestak, who is a freshman on the council. In that voting, Brixon and Mrs. Sestak abstained, and Lee joined Fleckles and Malvino in voting for Brixon, to avoid a minority election.

The city staff presented Fleckles with a desk alarm clock and pen set, and the Larkspur Volunteer Firemen gave Malvino a gavel.

Span Panel Rejects Bus Purchase Plea

A committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors today rejected a staff plea to buy 30 more buses — a rejection that will mean no new buses at least until mid 1974.

The transportation committee voted 4-3 to postpone action until after a pending financial study of tolls and fares is completed in six months.

The district's Washington lobbyist, Richard Smart, said the district has only two more weeks to apply for federal transit funds during the next fiscal year. The result of the committee's action apparently will be to foreclose federal funding for new buses until fiscal 74-75, he said.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring cautioned before the vote that failure to buy more buses to carry increasing number of commuters will mean increasingly severe traffic. In addition to the 30 buses needed by next spring, he said, another 32 buses or a fourth ferry boat will be needed by July 1976.

The motion to postpone action until after the six month study was made by director Laurence Mazzola of San Francisco, who said the cost of the buses, when combined with an operating deficit of about $600,000 a year just for the 30 buses, may be more than the district's purse can stand.

The financial study will consider the effects of raising tolls and fares.

Without federal funding there is no chance the district would buy the buses since government grants would cover two-thirds of the $1.5 million to buy the 30 coaches.

Petaluma city officials pleaded unsuccessfully for committee approval of the additional buses, which, they said, would help to improve Sonoma County service.

About the only high ground left in West Alton, Mo., a small community on the Mississippi River is this church. Communist Attacks Heaviest Launched Since Cease-Fire

SAIGON (UPI) — Communists attacks in all of South Vietnam's four military regions touched off the heaviest fighting since the Jan. 28 cease-fire and stirred fears of a new North Vietnamese-Viet Cong offensive, military sources said today.

The fighting ranged from the far north, where the Communists pumped 785 rounds of artillery and mortar fire into a South Vietnamese position in a single 20-minute period, to the Mekong Delta in the south, where 16 Communists and 23 South Vietnamese died in a three-hour battle.

One military source said the Communist attacks were probes designed to find a South Vietnamese weak spot and prepare for a major offensive.

'They (the Communists) never wanted a cease-fire at all. Now they are using the Joint Military Commission (JMC), the International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICS) and the talks in Paris as a shield to gain more time to move supplies into the country, send in reinforcements and prepare for an attack," the source said.

Tong Le Chan has been surrounded by the Communists since Feb. 26. Its estimated 500 defenders have taken about 33 per cent casualties and the South Vietnamese have said they will have to launch a fullscale relief operation if action is not taken soon.

The ICCS—the peace-keeping force composed of representatives from Canada, Hungary, Indonesia and Poland—discussed the situation at Tong Le Chan for two hours today, a source said. The source said the group discussed sending a second letter to the two-party JMC, composed of members from South Vietnam and the Viet Cong, asking the commission to provide a liaison officer to aid in an investigation of the situation.

One letter was sent last Saturday, but there has been no reply. The South Vietnamese said they will boycott the JMC meetings until some action is taken about Tong Le Chan.

A military source said the cease-fire could break down completely if something is not done at the camp. He said there is a plan on paper to form a relief force which would involve about 10,000 men.

"The Communists could do one of two things," the source said. "They could withdraw or they could stay and resist. In the second case, they will send in reinforcements from Loc Ninh, then we would have to send in reinforcements."

Fighting between Communist and government troops moved closer to Saigon Wednesday in the third largest battle reported since the first week of the cease-fire.

The Saigon command said Communist troops shelled a Saigon infantry battalion position of roughly 500 men and followed up with a ground assault near Cai Lay, a Mekong Delta market town 46 miles southwest of Saigon.

A command spokesman said the government troops repelled the attack at sundown after three hours of fighting, but he reported 23 infantrymen killed and 56 wounded, plus 16 Communist soldiers killed. In terms of South Vietnamese dead, it was the third biggest battle since the truce was declared and the biggest in more than two months.

The command said 19,985 Vietnamese on both sides have been killed since the cease-fire took effect—including 15,994 Communist troops, 3,518 of Saigon's soldiers and 523 civilians.

Impounding Ban Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted Wednesday to restrict the power of the President to refuse to spend all Congress appropriates.

In return, it also voted to restrict its own propensity for spending—at least in fiscal 1974, which starts July 1—to $268 billion, which is $700 million below the amount of spending Nixon has recommended.

In an unusual display of party unity, Democrats pushed their anti-impoundment proposal through the Senate Wednesday by a 70-24 vote. Only two Democrats, Harry F. Byrd Jr., Va., and James V. Allen, Ala., deserted party loyalty.

But whether the House would accept the Senate approach—and whether Nixon would veto the bill—remain unanswered questions.

The House Rules Committee is conducting a hearing today on a bill by Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the Appropriations Committee and backed by Speaker Carl Albert, Okla., which takes another approach in seeking to restrict Nixon's power to impound.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Cancer Link

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — A Florida biologist said Wednesday that a link has been "implied" between cancer of the cervix and certain viral genital infections possibly transmitted by sexual intercourse.

Dr. Ysolina M. Centifanto told the concluding session of the American Cancer Society's science writers' seminar that it has been documented that "the incidence of carcinoma of the cervix is higher in women that have multiple marriages, multiple sex partners, or start sexual relations early in life."

Dr. Centifanto said that it had been established that the genital infection caused by herpes virus type 2 was venereally transmitted. From these findings, she said, "a link has been implied" between cervical cancer and the herpesvirus infections.

Kidnap Report

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The military government of Argentina has pledged that a wave of political kidnapings this week will not impede the inauguration of President-elect Hector Campora.

There have been four confirmed kidnapings or kidnaping attempts since Monday and today military sources reported the daughter of a powerful general had been kidnaped, although the general's command said the reports were "inexact."

According to the unconfirmed reports, the daughter of Gen. Manuel Aroldo Pomer, commander of the 10th Infantry Brigade, was kidnaped.

Pueblo Skipper

AGANA, Guam (UPI) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, skipper of the American spy ship Pueblo when it was captured by North Korea in 1968, today sat through a private showing of a television film on the incident.

"Fantastic, absolutely fantastic," Bucher said to an unidentified U.S. Navy officer who accompanied him to the studio control rooms of KUAM television, where the film was screened.

Bucher is assigned in Guam as the commander of a mine flotilla. He has refused interview requests and it is not known if the decision is personal or if he is under orders not to discuss the Pueblo incident.

Coalition Stalls

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Government sources said today that formation of a coalition government as outlined in a February truce treaty appears unlikely before next month, thus pushing back the treaty timetable for withdrawal of U.S. advisers and North Vietnamese troops.

Meanwhile, Gen. Phoun Sipaseuth, the formal head of the Pathet Lao peace delegation, and government negotiator Ngone Sananikone continued private meetings.

Capitol Repair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee voted today in favor of spending $58 million to repair the crumbling west wall of the Capitol by building a five-story, marble addition primarily for use as extra office space for congressmen.

The action set the stage for a House vote, probably next week, on the controversial "west front extension." The addition would extend some 88 feet out from the existing wall.

Peace Drive

BELFAST (UPI) — Roman-Catholic women in Belfast launched a campaign today to force the Irish Republican Army to proclaim a cease-fire that would halt much of Northern Ireland's violence.

The campaign began in a lull in the bloodshed that has killed 763 persons in three and one-half years of political and religious strife among Roman Catholics, Protestants and security forces.

Anti-Hanoi Aid

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — The Arkansas House passed a resolution Wednesday opposing American aid to rebuild North Vietnam.

Auto Sales Boom

DETROIT (UPI) — New car buyers in March beat the spring sales rush as they bought a record 1.1 million automobiles—the most sold in one month in automotive history.

Predictions made at the end of the record 1972 sales year have been revised upward by auto executives who saw more cars sold in the first three months of 1973 than in any previous first quarter. The trend was expected to continue through the year.

Backs Indians

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Senate Wednesday adopted a resolution urging the federal government to meet the demands of the Indians at Wounded Knee, S.D.

'State Of Danger' In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Government officials said today that President Lon Nol has officially declared the nation in a "state of danger." All supply routes into Phnom Penh have been cut by Communist troops.

The action came after the Communists tightened their grip on the capital yesterday by severing the last remaining supply line feeding the city despite the 28th consecutive day of heavy U.S. air raids on Communist targets.

Defense officials in Washington said they saw no imminent threat of a collapse of Cambodia but shortly after Communist soldiers cut the capital's vital Highway 5 rice road, the National Assembly authorized Lon Nol to issue the "state of danger" decree "should the situation warrant."

Communist forces have been advancing slowly but steadily on Phnom Penh in their largest Cambodian offensive ·

GRIM TALE — Capt. William W. Butler, now home with his family in San Rafael, muses as he recalls the tortures which were part of his experiences during more than five years as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam. Butler counts himself among the luckier of the POW's because he suffered less than many.

Capt. Butler And The 'Hanoi Hilton'

"Some people (prisoners) were in 'solo' (POW slang for solitary confinement) for a year," Butler said.

After Butler's initial torture period, he was assigned to a seven-by-nine-foot cell shared with three fliers shot down about the same time.

Butler, with his unattended broken foot, and another man, Navy Lt. Theodore Stier of Wisconsin, who had "torn the daylights out of his feet" when forced to run over some "pretty rough terrain," were helped by the other two cellmates.

The two healthy prisoners helped Stier and Butler about until their feet healed and carried their belongings for them when they went out to wash.

During his confinement, Butler never received medical aid for his broken foot except once when a doctor gave him two shots. "I don't know what they were, but it's a wonder I didn't get hepatitis," he said, "because he didn't even wash my foot off." He finally was given a pair of crutches.

After about a month of confinement, Butler said he realized one day that his foot had quit hurting and that he could step on it. Today it has a lump on one side, but doctors in this country told him "not to worry about it as long as it doesn't bother you."

During his first eight months in Hanoi, Butler and the others were only allowed out of the cell once a day to wash. Their food, collected from a rack outside the cell, was "darned near impalatable."

He described a typical meal (there wwere two a day) as soup containing cut-up banana peels, accompanied by a piece of moldy bread.

The 31-year-old pilot said he ate everything he was given, no matter how unappetizing it was, "since I still figured they were going to quit feeding me at some point."

In six months his weight dropped from about 180 pounds to 160. When he was released last month, Butler weighed 151 pounds, but he said he liked being thinner and wants to stay that way.

(Later, in other prison camps to which he was transferred, Butler said the food improved somewhat, and he and the other men "were not starving.")

One of the worst deprivations, he said, was the cold during the bitter winters in North Vietnam. Two light blankets provided little warmth.

Butler also considers himself lucky that he never "had tooth problems" as some prisoners did, and was not seriously ill, though he still is "ridden with parasites," including amoeba and pinworms, and his eyesight is much worse than when he was captured.

Already slightly near-sighted at that time, Butler was never given the glasses he had with him when he was shot down. He thinks the close quarters he was confined in for so long resulted in greater near-sightedness.

After a couple of months of captivity, Butler and his cellmates were "caught red-handed" with a cache of ropes made from blankets, razor blades and rocks, which correctly indicated to their guards they were planning an escape.

Butler now calls the escape plan, which still had no details when thwarted, "naive." "We wouldn't have lasted 30 minutes even if we had made it over the wall," he said.

Seizure of the escape materials was followed by a new period of torture for Butler. "They worked us over," he said. In addition to beatings administered by guards, Butler was put into leg irons and "forced to urinate on myself."

After eight months at the "Hanoi Hilton," Butler was transferred, for "no reason we could determine," to another prison "out in the boondocks" where he was kept two years.

Papers Reveal Mussolini Ignored Plea By Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Neither dictator Benito Mussolini nor King Victor Emmanuel were moved by the late Pope Pius XII's attempt to influence an "honorable" withdrawal of Italy from World War II in 1943, according to the documents made public by the Vatican.

The wartime documents released Wednesday are part of a continuing series covering the period of November 1942 December 1943, including the start of the Allied onslaught against Italy and the Italian surrender, followed immediately by Nazi Germany's takeover.

Although President Franklin D. Roosevelt's representative at the Vatican, Myron C. Taylor, had pressured Pope Pius to use his influence in favor of an Italian withdrawal, this was apparently not the pontiff's motive. He acted more out of concern to save Italy, which then had virtually no air force or navy, from the horrors of large-scale fighting.

Later Pius showed himself to be very critical of the allied "Casablanca" policy to fight until the Axis surrendered unconditionally. He tried and failed to get a commitment from the Americans and British not to bomb Rome on the grounds it was a sacred city.

Thieu Honors Americans Who Died For His Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu paid homage to the 56,000 Americans who died defending his nation by laying a wreath today at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

With less than 100 civilians looking on and a chill wind blowing, Thieu placed the wreath of red roses and yellow lilies —representing South Vietnam's national colors —in front of the tomb containing remains of unidentified U.S. servicemen who died in World Wars I, II and Korea.

Thieu's early morning visit to the cemetery, which lies across the Potomac River in Virginia, was marked by booming 21-gun salutes on his arrival and departure and set a solemn tone for the first full day of his visit to Washington.

Thieu met privately Monday and Tuesday with President Nixon at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif. Thieu came to the capital late Wednesday night seeking to persuade members of Congress to continue U.S. economic and military aid to Saigon.

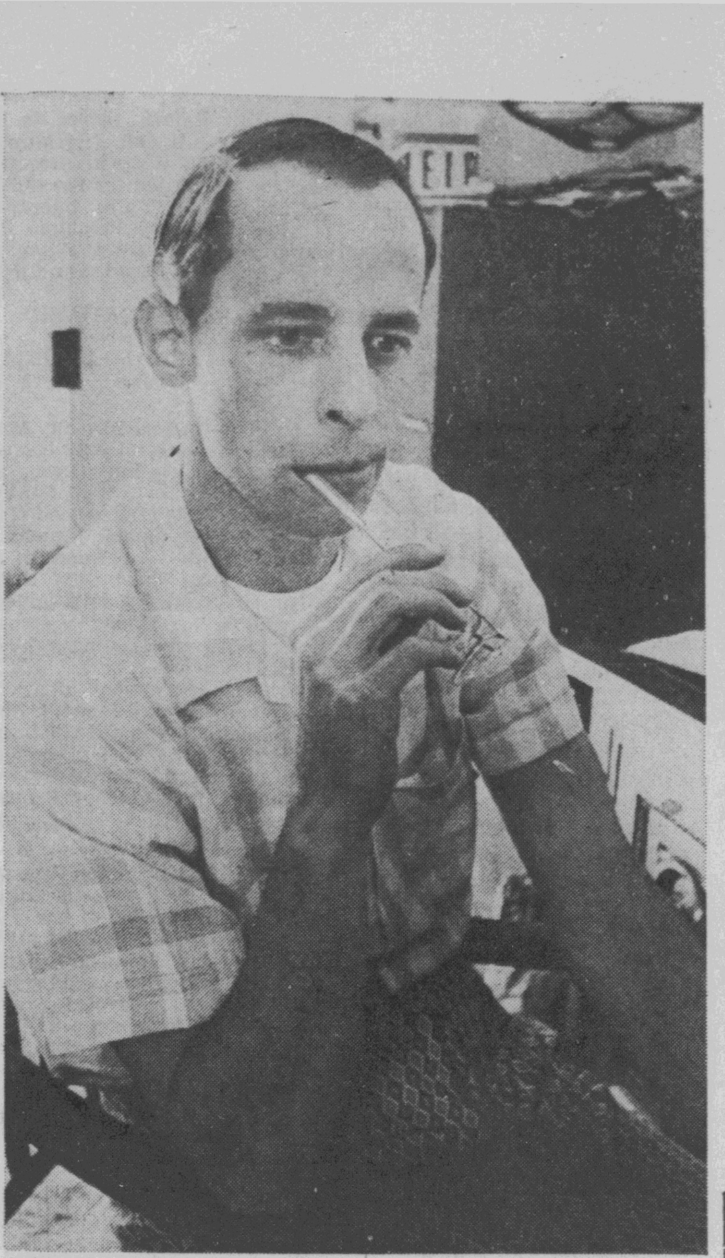
Capt. Butler And The 'Hanoi Hilton'



GRIM TALE — Capt. William W. Butler, now home with his family in San Rafael, muses as he recalls the tortures which were part of his experiences during more than five years as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam. Butler counts himself among the luckier of the POW's because he suffered less than many.

long on one man.

"Some people (prisoners) were in 'solo' (POW slang for solitary confinement) for a year," Butler said.

After Butler's initial torture period, he was assigned to a seven-by-nine-foot cell shared with three fliers shot down about the same time.

Butler, with his unattended broken foot, and another man, Navy Lt. Theodore Stier of Wisconsin, who had "torn the daylights out of his feet" when forced to run over some "pretty rough terrain," were helped by the other two cellmates.

The two healthy prisoners helped Stier and Butler about until their feet healed and carried their belongings for them when they went out to wash.

During his confinement, Butler never received medical aid for his broken foot except once when a doctor gave him two shots. "I don't know what they were, but it's a wonder I didn't get hepatitis," he said, "because he didn't even wash my foot off." He finally was given a pair of crutches.

After about a month of confinement, Butler said he realized one day that his foot had quit hurting and that he could step on it. Today it has a lump on one side, but doctors in this country told him "not to worry about it as long as it doesn't bother you."

During his first eight months in Hanoi, Butler and the others were only allowed out of the cell once a day to wash. Their food, collected from a rack outside the cell, was "darned near impalatable."

He described a typical meal (there wwere two a day) as soup containing cut-up banana peels, accompanied by a piece of moldy bread.

The 31-year-old pilot said he ate everything he was given, no matter how unappetizing it was, "since I still figured they were going to quit feeding me at some point."

In six months his weight dropped from about 180 pounds to 160. When he was released last month, Butler weighed 151 pounds, but he said he liked being thinner and wants to stay that way.

(Later, in other prison camps to which he was transferred, Butler said the food improved somewhat, and he and the other men "were not starving.")

One of the worst deprivations, he said, was the cold during the bitter winters in North Vietnam. Two light blankets provided little warmth.

Butler also considers himself lucky that he never "had tooth problems" as some prisoners did, and was not seriously ill, though he still is "ridden with parasites," including amoeba and pinworms, and his eyesight is much worse than when he was captured.

Already slightly near-sighted at that time, Butler was never given the glasses he had with him when he was shot down. He thinks the close quarters he was confined in for so long resulted in greater near-sightedness.

After a couple of months of captivity, Butler and his cellmates were "caught red-handed" with a cache of ropes made from blankets, razor blades and rocks, which correctly indicated to their guards they were planning an escape.

Butler now calls the escape plan, which still had no details when thwarted, "naive." "We wouldn't have lasted 30 minutes even if we had made it over the wall," he said.

Seizure of the escape materials was followed by a new period of torture for Butler. "They worked us over," he said. In addition to beatings administered by guards, Butler was put into leg irons and "forced to urinate on myself."

After eight months at the "Hanoi Hilton," Butler was transferred, for "no reason we could determine," to another prison "out in the boondocks" where he was kept two years.

Papers Reveal Mussolini Ignored Plea By Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Neither dictator Benito Mussolini nor King Victor Emmanuel were moved by the late Pope Pius XII's attempt to influence an "honorable" withdrawal of Italy from World War II in 1943, according to the documents made public by the Vatican.

The wartime documents released Wednesday are part of a continuing series covering the period of November 1942 December 1943, including the start of the Allied onslaught against Italy and the Italian surrender, followed immediately by Nazi Germany's takeover.

Although President Franklin D. Roosevelt's representative at the Vatican, Myron C. Taylor, had pressured Pope Pius to use his influence in favor of an Italian withdrawal, this was apparently not the pontiff's motive. He acted more out of concern to save Italy, which then had virtually no air force or navy, from the horrors of large-scale fighting.

Later Pius showed himself to be very critical of the allied "Casablanca" policy to fight until the Axis surrendered unconditionally. He tried and failed to get a commitment from the Americans and British not to bomb Rome on the grounds it was a sacred city.

ALMANAC

By U.P. International

Today is Thursday, April 5, the 95th day of 1973 with 270 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

American educator Booker T. Washington was born April 5, 1865.

On this day in history:

In 1951, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg of New York City were sentenced to death for stealing atomic secrets for Russia.

In 1964, Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur died at the age of 84.

In 1968, major American cities were hit by violent riots as an aftermath of the assassination of Negro leader Martin Luther King.

A thought for the day: American Negro leader Booker T. Washington said, "No race shall prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Condition Of Cyclist Is Fair

Stephen C. Brocksen, the 16-year-old Novato youth who received a torn aorta in a motorcycle accident Saturday, was reported off the critical list and in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital's intensive care unit.

He received the injury when his motorcycle and a car collided head-on on Nicasio Valley Road. This type of injury is fatal in 98 per cent of all cases, according to hospital spokesmen. The youth received an aortic graft, the first time it was done at the hospital.

McCord Will Tell Story Of Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Convicted Watergate conspirator James W. McCord, Jr. said today he feels the "story should be told" about the bugging of Democratic national headquarters and that he would soon make public what he knows.

McCord, breaking a longstanding silence with reporters, also said he was hopeful that his recent cooperation in new investigations of the burglary would win him a lighter sentence for his part in the plot.

"And I hope it would help the other defendants as well," McCord said.

The former security chief for President Nixon's reelection campaign spoke with reporters briefly as he waited to go before a federal grand jury that has reopened its investigation into the break-in of the offices of the Democratic National Committee last June 17 in the Watergate building here.

McCord, one of two of the seven original Watergate defendants who were convicted (the five others pleaded guilty), testified last week before a special Senate committee investigating the Watergate.

The trial judge, John J. Sirica, has not yet sentenced McCord and has indicated his term might depend on the degree of his cooperation with new investigations of the Watergate. Sirica also gave tentative sentences to the five who pleaded guilty, likewise suggesting the final terms would depend on their cooperation.

The grand jury is investigating fresh leads into possible involvement by other persons in the political espionage case, besides the seven it previously indicted, and the Senate committee is conducting a separate inquiry into the entire case.

McCord is said to have told Senate investigators that he was told by G. Gordon Liddy, the second convicted conspirator, that others connected with the administration or President Nixon's reelection campaign last fall knew of the Watergate plot.

An Apology Is Offered

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ruchell Magee's defense attorneys offered yesterday to apologize for two incidents during the convict's murder-kidnap trial for which he was cited for contempt.

Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin set sentencing on the contempt citations against Novato attorney Robert D. Carrow for May 1.

Colvin will hold a hearing tomorrow to determine if the black convict should be tried a second time on murder-kidnap charges in the 1970 Marin County Hall of Justice shoot-out.

Carrow was cited once for a remark made after the judge ruled on the scope of cross examination. "I submit your honor, that this trial is becoming a joke," he said.

He was cited a second time for violating a rule against advising the jury of penalties that would result from Magee's conviction.

At a hearing on the charges, Avlin Goldstein, representing Carrow, said the lawyer had never before been involved in a contempt charge and that the remarks were caused by the "very high emotional level" in the courtroom.

Labor Council Endorsements

The Marin County Labor Council last night unanimously endorsed four8 persons running for election to various bodies on April 17.

Endorsed were Thomas R. O'Toole, candidate for the San Rafael City Council; Jerome C. Hauke, running for the Marin Municipal Water District board, Division 4; Joseph E. Doherty, candidate for the Marin Community College District board, and Lotte Schiller, who is seeking a seat on the Tamalpais High School District board.

Charles B. Weers, secretary-treasurer of the council, said the endorsements were made after reviewing resumes of candidates and through recommendations of members of the council.

He said the council chose to put its efforts into backing just the four candidates.

YOUNG

been in every program you can name," Deputy Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert said in wonder.

None of those programs had any significant effect, Johnson added.

At least 10 separate jail sentences ranging from five days to six months and a total of 38 months in the California Rehabilitation Center failed to stop his crime once free again. In most cases, he was back in custody within months of his release.

"It was all done behind the habit," Young explained to the judge.

His comment yesterday echoed criminal after criminal appearing in Marin Superior Court, often repeatedly, and explaining they stole to pay for heroin.

"It's frustrating," Menary said, but the answer isn't obvious. Prison and jail aren't working and in some cases, neither is the state drug treatment facility, he said.

The answer for Marin judges has been the DeLancey Street Foundation in San Francisco, a group that believes hard work, not methadone, is the answer. However, Menary, who sent Young to the foundation, said even DeLancey Street has its failures.

"The longer I sit in this position here, the longer I know I don't have the answer," the judge said.

Nixon Veto Will Not Hurt Marin

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — President Richard M. Nixon today vetoed a $300 million rural water and sewer grant program, saying it was double taxation, inflationary and "smacked of pork barrel politics."

(However, Dennis Mishek, a spokesman for the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, said Nixon's veto will not block Stinson Beach nd Bolinas sewage disposal plans now on the drawing boards. He said the state is committed to fund the projects as much as federal regulations permit.

(The Bolinas Community Public Utility District has applied for a $363,000 state grant, mostly to buy land for proposed treatment ponds and percolation gallery. The Stinson Beach County Water District has not progressed to the grant application stage.)

In Congress, supporters of the rural federal project immediately made plans to try to override the veto, which had killed funding for an eight-year-old program. The House is scheduled to vote Tuesday. The fund measure originally was passed by well over the two-thirds majority needed to override the veto.

Marin-Sonoma Fair Entries Being Accepted

Entries in various competitions are being accepted for the Sonoma-Marin Fair which will be held June 20-24 at the Petaluma fairgrounds.

Future Farmer of America and 4-H entries will close May 9 or when classifications are filled. Entries will be accepted until June 1 in open divisions such as arts and crafts, sculpture and horticulture.

Affairs Council To Hear Swede

J. K. Eliasson, first secretary in the Swedish Embassy in Washington, D. C., will be speaker for the April program of the Marin unit of the World Affairs Council at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Sausalito Yacht Club.

He will discuss Swedish foreign policy and the deterioration of Swedish-American relations, mainly over the United States' Southeast Asia policy.

Reservations are required for the public program through World Affairs Council headquarters in San Francisco.

Found Innocent On Public Drunkenness

CUMMING, Ga. (UPI) — Junior Samples, comedian on television's "Hee Haw," was found innocent Wednesday on a charge of public drunkeness.

The hefty, overall-wearing Samples had been accused of appearing drunk with his son, Emory, 25, at the Forsyth County jail last Aug. 26.

OBITUARIES

Rolland L. Coffield Dies At 59

Retired Navy Lt. Cmdr. Rolland L. Coffield of San Anselmo died yesterday at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio of San Francisco after a long illness. He was 59.

Coffield, who had a long career in the service, was commended by the Navy for his efforts in World War II when he was credited with saving the lives of fellow prisoners of war in the Pacific.

In recent years Coffield had worked as office manager for a San Francisco law firm.

He was born in Oregon and enlisted in the Navy as a medical corpsman in 1935. In 1942 he was captured by the Japanese and spent four years in prison camp.

During his imprisonment he was ordered to set up a medical facility and organized the treatment of fellow prisoners suffering from an epidemic of dysentery.

A career officer, he remained in the Navy and also served during the Korean War. In 1962, when he retired, he was dispensary administrator for the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton.

After he retired, he and his wife, Bertha, moved to San Anselmo, residing at 1237 San Anselmo Avenue.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a stepson, Faylin Finch, and four sisters.

Funeral with full military honors will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Daphne Funeral Home in San Francisco. Military burial will be Monday in Willamette National Cemetery in Portland, Ore.

GEORGE WEISE

George H. Weise of Martinez, stepfather of Mrs. Marion Gloistein of Novato, died yesterday in Martinez. He was 69.

A native of Kansas, he lived in California for the past 49 years and was a resident of Martinez for the past 37 years.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Friends may call after 9 a.m. Friday. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The family asks memorial contributions to a favorite charity.

JENNINGS LYON

Dr. John C. Siemans, head of the Ross Valley Clinic, will delier a eulogy at the funeral for Jennings Lyon at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Lyon was laboratory supervisor for the clinic for the past 16 years, until he succumbed Tuesday to a second heart attack in two months.

Lyon also formerly assisted his wife in the now defunct L and S Lapidary Supply store the family operated for several years in San Anselmo.

He was a retired Army lieutenant, wounded in Italy during World War II.

PAUL HANKINSON

Paul Hankinson, 96, of San Rafael died yesterday at Marin General Hospital apparently from complications related to a fall he suffered at his apartment, according to the Marin County Coroner's office.

Hankinson, of 532 C Street, was admitted to the hospital Monday suffering from a broken hip. Neighbors found him unconscious, lying on the floor of his apartment Monday. He apparently had been lying there for 24 hours before he was found. He may have suffered a stroke and broken his hip when he collapsed, the coroner said.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

MRS. RICCARDI

Maria M. Riccardi of Novato, a resident of Marin County for five years, died yesterday in a local convalescent home after a long illness. She was 99.

Mrs. Riccardi, a native of Italy, came to the U.S. in 1920, two years after the death of her husband, Antonio. She lived with her daughter, Assunta Pannaci, and moved to Novato in 1968.

In addition to Mrs. Pannaci, she leaves two grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the chapel. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

STELLA HORSMAN

Stella Horsman, mother of Clifford Horsman of Novato, died yesterday in a Menlo Park convalescent home after a long illness. She was 88.

Mrs. Horsman was born in Prescott, Ariz., but had lived in California 64 years, the last 25 in San Mateo County.

Before her retirement, she was a claims check clerk for the state compensation fund in San Francisco. She was a member of the California State Employees Association.

Her husband, Harry, died in 1956.

In addition to her son in Novato, Mrs. Horsman is survived by two daughters, Myrna Koehler of San Carlos and Marjorie Jenkins of San Jose, and another son, Everett, of Mountain View.

Funeral will be at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the White Oaks Chapel in San Carlos. Burial will be private.

The family prefers contributions to the memorial fund of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, San Carlos.

MRS. BRUSCHINI

Celestine Bruschini of San Francisco, mother of Edmond Bruschini of Fairfax, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. She was 92.

She and her husband, the late Joseph Bruschini, were married more than 30 years before his death in 1943. He was an employee of Ghirardelli Chocolate Company and they once lived in a flat on the present site of Ghirardelli Square.

She was a member of the Marina Homeowners Association in San Francisco.

In addition to her son, she is survived by two daughters, Eleanor Raymond and Alma Bruschini of San Francisco, and two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mass of Requiem will be at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Vincent de Paul's Church, Green and Steiner streets, San Francisco. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Friday at Halsted and Company Mortuary, 1123 Sutter Street, San Francisco. Burial will be in the Italian Cemetery in Colma.

MARIE P. MacINTYRE

Marie P. MacIntyre, mother of Mrs. Ray K. Bolinger, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 79.

She was born in France and came to this country as a young woman. She was a salesman for a cosmetics firm in the east prior to her marriage in 1925 to the late Raymond A. MacIntyre. She lived in Bound Brook, N.J., until moving to Marin County six years ago. She made her home with her daughter and husband, manager of Marin General Hospital, at 3 Marinita Avenue, San Rafael.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m., Monday, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Bound Brook. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Newark, N.J.

Oil Firm Will Fight Smog Plan

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An oil company that overturned a key law used to prosecute air polluters has declared it will oppose legislation to restore the prosecution powers to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Ray A. March, Northern California public relations representative for Exxon Co., told newsmen at a district board meeting yesterday that company officials have decided to fight passage of the legislation pending in Sacramento.

Emergency legislation to restore the enforcement powers to the district has been introduced by Assemblyman Alister McAlister (AB 831) and Sen. Alfred Alquist (SB 547), both D-San Jose.

The powers were struck down last month by the Benicia Justice Court in a suit filed by Exxon. District directors voted to seek legislation to reverse the ruling on the ground it cripples prosecution of polluters.

The disputed law empowered air pollution control districts to sue polluters $500 a day for each violation. The court ruled it did not extend to the Bay Area district, which was formed under a special law.

Hub Woman, 70, Is Fair From Accident

A 70-year-old San Anselmo woman was reported in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital with scraped knees, elbow cuts and possible internal injuries following a four-car chain collision in San Anselmo yesterday.

Inga Radford of 6 Sunview Avenue was injured in the 11 a.m. accident after her car crashed into the rear of one driven by Edward Louis Moracito of 270 Montezuma Avenue, Forest Knolls, according to police.

The collision propelled Moracito's car, which was stopped in traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, into one driven by Carol M. Abraham of 50 Laura Lane, Fairfax, police said. The Abraham car was in turn pushed into the rear of another driven by Anna M. Bengsch of 18 Buckeye Circle, Woodacre, according to police.

Novato Horses Place In Show

Doc's Mica Bar, owned by Monument Oaks Inc., was first in the 2-year-old halter class and became first in total point in Pacific Coast Quarter Horse Association competition this season.

Home Owners To Meet Friday

Robertson Collins, businessman and historian, will speak to the Heritage Homes Association of Petaluma at 8 p.m. today at the home of Timothy Noland, 231 Howard Street. The meeting is open to the public.

A previous Independent-Journal story incorrectly said the meeting would be Friday.

Impounds & Extras Explained.

Through this series of Ads, the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors want you to know as much as possible about buying or selling your home.

When you buy a home, there may be charges known as "Impounds & Extras". Since some mortgage loans require taxes and insurance be paid monthly, a trust fund, or "Impound" account is set up by the lender for the payment of these funds. Other payments through an Impound account might include pro-rated taxes between buyer and seller; pro-rated fire insurance premiums; pro-rated rents or bonds.

Extras include such things as a credit report, Notary and recording Fee, Loan Fee, Appraisal report, tax services, ALTA Inspection Fee.

Today is Thursday, April 5, the 95th day of 1973 with 270 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

American educator Booker T. Washington was born April 5, 1865.

On this day in history:

In 1951, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg of New York City were sentenced to death for stealing atomic secrets for Russia.

In 1964, Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur died at the age of 84.

In 1968, major American cities were hit by violent riots as an aftermath of the assassination of Negro leader Martin Luther King.

A thought for the day: American Negro leader Booker T. Washington said, "No race shall prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Condition Of Cyclist Is Fair

Stephen C. Brocksen, the 16-year-old Novato youth who received a torn aorta in a motorcycle accident Saturday, was reported off the critical list and in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital's intensive care unit.

He received the injury when his motorcycle and a car collided head-on on Nicasio Valley Road. This type of injury is fatal in 98 per cent of all cases, according to hospital spokesmen. The youth received an aortic graft, the first time it was done at the hospital.

McCord Will Tell Story Of Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Convicted Watergate conspirator James W. McCord, Jr. said today he feels the "story should be told" about the bugging of Democratic national headquarters and that he would soon make public what he knows.

McCord, breaking a long-standing silence with reporters, also said he was hopeful that his recent cooperation in new investigations of the burglary would win him a lighter sentence for his part in the plot.

"And I hope it would help the other defendants as well," McCord said.

The former security chief for President Nixon's reelection campaign spoke with reporters briefly as he waited to go before a federal grand jury that has reopened its investigation into the break-in of the offices of the Democratic National Committee last June 17 in the Watergate building here.

McCord, one of two of the seven original Watergate defendants who were convicted (the five others pleaded guilty), testified last week before a special Senate committee investigating the Watergate.

The trial judge, John J. Sirica, has not yet sentenced McCord and has indicated his term might depend on the degree of his cooperation with new investigations of the Watergate. Sirica also gave tentative sentences to the five who pleaded guilty, likewise suggesting the final terms would depend on their cooperation.

The grand jury is investigating fresh leads into possible involvement by other persons in the political espionage case, besides the seven it previously indicted, and the Senate committee is conducting a separate inquiry into the entire case.

McCord is said to have told Senate investigators that he was told by G. Gordon Liddy, the second convicted conspirator, that others connected with the administration or President Nixon's reelection campaign last fall knew of the Watergate plot.

An Apology Is Offered

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ruchell Magee's defense attorneys offered yesterday to apologize for two incidents during the convict's murder-kidnap trial for which he was cited for contempt.

Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin set sentencing on the contempt citations against Novato attorney Robert D. Carrow for May 1.

Colvin will hold a hearing tomorrow to determine if the black convict should be tried a second time on murder-kidnap charges in the 1970 Marin County Hall of Justice shoot-out.

Carrow was cited once for a remark made after the judge ruled on the scope of cross examination. "I submit your honor, that this trial is becoming a joke," he said.

He was cited a second time for violating a rule against advising the jury of penalties that would result from Magee's conviction.

At a hearing on the charges, Avlin Goldstein, representing Carrow, said the lawyer had never before been involved in a contempt charge and that the remarks were caused by the "very high emotional level" in the courtroom.

Labor Council Endorsements

The Marin County Labor Council last night unanimously endorsed four8 persons running for election to various bodies on April 17.

Endorsed were Thomas R. O'Toole, candidate for the San Rafael City Council; Jerome C. Hauke, running for the Marin Municipal Water District board, Division 4; Joseph E. Doherty, candidate for the Marin Community College District board, and Lotte Schiller, who is seeking a seat on the Tamalpais High School District board.

Charles B. Weers, secretary-treasurer of the council, said the endorsements were made after reviewing resumes of candidates and through recommendations of members of the council.

He said the council chose to put its efforts into backing just the four candidates.

YOUNG

been in every program you can name," Deputy Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert said in wonder.

None of those programs had any significant effect, Johnson added.

At least 10 separate jail sentences ranging from five days to six months and a total of 38 months in the California Rehabilitation Center failed to stop his crime once free again. In most cases, he was back in custody within months of his release.

"It was all done behind the habit," Young explained to the judge.

His comment yesterday echoed criminal after criminal appearing in Marin Superior Court, often repeatedly, and explaining they stole to pay for heroin.

"It's frustrating," Menary said, but the answer isn't obvious. Prison and jail aren't working and in some cases, neither is the state drug treatment facility, he said.

The answer for Marin judges has been the DeLancey Street Foundation in San Francisco, a group that believes hard work, not methadone, is the answer. However, Menary, who sent Young to the foundation, said even DeLancey Street has its failures.

"The longer I sit in this position here, the longer I know I don't have the answer," the judge said.

Nixon Veto Will Not Hurt Marin

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — President Richard M. Nixon today vetoed a $300 million rural water and sewer grant program, saying it was double taxation, inflationary and "smacked of pork barrel politics."

(However, Dennis Mishek, a spokesman for the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, said Nixon's veto will not block Stinson Beach nd Bolinas sewage disposal plans now on the drawing boards. He said the state is committed to fund the projects as much as federal regulations permit.

(The Bolinas Community Public Utility District has applied for a $363,000 state grant, mostly to buy land for proposed treatment ponds and percolation gallery. The Stinson Beach County Water District has not progressed to the grant application stage.)

In Congress, supporters of the rural federal project immediately made plans to try to override the veto, which had killed funding for an eight-year-old program. The House is scheduled to vote Tuesday. The fund measure originally was passed by well over the two-thirds majority needed to override the veto.

Marin-Sonoma Fair Entries Being Accepted

Entries in various competitions are being accepted for the Sonoma-Marin Fair which will be held June 20-24 at the Petaluma fairgrounds.

Future Farmer of America and 4-H entries will close May 9 or when classifications are filled. Entries will be accepted until June 1 in open divisions such as arts and crafts, sculpture and horticulture.

Affairs Council To Hear Swede

J. K. Eliasson, first secretary in the Swedish Embassy in Washington, D. C., will be speaker for the April program of the Marin unit of the World Affairs Council at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Sausalito Yacht Club.

He will discuss Swedish foreign policy and the deterioration of Swedish-American relations, mainly over the United States' Southeast Asia policy.

Reservations are required for the public program through World Affairs Council headquarters in San Francisco.

Found Innocent On Public Drunkenness

CUMMING, Ga. (UPI) — Junior Samples, comedian on television's "Hee Haw," was found innocent Wednesday on a charge of public drunkeness.

The hefty, overall-wearing Samples had been accused of appearing drunk with his son, Emory, 25, at the Forsyth County jail last Aug. 26.

OBITUARIES

Rolland L. Coffield Dies At 59

Retired Navy Lt. Cmdr. Rolland L. Coffield of San Anselmo died yesterday at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio of San Francisco after a long illness. He was 59.

Coffield, who had a long career in the service, was commended by the Navy for his efforts in World War II when he was credited with saving the lives of fellow prisoners of war in the Pacific.

In recent years Coffield had worked as office manager for a San Francisco law firm.

He was born in Oregon and enlisted in the Navy as a medical corpsman in 1935. In 1942 he was captured by the Japanese and spent four years in prison camp.

During his imprisonment he was ordered to set up a medical facility and organized the treatment of fellow prisoners suffering from an epidemic of dysentery.

A career officer, he remained in the Navy and also served during the Korean War. In 1962, when he retired, he was dispensary administrator for the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton.

After he retired, he and his wife, Bertha, moved to San Anselmo, residing at 1237 San Anselmo Avenue.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a stepson, Faylin Finch, and four sisters.

Funeral with full military honors will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Daphne Funeral Home in San Francisco. Military burial will be Monday in Willamette National Cemetery in Portland, Ore.

GEORGE WEISE

George H. Weise of Martinez, stepfather of Mrs. Marion Gloistein of Novato, died yesterday in Martinez. He was 69.

A native of Kansas, he lived in California for the past 49 years and was a resident of Martinez for the past 37 years.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Friends may call after 9 a.m. Friday. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The family asks memorial contributions to a favorite charity.

JENNINGS LYON

Dr. John C. Siemans, head of the Ross Valley Clinic, will delier a eulogy at the funeral for Jennings Lyon at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Lyon was laboratory supervisor for the clinic for the past 16 years, until he succumbed Tuesday to a second heart attack in two months.

Lyon also formerly assisted his wife in the now defunct L and S Lapidary Supply store the family operated for several years in San Anselmo.

He was a retired Army lieutenant, wounded in Italy during World War II.

PAUL HANKINSON

Paul Hankinson, 96, of San Rafael died yesterday at Marin General Hospital apparently from complications related to a fall he suffered at his apartment, according to the Marin County Coroner's office.

Hankinson, of 532 C Street, was admitted to the hospital Monday suffering from a broken hip. Neighbors found him unconscious, lying on the floor of his apartment Monday. He apparently had been lying there for 24 hours before he was found. He may have suffered a stroke and broken his hip when he collapsed, the coroner said.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

MRS. RICCARDI

Maria M. Riccardi of Novato, a resident of Marin County for five years, died yesterday in a local convalescent home after a long illness. She was 99.

Mrs. Riccardi, a native of Italy, came to the U.S. in 1920, two years after the death of her husband, Antonio. She lived with her daughter, Assunta Pannaci, and moved to Novato in 1968.

In addition to Mrs. Pannaci, she leaves two grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the chapel. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

STELLA HORSMAN

Stella Horsman, mother of Clifford Horsman of Novato, died yesterday in a Menlo Park convalescent home after a long illness. She was 88.

Mrs. Horsman was born in Prescott, Ariz., but had lived in California 64 years, the last 25 in San Mateo County.

Before her retirement, she was a claims check clerk for the state compensation fund in San Francisco. She was a member of the California State Employees Association.

Her husband, Harry, died in 1956.

In addition to her son in Novato, Mrs. Horsman is survived by two daughters, Myrna Koehler of San Carlos and Marjorie Jenkins of San Jose, and another son, Everett, of Mountain View.

Funeral will be at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the White Oaks Chapel in San Carlos. Burial will be private.

The family prefers contributions to the memorial fund of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, San Carlos.

MRS. BRUSCHINI

Celestine Bruschini of San Francisco, mother of Edmond Bruschini of Fairfax, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. She was 92.

She and her husband, the late Joseph Bruschini, were married more than 30 years before his death in 1943. He was an employee of Ghirardelli Chocolate Company and they once lived in a flat on the present site of Ghirardelli Square.

She was a member of the Marina Homeowners Association in San Francisco.

In addition to her son, she is survived by two daughters, Eleanor Raymond and Alma Bruschini of San Francisco, and two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mass of Requiem will be at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Vincent de Paul's Church, Green and Steiner streets, San Francisco. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Friday at Halsted and Company Mortuary, 1123 Sutter Street, San Francisco. Burial will be in the Italian Cemetery in Colma.

MARIE P. MacINTYRE

Marie P. MacIntyre, mother of Mrs. Ray K. Bolinger, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 79.

She was born in France and came to this country as a young woman. She was a salesman for a cosmetics firm in the east prior to her marriage in 1925 to the late Raymond A. MacIntyre. She lived in Bound Brook, N.J., until moving to Marin County six years ago. She made her home with her daughter and husband, manager of Marin General Hospital, at 3 Marinita Avenue, San Rafael.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m., Monday, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Bound Brook. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Newark, N.J.

Oil Firm Will Fight Smog Plan

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An oil company that overturned a key law used to prosecute air polluters has declared it will oppose legislation to restore the prosecution powers to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Ray A. March, Northern California public relations representative for Exxon Co., told newsmen at a district board meeting yesterday that company officials have decided to fight passage of the legislation pending in Sacramento.

Emergency legislation to restore the enforcement powers to the district has been introduced by Assemblyman Alister McAlister (AB 831) and Sen. Alfred Alquist (SB 547), both D-San Jose.

The powers were struck down last month by the Benicia Justice Court in a suit filed by Exxon. District directors voted to seek legislation to reverse the ruling on the ground it cripples prosecution of polluters.

The disputed law empowered air pollution control districts to sue polluters $500 a day for each violation. The court ruled it did not extend to the Bay Area district, which was formed under a special law.

Hub Woman, 70, Is Fair From Accident

A 70-year-old San Anselmo woman was reported in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital with scraped knees, elbow cuts and possible internal injuries following a four-car chain collision in San Anselmo yesterday.

Inga Radford of 6 Sunview Avenue was injured in the 11 a.m. accident after her car crashed into the rear of one driven by Edward Louis Moracito of 270 Montezuma Avenue, Forest Knolls, according to police.

The collision propelled Moracito's car, which was stopped in traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, into one driven by Carol M. Abraham of 50 Laura Lane, Fairfax, police said. The Abraham car was in turn pushed into the rear of another driven by Anna M. Bengsch of 18 Buckeye Circle, Woodacre, according to police.

Novato Horses Place In Show

Doc's Mica Bar, owned by Monument Oaks Inc., was first in the 2-year-old halter class and became first in total point in Pacific Coast Quarter Horse Association competition this season.

Home Owners To Meet Friday

Robertson Collins, businessman and historian, will speak to the Heritage Homes Association of Petaluma at 8 p.m. today at the home of Timothy Noland, 231 Howard Street. The meeting is open to the public.

A previous Independent-Journal story incorrectly said the meeting would be Friday.

Impounds & Extras Explained.

Through this series of Ads, the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors want you to know as much as possible about buying or selling your home.

When you buy a home, there may be charges known as "Impounds & Extras". Since some mortgage loans require taxes and insurance be paid monthly, a trust fund, or "Impound" account is set up by the lender for the payment of these funds. Other payments through an Impound account might include pro-rated taxes between buyer and seller; pro-rated fire insurance premiums; pro-rated rents or bonds.

Extras include such things as a credit report, Notary and recording Fee, Loan Fee, Appraisal report, tax services, ALTA Inspection Fee.

When buying a home, you'll find it to your advantage to work through a member of the Marin County Board of Realtors. And when selling your home, be sure to place it on Multiple Listing. You'll have more than 1,000 salesmen working for you. The member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors. Your Real Estate Professionals.

Wandering Dogs: Beware In Larkspur

Larkspur, plagued by wandering dogs and by packs of them which on two occasions recently attacked children, will be assigned an animal control officer for three months, the city council was told last night. (Another Larkspur City Council story, page 1.)

Though welcoming the announcement by the Marin County Humane Society, City Councilman William G. Fleckles expressed skepticism.

"I am very interested to find out how the society can afford to send a man here for 90 days at no extra expense," Fleckles said, "when they told us before it couldn't be done."

He was reacting to a letter from John N. Gill, society executive director, promising that Charles Light, a veteran animal control officer, would be on duty full time in Larkspur for 90 days beginning Monday at no cost to the city. Last month, the Larkspur council decided to hire a full-time dogcatcher for three months to combat roving dog packs that have bitten at least two youngsters and spurred vociferous citizen complaints.

Fleckles recalled that during animal control discussions in January he had asked Gill for an accounting of the humane society's use of county animal control funds. He said last night he never received it.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said he would meet with Gill and Light today to work out details of the city's campaign against wandering dogs, including what hours Light will be patrolling the city's streets.

During the period, Councilman Neil R. Brixon suggested, citizens should be able to get an immediate response from the animal control officer simply by calling the Larkspur police station.

Councilman Joan Sestak reported that dogs that normally roam Baltimore Canyon already had mysteriously vanished. "I haven't seen the one that always bites my car, for days," she said.

Maybe they, or their owners, got the word "we've raised the impound fees," Bathurst speculated.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

ENVIRONMENT — Adopted a resolution providing guidelines for environmental impact reports on private and public developments within the city (except single and some multiple family residential projects) as required by state law.

HELIPORT — Unanimously opposed a proposal by the Marin County Aviation Commission that the board of supervisors negotiate a lease with the Golden Gate Bridge District to move the heliport from Sausalito the future Larkspur ferry terminal. "The noise factor would be incredible," Mrs. Sestak warned.

BICYCLE PATH — Approved a lease for city use of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way between the Alpha Beta Market and William Avenue for a 10-foot-wide, paved bicycle path to be maintained and policed at city expense. Audience members living in the neighborhood were assured by councilmen that the path would be policed to prevent repetition of vandalism that has occurred along the roadbed in the past. The lease will cost the city $360 a year.

MODEL AIRPLANES — Mayor Alfred Malvino asked other councilmen to attend a demonstration Sestak model airplane flying in Piper Park, at 10 a.m. Sunday. Complaints had been received about noise from the hobby. Action on rules covering the flying was postponsed to the council's April 18 session.

BEAUTIFICATION — Mrs. Seatak reported conferring with chamber of commerce officials and others on citywide beautification needs. She was appointed to establish and chair a planning commission, environmental and design review board, chamber and others.

MEETINGS — Introduced an ordinance changing the council's regular meetings from monthly, to the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Fleckles dissented that "Parkinson's Law" would simply increase the unpaid councilmen's workload "until we're meeting weekly or even daily."

PARK NAME — Agreed with the city park and recreation commission's suggestion that action on Elizabeth Bray's request to change the name of Piper Park to Larkspur Park be shelved. The city staff found that the commission recommended in 1962 that the park be named for astronaut John Glenn Jr., but action never was taken. The council decided to act only after the park is improved and actually made usable.

CLOSED — Met in closed session with City Atty. Joseph A. Forest on pending litigation over park dedication fees contested by a developer, and in a separate session to instruct Bathurst on coming salary negotiations with city employee representatives.

FLOOD CONTROL — Ordered Bathurst to prepare information packets on the Ross flood control controversy for Councilmen Sestak, Robert H. Lee and Fleckles as well as Earl J. O'Grady, one of Larkspur's representatives on the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone 9 advisory board. Malvino, another delegate to the board, reported attending three fruitless meetings on successive days in March to seek a solution to the Ross impasse.

REDEVELOPMENT — Meeting as the Larkspur Redevelopment Agency, formally ratified the previously announced hiring of Dean Witter and Co. as financial consultants and John Gray as redevelopment consultant.

DESIGN REVIEW — Introduced amendments to the zoning ordinance establishing an environment and design review board to replace the old architectural advisory board, and set a fee of .05 per cent of building permit fees to finance its work.

SPRINKLERS — Adopted an ordinance calling for installation of sprinklers and fire alarms in non residential and multiple residential new construction.

ADJOURNED — To 8 p.m. April 18.

Larkspur Tables Tax Share Idea

Larkspur city councilmen last night abandoned the idea of sharing sales tax revenue and coordinating planning and other efforts with Corte Madera.

City Atty. Joseph A. Forest reported state law permits sharing sales tax revenues between jurisdictions where it is collected and where the shoppers live, by contract between the agencies — but only if the voters of the cooperating agencies approve.

The sharing idea came from the Larkspur Town Meeting last fall. The city council passed it along to Corte Madera councilmen — who tabled it on Monday.

Councilman William G. Fleckles declared last night he'd never favor sharing revenues with the twin city unless Corte Madera councilmen contributed their salaries "to the pot." Larkspur councilmen are unpaid.

Councilman Neil R. Brixon declared "let's get moving on the shopping center and forget about revenue sharing." The neighbor cities are pressing rival redevelopment and regional shopping center plans.

Reed School Board Seeks Book Funds

The Reed School District board has applied for $1,541 in federal funds to buy books, according to Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello.

Board members Tuesday approved the application and two others, also for federal funds for books. They are $238 for the Marin Country Day School and $181 for St. Hilary's School. Giovanniello said the federal program requires that private schools make their applications through the local school district.

In other business, trustees changed auditors from the firm of Leader, Jarvis and Keigwin to Sleezer and Eckhoff of San Rafael. The latter firm will audit the district's book this year for $1,950.

The board also held a 20-minute closed session to instruct him on negotiations with district employees on salary requests, Giovanniello said.

Meat Boycott Reported Holding Firm In Marin

Marin County housewives' meat boycott appeared to be holding firm today, but how much good it will do was problematical.

Several butchers reported that jobbers' beef and lamb prices, which had dropped a few cents a pound last week, would rebound next week, to the ceiling set by President Richard M. Nixon when he limited meat prices to their March peaks — an all-time high.

The noramlly busy butcher shop at Petrini's Market in Greenbrae reported that only nine butchers were working, with 14 laid off due to the boycott.

Del Reemo Meat Fish and Poultry in San Rafael said their jobbers' cost on beef had backed off "three or four cents a pound" last week, but would go back up next week. Meanwhile, "we're selling lots of fish," which has increased slightly in cost.

Other markets reported heavy trade both in fish and in poultry, even though they too are at record or near-record prices. All butchers said turkey supplies are almost exhausted.

The first breaks in the battle over prices were reported today in New England, where the 25-store Big G. Discount Food Stores chain announced price rollbacks on more than 100 meat items by as much as 40 cents a pound, according to United Press International.

Press wire services reported that surveys showed meat sales off as much as 70 per cent on the West Coast yesterday, and 20 to 30 per cent in other parts of the nation.

A New York advertising firm said its polls showed many housewives plan to continue their boycott into next week or longer, UPI reported.

Meanwhile, an estimated 5,000 packinghouse workers had been laid off nationwide and meat growers were reported holding back their stock from the market.

Cattleman Sheldon Cotton of Brookings, S.D., told a press conference, "The farmers are tired of subsidizing the housewife... the housewives will have to learn that if they want to feed their families properly, it's going to cost money."

School Board Coffees Set

Candidates in Marin school board races April 17 have announced newly scheduled campaign coffees and public appearances.

They are:

Joan Baez Will Bypass Taxes Again

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Singer Joan Baez will refuse to pay part of her federal income taxes again this year to protest military spending even though American troops have left Vietnam, her business manager says.

"She's a pacifist and she's always protested the amount spent on arms," Roy Kepler of Menlo Park, Calif., said yesterday in a telephone interview.

New Roadblock For Fluoridation

Fluoridation of Marin water, already faced with a roadblock from the state Board of Health, has been confronted with another one thrown up by a consumer-oriented law group.

In a lawsuit filed Tuesday and amended yesterday, the California Public Interest Law Center asked Marin's Superior Court to step into the fluoridation controversy.

Judge Henry J. Broderick, at the request of the law group, ordered the Marin Municipal Water District, in effect to prepare an environmental impact report on fluoridation, or appear in court April 25 to explain why it shouldn't.

The law group also asks for a permanent order setting aside the declaration of the water district board that fluoridation will have no significant environmental effect and forcing the board to prepare an environmental impact report.

Also sought are an order barring any fluoridation until such a report is considered, costs of the suit and any damages that are shown during the course of the suit.

Apart from the court action, the district is already forbidden to add fluoride immediately to its water supply. In an unprecedented move, the state Health Board March 13 barred fluoridation until it is studied by Marin's Medical and Dental societies.

The law board is taking a different tack, claiming the water district board exceeded its authority by acting on "insufficient and inadequate data" and by failing to prepare an environmental impact report.

The decision not to prepare a report created "an unnecessary risk of substantial physical, aesthetic and recreational harm," the suit said.

Fluorine will do three-fold damage, according to the suit. It will contaminate Marin County and the bordering bay waters, accumulate in people and contribute to the denigration in the aesthetic quality of the environment and ecosystem used for recreation.

The law center, in a letter to the water board, had asked for a waiver of the 30-day appeal period on the district's environmental impact ruling so it could wait until the state Board of Health-approved fluoridation.

The water board denied the request so the suit had to be filed before today.

Library Board Approves Budget

The Larkspur Library board Tuesday night approved a proposed 1973-74 budget of $118,377, more than double this year's total of $54,204.

The proposed budget includes a $50,200 request to buy a site for a new library next year, the primary reason for the more than 100 per cent jump.

The budget includes requests for 12.5 per cent salary hikes for the library's three full-time and four part-time employees. It will, like other departmental budget requests, be forwarded to the Larkspur City Council budget hearings.

Meat Boycott Reported Holding Firm In Marin

Marin County housewives' meat boycott appeared to be holding firm today, but how much good it will do was problematical.

Several butchers reported that jobbers' beef and lamb prices, which had dropped a few cents a pound last week, would rebound next week, to the ceiling set by President Richard M. Nixon when he limited meat prices to their March peaks — an all-time high.

The noramlly busy butcher shop at Petrini's Market in Greenbrae reported that only nine butchers were working, with 14 laid off due to the boycott.

Del Reemo Meat Fish and Poultry in San Rafael said their jobbers' cost on beef had backed off "three or four cents a pound" last week, but would go back up next week. Meanwhile, "we're selling lots of fish," which has increased slightly in cost.

Other markets reported heavy trade both in fish and in poultry, even though they too are at record or near-record prices. All butchers said turkey supplies are almost exhausted.

The first breaks in the battle over prices were reported today in New England, where the 25-store Big G. Discount Food Stores chain announced price rollbacks on more than 100 meat items by as much as 40 cents a pound, according to United Press International.

Press wire services reported that surveys showed meat sales off as much as 70 per cent on the West Coast yesterday, and 20 to 30 per cent in other parts of the nation.

A New York advertising firm said its polls showed many housewives plan to continue their boycott into next week or longer, UPI reported.

Meanwhile, an estimated 5,000 packinghouse workers had been laid off nationwide and meat growers were reported holding back their stock from the market.

Cattleman Sheldon Cotton of Brookings, S.D., told a press conference, "The farmers are tired of subsidizing the housewife... the housewives will have to learn that if they want to feed their families properly, it's going to cost money."

School Board Coffees Set

Candidates in Marin school board races April 17 have announced newly scheduled campaign coffees and public appearances.

They are:

Joan Baez Will Bypass Taxes Again

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Singer Joan Baez will refuse to pay part of her federal income taxes again this year to protest military spending even though American troops have left Vietnam, her business manager says.

"She's a pacifist and she's always protested the amount spent on arms," Roy Kepler of Menlo Park, Calif., said yesterday in a telephone interview.

New Roadblock For Fluoridation

Fluoridation of Marin water, already faced with a roadblock from the state Board of Health, has been confronted with another one thrown up by a consumer-oriented law group.

In a lawsuit filed Tuesday and amended yesterday, the California Public Interest Law Center asked Marin's Superior Court to step into the fluoridation controversy.

Judge Henry J. Broderick, at the request of the law group, ordered the Marin Municipal Water District, in effect to prepare an environmental impact report on fluoridation, or appear in court April 25 to explain why it shouldn't.

The law group also asks for a permanent order setting aside the declaration of the water district board that fluoridation will have no significant environmental effect and forcing the board to prepare an environmental impact report.

Also sought are an order barring any fluoridation until such a report is considered, costs of the suit and any damages that are shown during the course of the suit.

Apart from the court action, the district is already forbidden to add fluoride immediately to its water supply. In an unprecedented move, the state Health Board March 13 barred fluoridation until it is studied by Marin's Medical and Dental societies.

The law board is taking a different tack, claiming the water district board exceeded its authority by acting on "insufficient and inadequate data" and by failing to prepare an environmental impact report.

The decision not to prepare a report created "an unnecessary risk of substantial physical, aesthetic and recreational harm," the suit said.

Fluorine will do three-fold damage, according to the suit. It will contaminate Marin County and the bordering bay waters, accumulate in people and contribute to the denigration in the aesthetic quality of the environment and ecosystem used for recreation.

The law center, in a letter to the water board, had asked for a waiver of the 30-day appeal period on the district's environmental impact ruling so it could wait until the state Board of Health-approved fluoridation.

The water board denied the request so the suit had to be filed before today.

Library Board Approves Budget

The Larkspur Library board Tuesday night approved a proposed 1973-74 budget of $118,377, more than double this year's total of $54,204.

The proposed budget includes a $50,200 request to buy a site for a new library next year, the primary reason for the more than 100 per cent jump.

The budget includes requests for 12.5 per cent salary hikes for the library's three full-time and four part-time employees. It will, like other departmental budget requests, be forwarded to the Larkspur City Council budget hearings.

FUZZY FIR TREE EATER

This fuzzy creature is the Douglas fir tussock moth which foresters say poses a grave threat to 270,000 acres of forests in southeastern Washington and northeastern Oregon. The Environmental Protection Agency is expected to decide this month if DDT can be used to kill the moth, which thrives on the tender tips of new growth of cone-bearing trees.

Cost Of Countywide Plan Said Threat To Families

Members of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association were told by the association's board of directors yesterday that "you may not be able to afford to keep your home should the (Marin Countywide) Plan be instituted."

The board estimated total cost of establishing the plan at $18,996 per family and annual operating costs anywhere from $1,000 to $3,000 per family.

An analysis of the cost impact of the countywide plan was contained in a four-page letter of the board of directors, prepared by Norman P. Higby, president, and mailed to all members.

Higby based his figures on those used in the "User's Guide to the Countywide Plan" prepared by the county planning department.

Eighty per cent of Marin's families would have to carry the cost of the plan, said the letter, because 20 per cent would be subsidized low-income families. It then broke down each cost figure in the plan to the amount per family.

Cost of subsidized low-income housing is estimated in ehe plan at $455 million. This, said the letter, would be $6,613 per family.

Cost of establishing an intracounty bus system is estimated at $525 million — or $7,630 per family.

The plan proposes buying 31,000 acres of green-belt open space in Marin's "eastern corridor," where virtually all the population growth would be permitted, and estimates this would cost $52 million.

This figures out to $1,700 per acre. However, Higby reported a check with the Marin County Board of Realtors' miltiple listing office showed the average price of raw land now on the market in East Marin is $7,410 per acre. Taking $7,000 per acre as an average figure, the letter projected a cost of $327 million for the proposed open space — or $4,753 per family.

Annual cost of operating the bus system was estimated in the "User's Guide" at $90 million. This would be $1,160 per year per family, said the letter.

Housing subsidies for 20 years under the plan were estimated at $24 million.

Maintenance and operation of open space parks, based on a December revision of the county figures, was pegged at $1,333,000 from now until 1990. But the letter commented: "It is doubted whether the estimated costs include. . . thousands of real estate parcel acquisitions, surveys, appraisal fees, condemnation cases, court costs, attorneys' fees, record keeping and acquisition agents' salaries."

Operation of the proposed county review agency, according to revised countywide plan figures, was shown at $4 million between now and 1990.

The letter, summarizing total cost initial at $18,996 per family, called annual operating costs "a wide-open checkbook figure, maybe anywhere from $1,000 to $3,000 per family to be added to your present tax bills, annually."

"It is our belief," declared the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association board, "that we cannot afford the Marin Countywide Plan."

Good Skiing Conditions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mild temperatures and good skiing conditions continue today in the Northern and Central California mountains.

The weatherman says it should be fair and sunny through Friday, with only light winds.

Snow depths and conditions, as reported by the California State Automobile Association at 10 a.m.:

Interstate 80: Sugar Bowl, 15- 23 feet, packed, hard turning soft; Tahoe-Donner, 8 feet, hard-pack and corn snow, very good; Soda Springs, 12 feet, excellent, spring conditions; Highway 89: Squaw Valley, 5- 13 ½ feet, very good, packed and powder; Alpine Meadows, 9 feet, excellent, packed and corn snow. Highway 50: Heavenly Valley, 6-10 feet, good to very good, hard-pack and hard turning soft.

Nevada: Mt. Rose, 10 feet, very good to excellent, packed; Slide Mountain, 90 inches, very good hard turning soft; Ski Incline, 3-4 feet, very good, hard turning soft.

A LONG LOOK AT TELEPHOTO

Telephoto lenses are the "Big Guns" for most professional photographers. They are heavier than most lenses and they cost a lot, too. Why then are they used? And should you use one?

Telephoto lenses create "stopper" photographs. They can enable you to photograph the kids without their seeing you, or to take a picture of that special girl down the block and then make a print to surprise her with. They are used in combat where it is difficult to get up close and live to tell about it, and in the Sunday morning battles between the Rams and the Vikings on TV.

The types available are the all-glass and the mirror lenses. All-glass lenses are refractive and run from 85 mm to 1,000 mm. They can be expensive if you are looking for high-speed formulas. The longer lenses are also bulky and slow. The mirror lenses are easy to handle, fast and in some cases inexpensive. They use internal mirrors to fold the light beams back and forth so that the lens can be compact and light. Their prime drawback is lack of a diaphragm and subsequent loss of depth-of-field. Mirror lenses are generally 250 mm to 2,000 mm in focal length.

You can find a telephoto lens for most cameras in our selection. Come in and talk over your needs — in lenses, accessories, and photo supplies.

SUPER AGENCY — A table of organization shows the possible make up of the proposed Department of Planning and Public Facilities. The new department, proposed by County Administrator John F. Barrows, would consolidate the planning, public works and parks and recreation departments.

County Superagency Is Proposed

department, the parks and recreation department also engages in long-range planning for parks.

"Likewise, construction planning and construction contract administration are activities conducted by both public works and parks and recreation.

"Planning and public works must review proposals for land development and improvements. Environmental protection activities are shared by all three departments," he added.

Barrows said the "customers" of many of these functions are often required to go through all departments.

Cost figures were not included in his report, which will go to county supervisors Tuesday. A board discussion of the proposal is expected May 1.

If approved by supervisors, the new department would take effect July 1 with Foreaker expected to have the reorganization well under way by October.

Barrows said two positions could be eliminated by October — a vacant principal planner slot in the planning department and Joske's assistant parks director.

Suggested for inclusion in the proposed planning and public facilities department is the new regional park district, currently headed by Joske, which Barrows was told not to tamper with months ago.

"The regional park and open space district should, in my opinion, be staffed from within this consolidated department," he said. "However, it may be segregated and identified with its own separate staff if your board so desires."

The reorganization was proposed last January by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. after controversy erupted over the planning department's handling of the Martinelli Farms subdivision proposal.

At that time, a spokesman for the developer charged that the planning department had manipulated his plan and had shown a general lack of cooperation.

The planning department denied the charges and countered that it was the developer who had failed to cooperate with planners.

Barrows, meanwhile, said he could not "point to serious or dramatic failures in any of the three departments as a cause for a major reorganization.

"All three departments are providing a reasonable level of service and all three departments can point to performances and achievements in the last few years which have received high commendation from the board and the public," he said.

The county administrator added that the board also may want to consider moving the division of environmental control (sanitation division) out of the health department and place it under the new department.

He said his recommendation that Foreaker head the department was reached after reviewing all three department heads and considering the possibility of recruitment from outside.

Second Chance For Opera Star

WASHINGTON (AP) — After having to cancel out once before, Metropolitan Opera soprano Mary Costa will have a second opportunity to perform at a White House state dinner.

Miss Costa has been invited to entertain at a state dinner being given next week by President Nixon for visiting Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore.

She was scheduled to perform at a state dinner Feb. 1 for British Prime Minister Edward Heath, but she fell and sprained her back and had to cancel the appearance.

Youth Held In Marin

A 17-year-old Petaluma youth was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall today after Mill Valley police spotted him in a car that had been reported stolen yesterday in Mill Valley.

The youth was booked on suspicion of car theft and possessing stolen property and marijuana after an officer noticed him in the vehicle at about 6:30 a.m. near the intersection of Amicita and East Blithedale Avenue.

The teen-ager saw the police car, pulled his vehicle up onto the sidewalk and jumped out and over a fence into a nearby yard. He was caught as he left the yard.

Following his arrest, a search revealed a small quantity of suspected marijuana as well as a number of stolen credit cards in his possession.

The youth's name was withheld on a standing order of Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

Ross Candidates See Few School Faults

Little fault with Ross School District affairs was found last night as four candidates in the April 17 election for three seats on the district board spoke at a candidates forum.

The forum, attended by about 100 persons, was sponsored at the district's only school by the Ross Parent-Teacher Association and the League of Women Voters of Central Marin.

Thomas A. Guerin, an accountant, said he wants "family life education" only in the seventh and eighth grades, but the other three thought the one-school district should have more than it has. "I think we should have more, but it does have to be done well,"David A. Dixon said.

Guerin also struck the only discordant note against the existing program of moving children from room to room for different subjects. The best learning environment is one room with one teacher all day, Guerin said.

However, Dixon and incumbents Sally Ann Rakow and Elizabeth F. Way disagreed in the session sponsored by the Ross Parent-Teacher Association and the League of Women Voters of Central Marin.

They said problems of children "going every which way" have been solved. Mrs. Way said the program is "our way of solving some of the problems of class size," and Dixon felt giving a child more than one teacher "minimizes personality conflicts."

Each of the candidates gave a short talk on the district's most pressing problems, and all agreed that finances will be tighter because of the new law on school financing.

Otherwise, the candidates varied on what problems face the district. Mrs. Way said, "The enforcement of discipline and the respect for the rights of others is at the top of my priority list."

She also wanted more required subjects for junior high school students, specifically art, music and sport. "12 and 13-year-old students should be offered some direction," she said.

Guerin didn't like tenure laws and favored setting up better lines of communications and a career education program in the district.

Dixon, a business executive, was most concerned about a sound curriculum, "one that will turn children on." He said the parent volunteer and after school activities programs should be expanded.

He also wanted to see the English curriculum beefed up because that is the one area in which Ross students have to do remedial work "to get into the fine prep schools."

Mrs. Rakow, first elected to the board in 1969, favored further study of sharing programs with the Kentfield School District and also placed priority on getting volunteer help, not only for education, but also for chores like painting doors.

She further urged reassessment of the district goals adopted two years ago and establishment of citizen-staff committees to advise the board.

Following the prepared speeches, the meeting was thrown open to questions, but the large audience produced only five. Questions dealt with vandalism and litter, sex education, the English instruction, and whether Ross should be preparing students for private or public schools.

Candidates agreed the Ross School should prepare its students for any high school, private or public.

Mrs. Rakow and Mrs. Way, elected to fill an unexpired term in 1971, are seeking to retain their seats.The third position is held by Van Logan Norden, who is not running for reelection.

Recreation Area Funds Top Hurdle

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — The final congressional hurdle was cleared late last night in the "reprogramming" of a $5.9 million appropriation, which will provide the first funds for purchase of private land for the new Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, reported today that the Senate appropriations subcommittee on the interior last night approved earmarking the money for land acquisition in Marin County.

The money was found in surplus appropriations from previous budgets for Point Reyes National Seashore and a park in Minnesota. The Department of the Interior had asked that it be reallocated to the Golden Gate project.

Last month, a house subcommittee approved the request, and with the senate subcommittee approval, the National Park Service can begin buying land. Mailliard's spokesman said he does not know when actual purchase will begin.

The park service has said that five holdings totaling 5,712 acres, ranging from Tennessee Valley to the Bolinas Ridge are top priority for first acquisition to the new park.

The holdings represent about one-third of the total land in private ownership slated for the park.

A Warning On Building Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration does not intend to lift its moratorium on the construction of federally subsidized housing until Congress reforms the housing programs.

This warning was given a Senate Housing subcommittee Wednesday by Housing Secretary James T. Lynn.

Congress cannot act to change the housing programs until Lynn submits his recommendations. Lynn promised to do this by September, but Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., said this meant congressional action could not be completed until next year.

College Board Spurns Redevelopment Offers

The Marin Community College District trustees last night emerged from a closed session with their attorney to call unacceptable two offers made by the San Rafael City Council to settle a dispute over the city's redevelopment.

College district officials have opposed the method of financing the city's proposed redevelopment program, because they are unhappy that tax revenue from increased property valuation will go toward paying for redevelopment, not to the college district.

The city had offered the college a choice of two proposals to settle the matter, the one negotiated with the county or the one with the San Rafael Board of Education.

Both agreements provide for a return of some revenue that would be "siphoned off" under redevelopment.

The settlement with the schools assures a return of revenues resulting from a flat 3.8 per cent growth in assessed valuation in the redevelopment area.

College Trustee Donald K. Felt said last night the trustees did not want to accept either offer, according to district publicist Earlene Jones.

Felt, Trustee Francis Compton, Supt.-Pres. John A. Grasham and Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino were named as a committee to work up a new proposal in an attempt to settle the matter.

The Marin Community College District board also:

FUNDS — Approved a request for $16,402 in federal funds to continue operation of the Marin City Adult Self-Improvement Project. An additional $7,515 from district funds would also be needed, according to Jared B. Sharon, who reported on the project.

FURNITURE — Approved contracts with various firms for new library furniture, totaling $47,393.

CONTRACT — Set a closed session for May 7 to discuss with Supt.-Pres. John A. Grasham his contract.

BIDS — Authorized advertising for bids for a new electrical system for part of the College of Marin campus and a fire alarm system, estimated to cost $77,890.

MINORITIES — Asked Grasham to report at the April 18 meeting on the status of a program aimed at recruiting women and members of minority groups for faculty positions.

FEES — Set a fee schedule of $27 a unit for out-of-state students who wish to register at College of Marin next year.

Cabinet Change

LISBON (UPI) — Prime Minister Marcello Caetano today dropped Dr. Joao da Costa, the Secretary of State for Cultural Instruction, from his cabinet. He was replaced by Dr. Augusto Soares de Albergaria, who was transferred from his post as secretary of state for youth and sports.

Pleasure Faire Site Hopes Dimmed

Hopes for a permanent Marin County home for the Renaissance Pleasure Faire dimmed yesterday as state highway officials withheld endorsement of the proposed site north of Novato.

According to Irving L. Schwartz, county land development engineer for the department of public works, officials from the highway patrol and state Division of Highways said safe access to the site could be handled only through a $4 million highway interchange.

As a result, Schwartz continued, his office will recommend denial of a use permit for the fair when it is considered April 16 by the county zoning administrator.

Schwartz said his move to block the fair will not affect the promoter's plan to open a renaissance educational center at the 270-acre site, located west of Highway 101 at the Sonoma County line.

He added that his recommendation for denial does not kill the possibility of staging the annual fair at that location since promoters may be able to develop plans for shuttle bus service.

Fair promoters Ron and Phyllis Patterson have an option to buy the sprawling site, part of the Veronda Ranch in the San Antonio Creek Valley. They had hoped to stage the fair at that location in 1975.

But, said Schwartz, state and county officials agreed yesterday that without an interchange, cars traveling to the popular event would cause havoc on 101. On peak days, he said, as many as 7,000 cars would be added to the highway with only marginal access to the site.

The proposed route rejected yesterday called for northbound traffic to travel to Petaluma Boulevard at Petaluma, reverse direction, come back into Marin County and then to the site via San Antonio Road.

That would back up traffic on the fast-moving highway for miles, he said, adding highway patrol officials objected strenuously. Petaluma officials did not attend the meeting.

Deputy Zoning Administrator Harvey Bragdon said this morning that if the public works department and state officials object to the fair for traffic safety reasons he probably will have no choice but to deny the use.

"That doesn't mean they can't use the site for the renaissance center," he said, explaining that use would not draw the same amount of traffic. "I'll have to wait until the hearing, however."

The renaissance center and an Old English village is outlined in a proposed master plan envisioning overnight lodgings, restaurant and tavern, small shops, Elizabethan theater and village square.

Whether that project will be financially attractive to its promoters without the annual renaissance faire, which draws costumed visitors from throughout the Bay Area, remains in question.

Fair attorney Douglas P. Ferguson, who did not attend yesterday's meeting, declined to discuss its future until he had discussed the matter with county officials.

Fair promoters have been seeking a permanent site for years and touched off heated controversy in 1971 when they proposed locating in Upper Lucas Valley.

The fair has been operating on a year-to-year basis in the county, first in the Santa Venetia area and during the last two years at Black Point.

School Hopefuls Schedule Events

Candidates in Marin school board races April 17 have announced newly scheduled campaign coffees and public appearances.

They are:

DIXIE SCHOOL DISTRICT — Candidate Wayne Cliff at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Barbara Carragher home, 377 Quietwood Drive, San Rafael.

TAMALPAIS HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT — Candidate Fred C. Hannahs, 10 a.m. Saturday at the E. J. Ezekiel home, 15 San Gabriel Court, Fairfax.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER!

STEEL RADIAL
GRAND PRIX

. .SEE WHY THESE PREMIUM* STEEL BELTED RADIAL TIRES ARE THE BEST TIRE BUY. . . ANY WHERE!

MILEAGE! With less tread squirm you get longer treadwear. Squirm rubs off tread rubber like an eraser and causes serious heat buildup. The Grand Prix Steel Radial has great tread stability. The belts of rayon and steel run directly under the tread to hold the tread firm and open.

RIDE! Strong yet supple rayon cord belts surround and cushion the brass coated strands of high strength steel in the center belt. You experience the ride of comfort with all the advantages of a steel belted radial tire.

SAFETY! The combination of steel and radial construction when added to 4 rayon belts and 2 strong body plies of rayon cord delivers a tire of unusual safety and protection from road hazards and punctures.

TRACTION! Radial construction gives you a full flat footprint on the road. The Grand Prix Steel Radial's aggressive tread grabs the road to deliver a feeling of control and traction. On curves and corners in particular you will experience the feeling of stability that full footprint traction makes in driving.

STABILITY! Flexible body plies that run straight from bead to bead combine with the tread stabilizing belts to provide shoulder to shoulder stability. The tread remains in full contact with the road when cornering. You experience maximum control at all times.

IMPACT RESISTANCE All the extra protection delivered by the steel and rayon belts and strong body plies helps to shrug off road shock and punctures and make this a worry free tire.

College Board Spurns Redevelopment Offers

The Marin Community College District trustees last night emerged from a closed session with their attorney to call unacceptable two offers made by the San Rafael City Council to settle a dispute over the city's redevelopment.

College district officials have opposed the method of financing the city's proposed redevelopment program, because they are unhappy that tax revenue from increased property valuation will go toward paying for redevelopment, not to the college district.

The city had offered the college a choice of two proposals to settle the matter, the one negotiated with the county or the one with the San Rafael Board of Education.

The settlement with the schools assures a return of revenues resulting from a flat 3.8 per cent growth in assessed valuation in the redevelopment area.

College Trustee Donald K. Felt said last night the trustees did not want to accept either offer, according to district publicist Earlene Jones.

Felt, Trustee Francis Compton, Supt.-Pres. John A. Grasham and Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino were named as a committee to work up a new proposal in an attempt to settle the matter.

The Marin Community College District board also:

FUNDS — Approved a request for $16,402 in federal funds to continue operation of the Marin City Adult Self-Improvement Project. An additional $7,515 from district funds would also be needed, according to Jared B. Sharon, who reported on the project.

FURNITURE — Approved contracts with various firms for new library furniture, totaling $47,393.

CONTRACT — Set a closed session for May 7 to discuss with Supt.-Pres. John A. Grasham his contract.

BIDS — Authorized advertising for bids for a new electrical system for part of the College of Marin campus and a fire alarm system, estimated to cost $77,890.

MINORITIES — Asked Grasham to report at the April 18 meeting on the status of a program aimed at recruiting women and members of minority groups for faculty positions.

FEES — Set a fee schedule of $27 a unit for out-of-state students who wish to register at College of Marin next year.

Cabinet Change

LISBON (UPI) — Prime Minister Marcello Caetano today dropped Dr. Joao da Costa, the Secretary of State for Cultural Instruction, from his cabinet. He was replaced by Dr. Augusto Soares de Albergaria, who was transferred from his post as secretary of state for youth and sports.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

9:46 a.m., Petaluma — Car fire out on arrival at East Washington Street and Eli Boulevard caused by backfire igniting gas in carburetor; minor damage to auto owned by J.W. Baggett of Washington.

12:24 p.m., Novato — Fire in sawdust and grass cuttings at rear of Novato High School field; cause undetermined.

5:34 p.m., Marinwood — Fire in heating element of stove at 642 Blackberry Lane, Mildred J. Flood residence; minor damage.

5:51 p.m., Petaluma — Fire in shed at rear of Lova Laster home at 219 Petaluma Boulevard South; heavy damage; cause under investigation.

Pleasure Faire Site Hopes Dimmed

Hopes for a permanent Marin County home for the Renaissance Pleasure Faire dimmed yesterday as state highway officials withheld endorsement of the proposed site north of Novato.

According to Irving L. Schwartz, county land development engineer for the department of public works, officials from the highway patrol and state Division of Highways said safe access to the site could be handled only through a $4 million highway interchange.

As a result, Schwartz continued, his office will recommend denial of a use permit for the fair when it is considered April 16 by the county zoning administrator.

Schwartz said his move to block the fair will not affect the promoter's plan to open a renaissance educational center at the 270-acre site, located west of Highway 101 at the Sonoma County line.

He added that his recommendation for denial does not kill the possibility of staging the annual fair at that location since promoters may be able to develop plans for shuttle bus service.

Fair promoters Ron and Phyllis Patterson have an option to buy the sprawling site, part of the Veronda Ranch in the San Antonio Creek Valley. They had hoped to stage the fair at that location in 1975.

But, said Schwartz, state and county officials agreed yesterday that without an interchange, cars traveling to the popular event would cause havoc on 101. On peak days, he said, as many as 7,000 cars would be added to the highway with only marginal access to the site.

The proposed route rejected yesterday called for northbound traffic to travel to Petaluma Boulevard at Petaluma, reverse direction, come back into Marin County and then to the site via San Antonio Road.

That would back up traffic on the fast-moving highway for miles, he said, adding highway patrol officials objected strenuously. Petaluma officials did not attend the meeting.

Deputy Zoning Administrator Harvey Bragdon said this morning that if the public works department and state officials object to the fair for traffic safety reasons he probably will have no choice but to deny the use.

"That doesn't mean they can't use the site for the renaissance center," he said, explaining that use would not draw the same amount of traffic. "I'll have to wait until the hearing, however."

The renaissance center and an Old English village is outlined in a proposed master plan envisioning overnight lodgings, restaurant and tavern, small shops, Elizabethan theater and village square.

Whether that project will be financially attractive to its promoters without the annual renaissance faire, which draws costumed visitors from throughout the Bay Area, remains in question.

Fair attorney Douglas P. Ferguson, who did not attend yesterday's meeting, declined to discuss its future until he had discussed the matter with county officials.

Fair promoters have been seeking a permanent site for years and touched off heated controversy in 1971 when they proposed locating in Upper Lucas Valley.

The fair has been operating on a year-to-year basis in the county, first in the Santa Venetia area and during the last two years at Black Point.

School Hopefuls Schedule Events

Candidates in Marin school board races April 17 have announced newly scheduled campaign coffees and public appearances.

They are:

TAMALPAIS HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT — Candidate Fred C. Hannahs, 10 a.m. Saturday at the E. J. Ezekiel home, 15 San Gabriel Court, Fairfax.

Special Indian Panel Is Formed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate Republican and Democratic leaders yesterday announced creation of a special Senate committee "to get California moving on solving its Indian problems."

Senate Republican Caucus Chairman John L. Harmer of Glendale and Democratic Caucus Chairman Mervyn M. Dymally of Los Angeles issued a joint statement urging senators to join the Senate Ad Hoc Committee in Indian Affairs.

"We must set aside partisan differences, take hold of these long-festering problems and do something," said Dymally, adding that possibly some of the $852 million state budget surplus could be used to give Indians "the chance they deserve."

Harmer said he has "long been concerned about the complexity inherent in providing our Indian people with adequate housing, education, jobs and with a sounding board in the Legislature to hear their opinions firsthand. I hope this temporary committee can move us in that direction."

The lawmakers said the committee was set up after they and other caucus members met several times with representatives of the American Indian Movement. Dymally and Harmer said they wanted to hear from all segments of the Indian population in California on how to solve Indian problems.

They said three possible approaches will be examined by the committee:

Setting up a committee of government officials and Indian representatives to deal with problems.

Creating an Indian ombudsman's office to receive Indian grievances and try to work them out with state, federal and local agencies.

Forming a state-federal committee which would meet regularly with Indian representatives to help resolve Indian problems involving health, education, jobs and criminal justice.

"This must be an effort with full Indian participation," Dymally and Harmer said. "It must not become just another effort bogged down by white man's domination and telling he Indian what is best for him."

Tape Equipment Reported Stolen

A stereo tape player, two speakers and tapes valued at a total of $569 were stolen from an auto owned by Gerald L. Diminovich, 5 Harte Street, San Rafael, police said.

Tentative Approval To 15 Units

The Tiburon Planning Commission has tentatively approved two single-family developments totaling 15 units above the Hilarita Housing site and Reed School.

Planning assistant Andrew E. Hahto said commissioners Monday approved tentative subdivision maps and precise plans for the eight-unit Reed Park subdivision and the seven-unit Radomile development.

The houses are to be built on Round Hill Road.

Commissioners also viewed plans for 14 apartments at 48 Lyford Drive but asked the applicant, H. R. Lever, to redesign one of the three buildings so that views from neighboring dwellings are not blocked.

The revised plans will be considered at an adjourned commission meeting at 8 p.m. April 17 at city hall. Also on the agenda for that session will be a hearing on rezoning much of the city's ridgeland to a special planned residential and open space zone.

If the land is rezoned, Hahto said property owners who want to build would be asked to set aside part of their developments as open space.

A Woman Mayor

TWIN BRIDGES, Mont. (UPI) — Mrs. Jemima Cook, 63, defeated incumbent Hyram Brown 124 votes to 55 votes Tuesday to become this tiny Southwestern Montana town's first woman mayor.

Disaster Label Eyed For Dead Tree Areas

SACRMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday announced he will declare a state of emergency in Alameda and Contra Costa counties due to the fire danger posed by dead eucalyptus trees in the hills east of Oakland.

The governor said the declaration was part of a long-range plan worked out between the state and representatives of local governments from the affected areas on dealing with the fire hazard.

Reagan said the plan is designed to make "the best, most effective use" of local and state resources to alleviate the potential fire hazard resulting from the killing of the highly inflammable trees by freezing temperatures last December.

Under the agreement, the governor's disaster declaration will cover both counties plus the cities of Oakland, Berkeley, El Cerrito and Kensington plus the East Bay Regional Park District and the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

Reagan, in a statement issued by his office, said he also will ask President Nixon to declare threatened portions of the East Bay hills a disaster area. The designation would allow residents to apply for federal aid to assist them in clearing brush, dead trees and other debris which are fire hazards from their property.

The agreement also provides that the state and affected local government will establish a center to coordinate fire prevention activities and insure immediate response in case of fires. The state Division of Forestry will increase its firefighting capability in the area.

Also, the state will assign National Guard units and equipment to augment the work of local agencies and volunteers in removing dead trees and brush from the area.

Final details of the agreement were concluded at a meeting Wednesday in the governor's office attended by state and local officials, including Mayors John Reading of Oakland and Warren Widener of Berkeley.

Assault Case Still Probed

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against a 28-year-old Santa Venetia man arrested Monday on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon and assault with intent to rape.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert said Craig Clayton Nance was released pending further investigation of the allegations of a 25-year-old woman given a ride by Nance.

The woman told San Rafael police Nance gave her a ride in San Rafael, and, after saying he would rape her, drove to his home. His roommates took her to police.

Preregistration Is Set For Mill Valley Pupils

Preregistration of children who will enter kindergarten in the Mill Valley School District in September will be conducted Tuesday and Wednesday at all schools in the district (except the Middle School) from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

To be eligible for kindergarten, a child must be five years old on or before Dec. 2. Proof of age, such as a birth or baptismal certificate, passport, hospital record of birth or notarized statement by parent or guardian, must be supplied.

Parents are asked to know the dates of children's immunizations for polio, rubella, diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

Tapes Are Stolen From Parked Car

Stereo tapes and case worth $236 were stolen Tuesday from a car owned by Gary M. Burrafato of Fairfax, San Rafael police reported.

The auto was parked in the 500 block of Lindaro Street.

Santa Rosa Groups Will Play Friday

The Santa Rosa String Quartet and Contemporary Woodwind Quintet will present a concert of chamber music in Ives Hall at Sonoma State College tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Margaretta Redwine and Jean Stevens of the Sonoma State music faculty are members of the group. The program will include music by Hadyn, Mozart, Poulenc and Brahms.

Special Indian Panel Is Formed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate Republican and Democratic leaders yesterday announced creation of a special Senate committee "to get California moving on solving its Indian problems."

Senate Republican Caucus Chairman John L. Harmer of Glendale and Democratic Caucus Chairman Mervyn M. Dymally of Los Angeles issued a joint statement urging senators to join the Senate Ad Hoc Committee in Indian Affairs.

"We must set aside partisan differences, take hold of these long-festering problems and do something," said Dymally, adding that possibly some of the $852 million state budget surplus could be used to give Indians "the chance they deserve."

Harmer said he has "long been concerned about the complexity inherent in providing our Indian people with adequate housing, education, jobs and with a sounding board in the Legislature to hear their opinions firsthand. I hope this temporary committee can move us in that direction."

The lawmakers said the committee was set up after they and other caucus members met several times with representatives of the American Indian Movement. Dymally and Harmer said they wanted to hear from all segments of the Indian population in California on how to solve Indian problems.

They said three possible approaches will be examined by the committee:

Setting up a committee of government officials and Indian representatives to deal with problems.

Creating an Indian ombudsman's office to receive Indian grievances and try to work them out with state, federal and local agencies.

Forming a state-federal committee which would meet regularly with Indian representatives to help resolve Indian problems involving health, education, jobs and criminal justice.

"This must be an effort with full Indian participation," Dymally and Harmer said. "It must not become just another effort bogged down by white man's domination and telling he Indian what is best for him."

Tape Equipment Reported Stolen

A stereo tape player, two speakers and tapes valued at a total of $569 were stolen from an auto owned by Gerald L. Diminovich, 5 Harte Street, San Rafael, police said.

Tentative Approval To 15 Units

The Tiburon Planning Commission has tentatively approved two single-family developments totaling 15 units above the Hilarita Housing site and Reed School.

Planning assistant Andrew E. Hahto said commissioners Monday approved tentative subdivision maps and precise plans for the eight-unit Reed Park subdivision and the seven-unit Radomile development.

Commissioners also viewed plans for 14 apartments at 48 Lyford Drive but asked the applicant, H. R. Lever, to redesign one of the three buildings so that views from neighboring dwellings are not blocked.

The revised plans will be considered at an adjourned commission meeting at 8 p.m. April 17 at city hall. Also on the agenda for that session will be a hearing on rezoning much of the city's ridgeland to a special planned residential and open space zone.

If the land is rezoned, Hahto said property owners who want to build would be asked to set aside part of their developments as open space.

A Woman Mayor

TWIN BRIDGES, Mont. (UPI) — Mrs. Jemima Cook, 63, defeated incumbent Hyram Brown 124 votes to 55 votes Tuesday to become this tiny Southwestern Montana town's first woman mayor.

Disaster Label Eyed For Dead Tree Areas

SACRMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday announced he will declare a state of emergency in Alameda and Contra Costa counties due to the fire danger posed by dead eucalyptus trees in the hills east of Oakland.

The governor said the declaration was part of a long-range plan worked out between the state and representatives of local governments from the affected areas on dealing with the fire hazard.

Reagan said the plan is designed to make "the best, most effective use" of local and state resources to alleviate the potential fire hazard resulting from the killing of the highly inflammable trees by freezing temperatures last December.

Under the agreement, the governor's disaster declaration will cover both counties plus the cities of Oakland, Berkeley, El Cerrito and Kensington plus the East Bay Regional Park District and the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

Reagan, in a statement issued by his office, said he also will ask President Nixon to declare threatened portions of the East Bay hills a disaster area. The designation would allow residents to apply for federal aid to assist them in clearing brush, dead trees and other debris which are fire hazards from their property.

The agreement also provides that the state and affected local government will establish a center to coordinate fire prevention activities and insure immediate response in case of fires. The state Division of Forestry will increase its firefighting capability in the area.

Also, the state will assign National Guard units and equipment to augment the work of local agencies and volunteers in removing dead trees and brush from the area.

Final details of the agreement were concluded at a meeting Wednesday in the governor's office attended by state and local officials, including Mayors John Reading of Oakland and Warren Widener of Berkeley.

Assault Case Still Probed

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against a 28-year-old Santa Venetia man arrested Monday on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon and assault with intent to rape.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert said Craig Clayton Nance was released pending further investigation of the allegations of a 25-year-old woman given a ride by Nance.

The woman told San Rafael police Nance gave her a ride in San Rafael, and, after saying he would rape her, drove to his home. His roommates took her to police.

Preregistration Is Set For Mill Valley Pupils

Preregistration of children who will enter kindergarten in the Mill Valley School District in September will be conducted Tuesday and Wednesday at all schools in the district (except the Middle School) from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

To be eligible for kindergarten, a child must be five years old on or before Dec. 2. Proof of age, such as a birth or baptismal certificate, passport, hospital record of birth or notarized statement by parent or guardian, must be supplied.

Parents are asked to know the dates of children's immunizations for polio, rubella, dipththeria, whooping cough and tetanus.

Tapes Are Stolen From Parked Car

Stereo tapes and case worth $236 were stolen Tuesday from a car owned by Gary M. Burrafato of Fairfax, San Rafael police reported.

The auto was parked in the 500 block of Lindaro Street.

Santa Rosa Groups Will Play Friday

The Santa Rosa String Quartet and Contemporary Woodwind Quintet will present a concert of chamber music in Ives Hall at Sonoma State College tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Margaretta Redwine and Jean Stevens of the Sonoma State music faculty are members of the group. The program will include music by Hadyn, Mozart, Poulenc and Brahms.

Petaluma Policeman Spending Time With Junior Rifle Team

By BONNIE BARD

Three years have passed since Petaluma policeman Vilho Ahola was paralyzed by an assailant's bullet and the months have been filled with therapy sessions and helping youngsters.

Ahola, 45, was attempting to quell a family argument the morning a bullet struck his spinal cord and left him paralyzed from the waist down. The officer since has made long strides to regain physical control of his husky frame. His convicted assailant, Walter Hale, 55, is serving a prison term.

Much of Ahola's time has been spent trying to bring his life back to normal. He still has therapy sessions twice weekly and can now drive a car, although he remains bound to a wheelchair.

A great deal of time also has been devoted to forming the Petaluma Police Assistance League Junior Rifle Team. He has used his reputation as a police marksman to mold a team of youngsters.

The 30-member team includes boys and girls ranging in age from 10 to 18.

"Eight are already working toward the expert rank," Ahola said proudly. "They're a real fine group of youngsters.

Ahola holds 20 national shooting records and a life master rating from the National Rifle Association. He qualified many times for the Olympic shooting team, but never was able to give up his job to devote time for the required months of training.

The young marksmen are graded for shooting from various positions. Youngsters compete for individual awards as well as for team scores.

The team now has five .22 caliber rifles. One was purchased and four are on loan from the Army through the Department of Civilian Marksmanship.

"We also get ammunition and targets from them, but you wouldn't believe the amount of paperwork that's involved," Ahola said. "The Army wants to make sure it doesn't end up in the wrong hands."

"We have a big stress on safety," he said. "We have strict rules on how to handle the guns and they're strictly enforced. We've had no problems and after a while safety becomes a habit."

Most of the youngsters had never handled guns before joining the team. "It's a good sport because you don't really have to be an athlete," he said. "It's not a muscle sport and youngsters who might not be able to make the football team can learn to enjoy and excel in shooting."

"It takes a lot of self-discipline since the sport really requires coordination of the mind and muscles," Ahola said. "We've found the youngsters build up self-confidence and it carries over into their school work and other areas."

Ahola said the youngsters have raised money on their own by providing services rather than asking for donations. Team members received $750 last year for clean-up duties at the Sonoma-Marin Fairgrounds. Money is also raised by operating the cloak stand for events at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

Ahola, with the help of parents and officers George Evans and Donald Price, drive the youngsters to shooting matches throughout the bay area.

"We've really been too successful," Ahola said. A long list of youngsters awaits an opening on the team. But until a larger shooting range is found, the team cannot be expanded.

Ahola hopes a new range offering facilities for more than four shooting positions soon can be built in Petaluma.

In addition to his time with the team, Ahola worked part time three days a week doing statistical work at the police department.

Not only does the work keep him in contact with police work and fellow officers, it also helps out financially.

"I really took a big pay cut when I got hurt," Ahola said. "I was making $850 a month at the time and now I get $284 from state compensation. It's really tough making ends meet with a wife and two sons."

"If I had known it could turn out like this I would have continued being a cranberry picker in Massachusetts," he said with some bitterness.

"Except for the money situation, everybody's really been great to me," he said. "I can drive now and be independent. It's really not all that hard to keep busy."

A Hike In Airline Passengers Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) officials predict airline passenger traffic will more than double over the next decade, exceeding the 500 million-a-year level.

The FAA estimated yesterday there will be about 179 million domestic airline passengers this year and that the figure will climb to 460 million in 1984. Adding those traveling overseas, there will be about 200 million enplanements in 1973 and 524 million a year by 1984.

Conflict Of Interest Is Cleared Up

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The chairman of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District's advisory council was cleared yesterday of a possible conflict of interest.

Joseph D. Coons of San Rafael, a consulting chemical engineer, has represented an oil company that wants to build a new refinery in Contra Costa County. A citizen opposed to the refinery suggested last month that Coons may be unsuitable to continue on the council because of his work for the refinery.

District directors, however, agreed unanimously yesterday there is no merit to the suggestion of a conflict of interest. A closed-door discussion of the possible conflict had been scheduled, but the issue was settled openly with a letter from the advisory council defending Coons.

The council noted it has nothing to do with permits for oil refineries, thus there is no way it could affect the outcome of its application for a district permit. "There is not one shred of evidence to suggest that he has ever been motivated by anything other than a desire to help establish sound and workable air pollution control measures," it said of Coons.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors also:

ELECTION — Voted, 12-2, to oppose SB 546 by Sen. Alfred Alquist, D-San Jose, which would require election of district directors instead of a board composed of county supervisors and city councilmen. Both Marin representatives, Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Sausalito City Councilman Stephen Fraser, voted with the majority to oppose the bill.

SECRETS — Voted, 8-6, to support pending legislation to eliminate "trade secrets" from air pollution data closed to public disclosure.

VIOLATIONS — Received staff report that notices for violating district regulations have been issued against Hillcrest Hospital and Richard Fields, both of Petaluma, and Wilmac Constructors Inc., Rohnert Park. None was issued in Marin.

Marin Artists Poster Winners

Two Marin youngsters were blue ribbon winners in a wildlife poster contest sponsored by the San Francisco Zoological Society, officials announced.

Jennifer MacSwain, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacSwain of Lucas Valley, and Paul Clary, 13, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Clary of San Rafael, were the winners.

Jennifer won first prize for her picture in poster paints of a giraffe conversing with birds. Paul sketched a woodland stream and its inhabitants in pen and ink. They were among more than 600 contest entrants.

Sewage Flowing Into Lake Erie

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — A pipeline at the city sewage treatment plant ruptured Wednesday pouring 70,000 gallons of raw sewage a minute into Lake Erie.

All businesses and residents were asked to curtail the use of water as much as possible.

An estimated 250 million gallons of the sewage is expected to be pumped into the lake before the rupture is fixed sometime Friday.

Death Of Boy Blamed On Rose

OXFORD, England (UPI) — Simon Smith was killed by a rose.

Thomas Gardiner, the Oxford coroner, recorded a verdict of accidental death Wednesday and said Simon died by a million-to-one chance.

Simon, celebrating his seventh birthday, was playing in the garden with his party guests when he fell on a rose bush. Thorns pierced his mouth and the inside of his throat.

He died nine days later from blood clotting in the brain and arteries, the coroner's court was told.

Pioneer 11 Ready For Long Journey

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A nuclear-powered spacecraft named Pioneer 11 is set for launch tonight on a 20-month, 620-million mile journey to explore the planet Jupiter.

The 570-pound probe is scheduled to take off at 9:11 p.m. EST on an Atlas-Centaur rocket.

French Halt A Soviet Ship

BREST, France (AP) — A French destroyer stopped a Soviet cargo vessel in the Atlantic today and a boarding party ordered the ship to return to French waters after it apparently rammed and sank a French fishing trawler.

The Soviet ship was being escorted to Brest.

The trawler, the Dany Gerard, out of the Brittany port of Loctudy, was lost with six men aboard.

Conservationist Groups Lose Plea

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Riverside County Board of Supervisors voted Wednesday to reject two environmental impact report provisions sought by conservation groups.

The board voted down a proposal to ban developers from making their own impact reports and another plan which would have required public hearings on controversial development projects.

Jennifer MacSwain, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacSwain of Lucas Valley, and Paul Clary, 13, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Clary of San Rafael, were the winners.

Jennifer won first prize for her picture in poster paints of a giraffe conversing with birds. Paul sketched a woodland stream and its inhabitants in pen and ink. They were among more than 600 contest entrants.

Sewage Flowing Into Lake Erie

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — A pipeline at the city sewage treatment plant ruptured Wednesday pouring 70,000 gallons of raw sewage a minute into Lake Erie.

All businesses and residents were asked to curtail the use of water as much as possible.

An estimated 250 million gallons of the sewage is expected to be pumped into the lake before the rupture is fixed sometime Friday.

Death Of Boy Blamed On Rose

Thomas Gardiner, the Oxford coroner, recorded a verdict of accidental death Wednesday and said Simon died by a million-to-one chance.

Simon, celebrating his seventh birthday, was playing in the garden with his party guests when he fell on a rose bush. Thorns pierced his mouth and the inside of his throat.

He died nine days later from blood clotting in the brain and arteries, the coroner's court was told.

Pioneer 11 Ready For Long Journey

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A nuclear-powered spacecraft named Pioneer 11 is set for launch tonight on a 20-month, 620-million mile journey to explore the planet Jupiter.

The 570-pound probe is scheduled to take off at 9:11 p.m. EST on an Atlas-Centaur rocket.

French Halt A Soviet Ship

BREST, France (AP) — A French destroyer stopped a Soviet cargo vessel in the Atlantic today and a boarding party ordered the ship to return to French waters after it apparently rammed and sank a French fishing trawler.

The Soviet ship was being escorted to Brest.

The trawler, the Dany Gerard, out of the Brittany port of Loctudy, was lost with six men aboard.

Conservationist Groups Lose Plea

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Riverside County Board of Supervisors voted Wednesday to reject two environmental impact report provisions sought by conservation groups.

The board voted down a proposal to ban developers from making their own impact reports and another plan which would have required public hearings on controversial development projects.

City Worker Group Formed In Tiburon

Tiburon's city employees have announced formation of an employees association which will begin discussions on salaries and benefits with City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer in time for this year's budget preparation.

Twenty-five of the city's 30 full-time employees voted unanimously to form the Tiburon City Employees Association, according to Louise Mirata, the group's president.

The group has yet to request formal recognition of the city council as the bargaining agent for employees, Balmer said, but he is treating the association as though it has been recognized.

Several bills pending in Sacramento could change the procedure in recognizing and dealing with employee groups, Balmer said, so he is waiting until action is taken on these before acting on formal recognition.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Mirata said, the association will meet to draw up a list of requests regarding salaries and fringe benefits which will be given tc Balmer for inclusion in this year's recommended budget.

Within the association are three divisions: police, public works and city hall employees, Balmer said.

All city employees with the exception of five department heads belong to the group, Mrs. Mirata said. Other officers are Frank Brooks, vice president, and Janet Foulger, secretary-treasurer.

Banana Prices At 1948 Level

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — More people are eating bananas than ever before, and at 1948 prices.

"I doubt that any other food product can make that claim," said Donald J. Kirchoff, a salesman for Castle & Cook.

He told a meeting of security analysts Wednesday that his firm is now No. 1 in the banana business, supplying 40 per cent of the North American market.

The reason you can buy a banana at 25-year-old prices, he said, "is because of major technical advances in growing and marketing the fruit."

He said the average American eats 18 pounds of bananas each year, making it the most popular fruit in the United States.

BOLTS DON'T STOP THEFT OF HYDRANT

Going one step beyond the adage that people will steal anything that isn't nailed down, thieves last week stole a heavy, new fire hydrant that was bolted into place on Janes Street in Homestead Valley.

The Marin County Sheriff's Department said yesterday the thieves turned off the water, then unbolted the 185-pound hydrant located in a construction area.

The yellow and green cast iron plug, owned by the Tamalpais Valley Fire Protection District, was valued at $225. It disappeared between 4:30 p.m. last Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday.

Newton Says His Party 'Much Alive'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Huey P. Newton, co-founder and minister of Defense of the Black Panther Party said yesterday his organization is "still very much alive and kicking" although it has given up "the gun for the balllot.""

Newton, 31, said the party has not abandoned the original "vision of revolution," but had chosen the ballot and community organizing as weapons to achieve that end."

Reed School Sign-Ups For Kindergarten Set

Children scheduled to attend Granada School will register there tomorrow; Bel Aire registration will be at the school Wednesday and registration for Belvedere and Tiburon schools will be at Reed School April 13. Hours at all schools are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Vision and hearing tests will be given and teachers will be on hand to meet parents and children.

Although parents are not required to register their children on the above dates, school officials said, they are asked to do so in order to give the district an accurate idea of the number of kindergartners who will attend school in September.

To be eligible, children must be 5 years old as of Dec. 1. Proof of age will be required.

Three Deny Dealing In Hashish Oil

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Mill Valley man and two companions from Oakland have pleaded innocent in U.S. District Court to charges arising from confiscation of $100,000 worth of hashish oil.

The Mill Valleyan, Thomas Paul Mabie of 690 Camino del Canon, and the two others were arrested February 26 in Sausalito while reportedly in the process of selling a portion of the powerful drug to undercover agents.

Charged with possession of hashish oil with intent to distribute it, the trio entered pleas Monday before Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli. A hearing on pretrial motions was set for April 24, with trial scheduled to follow May 9.

Agnew Releases Friendly Story

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's office has approved distribution of a newspaper column about him to all members of the Republican National Committee and all GOP state party chairmen.

The move was considered by some here as the first indirect encouragement Agnew has given to anyone seeking to promote him for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976. Agnew has said he would not decide until at least 1974 whether to run.

The column, an interview with James Reston of The New York Times, was distributed recently by Clarence E. Warner, Oklahoma Republican party chairman.

Candidates Discuss Views On Key Issues

Class cutting and modular scheduling at San Rafael High School and selection of a new superintendent for the city schools came in for discussion last night at a San Rafael Board of Education candidates' forum.

About 100 people were on hand for the forum at San Rafael High School, sponsored by the San Rafael Parent-Teacher Association Council and San Rafael Teachers Association. Two of the six candidates will be elected to the school board on April 17.

The modular scheduling program was stoutly defended by Jeffrey Yarbrough III, 18-year-old board candidate who is himself a senior at the school; by incumbent Paul K. McMullen, nd by candidate Lewis S. Pollock. Candidate Suzanne L. Beitel thought students should be given still greater flexibility in class scheduling.

Candidate Gale B. Fisher, however, said modular scheduling "is one of the greatest concerns of parents." She blamed it for much of the class cutting, which she said is excessive at San Rafael High, because it makes it difficult to know whether a student is cutting or merely has a "free mod."

"We are spending tax money on students who are not in class," charged Mrs. Fisher.

Candidate Marie J. Sessi suggested that students should be required to earn the right for more flexible class scheduling by proving they can assume the responsibility entailed.

But Pollock won a round of audience applause when he declared: "I absolutely disagree with locking kids up in school."

Mrs. Beittel said the school system needs to reevaluate its goals before hiring a new superintendent to replace John F. Plank, who will leave in July for a job in Singapore.

Mrs. Fisher said she was dismayed that the 11 persons named to a committee to screen superintendent candidates are all members of school administrations and faculties.

Pollock said it is the sole responsibility of the board of education to select a superintendent.

All the candidates deplored the state's teacher tenure laws, particularly the requirement for dismissing teachers solely on the basis of seniority and holding a lottery to determine which of the latest hired shall be released.

Pollock and McMullen differed on teacher evaluation, McMullen insisting it is solely up to administrators while Pollock urged participation by students and parents. Mrs. Sessi joined Pollock in urging student participation, saying it would benefit teachers to have their students evaluate them by "blind ballot" procedure.

High school counseling also came in for some criticism, with all agreeing it needs improvement. Mrs. Sessi suggested adopting the "home room counselor" plan which has been used in San Rafael's junior high schools.

Over-all, incumbent McMullen defended the way things are done by the present board and administration, with all the challengers except Yarbrough hitting at weaknesses in current operations.

Helen Bentley of KPIX (Channel 5) television was moderator.

Airlines Accused Of Charging Improper Fares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Citing 193 separate cases, the Civil Aeronautics Board's Bureau of Enforcement has accused seven major airlines of charging passengers improper fares.

Bureau Director Richard J. O'Melia said Wednesday that the airline companies involved could face as much as a $1,000 fine for each violation.

The seven airlines cited by the bureau were: American, Eastern, National, Trans World, United, Allegheny and Piedmont.

In a complaint to the CAB, the bureau alleged that the airlines were collecting "improper fares from passengers" making connecting flights.

Mulryan, Nixon Win Support Of Students

San Rafael City Council candidates Lawrence E. Mulryan and Jack G. Nixon have emerged as the favorites of a group of 66 San Rafael High School government students who heard council contenders air their views at a candidates meeting last week.

In a poll of the students, incumbent councilman Mulryan won 37 votes, with Nixon a close second at 32 votes.

Third in the poll was candidate Thomas R. O'Toole, with 20 votes, according to instructor Morse Byer.

Candidate Leo Tinkler polled 19 votes, Richard C. Fox 15 votes, and Carl J. (Red) Brown nine votes, said Byer, noting that Brown did not even appear before students at last Monday's candidate's session because he was teaching at the time at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The council contenders meet again at 7:30 p.m. today for a candidates night at Vallecito School in Terra Linda.

Hopefuls To Talk

Eleven candidates for four seats on the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board are expected to air their views at a candidates' night sponsored by the school board at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Mesa clubhouse in Bolinas.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO TIRE BUYERS— WHY PAY MORE?

QUALITY
You can't buy better - We purchase directly from many of the world's largest and finest tire companies in rail-car lots. All of our tires are fresh, latest design, first quality tires. There are no industry wide standards, but we are tire experts and we will honestly tell you just what quality you are purchasing.

PRICE
We guarantee our price is the lowest in our area - tire for tire and brand for brand. If it isn't and you could have purchased the tire for less within 30 days we'll refund the difference at once and in cash. We buy big . . . have low overhead and all in large volume . . . that's our secret for giving you low prices and high quality everyday.

SELECTION
We always stock at least 10,000 new tires. Tires from famous manufacturers you know and trust. Not just one brand but many in every style, type and construction you can imagine. We have one of the largest varieties of famous tires available anywhere and all at the lowest possible prices. Honestly, doesn't it make sense to buy tires where you can select from a great many brands side by side?

JUST COMPARE OUR DEAL FOR QUALITY, PRICE, SELECTION AND GUARANTEE, THAT'S ALL WE ASK — THEN YOU BE THE JUDGE! AND REMEMBER . . . IT'S WHAT YOU GET FOR THE LOWER PRICE THAT REALLY COUNTS!! EXPERT INSTALLATION AVAILABLE $1.50 EACH

STEEL BELTED TIRES

Tunney Urges Full Space Work Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space programs that will inject about $750 million into the California economy in fiscal 1974 alone were supported yesterday by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif.

Tunney, testifying before the Senate Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee, urged full funding of the NASA programs.

The California Democrat emphasized three NASA projects —Skylab, Apollo-Soyuz Test Project and the Space Shuttle —in his prepared testimony.

Of $2.5 billion earmarked for Skylab, Tunney said, about $1 billion will be spent in California over the life of the program.

"In December of this year," he said, "the number of Californians employed in the Skylab effort will reach 4,500."

Tunney said the Apollo-Soyuz program would add up to $65 million and 2,200 jobs to the state's economy.

He said a $2.5 billion Space Shuttle contract awarded to Rockwell international last fall would result in the flow of about $1.4 billion into the California economy and provide direct employment for 18,000 aerospace workers.

In addition, Tunney said, fiscal 1974 NASA programs in California would mean about $163.9 million and 8,000 jobs at four facilities—the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, the Ames Research Center, the Flight Research Center and the Western Test Range.

"Any further reductions in the NASA budget could result in closing one or more of these vital California installations," he said.

For Sweet Sleep

SINGAPORE (UPI) — A department store here is selling "sweet sleep pillows" stuffed with different herbs and leaves for use of insomniacs. The pillows, with stuffings that include tea leaves and chrysanthemum petals, sell for between $3.30 and $5 each.

Woman Robbed Of $200 Cash

A Sausalito woman has reported to Marin sheriff's deputies she was robbed of $200 in cash at gunpoint Saturday.

Deputies said Irene Anderson of Gate 6 reported Tuesday that she was parking her car in the houseboat area at 2:30 a.m. when a man armed with a snub-nose revolver ordered her to hand over her purse.

The robber was described as a black adult, deputies said.

CARDEN-MARIN SCHOOL

Teacher Learns What It's Really About

By JOAN LISETOR

Laurene Jensen taught school in Fresno for many years, but it was not until she went to a seminar led by Mae Carden in Southern California that she knew why she was teaching.

Now director of the Carden-Marin School in San Rafael Mrs. Jensen came out of retirement to teach the Carden method of education in Marin County.

The Carden-Marin School is the outgrowth of a private school which began five years ago when a group of Christian Science parents got together to find a private school with a good system.

Forerunners of the Carden school were Clairbourn-Marin and the Shepherd School, which met at various locations in San Rafael.

"The Carden method appeals to Christian Scientists because principles are stressed," Mrs. Jensen said, "and I heard two years ago that a group wanted to start a Carden School in Marin. Things were not going well with the Shepherd School, so I offered my help."

MRS. JENSEN had founded the Fresno Carden School after attending the seminar and taught there before moving to Point Richmond several years ago. She offered her expertise to the parents in Marin organizing the Carden school, and they eventually offered her the position of director.

No longer restricted to Christian Science children, the school now has 41 students and six teachers.

"I am in the classroom when a child requires individual attention," she said. "Our classes are small, and we have dedicated teachers who love to teach. Each child receives individual attention, so we don't want to get big, but a little bigger. Our salaries are practically non-existent."

All teachers are required to attend the two-week seminars conducted by Miss Carden each summer. Miss Carden devised the academic curriculum and reviews the method with teachers in a series of annual seminars.

According to Miss Carden the purpose of the method is to develop adjusted, capable, confident, eager, alert, courageous, generous, just, self critical, compassionate, courteous, happy children who have a sense of humor, who will be able to develop their native ingenuity, who base their actions on the idea that we came to life to make a contribution to the welfare of the human race.

"MOST OF our children are here because their parents are unhappy with public schools because there is not enough structure and emphasis on moral values and character training," Mrs. Jensen explained.

Upon entering the classroom in the morning each child greets his teacher with a handshake and courteous remark, and at the end of the day they again shake hands and also evaluate the day's progress, Mrs. Jensen explained. Children rise when an adult enters the classroom.

In kindergarten work is done to build the ability to observe detail, stress is on pronunciation, and an enrichment background of associative material is offered to the child before he learns to read, Mrs. Jensen said.

"After ninth grade most of our pupils have gone on to good private schools and do very well," she said.

It is her belief that the teacher fails to teach when the child fails to learn.

"We are always drawing from within the child," she said.

The Payoff—Tips On Less Expensive Meats

LIVERMORE (AP) — The meat boycott is a lot of tripe, and housewives deserve the higher meat prices they are getting, says Margie Thompson, who has been in the butchering business for 30 years.

To prove her point, Mrs. Thompson, 52, plans to start a meat-cutting class to show house-wives how to cut costs by retrieving choice cuts from less savory ones.

Mrs. Thompson says spiraling meat costs have been caused to a great extent by housewives' demands for more packaged gourmet cuts. She also criticizes women for skimping on family food budgets to pay for other luxury items.

Mrs. Thompson, who learned meat cutting after answering a "Butcherette Wanted" ad in 1943, now wants to teach techniques housewives can use to save money.

A round steak, selling here for $1.49 a pound, if properly cut yields top and swiss steaks which sell from 20 cents to 60 cents more in stores, she said.

HOUSEWIVES COULD save "at least 40 cents a pound" by cutting steaks and stew pieces off a prime rib roast, she said. And a large porterhouse or T-bone can be cut into New York steaks or filet mignon.

She also recommends saving leftovers and to stop purchasing "out of sight" luncheon meats which sell in four-ounce packages for 69 cents.

Marin Couples End Yacht Trip

By MOLLY MARIN

Three Marin couples have just returned from a glamorous two week cruise aboard the 109-foot yacht Pakeha, owned by A. L. McCormick of San Rafael. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Delmas and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spongberg of San Rafael, and Judge and Mrs. Henry Broderick of Tiburon met the ship near the Panama Canal. They stopped in the ports of Cartagena and Santa Maria in Colombia and went on to Curacao, and spent a week exploring the Lesser Antilles. The Pakeha carries a crew of five, including the captain, steward, cook and two deck hands.

MR. AND MRS. William Nave and their sons, William Jr., Robert and Richard Nave and their wives will be hosts at a cocktail party at their restaurant at Nero's in Ignacio from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Guests will be the commanding officers and staff members of Hamilton Air Force Base organizations to meet invited civic and political members of the community.

PUPPETEERS KEN Bloom, Raina Zelenka and Kathy Masterson who will present the performances of the Smithsonian Institution's Touring Puppet Show, "Mark Twain" will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Magagna of San Rafael during the showings, April 13, 14 and 15.

Mrs. Tracy Morton of San Anselmo will entertain the trip for lunch on April 13, and Mrs. Jock Miller will give a gourmet box dinner for the visitors and the committee that night while preparing for the performance at Reed School.

Mrs. Richard Allen will hold a backstage picnic between the Saturday performances, April 14, at San Rafael High School. Mrs. Robert Christensen of San Rafael will entertain between performances April 15 in San Francisco. The Boyd Marin Museum of Science is sponsoring the performances.

MRS. ELLA McCauley of Winona, Minn., celebrated her 80th birthday recently with friends and family at the home of her daughter, Mary Ellen McIntyre of Novato. Her son Joseph McCauley and his wife, Nancy, and daughter, Patti, of Corte Madera attended, and her granddaughter, Janet McCauley of Minnesota, was a guest also for the buffet luncheon.

18th Annual Easter Egg Hunt, Fair Next Week At Ross Center

Pixie Parents 18th annual Easter Egg Hunt and Fair will be held Wednesday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Three new events have been added to the public event for preschool children and their parents. In the Creative Play Experience children will have a choice of working with clay or drawing, view an aquarium and a terrarium and be allowed to keep an item they recognize through touch in a "touch me" box.

Also new this year is a four-foot high, 14-foot square crawl-through maze with stained glass windows, textured walls and an assortment of pictures.

New for small children is a wishing well, where they can wish and fish for prizes.

Traditional activities, hunting for Easter eggs, meeting big bunny, pony rides, popping through the rabbit hole and puppet shows, will be part of the day, and bunny bag lunches will be for sale.

Proceeds from the fair will be used to maintain and improve the grounds and equipment at Pixie Place, the playground for preschool children located at the Art and Garden Center.

Chairman of the fair is Mrs. Steve Thompson, and she is being assisted by Mmes. A. J. Grubb and Donald Herbers.

A WILDFLOWER walk to benefit Amigos de las Americas will be Sunday beginning at 11 a.m. at the Westerbeke and Van Hoosear Ranch in Sonoma.

Dr. Robert West of Corte Madera and Marstin Tallant of San Anselmo will lead groups through the meadows, and families are asked to bring picnics and kites for the afternoon.

Mrs. Frederick W. Goode of San Rafael is reservations chairman and can be contacted for directions.

Reservations chairman is Mrs. Joseph Argento of Corte Madera.

Proceeds will benefit the Penny Pines Foundation, which does reforestation.

WELCOME WAGON of Marin's annual salad bowl charity luncheon will be held Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the Fairfax Community Church.

A BRIEF meeting to elect new officers is scheduled by the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teacher Association for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the school Student Center.

The meeting is open to parents, teachers and students. It will precede the Tamalpais High School open house which will begin at 8 p.m.

TIBURON PENINSULA Club will hold an art show and cocktail party for members and their guests on Sunday from 4 to 7 p.m.

Chairman Mrs. Harvey Posert has arranged the exhibit of sculpture, prints, jewelry, stitchery, leatherwork and photographs done by members and other Tiburon residents.

BEL MARIN Keys Yacht Club will hold a roaring '20s dinner dance Saturday at the Bel Marin Keys Community Center. A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 8 p.m.

Chairman is Mrs. Donald Knight assisted by Mmes. Henry Kearn, Dan Thrall, Ronald Keil and George Larsen. Reservations chairmen are Mmes. Mary aas and Arthur Oppedal.

Bath Begins Foot Grooming

The foot-grooming routine starts with a soothing, warm bath that includes using a pedibrush and a beauty stone, to smoothe rough spots on heels and bottoms of feet.

A follow-up pedicure is polished off with a coat of enamel in a new earthy tone to match well-manicured nails, and bright lip colors.

Women's Club Members Prepare For Convention

Marin members of federated women's clubs are coordinating the work prior to the Golden Gate District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, convention in San Rafael Tuesday and Wednesday.

As convention chairman, Mrs. Ragnar Thaning of San Rafael is overseeing the two day program at the Holiday Inn. Assisting with the plans are Mrs. Claude Besselieu of San Rafael, Mrs. William Porter, district vice president; and Mrs. Dale Jensen, district amenities chairman. Mrs. John D. Atkinson is district president.

For the president's open house Monday at 5:30 p.m., the Corte Madera Women's Club and the Tamalpais Centre Woman's Club will hostess and the Outdoor Art Club of Mill Valey will decorate. The latter will also furnish floral arrangements for the podium during the meeting.

The Novato Federated Women's Club will decorate the head table and assembly tables for the Tuesday luncheon, and the San Rafael Improvement Club will decorate for the Tuesday banquet and the awards luncheon Wednesday.

The Larkspur Woman's Club and the Marin Women's Legislative Council are providing room arrangements, and the Sausalito Woman's Club is preparing tote bags for the delegates.

The pages and ushers committee are Mmes. Harold Arthur, Americo Oberto, C. Harvey Mielenz and Alvin Baukol, and Misses Wylma Cunningham and Eloise Mays, chairman, all of San Rafael.

Mmes. Art Aviron and Charles Tacchi are assisting Mrs. Jensen with amenities.

Mrs. J. L. Heisel, credentials chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Baukol and Mrs. Fred Bardo of the Outdoor Art Club.

VOLUNTEERS JOIN ROBERT'S CREW

Sixty children and their mothers watched the antics of mime Robert Shields of San Francisco at his performance yesterday at the Sausalito Nursery School. At first reactions were mixed, with some of the younger children fearful of the white-faced stranger. When Robert climbed into their familiar tree house, and pretended it was a ship, some of the boldest tots followed him. From then on he was like a Pied Piper for the three to five-year-olds. They were spellbound as he gave such pantomine performances as climbing an imaginary ladder, swimming and impersonating a mechanical doll. When he began to play on the school's outside climbing equipment, many of the children joined him. The mime was asked to entertain by Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman of Sausalito as a birthday treat for their 4-year-old daughter, Lauren.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

It's Only Wishful Thinking On Her Part—Let The Girl Dream

RAP:

What do you think of a girl who isn't even going with a guy, but she sees a wedding dress marked down to half price, so she buys it — just in case? — CART BEFORE THE HORSE?

CBTH:

I'd say she really believes in the power of positive thinking! — HELEN

CBTH:

I'd say she's a little ahead of the Chimes. — SUE

DEAR RAP:

I hope to become a doctor, so I'm especially interested in helping the medical profession.

After I die, young or old, I want my body donated to science. If I should die in my teens, my parents will handle my affairs. Can you give me some suggestions on how to tell them I want my body sent to a medical school without the fancy funeral or anything? — FUTURE DOCTOR WHO WANTS TO HELP, ALIVE OR DEAD

P.S. They'll probably think I'm morbid, which I'm not.

DEAR FUTURE DOCTOR:

Why not use this column to start a discussion? — SUE

DEAR PARENTS OF FUTURE DOCTOR:

Even if you don't agree — listen. Death is a normal part of life and when a teenager talks about it rationally, he shouldn't be considered morbid. — HELEN

HELEN AND SUE:

I am a girl of 16 and my girlfriend, also 16, has been out of contact. In the past we shared many great moments. We were just like sisters, and called each other every day.

For the past two weeks, I haven't been able to get in touch with her. I call, and someone at her house says she can't come to the phone, or some other excuse.

I checked with the kids who go to her school and they say she hasn't been there. Then I tried calling her again, and they hung up on me.

I'm afraid something is really wrong. Her folks act so strange they might not even let me in if I went to see her.

What can I do? — DESPERATELY WORRIED FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:

Why not get your parents to call your friend's school? Surely the principal can tell them why she is absent. If she is ill or in trouble, she needs a friend. — SUE

DEAR FRIEND:

But your parents must be the go-betweens. You aren't getting anywhere, trying to break down the wall by yourself. — HELEN

P.S. Please let us know what you discover. Doing an advice column is often like reading a story in the doctor's office — and finding the last page torn out. For curious people like the Bottels —that's darn near fatal! — H. AND S.

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

PARENT AND CHILD

This Column For 'Children Only'

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

This column is written especially for children.

Last week, Parent and Child urged your mothers and fathers to ask Sunday Schools and regular schools to make a radical change in the way you're taught. We don't think they can manage all by themselves so we're enlisting your aid.

Ready?

We think you shouldn't have to learn lessons in school or in Sunday School just with kids your own age. We think you should be able to progress as fast as you can and that your teachers should spend more time teaching you how to learn and less time telling you how poorly you're doing.

If you're for that, then read on.

WHAT WE told your parents was that swimming and music teachers didn't make kids stay with their own age group. They let them learn just as much as they can. For example, even if you were 10 years old, the swimming teacher wouldn't let you into the deep end of the pool until you'd learned to float and tread water and swim with your feet off the bottom. But he would let you swim with more advanced swimmers if you prove you can keep up, even though they may be older than you.

And then we told your parents that there wasn't any reason for you to be divided up into reading or arithmetic or Sunday School classes by age, but that you should be able to progress according to what you learn.

We don't really know why so many Sunday School and regular school teachers separate learners by age instead of ability. But because so many churches put out handbooks that advocate such class divisions, and so many teachers' colleges tell teachers to work with 25 to 30 students all the same age, your parents are going to have a difficult time getting the superintendents to change.

You can help by asking to be tested for ability beyond the grade or class you're in. Suppose, for example, you're in the fourth grade. You can ask to be tested on your ability to read in the fifth-grade basal reader and to do several pages in the fifth-grade workbook.

If you pass that test easily, you could ask to be tested on the sixth-grade basal reader. It's just as though you were taking swimming lessons and were sure you could not only swim in the deep end of the pool but could swim 20 laps of the pool without stopping. Probably the swimming coach would let you try. If you succeeded, the coach would move you to a more advanced class.

YOU MUST let your parents know what you are doing when you take these advanced reading tests, and you must tell your teacher and the principal what you're trying to prove. Then, supposing you have done as well as the average sixth grader even though you're in the fourth grade, you should not ask to be put in grade six.

You see, you don't just want to hop up to another grade. What you want to help your parents do is show the school that they are organized incorrectly, that you should spend most of the time in ability groupings and be allowed to progress continuously.

Another thing you could do is to find several other students in your grade and in grades above and below you who all have the same ability and interest in reading. Then ask the school to let you study together for half a year.

At the end of a half year, you might regroup again so that you'd be in with those kids who are learning about the same things you are. This way, if you were to put in some extra practice time by yourself, you could see it pay off in progress to a higher learning level.

It would be the same if you had practiced swimming longer and harder than the rest of your class. If you really did well enough, you could be sure the swimming coach would put you in another group.

You'll have to be patient with your Sunday School and regular school teachers and superintendents, though. They don't always want to change even though they know what they're doing isn't working too well.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

It's Only Wishful Thinking On Her Part—Let The Girl Dream

RAP:
What do you think of a girl who isn't even going with a guy, but she sees a wedding dress marked down to half price, so she buys it — just in case? — CART BEFORE THE HORSE?

CBTH:
I'd say she really believes in the power of positive thinking! — HELEN

CBTH:
I'd say she's a little ahead of the Chimes. — SUE

DEAR RAP:
I hope to become a doctor, so I'm especially interested in helping the medical profession.

After I die, young or old, I want my body donated to science. If I should die in my teens, my parents will handle my affairs. Can you give me some suggestions on how to tell them I want my body sent to a medical school without the fancy funeral or anything? — FUTURE DOCTOR WHO WANTS TO HELP, ALIVE OR DEAD

P.S. They'll probably think I'm morbid, which I'm not.

DEAR FUTURE DOCTOR:
Why not use this column to start a discussion? — SUE

DEAR PARENTS OF FUTURE DOCTOR:
Even if you don't agree — listen. Death is a normal part of life and when a teenager talks about it rationally, he shouldn't be considered morbid. — HELEN

HELEN AND SUE:
I am a girl of 16 and my girlfriend, also 16, has been out of contact. In the past we shared many great moments. We were just like sisters, and called each other every day.

For the past two weeks, I haven't been able to get in touch with her. I call, and someone at her house says she can't come to the phone, or some other excuse.

I checked with the kids who go to her school and they say she hasn't been there. Then I tried calling her again, and they hung up on me.

I'm afraid something is really wrong. Her folks act so strange they might not even let me in if I went to see her.

What can I do? — DESPERATELY WORRIED FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:
Why not get your parents to call your friend's school? Surely the principal can tell them why she is absent. If she is ill or in trouble, she needs a friend. — SUE

DEAR FRIEND:
But your parents must be the go-betweens. You aren't getting anywhere, trying to break down the wall by yourself. — HELEN

P.S. Please let us know what you discover. Doing an advice column is often like reading a story in the doctor's office — and finding the last page torn out. For curious people like the Bottels —that's darn near fatal! — H. AND S.

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

PARENT AND CHILD

This Column For 'Children Only'

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

This column is written especially for children.

Last week, Parent and Child urged your mothers and fathers to ask Sunday Schools and regular schools to make a radical change in the way you're taught. We don't think they can manage all by themselves so we're enlisting your aid.

Ready?

We think you shouldn't have to learn lessons in school or in Sunday School just with kids your own age. We think you should be able to progress as fast as you can and that your teachers should spend more time teaching you how to learn and less time telling you how poorly you're doing.

If you're for that, then read on.

WHAT WE told your parents was that swimming and music teachers didn't make kids stay with their own age group. They let them learn just as much as they can. For example, even if you were 10 years old, the swimming teacher wouldn't let you into the deep end of the pool until you'd learned to float and tread water and swim with your feet off the bottom. But he would let you swim with more advanced swimmers if you prove you can keep up, even though they may be older than you.

And then we told your parents that there wasn't any reason for you to be divided up into reading or arithmetic or Sunday School classes by age, but that you should be able to progress according to what you learn.

We don't really know why so many Sunday School and regular school teachers separate learners by age instead of ability. But because so many churches put out handbooks that advocate such class divisions, and so many teachers' colleges tell teachers to work with 25 to 30 students all the same age, your parents are going to have a difficult time getting the superintendents to change.

You can help by asking to be tested for ability beyond the grade or class you're in. Suppose, for example, you're in the fourth grade. You can ask to be tested on your ability to read in the fifth-grade basal reader and to do several pages in the fifth-grade workbook.

If you pass that test easily, you could ask to be tested on the sixth-grade basal reader. It's just as though you were taking swimming lessons and were sure you could not only swim in the deep end of the pool but could swim 20 laps of the pool without stopping. Probably the swimming coach would let you try. If you succeeded, the coach would move you to a more advanced class.

YOU MUST let your parents know what you are doing when you take these advanced reading tests, and you must tell your teacher and the principal what you're trying to prove. Then, supposing you have done as well as the average sixth grader even though you're in the fourth grade, you should not ask to be put in grade six.

You see, you don't just want to hop up to another grade. What you want to help your parents do is show the school that they are organized incorrectly, that you should spend most of the time in ability groupings and be allowed to progress continuously.

Another thing you could do is to find several other students in your grade and in grades above and below you who all have the same ability and interest in reading. Then ask the school to let you study together for half a year.

At the end of a half year, you might regroup again so that you'd be in with those kids who are learning about the same things you are. This way, if you were to put in some extra practice time by yourself, you could see it pay off in progress to a higher learning level.

It would be the same if you had practiced swimming longer and harder than the rest of your class. If you really did well enough, you could be sure the swimming coach would put you in another group.

You'll have to be patient with your Sunday School and regular school teachers and superintendents, though. They don't always want to change even though they know what they're doing isn't working too well.

SOCIOLOGIST Dr. Ruth Lewis Farkas is the newly appointed ambassador to Luxembourg from the United States. She believes her experience in business may have helped sway the appointment toward her.

Ambassador To Luxembourg Was A Big Donor To Nixon

By MARTHA FOSTER
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

PALM BEACH, FLA. — Somewhere in the middle of the storm that still brews over President Nixon's campaign chest is Dr. Ruth Lewis Farkas, sociologist, philanthropist, and newly appointed U.S. Ambassador to Luxembourg.

Dr. Farkas is due soon to take her diplomatic post — a job that critics tie to her approximately $300,000 contribution to the Nixon campaign.

The newly chosen ambassador takes issue with the charges and said in a recent interview, "I'm sure he (the President) thought I had the qualifications." She added that the sum was a "minimal amount" compared to the more than $3 million she and her husband have given to hospitals, universities, museums, and other charities.

Dr. Farkas is the wife of George Farkas, founder of the Alexander's department store chain headquartered in New York. His business interests have taken the couple throughout the world over the past decades.

"BUT WHEN it's my turn to be in the limelight, he will step aside," she said. "And I don't think the people of Luxembourg will mind having a female ambassador," she added, noting that in the past, rule of the tiny Common Market country has been in the hands of a Duchess.

Dr. Farkas, educated at Columbia and New York Universities, is vice president and consultant sociologist in research of Maferr Foundation, Inc., of New York, an institute for the research of male-female role perceptions and behavior.

"We wondered if males and females really do understand each other," she said. "And we found in our studies that while most young American males wanted a home, they did not want a home-oriented wife.

"And as it turns out, most of the young women we studied felt their husbands wanted them to be home-oriented," she continued. "So you see, there's a big gap in understanding of expectant roles."

Of the Farkas household she said, "Long ago I told my husband if he wanted a housekeeper he shouldn't have picked me. If I were that one-sided, I'd just fall apart."

AS A SOCIOLOGIST, she has lectured throughout this country. She acted as consultant sociologist to the U.S. State Department delegation to the International Conference on Eradication of Illiteracy in Iran in 1965 and has served on numerous boards for the handicapped, the elderly, and underprivileged children.

How will a prominent professional woman adapt to the role of hostess as she will no doubt have to do in her new diplomatic post?

"I think working in the kitchen is great — letting the children help you and in that way teaching them responsibility — but I wouldn't want a steady stream of it."

Asked if she will leave party planning to staff members, Dr. Farkas just smiled and continued talking — on a similar, but different subject.

"Entertaining, to me is an atmosphere of people being comfortable and at ease, with intelligent conversation," she explained.

Dr. Farkas says she has talked briefly on the telephone with Kingdon Gould, the man she will replace in Luxembourg.

"I've never been to Luxembourg for more than a day, but I understand it is most friendly toward the United States," she said.

DR. FARKAS said she feels hre experience in business may have helped sway the appointment her way.

"Luxembourg has become a great financial center, you know," she noted. "It's a small country (55 miles long and 34 miles wide), but it is a member of NATO, the European Economic Community and is home of the International Court of Justice," she said.

"The only thing I am hesitant to leave is the hospital," she said, referring to Beth Abraham Hospital in New York, of which she is president.

Dr. Farkas is the wife of George Farkas, founder of the Alexander's department store chain headquartered in New York. His business interests have taken the couple throughout the world over the past decades.

"BUT WHEN it's my turn to be in the limelight, he will step aside," she said. "And I don't think the people of Luxembourg will mind having a female ambassador," she added, noting that in the past, rule of the tiny Common Market country has been in the hands of a Duchess.

Dr. Farkas, educated at Columbia and New York Universities, is vice president and consultant sociologist in research of Maferr Foundation, Inc., of New York, an institute for the research of male-female role perceptions and behavior.

"We wondered if males and females really do understand each other," she said. "And we found in our studies that while most young American males wanted a home, they did not want a home-oriented wife.

"And as it turns out, most of the young women we studied felt their husbands wanted them to be home-oriented," she continued. "So you see, there's a big gap in understanding of expectant roles."

Of the Farkas household she said, "Long ago I told my husband if he wanted a housekeeper he shouldn't have picked me. If I were that one-sided, I'd just fall apart."

AS A SOCIOLOGIST, she has lectured throughout this country. She acted as consultant sociologist to the U.S. State Department delegation to the International Conference on Eradication of Illiteracy in Iran in 1965 and has served on numerous boards for the handicapped, the elderly, and underprivileged children.

How will a prominent professional woman adapt to the role of hostess as she will no doubt have to do in her new diplomatic post?

"I think working in the kitchen is great — letting the children help you and in that way teaching them responsibility — but I wouldn't want a steady stream of it."

Asked if she will leave party planning to staff members, Dr. Farkas just smiled and continued talking — on a similar, but different subject.

"Entertaining, to me is an atmosphere of people being comfortable and at ease, with intelligent conversation," she explained.

Dr. Farkas says she has talked briefly on the telephone with Kingdon Gould, the man she will replace in Luxembourg.

"I've never been to Luxembourg for more than a day, but I understand it is most friendly toward the United States," she said.

DR. FARKAS said she feels hre experience in business may have helped sway the appointment her way.

"Luxembourg has become a great financial center, you know," she noted. "It's a small country (55 miles long and 34 miles wide), but it is a member of NATO, the European Economic Community and is home of the International Court of Justice," she said.

"The only thing I am hesitant to leave is the hospital," she said, referring to Beth Abraham Hospital in New York, of which she is president.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Too Many Aces Not Bad Only In The Proverbial Poker Game

It's unusual to have more aces than you can use, but this sad fate befell South in today's hand.

South dealer
East-West vulnerable

NORTH
♡ Q J 10 4
◇ 9 6 5
♣ 3 2

WEST
♠ 9
♡ 9 8 7
◇ K J 4 2
♣ A Q 8 6 5

EAST
♠ 6 4
♡ K 6 5 2
◇ Q 10 8
♣ J 10 9 4

SOUTH
♠ K Q J 10 8 7
♡ A 3
◇ A 7 3
♣ K 7

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead — ♡ 9

West opened the nine of hearts, and South was led astray by his ace of hearts. He put up dummy's queen, thus getting a free finesse.

East properly played a low heart, and dummy's queen won the trick. South didn't know it, but he had already lost the hand. He could win only two heart tricks, and was bound to lose two clubs and two diamonds.

WRONG THINKING

South wouldn't dream of making the wrong play if he held the king of hearts instead of the ace.

He would then play the low heart from dummy at the first trick and follow with the king from his own hand — regardless of whether or not an opponent played the ace.

He would next draw trumps with the king and queen, and would then lead a heart to set up two more heart tricks in the dummy. He would get to dummy with the ace of spades and would discard two losing diamonds on dummy's good hearts.

SAME PLAY POSSIBLE

The same play was possible even though South held the ace of hearts. It just looked more difficult.

South should play dummy's low heart to start with, and should win in his hand with the ace. He can then draw trumps with the king and queen, after which he should lead his low heart to force out the king.

The point is that South must keep out of his own way by getting rid of the ace of hearts as quickly as possible.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened the bidding with one spade, and your partner has raised to three spades. The opponents pass, and it is up to you again.

You hold:
♠- K Q J 10 8 7
♥- A 3
♦- A 7 3
♣- K 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 4 no-trump, the Blackwood Convention, asking partner to bid in such a way as to tell you how many aces he has. If partner bids five hearts, showing two aces, you will continue with 5 no-trump, asking how many kings partner has. You will surely reach a small slam (partner cannot really be aceless), and may reach a makable grand slam.

Drake Boulevard Widening Slated

About a half-mile of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near San Quentin prison will be widened and realigned in a state Department of Public Works project this summer.

Bids will be opened May 2 in Sacramento. A total of $225,000 is available for the project.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Birthday twins! Two of these celebrities were born on the same day and year. Guess who?

1. BETTE DAVIS, 57 or 65 today, has always been a fighter! She decided as a school girl to become an actress, flunked her first screen test, was put in second-rate movies after being signed. But she fought to the top, being called Hollywood's "best" by Life magazine and nominated 10 times for an Academy Award. When offers stopped coming, she ran full-page advertisements in trade magazines asking for work, producing her stunning role in "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" Her price: $200,000 and 10 per cent of the gross.

2. GREGORY PECK, 57 or 65 today, was born in La Jolla, Calif. and educated at the University of California. Tall, thin (6-foot, 3-inches) he has the rugged looks of a sea captain, cow puncher, lawyer, or governor. But he won his Academy Award in 1962 playing a part he really believed, "To Kill a Mockingbird." Says Peck: "We've got to bring about a totally multi-racial society with absolute equality and opportunity of expression . . . and it can be done."

3. MELVYN DOUGLAS, 65 of 72 today, got his big break in 1931 when Greta Garbo chose him as her leading man in the picture, "As You Desire Me." That led to top Hollywood roles straight into the 1940's, when he volunteered at age 40 to serve in the Army during World War II, rising from private to major before it was over. He has been married to actress Helen Gahagan since 1930.

4. CHESTER BOWLES, 65 or 72 today, is a Yale man who made a fortunate early in life by starting a successful New York advertising agency with William Benton. Then he entered politics, serving in the Democratic administrations of President Roosevelt, Truman, and Kennedy. He was twice ambassador to India.

ANSWERS: 1-Betty Davis, 65; 2-Gregory Peck, 57; 3-Melvyn Douglas, 72; 4-Chester Bowles, 72. The last two are the same age.

Sausalito Plan Produces Crowd

By REBECCA LARSEN

Dozens of houseboat dwellers overflowed the Sausalito Planning Commission meeting last night and peppered the builders of the proposed $35 million Schoonmaker development with questions about its effect on the environment.

After an hour, the commission moved from city hall chambers to the Central School auditorium to house the crowd of about 200 at this second hearing on the project.

To be built by the O'Meara-Chandler Co. of Texas, it would include 100 condominiums and a 220-unit inn. There would also be tennis courts, two yacht clubs, restaurants, shops and a boat marina.

The development would end houseboat docking on Napa Street pier, but would open 50 new berths for houseboats.

The developer is seeking zoning changes to allow the planned unit development on 39 acres between Napa and Spring streets in Marinship where A. G. Schoonmaker now has offices.

The commission took no action and continued the hearing until April 18 to give more time to examine an environmental impact report discussed last night.

Summarizing the report, Assist. Planner Jerry L. Cormack said the project would create 150,000 gallons of waste water per day, taking up almost the entire residual capacity of the local sewer system. He said that it might also require more water than the water district can supply. He estimated that 9,000 persons would use the development each day. The project, he said, would produce about $500,000 in revenue per year for the city and school districts.

The main advantage of the project, he said, would be a walkway providing public access to Richardson Bay.

Audience complaints about the project ranged from what would happen to a beach on the property to how much traffic the development would create.

"Seventy per cent of the existing beach would be covered by the development."

"A great many microscopic animals would be destroyed that have importance in the food chain."

"The kind of traffic produced would make Sausalito all the time the congested mess that it is in the summer."

"There's no indication of what kind of impact this project would have in combination with other property proposed for the waterfront."

Sally Blagborn, who said she lives in a Marinship area houseboat, said she has lists of many wildflowers growing in the area and has made sightings of harbor seals and rare birds on the property.

An unidentified man, who said he was 72, complained that waterfront developments would eventually drive him out of his houseboat. "If you approve this plan, what happens to people like me who have lived here modestly for years," he said. "I'm being asked to pay for Mr. Schoonmaker's plans with my life."

Saul Rouda, who said he had helped organize the opposition to the project, asked the commission to survey more people in the hills for their opinions.

At Rouda's request, Ted Schoonmaker, president of A. G. Schoonmaker, said he will open the gates of the property from noon until 5 p.m. this Sunday for anyone who wants to look at it or ask questions.

Steve Siskind, from Environmental Systems International of Los Angeles, which is investing in the project, told the protesting houseboaters that the project would generate heavy traffic during rush hours only. He also said that it would keep some cars from clogging the downtown area.

He complained that the houseboat residents are trying to force their "value judgments" on other people. "Why shouldn't people in an office be able to look out their windows and see water and boats just like you can?" he asked.

He said that the project would provide office space and boat berths badly needed in Sausalito and claimed that the public would have complete access to the waterfront.

"If there is a lot of wildlife on the land now," he said. "Think how much better off they'll be in a tranquil residential area than under the present uses there now."

A. G. Schoonmaker Co. has occupied the property for shipbuilding and marine repairs since the end of World War II.

The commission also granted variances to Wayne T. O'Connell permitting single family homes to be built at 41 and 45 Central Avenue with garages that abut the property line and do not meet five foot sideyard setback requirements, and to Eve Byron Wyatt for an addition to a residence at 105 Cloudview Road, exceeding the allowed building coverage by 726 square feet.

Fare Cut Hikes Bus Patronage

CINCINNATI (UPI) — About 20 per cent more persons are riding buses since fares were cut to 25 cents.

The Cincinnati Transit Co. said about 4,000 more persons than usual rode buses Sunday, 9,000 more than normal on Monday and 11,000 on Tuesday.

Fares had been 50 cents, but a $350,000 a month subsidy, financed by a .3 per cent increase in the city earnings tax, allowed the transit company to reduce them by half.

Sausalito Plan Produces Crowd

By REBECCA LARSEN

Dozens of houseboat dwellers overflowed the Sausalito Planning Commission meeting last night and peppered the builders of the proposed $35 million Schoonmaker development with questions about its effect on the environment.

After an hour, the commission moved from city hall chambers to the Central School auditorium to house the crowd of about 200 at this second hearing on the project.

To be built by the O'Meara-Chandler Co. of Texas, it would include 100 condominiums and a 220-unit inn. There would also be tennis courts, two yacht clubs, restaurants, shops and a boat marina.

The development would end houseboat docking on Napa Street pier, but would open 50 new berths for houseboats.

The developer is seeking zoning changes to allow the planned unit development on 39 acres between Napa and Spring streets in Marinship where A. G. Schoonmaker now has offices.

The commission took no action and continued the hearing until April 18 to give more time to examine an environmental impact report discussed last night.

Summarizing the report, Assist. Planner Jerry L. Cormack said the project would create 150,000 gallons of waste water per day, taking up almost the entire residual capacity of the local sewer system. He said that it might also require more water than the water district can supply. He estimated that 9,000 persons would use the development each day. The project, he said, would produce about $500,000 in revenue per year for the city and school districts.

The main advantage of the project, he said, would be a walkway providing public access to Richardson Bay.

Audience complaints about the project ranged from what would happen to a beach on the property to how much traffic the development would create.

"Seventy per cent of the existing beach would be covered by the development."

"A great many microscopic animals would be destroyed that have importance in the food chain."

"The kind of traffic produced would make Sausalito all the time the congested mess that it is in the summer."

"There's no indication of what kind of impact this project would have in combination with other property proposed for the waterfront."

Sally Blagborn, who said she lives in a Marinship area houseboat, said she has lists of many wildflowers growing in the area and has made sightings of harbor seals and rare birds on the property.

An unidentified man, who said he was 72, complained that waterfront developments would eventually drive him out of his houseboat. "If you approve this plan, what happens to people like me who have lived here modestly for years," he said. "I'm being asked to pay for Mr. Schoonmaker's plans with my life."

Saul Rouda, who said he had helped organize the opposition to the project, asked the commission to survey more people in the hills for their opinions.

At Rouda's request, Ted Schoonmaker, president of A. G. Schoonmaker, said he will open the gates of the property from noon until 5 p.m. this Sunday for anyone who wants to look at it or ask questions.

Steve Siskind, from Environmental Systems International of Los Angeles, which is investing in the project, told the protesting houseboaters that the project would generate heavy traffic during rush hours only. He also said that it would keep some cars from clogging the downtown area.

He complained that the houseboat residents are trying to force their "value judgments" on other people. "Why shouldn't people in an office be able to look out their windows and see water and boats just like you can?" he asked.

He said that the project would provide office space and boat berths badly needed in Sausalito and claimed that the public would have complete access to the waterfront.

"If there is a lot of wildlife on the land now," he said. "Think how much better off they'll be in a tranquil residential area than under the present uses there now."

A. G. Schoonmaker Co. has occupied the property for shipbuilding and marine repairs since the end of World War II.

The commission also granted variances to Wayne T. O'Connell permitting single family homes to be built at 41 and 45 Central Avenue with garages that abut the property line and do not meet five foot sideyard setback requirements, and to Eve Byron Wyatt for an addition to a residence at 105 Cloudview Road, exceeding the allowed building coverage by 726 square feet.

Eye-Opening Experience For Orthopedic Surgeon

By PAT ANGLE

It will be a long time before Dr. William Clark forgets the 10-year-old boy he saw recently in a hospital in Afghanistan, lying all curled up and crying out in pain whenever anyone touched him.

His X-rays showed that the bones in both hips had been almost completely destroyed by infection," the San Rafael orthopedic surgeon said.

"It almost brought tears to my eyes, because if that little boy had had modern medical care, there's a good chance he would have recovered. As it is now, he'll never talk again. If he's lucky, he'll die."

Recently Clark spent nine weeks — at his own expense — teaching his specialty to residents at Avicenna Hospital in Kabul as part of a worldwide program sponsored by MEDICO, a service of CARE.

It was an eye-opening experience for a physician who has spent the last 18 years practicing medicine in wealthy, suburban Marin.

The large amount of untreated disease in the desert country was startling to Clark. He saw people with tuberculosis of the bones and spine and others who had never had a doctor's care for congenital deformities, dislocated bones and similar ailments.

One patient had such badly clubbed feet that he was walking on the tops of them and wearing his shoes backwards. Thanks to corrective surgery, the man is on the way to recovery.

Part of the problem is that many of the country's 15 million people — most of them Moslems — will not accept Western medicine. When they are ill, they will depend on prayer or their mullah (religious teacher) to heal them, rather than go to a doctor, according to Clark.

But many of the medical tragedies, particularly some of those he saw, occur because the country is largely without specialists who can handle difficult cases.

"It's not their fault that these things go untreated," he said. "If they don't have people trained in these fields (such as orthopedics), what can they do?"

Under the MEDICO program, (completely financed by private contributions), physicians do not simply treat the sick; they also teach their skills to native doctors, so that the knowledge is left behind when they leave.

The San Rafael surgeon spent mornings making rounds with Avicenna's residents and in surgery. In the afternoons, he did more operations, participated in orthopedic clinics, lectured to the young doctors and taught them how to use braces.

"It's one of the most worthwhile things I ever did," he said. "Here, if I operate on somebody's hip, it's helpful to that person. "But, if I teach a resident to do the operation, he will do many of them and also teach others. So I may, in effect, have operated on 1,000 hips."

Clark came away enchanted with the exotic, ancient land and with great affection for its people.

He delighted in sharing the winding streets with camels, donkeys, turbaned men and mysterious-looking veiled women and poking around the picturesque shops in the old bazaar, which sold everything from oranges to second-hand tires.

"It's a fascinating place, right out of National Geographic; like nothing I had ever seen before."

At Tashqrgan, an old trading center where caravans used to leave for faraway places like Russia and China, Clark was almost convinced he had stepped into the past.

"I didn't have to try to imagine what it looked like a thousand years ago or what the people were doing in those days," he said. "I'm willing to bet it was much the same then."

He found his patients in Afghanistan a "refreshing change" from some in this country who waste their doctors' time with infinitesimal problems which don't really warrant treatment.

"Our society is so rich and we have so much that people tend to complain about things that are not very important. We have a tendency to run to the doctor too often.

"I'll admit that the doctors here often encourage this, because they warn you to come in whenever you have a pain because 'it might be something serious.' " he said.

He added: "In Afghanistan, I could tell from clear across the room that the people who came in needed me."

He was impressed by the "unbelievable stoicism" of the people, who seemed to accept pain quietly and without fuss.

Post operative patients, for example, are given only two aspirins every four hours — if they need it — and many don't even ask for the pills.

"I was amazed at the recovery room at Avicenna because it was so quiet. Here, at Marin General, people will be crying and carrying on after surgery, but it's different there. People seem to realize that an operation is going to hurt and they just lie there and take it."

Clark hopes to return to Afghanistan next year for another stay and this time take along his wife, Patricia, a pediatrician and allergist.

He would like to encourage some of his colleagues to make similar "country calls" and said just about any physician could benefit from the experience.

"It's wonderful to know that you're doing more than just making a living, that you're doing what a doctor is really supposed to do — saving lives and relieving suffering."

Assessment Reductions Announced

The Marin County Assessment Appeals Board has concluded its protest hearings for fiscal 1972-73, awarding some $4.3 million in reductions.

According to the county assessor's office, 538 property owners appealed their assessments this year.

Of the total, 249 reached agreement with Assessor Bert W. Broemmel and did not appear before the appeals board; 203 had their cases heard by the appeals baord, and 86 failed to appear.

Using market value figures, the total value of the protesters' property was listed at $45.4 million by the assessor's office but was dropped to $41.1 million after the appeals.

The total assessed valuation (25 per cent of market value) of the protesters' property was listed at $11.3 million before the appeals and $10.3 million after.

Time Of Year For Predictions

I guess I've waited long enough. With baseball season officially scheduled to get under way today and the Giants trying to beat the rain in Cincinnati, I had better make those predictions which will surely come back in six months to prove me a liar, a cheat and a dumb picker of baseball teams.

In the American League, I have to pick the A's over the Chicago White Sox in the West and Baltimore over Detroit and Boston in a close fight in the East. But I've been hearing a lot of warnings from strong Yankee supporters that the Yanks are back.

I'm expecting a repeat in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds in the West and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the East. Squeezing the old crystal ball for all it's worth, I'll go all the way to October and pick the A's to beat the Pirates in the World Series after those teams eliminate the Orioles and Reds.

The Giants? I'm guessing they play better than .500 ball and end up third, behind the Reds and Dodgers.

And since everybody always picks the winners this time of year, I'm going to go the other way and pick the losers. After all, most of the losers of this world try just as hard as the winners, it's their misfortune to be placed on the other end of the scale.

In the American League cellar I will pick the Milwaukee Brewers of the East and the Texas Rangers of the West, and in the National League lower floor I will go with the Philadelphia Phillies in the East and San Diego Padres in the West. And may their losses be gloriously played.

IT'S THAT TIME of year for 49er promotions man Dick Berg to spend his days talking to pretty young women. What an assignment! Berg is circulating application forms throughout the Bay Area for a new crop of Niner Nuggets, those pretty gals who help the team celebrate touchdowns at games and represent the Niners at banquets, golf tourneys and receptions. They also sing as a choral group.

The 1972 Nuggests included two lovelies from San Rafael, Jo McManus and Diane Tucker. Deadline for applicants is May 15.

MERT LAWWILL of Tiburon, former national motorcycle racing champion, will be in the field Sunday for the season opener at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds in San Jose. Also racing will be Scott Brelsford, former San Anselmo lad who now lives in Woodside. Scott is a younger brother of Mark, national champion who suffered some burns in a fiery crash last month at Daytona Speedway. Mark will appear, as scheduled, at the seventh annual San Francisco International Sport Cycle Exposition at Brooks Hall tomorrow through Sunday. The two Brelsfords and Lawwill are the main part of the Harley Davidson factory racing team.

THREE MARIN COUNTIANS were among the winners in the "name dropping" contest held by the people who run Northstar ski resort at Tahoe. It was a contest to help name the 14 ski runs down 8,600-foot Mount Pluto. So when you skiers are zipping down Polaris Rim, you can thank Thomas G. McShannock of Sausalito for that name, and when you ski down Eagle's Flight, thank Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Silberstein of Mill Valley.

HARRAH'S TAHOE RACEBOOK, even before Rick Barry's ankle injury, was listing the Warriors as 15-1 against winning the National Basketball Association title. The only playoff team picked with steeper odds was Atlanta at 25-1. Favored at 2-1 are Los Angeles and Boston.

FOR ALL OF YOU physically fit individuals, the Lake County Chamber of Commerce is now taking entries for its third annual Clear Lake Marathon Sept. 22. The marathon opens with a seven-mile run from Lucerne to Indian Beach Resort in Glenhaven and is followed in order by a three-mile swim across Clear Lake to the Konocti, a return down the mountain and a final three-mile swim back to Indian Beach. As I said, this is for you physically fit individuals.

THE DELIVERY — Tamalpais High School right fielder John Hanley (6) began uncoiling his bat at a ball thrown by San Marin pitcher Mike Robertson in the first inning yesterday as the unidentified umpire looked on. Host Tamalpais defeated San Marin, 6-4, in a Marin County Athletic League Baseball game.

Tam Edges San Marin In Baseball

Tamalpais High School continued to surprise most Marin County Athletic League baseball observers yesterday, as the Indians edged visiting San Marin 6-4.

Tam (2-1) has already won as many league baseball games as it did all last year, while San Marin remained winless at 0-3.

Tom Collins scored the winning run on a passed ball in the fifth inning after the bases were loaded on two walks and a Dave Thomsett base hit.

After San Marin had scored Dave Villa on a Ken Niebur base hit and Bob Louie on a passed ball in the first inning, Tam came roaring back in the same stanza, taking a 3-2 lead, when Thomsett doubled home Collins, and David Jones singled in Thomsett and Bob Hanley.

DeMONT FALLS SHORT

Backhaus Is Second In Cincy Swim Meet

I-J Special Report

CINCINNATI — Robin Backhaus almost scored a victory and Rick DeMont scored the biggest surprise yesterday when five members of the Marin Aquatic Club competed among the nation's best at the National Amateur Athletic Union Short Course Men's and Women's Swimming Championships. (See other swim story, page 26.)

Backhaus was second to Jack Tingley of USC in the 500-yard freestyle event, although he was gaining rapidly on the winner of the last lap. Tingley's winning time was 4:26.86, and Backhaus' time was 4:27.95. Backhaus, of San Rafael, was a bronze medalist in the 200-meter butterfly at the Munich Olympics.

DeMont, the Terra Linda youth who won the Olympic gold medal in the 400-meter free before it was stripped away from him, didn't even make it to the finals in the 500 free here, the closest event in distance to the 400-meter free.

"He missed seven days of practice during the past 25 days because of the flu," explained his coach, Don Swartz. "He just didn't have that punch at the end. We all know it's a disappointment but he will be all right in the 1,650 Saturday," Rick's next event.

DeMont's third in the trials kept him out of the championship finals but his third in the consolation finals gave the Marin A.C. team six points. DeMont's time was 4:33.3, 11th best. Backhaus's second place was good for 17 points, so Marin, with 23 points, is tied for sixth in team standings. Robin had bettered his previous best time by more than six seconds.

Maura Campion of the Marin A.C. was 18th out of 40 in the women's 500 free, 5:10.5, her best time. Kim Hughes was 27th out of 50 in the women's 200 back, 2:15.7, tieing her best time. Art Morrill in the 200 back was 35th out of 63, his time of 1:59.5 first time under two minutes.

Six other members of the Marin Aquatic Club will be getting into action the next two days of the meet.

Ailing Warriors Host Bucks Tonight At 8

OAKLAND (UPI) — With Rick Barry hobbling, the Golden State Warriors may be running on only 4 ½ cylinders tonight at 8 o'clock in their third National Basketball Association playoff game with the Milwaukee Bucks.

But Warrior coach Al Attles promises at least they will run.

"If we play a set-up game and they play a set-up game, we'll lose every time," he said of the obvious disadvantages of playing the Bucks with a deliberate offense and allowing big center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to glare ominously from the pivot.

The teams are deadlocked 1-1 entering the third game of the Western Conference playoffs. The fourth game will be played Saturday night at the Coliseum-Arena.

Milwaukee won the opener by 20 points but lost by three points to the Warriors in Milwaukee Sunday. Barry twisted his right ankle early in Sunday's game and has been giving it whirlpool treatments and running on it gingerly all week.

"If worse comes to worst, I could play," said the Warriors forward who played in all 82 regular season games. He led Golden State with a 22.3 average.

"I'd hurt two tendons in the ankle earlier in the season," said Barry. "They'd just started feeling good again. Then I twist the ankle and reinjure the tendons."

Rick also has been suffering from a pulled back muscle and has been battling a head cold the last couple of days.

"He certainly isn't normal," said Attles. "We'll have to decide after the warmups whether he will be able to play."

In Barry's absence, forward Cazzie Russell tallied 25 points against the Bucks, even with Oscar Robertson guarding him.

Barry also feels the Warriors must run in order to balance the outstanding speed of Milwaukee's Lucius Allen and Bob Dandridge.

"We've got to get down quickly before their defense sets up," noted Barry. "We got too conservative in the final minutes Sunday and we almost lost."

Warrior center Nate Thurmond also has been climbing in the whirlpool this week. He's had fluid drained from his knee but it's nothing too serious.

Thurmond realizes he must try to keep Abdul-Jabbar as far from the hoop as physically possible because the big guy from Milwaukee is deadly with his soft hooks from within 12 feet.

Attles feels if the Bucks need points, they'll go to a three-guard offense with Jon McGlocklin coming in as the third backcourt man to perform his specialty—bombing with keen accuracy from way outside.

San Rafael Beaten By Redwood '9'

Redwood pitcher Gene Frey hit a triple in the fourth inning, scoring Doug Hartman and Phil Bacigalupi to lead his team to a crucial 5-2 Marin County Athletic League victory over San Rafael yesterday in Larkspur.

Frey, 2-0 in the MCAL this year, brought home the winning runs and scored later in the same inning on a sacrifice fly. Although not yesterday's starting pitcher, Frey threw for six innings, allowing only two hits, while striking out eight.

Redwood remains on top of MCAL standings with a 3-0 record, while San Rafael slips into a four-way tie for second at 2-1.

IN AUGUSTA

Aaron Is Early Masters Leader

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Tommy Aaron, the native Georgian best known at the Masters for his faulty arithmetic, shot a sizzling 4-under-par 68 over the 18 holes of the Augusta National today to take an early first round lead.

Aaron, who tied the front-nine record of 31 in 1970, is appearing in his 10th Masters championship with his best finish a fifth in '70 when he wound up with a 5-under-par 283.

But Aaron attracted his most attention here in 1968 when he was the final-round playing partner of Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina. Aaron mistakenly credited De Vicenzo with a par on the next to last hole when he actually had a birdie and the mistake cost De Vicenzo a chance to win the tournament.

Scores were running lower than in previous tournaments during the early play of the first round thanks to the rain-soaked softer greens that were holding low approach shots and enabling the golfers to gamble with their putts.

Bob Dickson, the San Diego Open winner, and Guy Hunt of England both had 1-under-par 35s on the front nine and there was a rash of 36s.

Dickson and Cesar Sanudo were the first twosome to tee off today as the 37th Masters tournament opened play in clear, cold weather.

The temperature was expected to climb into the 60's today and the sunshine was a welcome change from the heavy overcast and occasional drizzle that had plagued the practice rounds.

Dickson, one of only three golfers to win the U.S. and British Amateur titles the same year, was making his first professional start in the Masters and listed his chances of winning as "slim and none" prior to teeing off.

Sanudo, like Dickson, played here once before as an amateur and also was appearing in his first Masters as a pro; quite a contrast to the second twosome which included Gene Sarazen, who has been playing here since the tournament was founded in 1934.

The big names, including Jack Nicklaus who hopes to turn a lifelong dream into reality this week, weren't scheduled to tee off until later.

The "Golden Bear" was the favorite when the prestigious Masters tournament began today. If he lives up to that role, he will have won more major championships than any other golfer —including the legendary Bobby Jones, the Masters' founder.

Through the years, as record after record has yielded to his

Time Of Year For Predictions

I guess I've waited long enough. With baseball season officially scheduled to get under way today and the Giants trying to beat the rain in Cincinnati, I had better make those predictions which will surely come back in six months to prove me a liar, a cheat and a dumb picker of baseball teams.

In the American League, I have to pick the A's over the Chicago White Sox in the West and Baltimore over Detroit and Boston in a close fight in the East. But I've been hearing a lot of warnings from strong Yankee supporters that the Yanks are back.

I'm expecting a repeat in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds in the West and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the East. Squeezing the old crystal ball for all it's worth, I'll go all the way to October and pick the A's to beat the Pirates in the World Series after those teams eliminate the Orioles and Reds.

The Giants? I'm guessing they play better than .500 ball and end up third, behind the Reds and Dodgers.

And since everybody always picks the winners this time of year, I'm going to go the other way and pick the losers. After all, most of the losers of this world try just as hard as the winners, it's their misfortune to be placed on the other end of the scale.

In the American League cellar I will pick the Milwaukee Brewers of the East and the Texas Rangers of the West, and in the National League lower floor I will go with the Philadelphia Phillies in the East and San Diego Padres in the West. And may their losses be gloriously played.

IT'S THAT TIME of year for 49er promotions man Dick Berg to spend his days talking to pretty young women. What an assignment! Berg is circulating application forms throughout the Bay Area for a new crop of Niner Nuggets, those pretty gals who help the team celebrate touchdowns at games and represent the Niners at banquets, golf tourneys and receptions. They also sing as a choral group.

The 1972 Nuggests included two lovelies from San Rafael, Jo McManus and Diane Tucker. Deadline for applicants is May 15.

MERT LAWWILL of Tiburon, former national motorcycle racing champion, will be in the field Sunday for the season opener at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds in San Jose. Also racing will be Scott Brelsford, former San Anselmo lad who now lives in Woodside. Scott is a younger brother of Mark, national champion who suffered some burns in a fiery crash last month at Daytona Speedway. Mark will appear, as scheduled, at the seventh annual San Francisco International Sport Cycle Exposition at Brooks Hall tomorrow through Sunday. The two Brelsfords and Lawwill are the main part of the Harley Davidson factory racing team.

THREE MARIN COUNTIANS were among the winners in the "name dropping" contest held by the people who run Northstar ski resort at Tahoe. It was a contest to help name the 14 ski runs down 8,600-foot Mount Pluto. So when you skiers are zipping down Polaris Rim, you can thank Thomas G. McShannock of Sausalito for that name, and when you ski down Eagle's Flight, thank Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Silberstein of Mill Valley.

HARRAH'S TAHOE RACEBOOK, even before Rick Barry's ankle injury, was listing the Warriors as 15-1 against winning the National Basketball Association title. The only playoff team picked with steeper odds was Atlanta at 25-. Favored at 2-1 are Los Angeles and Boston.

FOR ALL OF YOU physically fit individuals, the Lake County Chamber of Commerce is now taking entries for its third annual Clear Lake Marathon Sept. 22. The marathon opens with a seven-mile run from Lucerne to Indian Beach Resort in Glenhaven and is followed in order by a three-mile swim across Clear Lake to the Konocti, a return down the mountain and a final three-mile swim back to Indian Beach. As I said, this is for you physically fit individuals.

Tam Edges San Marin In Baseball

Tamalpais High School continued to surprise most Marin County Athletic League baseball observers yesterday, as the Indians edged visiting San Marin 6-4.

Tam (2-1) has already won as many league baseball games as it did all last year, while San Marin remained winless at 0-3.

After San Marin had scored Dave Villa on a Ken Niebur base hit and Bob Louie on a passed ball in the first inning, Tam came roaring back in the same stanza, taking a 3-2 lead, when Thomsett doubled home Collins, and David Jones singled in Thomsett and Bob Hanley.

Dickson and Cesar Sanudo were the first twosome to tee off today as the 37th Masters tournament opened play in clear, cold weather.

The temperature was expected to climb into the 60's today and the sunshine was a welcome change from the heavy overcast and occasional drizzle that had plagued the practice rounds.

Dickson, one of only three golfers to win the U.S. and British Amateur titles the same year, was making his first professional start in the Masters and listed his chances of winning as "slim and none" prior to teeing off.

Sanudo, like Dickson, played here once before as an amateur and also was appearing in his first Masters as a pro; quite a contrast to the second twosome which included Gene Sarazen, who has been playing here since the tournament was founded in 1934.

The big names, including Jack Nicklaus who hopes to turn a lifelong dream into reality this week, weren't scheduled to tee off until later.

The "Golden Bear" was the favorite when the prestigious Masters tournament began today. If he lives up to that role, he will have won more major championships than any other golfer —including the legendary Bobby Jones, the Masters' founder.

Through the years, as record after record has yielded to his

A's Open Defense Of Title Tomorrow Night Vs. Twins

The A's wound up spring training at Mesa, Ariz., Wednesday by dropping a 6-3 decision to the Los Angeles Dodgers. Ken Holtzman pitched the first five innings and left with a 2-1 lead but homers by Steve Garvey and Willie Davis off Rollie Fingers jumped the Dodgers in front in the sixth and they went on to wrap it up.

Holtzman will pitch Sunday's third game of the new season against Minnesota. Jim "Catfish" Hunter has the opening night assignment Friday and John "Blue Moon" Odom goes Saturday. The respective Twins starters are Bert Blyleven, Jim Kaat and Bill Hands.

When the A's open the season they will present a few changes from the starting team which won the American League West and the World Series in 1972.

Ray Fosse, picked up three weeks ago, will catch in place of Dave Duncan, packed off to Cleveland; Gene Tenace will be at first in place of Mike Epstein, shipped to Texas; Dal Maxvill will be at short in place of Bert Campaneris, who starts a seven-day suspension for throwing his bat during the A. L. playoffs last October, and Billy Conigliaro will be in center in place of Angel Mangual, who lost out in a bid for the regular job.

Another change will see Bill North, picked up from the Cubs in exchange for reliever Bob Locker, leading off as the club's designated hitter. He is being placed first in the order by manager Dick Williams because of his speed on the bases.

A crowd of about 25,000 is anticipated for the night-time opener. Saturday and Sunday's games are day affairs.

The A's finished Cactus League play with a 15-10 record, not bad considering Williams often used rookies while nursing his regulars along. A few days were lost because of an unusually cold spring in Arizona, but Williams said his pitching staff is in good shape to start the season.

While the A's rested at their respective homes, Vida Blue pitched for the Tucson Pacific Coast League farm club today. Vida has been hit hard in his last two spring outings and, since he isn't scheduled to start until next Tuesday against the White Sox in Chicago, Williams gave him one more day of work to get his control down.

AAU Act On Meet Backed

Combined AP & UPI •

PRETORIA — Americans competing at the current South African Games did so either as individuals or with the approval of their various sports bodies, Stan Wright, chairman of the Track and Field Committee of the American Athletics Union (AAU) said today.

Wright said all committees of the AAU were autonomous, and so gymnasts, wrestlers, swimmers and a basketball team could compete at the games while a track team was barred from competition.

"We believe we live in a democracy, and that we practice that," he said. "For this reason, the various committees of the AAU had the right to decide separately what they wanted to do."

Wright said his own committee had decided that no American athletes — in teams or as individuals — should compete in South Africa until it had been established that the apartheid policy had changed sufficiently to allow all races to have an equal chance.

The five-man American wrestling squad from Oregon State University dominated the games scene last night picking up three gold medals and two silver.

Baseball

HOUSTON — Houston Astros manager Leo Durocher, despite a threat to resign before bowing under, said he paid a $250 fine for interfering with a players' meeting in Pompano Beach, Fla., March 12.

Durocher was fined by the National League office after he broke up the meeting of his players with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players' Association.

Charles S. Feeney, league president, ruled Durocher violated the owners-players' agreement, and Durocher vowed to quit his job rather than pay the fine.

But yesterday he said, "I sent a check in with a letter requesting a hearing," Durocher said. "any other comment must come from the National League office."

Basketball

EVANSTON, Ill. — Tex Winter, former Houston Rockets coach, has been named head basketball coach at Northwestern University.

The post was left vacant March 12 by the resignation of Brad Snyder following a season in which the Wildcats were 2-12 in the Big Ten and 5-19 overall.

Tennis

MUNICH, Germany — Wimbledon champ Stan Smith, Pasadena, Calif., yesterday ousted Cliff Drysdale, South Africa, 6-4, 6-3 in the Group A World Championship Tennis Tournament.

HOUSTON — Top-seeded Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., yesterday overpowered Australia's Ross Case 7-5, 6-0 in the second round of the 39th Annual River Oaks-American General Tennis Tournament.

PHILADELPHIA — Australia's Margaret Court yesterday scored a 6-2, 6-1 victory over fellow Australian Karen Krantzcke in the opening round of the $50,000 Max-Pax Coffee Tennis Classic.

Boxing

LOS ANGELES — Muhammad Ali lost to Ken Norton, "an ordinary, run-of-the-mill fighter," last weekend because he wasn't in condition, the man who negotiates for the former heavyweight champion said yesterday.

Joe Frazier also was out of shape when he lost his title to George Foreman of Hayward in January, attorney Bob Arum of Los Angeles said.

Arum, who heads Top Rank, Inc., blamed Frazier and his manager, Yank Durham, for refusing to meet Ali in a rematch which might have brought each fighter from $3 to $3.5 million.

Knicks Play 'Smart' Way Versus Bullets

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Whatever happened to the Baltimore Bullets, the dark horse team of the National Basketball Association playoffs which finished the regular season like a champion and was supposed to take New York apart with raw strength?

Did they fold under playoff pressure or have the Knicks just been playing too strong? After New York took a commanding 3-0 lead over the Bullets with a 103-96 victory last night, Knicks forward Bill Bradley said his team played "our smartest game of the series."

Bradley was referring to the manner in which the Knicks moved the ball around, balanced their scoring and blunted the Bullets despite a 36-point performance by Elvin Hayes.

Bradley contributed to New York's victory with 23 points but the Knicks' played a team game not an individual one.

In the other Eastern Conference semifinal playoff, the Boston Celtics are having an easy romp over the Atlanta Hawks.

Dave Cowen's 25 rebounds and John Havlicek's 29 points enabled the Celts to slip past the Hawks 126-113 last night and give Boston a 2-0 lead in their best of seven playoff series.

The outcome wasn't half as close as the final score indicated. The Celtics were only challenged once, midway in the second period when the Hawks came within two points at 35-33.

Boston then ran off 10 quick points and the game was never close again.

Rangers Enjoy Dish Of Shocked Bruins

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Rangers not only turned the tables on Boston last night, they ate the Bruins for dinner.

Brad Park and Walt Tkaczuk scored two goals apiece while the Rangers upended the defending Stanley Cup champion Bruins by a decisive 6-2 margin in the opening game of the playoff series.

The underdog Rangers, who haven't won the title since 1940, bunched four goals in the second frame to take a 5-1 lead and break the game open, leaving Boston goalie Jacques Plante shell-shocked.

"I wasn't sharp and I knew this was going to happen sometime," said the 44-year old Plante. "It was just a bad time for it to happen," Plante added.

In other NHL playoff games, Chicago breezed past St. Louis, 7-1, Montreal trimmed Buffalo, 2-1, and Minnesota downed Philadelphia, 3-0.

Dennis Hextall, Dennis O'Brien and Jude Drouin scored goals to pace Minnesota to victory over Philadelphia and put the North Stars one-up in the Stanley Cup quarterfinal playoffs.

Yvan Cournoyer scored a power play goal at 4:27 of the final period to lead Montreal to victory over Buffalo in the opening game of their best-of-seven series.

Dick Redmond and Pit Martin scored hat tricks in Chicago's 17th straight quarterfinal Stanley Cup win as the Black Hawks trounced St. Louis in the opener of their series.

Dominican Cagers In Tourney At USF

A girls basketball team from Dominican College will participate in the first Muni Bus Classic tournament tomorrow and Saturday at the University of San Francisco's Memorial Gymnasium.

The four-team tournament also includes Mills College of Oakland and two USF teams, McAllister 5 and Hayes 21, so named because of the two Municipal bus lines which run past the school's campus. First-round games are scheduled for 6 and 8 p.m. tomorrow and final games at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

ABA Stars' Wise Calls Team 'Lucky'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — "We won, but we were lucky," said Utah forward Willie Wise after the Stars' second straight American Basketball Association playoff win over San Diego.

"Their slowdown style lulls you into forgetting what you're supposed to be doing," Wise said after Wednesday night's 103-92 win. "We were way ahead of them and they just picked away until they had us down."

Wise scored a game high 29 points, leading the Stars from six down in the second half back to their second win in the best-of-seven series. The two teams move to San Diego for games three and four, April 7-8.

"Their slowdown style hurt us. We like to run with the ball, but pretty soon we were playing the way they do and taking bad shots," Wise added.

With guards Chuck Williams and Ollie Taylor leading the way, the Conquistadors' deliberate game style cut into the gap and Utah led by just four at intermission, 53-49.

When the second half opened, San Diego continued to eat into the lead and moved ahead 55-54 on a layin by Stew Johnson one minute into the third period.

But poor shooting by the Conquistadors—39.6 per cent from the field—gave the game back to Utah. The Stars moved ahead for good, 74-73, after the lead had changed hands seven times in the third quarter.

In the other ABA playoffs, Carolina, Indiana and Kentucky all have 2-1 records in their series.

The Pacers—defending ABA champions—play at Denver tonight in the other Western Division series. And in the East, Carolina is at New York tonight, and Kentucky plays Virginia at Hampton, Va., Friday night.

Midget Loop Signups

The San Anselmo Recreation Department's midget league, an instructional baseball league for boys aged 7-8, is now accepting signups at the department's office in Memorial Park. Fee is $5 for residents and $7 for non-residents, and clinic and practice are scheduled to begin in May.

Santa Clara Gal Sets U.S. Swim Record

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Keena Rothhammer, a 16-year-old from Santa Clara, Calif., swimming against triple Gold Medalist Shane Gould, set an American record Wednesday night in the women's 500-yard freestyle.

"I could hear the crowd in that last hundred yards," the high school sophomore said, "and I just wanted to go, go, go."

Her time of 4:52.547 was 1.553 seconds better than the old record set in 1968 by Debbie Meyer.

American records also were set in the 100-yard breast stroke and 100-yard butterfly during the first day of the four-day National AAU short course swimming championships at Keating Natatorium.

Shane Gould finished second to Miss Rothhammer in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 4:52.725, also bettering the old mark.

"I knew Shane was going to finish hard," Miss Rothhammer said. "She always does. She's really strong."

Cathy Carr, who won two gold medals at Munich, established an American record in the women's 100-yard breast stroke with a 1:06.1, four tenths of a second faster than the old mark, set here in 1970 by Kim Brecht.

Rangy 6-6 John Naber, a high school senior from Menlo Park, Calif., set a record in the men's 200-yard backstroke with a 1:49.84 in preliminary qualifying heats.

He later won the finals, but in a slower time of 1:50.58.

The men's and women's 1,650-yard freestyle, 100-yard freestyle, 200-yard individual medley and 400-yard freestyle were to be swum today.

Miss Gould was favored to take the 1,650 handily.

Last year, while winning his fourth Masters and third U.S. Open titles, Nicklaus tied the record of 13 major titles Jones set in 1930 when he captured four with his "grand slam."

Despite Nicklaus' protests this week that his game wasn't rounding into shape as he would like, the other 81 starters in the 37th Masters' field insist he's the man to beat.

"Let's face it," said Lee Trevino, the man considered most likely to beat Nicklaus, if anyone can. "If Jack plays as he is capable of playing, it is going to be awfully tough for anyone to keep up with him."

But Trevino, who leads this year's money list with more than $100,000, has one big hope.

"There has been a lot of rain here the past week and the greens are soft," said Trevino. "If they stay that way, it's going to equalize things a bit. Those of us who can't hit the high shots this course requires will be able to get our low shots to hold on the greens.

OWNERS MEETING

Sudden Death Overtime Seen For NFL Regular Season Play

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Sudden death overtime for regular season play was expected to become reality today when National Football League owners voted on rule changes at their annual spring meeting.

A ruling for a two point conversion was expected to be defeated.

"I think sudden death has a better chance of passing," said Paul Brown, head coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals and a member of the four-man competition committee. "A number of the coaches, especially those with college background, are againt the two-point conversion. They feel it nullifies the effect of a touchdown and I tend to agree with them. But sudden death has an excellent chance of making it through."

For the measure to be enacted, 20 of the 26 owners must cast an affirmative vote.

Opinion regarding the two major rule changes was fairly well divided among the many coaches present. Those with strong offenses tended to agree with the sudden death proposal while defensive-oriented teams generally opposed to the measure, feeling it puts them at a disadvantage.

"I'm for the two-point conversion and I'm for sudden death," said Hank Stram, coach of the Kansas City Chiefs and one of the brightest offensive innovators in the game. "They give you an extra way to win a game and I'm for anything that will help us win."

George Allen, one of the game's defensive whizzes, takes a totally different view.

"I'm against both sudden death and the two-point conversion," Allen said. "I like the game the way it is. Why change it? I think I might have gone for the best two-of-three Super Bowl proposal if it had come up through the competition committee but maybe I'd even feel differently about that if we (the Washington Redskins) had won the game."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, like Brown, feels the sudden death proposal will pass while he isn't too thrilled with the two-point conversion.

Other rules under consideration included those governing legal pass receptions (one foot inbounds instead of the present two), uniform numbering of players according to position, shifting of goal posts from the goal line to the end line and giving a receiving team the option of taking an out-of-bounds kickoff at the point it left the field rather than subjecting the kicking team to a five-yard penalty.

In other NHL playoff games, Chicago breezed past St. Louis, 7-1, Montreal trimmed Buffalo, 2-1, and Minnesota downed Philadelphia, 3-0.

Dennis Hextall, Dennis O'Brien and Jude Drouin scored goals to pace Minnesota to victory over Philadelphia and put the North Stars one-up in the Stanley Cup quarterfinal playoffs.

Yvan Cournoyer scored a power play goal at 4:27 of the final period to lead Montreal to victory over Buffalo in the opening game of their best-of-seven series.

Dick Redmond and Pit Martin scored hat tricks in Chicago's 17th straight quarterfinal Stanley Cup win as the Black Hawks trounced St. Louis in the opener of their series.

Dominican Cagers In Tourney At USF

A girls basketball team from Dominican College will participate in the first Muni Bus Classic tournament tomorrow and Saturday at the University of San Francisco's Memorial Gymnasium.

The four-team tournament also includes Mills College of Oakland and two USF teams, McAllister 5 and Hayes 21, so named because of the two Municipal bus lines which run past the school's campus. First-round games are scheduled for 6 and 8 p.m. tomorrow and final games at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

Midget Loop Signups

The San Anselmo Recreation Department's midget league, an instructional baseball league for boys aged 7-8, is now accepting signups at the department's office in Memorial Park. Fee is $5 for residents and $7 for non-residents, and clinic and practice are scheduled to begin in May.

Santa Clara Gal Sets U.S. Swim Record

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Keena Rothhammer, a 16-year-old from Santa Clara, Calif., swimming against triple Gold Medalist Shane Gould, set an American record Wednesday night in the women's 500-yard freestyle.

"I could hear the crowd in that last hundred yards," the high school sophomore said, "and I just wanted to go, go, go."

Her time of 4:52.547 was 1.553 seconds better than the old record set in 1968 by Debbie Meyer.

American records also were set in the 100-yard breast stroke and 100-yard butterfly during the first day of the four-day National AAU short course swimming championships at Keating Natatorium.

Shane Gould finished second to Miss Rothhammer in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 4:52.725, also bettering the old mark.

"I knew Shane was going to finish hard," Miss Rothhammer said. "She always does. She's really strong."

Cathy Carr, who won two gold medals at Munich, established an American record in the women's 100-yard breast stroke with a 1:06.1, four tenths of a second faster than the old mark, set here in 1970 by Kim Brecht.

Rangy 6-6 John Naber, a high school senior from Menlo Park, Calif., set a record in the men's 200-yard backstroke with a 1:49.84 in preliminary qualifying heats.

He later won the finals, but in a slower time of 1:50.58.

The men's and women's 1,650-yard freestyle, 100-yard freestyle, 200-yard individual medley and 400-yard freestyle were to be swum today.

Miss Gould was favored to take the 1,650 handily.

AAU Act On Meet Backed

Combined AP & UPI

PRETORIA — Americans competing at the current South African Games did so either as individuals or with the approval of their various sports bodies, Stan Wright, chairman of the Track and Field Committee of the American Athletics Union (AAU) said today.

Wright said all committees of the AAU were autonomous, and so gymnasts, wrestlers, swimmers and a basketball team could compete at the games while a track team was barred from competition.

"We believe we live in a democracy, and that we practice that," he said. "For this reason, the various committees of the AAU had the right to decide separately what they wanted to do."

Wright said his own committee had decided that no American athletes — in teams or as individuals — should compete in South Africa until it had been established that the apartheid policy had changed sufficiently to allow all races to have an equal chance.

The five-man American wrestling squad from Oregon State University dominated the games scene last night picking up three gold medals and two silver.

Baseball

HOUSTON — Houston Astros manager Leo Durocher, despite a threat to resign before bowing under, said he paid a $250 fine for interfering with a players' meeting in Pompano Beach, Fla., March 12.

Durocher was fined by the National League office after he broke up the meeting of his players with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players' Association.

Charles S. Feeney, league president, ruled Durocher violated the owners-players' agreement, and Durocher vowed to quit his job rather than pay the fine.

But yesterday he said, "I sent a check in with a letter requesting a hearing," Durocher said. "any other comment must come from the National League office."

Basketball

EVANSTON, Ill. — Tex Winter, former Houston Rockets coach, has been named head basketball coach at Northwestern University.

The post was left vacant March 12 by the resignation of Brad Snyder following a season in which the Wildcats were 2-12 in the Big Ten and 5-19 overall.

Tennis

MUNICH, Germany — Wimbledon champ Stan Smith, Pasadena, Calif., yesterday ousted Cliff Drysdale, South Africa, 6-4, 6-3 in the Group A World Championship Tennis Tournament.

HOUSTON — Top-seeded Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., yesterday overpowered Australia's Ross Case 7-5, 6-0 in the second round of the 39th Annual River Oaks-American General Tennis Tournament.

PHILADELPHIA — Australia's Margaret Court yesterday scored a 6-2, 6-1 victory over fellow Australian Karen Krantzcke in the opening round of the $50,000 Max-Pax Coffee Tennis Classic.

Boxing

LOS ANGELES — Muhammad Ali lost to Ken Norton, "an ordinary, run-of-the-mill fighter," last weekend because he wasn't in condition, the man who negotiates for the former heavyweight champion said yesterday.

Joe Frazier also was out of shape when he lost his title to George Foreman of Hayward in January, attorney Bob Arum of Los Angeles said.

Arum, who heads Top Rank, Inc., blamed Frazier and his manager, Yank Durham, for refusing to meet Ali in a rematch which might have brought each fighter from $3 to $3.5 million.

Last year, while winning his fourth Masters and third U.S. Open titles, Nicklaus tied the record of 13 major titles Jones set in 1930 when he captured four with his "grand slam."

Despite Nicklaus' protests this week that his game wasn't rounding into shape as he would like, the other 81 starters in the 37th Masters' field insist he's the man to beat.

"Let's face it," said Lee Trevino, the man considered most likely to beat Nicklaus, if anyone can. "If Jack plays as he is capable of playing, it is going to be awfully tough for anyone to keep up with him."

But Trevino, who leads this year's money list with more than $100,000, has one big hope.

"There has been a lot of rain here the past week and the greens are soft," said Trevino. "If they stay that way, it's going to equalize things a bit. Those of us who can't hit the high shots this course requires will be able to get our low shots to hold on the greens.

OWNERS MEETING

Sudden Death Overtime Seen For NFL Regular Season Play

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Sudden death overtime for regular season play was expected to become reality today when National Football League owners voted on rule changes at their annual spring meeting.

A ruling for a two point conversion was expected to be defeated.

"I think sudden death has a better chance of passing," said Paul Brown, head coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals and a member of the four-man competition committee. "A number of the coaches, especially those with college background, are againt the two-point conversion. They feel it nullifies the effect of a touchdown and I tend to agree with them. But sudden death has an excellent chance of making it through."

For the measure to be enacted, 20 of the 26 owners must cast an affirmative vote.

Opinion regarding the two major rule changes was fairly well divided among the many coaches present. Those with strong offenses tended to agree with the sudden death proposal while defensive-oriented teams generally opposed to the measure, feeling it puts them at a disadvantage.

"I'm for the two-point conversion and I'm for sudden death," said Hank Stram, coach of the Kansas City Chiefs and one of the brightest offensive innovators in the game. "They give you an extra way to win a game and I'm for anything that will help us win."

George Allen, one of the game's defensive whizzes, takes a totally different view.

"I'm against both sudden death and the two-point conversion," Allen said. "I like the game the way it is. Why change it? I think I might have gone for the best two-of-three Super Bowl proposal if it had come up through the competition committee but maybe I'd even feel differently about that if we (the Washington Redskins) had won the game."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, like Brown, feels the sudden death proposal will pass while he isn't too thrilled with the two-point conversion.

Other rules under consideration included those governing legal pass receptions (one foot inbounds instead of the present two), uniform numbering of players according to position, shifting of goal posts from the goal line to the end line and giving a receiving team the option of taking an out-of-bounds kickoff at the point it left the field rather than subjecting the kicking team to a five-yard penalty.

PREP NOTES

'B' Swimming In Terra Linda

By LEW CODDINGTON

In the confusing numbers game of Class B swimming, where age, height and weight digits mingle with times and distances and scores and places, the casual observer can help keep the whole thing straight in his head by remembering two figures:

Seven is the number of consecutive championships Terra Linda High School will have captured when it nails down this year's title; and Forty-six is the number of consecutive meets the Trojans currently have won against Marin County Athletic League opposition.

Coach Bob Pollitt and his man with the figures, Pat Fearn, have uncovered the fact that the Trojans have not lost a "B" meet since March 21, 1969, when Richard Nixon was in his first hundred days and the New York Mets were still loveable losers.

Pollitt casts himself in the role of a harvester, reaping the fruits in winter of seeds planted the previous summer. He credits the Marin Swim League for his "B" team's success.

"It's a low-key summer league where boys and girls, little kids,can go and have fun and have a chance to swim competitively as well," he explains. "The boys have a little success in the seventh and eighth grades and they decide to stay with swimming."

By a happy geographical coincidence, a disproportionate number of the Marin Swim League's teams flourish in the area which feeds Terra Linda High School. Swimmers from Marinwood, Lucas Valley, Terra Linda and the Ann Curtis Swim Club of San Rafael have ended up on Pollitt's roster.

Some have gone from the Marin Swim League to Terra Linda's "B" team and on to varsity stardom, like Keith Strange, Jeff Miller, Pat and John Fearn and Mike Klunk.

Many of the current "B" stars claim this background as well, such as Mitch Young, Tom Enright, Bill Power, Mark Shibata, John Tyler and Tom and Mark Bollinger.

The Trojan "B" squad has three meets left on its schedule, all against teams it has beaten before, and must lose all three to fail to win at least a piece of the title. Its record at this writing is 9-0.

SKULL SESSION — In terms of strategy, prep baseball is different from the Major League. Challenging the other team's fielders is an integral part of the high-school game.

Take Marin Catholic's game Tuesday against Novato. The Wildcats won it with three runs in the top of the eighth inning, scoring on squeeze bunts by Layne Cozza, Jeff Knotts and Tim Haley. They scored twice earlier on what coaches call "the first and third play" — a runner on first breaks for second (or attracts a pickoff throw), and while the play is made for him, the runner on third tries for the plate.

In fact, that play pops up so often it might deserve a place in the box scores. In the offensive portion, right after S, SF and SB, would be the notation, FTP — Marin Catholic 2.

St. Vincent '9' Tops Upper Lake In Opener, 14-3

St. Vincent High School of Petaluma won its North Central League II baseball opener yesterday, clouting visiting Upper Lake, 14-3.

The victory raised the Mustangs overall mark to 7-3 and put them in a first place tie in the NCL II with Tomales and Kelseyville at 1-0.

The Mustangs took the lead in the first inning, 2-1, on a two-run double by center fielder Jim Leoni, which scored Ray Serna and Pete Leoni. Jim Leoni paced the Mustangs with three runs batted in.

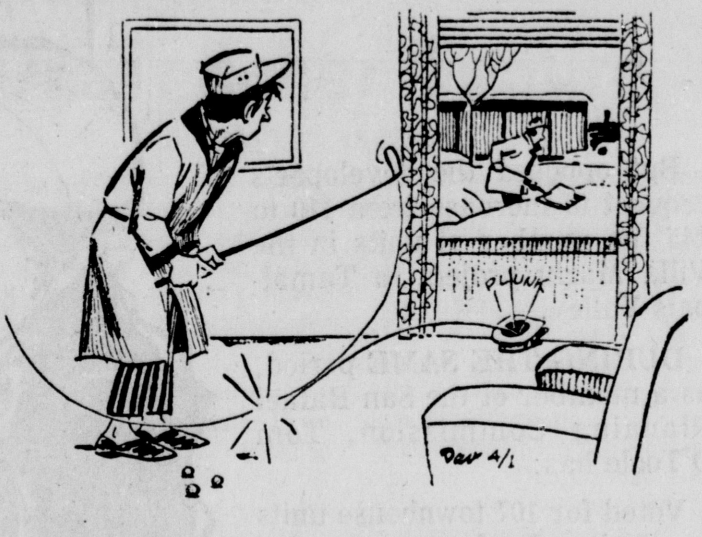
TREVINO TALKS GOLF



Some Indoor Practice

By LEE TREVINO

When you're snowbound in Keokuk, there isn't much you can do in a golfing way. Okay, you can putter around with your wife.

To retain your "feel," put your hands on a golf club a few minutes each day. I haul a roll of carpet around the country with me to practice my stroke. Or I chip from the rug into a chair. I bladed one once and almost ruined a hotel window.

Titanic Thompson, the greatest hustler who ever lived, is such a deadly chipper he can get up and down in two from St. Paul to Minneapolis. He practices chipping against a shoe leaning against the back of a chair. If it's good enough for Ti, it's good enough for Lee.

So roll out the carpet when you're snowbound or just killing time. When I'm rug-putting, I don't think about anything but the stroke. I'm watching the putter, seeing how it goes back. I try to keep the blade just a shade inside the line.

Keep your stroke short, then accelerate as the putter comes into the ball. Then chip. Then putt. Then. . .get the idea?

San Marin Ties For 1st In Track Race

San Marin High School joined Tamalpais in a tie for first place in the Marin County Athletic League Track standings yesterday by dumping host San Rafael, 90-46.

San Marin and Tam both have 3-0 records and meet in Mill Valley tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m. San Rafael drops to fifth place at 1-2.

Only Greg Campbell was able to muster any first places for San Rafael in the running events, but he was able to get two, in the hurdles. Campbell topped his own time in the highs by a tenth of a second (15.6) and cemented his position as the best hurdler in the league.

In a non-league meet yesterday, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park (6-1) whipped winless Marin Catholic, 97-33. The Marin Wildcats are 0-3 in MCAL action.

Four Marks Bettered By Preps

Two athletes from Novato High School, one from Redwood and one four-man relay team from San Marin recorded four Marin County Athletic League track and field dual-meet best performances for the year last week.

Novato's George Cagle ran 880 yards in 1:58.9, the Hornets' Tom Bridges long-jumped 21-8, and San Marin's mile relay team of Joe Guth, Ron Zechlin, Larry Butti and Gary Lathrop ran 3:36.3, all in a dual meet between the schools last Wednesday. Redwood's Pete Sweeney ran the two-mile in 9:46.7 Tuesday.

The list does not include times recorded in yesterday's meet between San Marin and San Rafael. The best times and distances:

120 HH — Campbell (SR), 15.7; 440 relay — San Marin (Goins, Butti, Roche, Kassenbrock), 45.0; 880 — Cagle (N), 1:58.9; 100 — Peterson (TL), 10.4; Mile — Overend (R), 4:33.4; 440 — Johnson (TL), 52.4; 330 LH — Campbell (SR), 40.2; 220 — Johnson (TL), 22.9; Two-Mile — Sweeney (R), 9:46.7; Mile Relay — San Marin (Guth, Zechlin, Butti, Lathrop), 3:36.3; Shot Put — Elder (R), 56-10½; Discus — Elder (R), 157-0; High Jump — Mahoney (MC), 6-0; Long Jump — Bridges (N), 21-8; Pole Vault — Patterson (SR), 11-0; Triple Jump — Grigg (SR), 40-11.

Jeanne Evert Defeated In Sarasota Net

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Ann Kiyomura defeated 15-year-old Jeanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale Wednesday in a qualifying match for the $20,000 Sarasota Women's U. S. Lawn Tennis Association Open.

Miss Kiyomura, 17-year-old high school senior and an amateur from San Mateo, Calif., qualified for the main tournament by turning back the younger sister of Chris Evert, 7-6, 6-2.

Other scheduled matches, including one between Sharon Walsh of San Rafael and Patti Hogan of LaJolla, were washed out by heavy rains.

Elizabeth Szell of Hungary also was qualified in a drawing to fill a vacancy created when Virginia Wade withdrew with a torn muscle in her forearm.

Preliminaries begin Thursday with the featured matches pitting Yvonne Goolagong of Australia against Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakie and Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale against Katja Ebbinghauf of West Germany.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Four Exhibitions Washed Out; Opener Threatened

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If it's raining, it must be time for the baseball season.

Before the fans can worry about things like the designated hitter, the Pirates without Roberto Clemente, Johnny Bench's recovery from lung surgery, Hank Aaron's pursuit of Babe Ruth, the Yankees' marital swaps and Willie Mays' knees, they have to worry about the weather.

Despite the repeated evidence that rain is normal weather in early April, baseball still persists in daring the weatherman by opening the season in early April. Usually, the weatherman wins more than his share and the start of the season is sprinkled with rainouts.

The 1973 baseball season is scheduled to open today in Cincinnati, where the Reds have been playing since 1869 when they were called the Redstockings. The Reds will host the San Francisco Giants and a former POW, Air Force Capt. Ed Mechenbier, is scheduled to throw out the first ball.

Naturally, rain is also scheduled. In fact, the weatherman says there's even a "possibility of snow flurries."

Four exhibition games—Montreal-Boston, Pittsburgh-Chicago, Kansas City-St. Louis and Baltimore-Atlanta — were washed out Wednesday and the baseball executives are keeping their fingers crossed that the weather gets better by Friday.

While the Cincinnati-San Francisco game is the only regular season game scheduled today, (the American League no longer has a traditional opener now that the Washington Senators are in Texas) a full slate of games is set for Friday.

In the exhibition games that were played Wednesday, Los Angeles beat Oakland 6-3, California edged Milwaukee 2-1, the Chicago Cubs blanked San Diego 5-0, the New York Yankees nipped the New York Mets 3-2, Minnesota topped Houston 6-4 and Cleveland beat Texas 4-3.

Of course, starting Friday in the American League, those questions won't be posed since the junior circuit will unveil the designated hitter for the pitcher. All the ramifications of the new rule are still unclear but they'll start coming more in focus Friday.

In the Friday AL openers, it's New York at Boston and Milwaukee at Boston in day games and Minnesota at Oakland, Kansas City at California and Chicago at Texas in night action. In the other NL Friday openers, Philadelphia is at New York, Montreal at Chicago and St. Louis is at Pittsburgh in day action and Houston is at Atlanta and Los Angeles at San Diego in night games.

The Pittsburgh opener will be quite an emotional one since Clemente's widow, Vera, will be attending.

In the games that were played Wednesday, there was some heavy hitting. Bobby Darwin hit a three-run homer and George Mitterwald added a two-run blast in Minnesota's victory over Houston; Steve Garvey and Willie Davis hit back-to-back homers in the sixth inning as Los Angeles topped Oakland and Joe Pepitone doubled in two runs in the Cubs' victory over the Padres.

Bill Singer pitched six innings of three-hit ball and California scored two unearned runs in the eighth inning to beat Milwaukee and Leo Cardenas' two-run single in the sixth gave Cleveland the victory over Texas.

For the second time this spring, manager Ralph Houk pitched both Fritz Peterson and Mike Kekich in the same game. And the Yanks won both games. They did it Wednesday night with a 3-2 triumph over the Mets. Peterson pitched seven innings of four-hit ball and Kekich lasted 1 1-3 before Fred Beene bailed him out.

Petaluma Wins Second Track Meet In A Row

Petaluma High School swept four events in a North Bay League track and field meet with host Vallejo yesterday to get its second straight league victory, 71-65.

With the win, the Trojans evened their NBL record to 2-2. "We're coming back now," Petaluma coach Doug Johnson commented. "Everyone is starting to get healthy."

The Trojans swept the 880, yard run, the mile, two-mile and the shot put. Jon Sisler took both the mile and two-mile runs with times of 4:27.2 and 9:57.6. Dan Aldridge won the 880-yard race and Mike Johnson placed first in the shot put at 50-feet-5.

'B' Swimming In Terra Linda

By LEW CODDINGTON

In the confusing numbers game of Class B swimming, where age, height and weight digits mingle with times and distances and scores and places, the casual observer can help keep the whole thing straight in his head by remembering two figures:

Seven is the number of consecutive championships Terra Linda High School will have captured when it nails down this year's title; and Forty-six is the number of consecutive meets the Trojans currently have won against Marin County Athletic League opposition.

Coach Bob Pollitt and his man with the figures, Pat Fearn, have uncovered the fact that the Trojans have not lost a "B" meet since March 21, 1969, when Richard Nixon was in his first hundred days and the New York Mets were still loveable losers.

Pollitt casts himself in the role of a harvester, reaping the fruits in winter of seeds planted the previous summer. He credits the Marin Swim League for his "B" team's success.

"It's a low-key summer league where boys and girls, little kids,can go and have fun and have a chance to swim competitively as well," he explains. "The boys have a little success in the seventh and eighth grades and they decide to stay with swimming."

By a happy geographical coincidence, a disproportionate number of the Marin Swim League's teams flourish in the area which feeds Terra Linda High School. Swimmers from Marinwood, Lucas Valley, Terra Linda and the Ann Curtis Swim Club of San Rafael have ended up on Pollitt's roster.

Some have gone from the Marin Swim League to Terra Linda's "B" team and on to varsity stardom, like Keith Strange, Jeff Miller, Pat and John Fearn and Mike Klunk.

Many of the current "B" stars claim this background as well, such as Mitch Young, Tom Enright, Bill Power, Mark Shibata, John Tyler and Tom and Mark Bollinger.

The Trojan "B" squad has three meets left on its schedule, all against teams it has beaten before, and must lose all three to fail to win at least a piece of the title. Its record at this writing is 9-0.

SKULL SESSION — In terms of strategy, prep baseball is different from the Major League. Challenging the other team's fielders is an integral part of the high-school game.

Take Marin Catholic's game Tuesday against Novato. The Wildcats won it with three runs in the top of the eighth inning, scoring on squeeze bunts by Layne Cozza, Jeff Knotts and Tim Haley. They scored twice earlier on what coaches call "the first and third play" — a runner on first breaks for second (or attracts a pickoff throw), and while the play is made for him, the runner on third tries for the plate.

In fact, that play pops up so often it might deserve a place in the box scores. In the offensive portion, right after S, SF and SB, would be the notation, FTP — Marin Catholic 2.

St. Vincent '9' Tops Upper Lake In Opener, 14-3

St. Vincent High School of Petaluma won its North Central League II baseball opener yesterday, clouting visiting Upper Lake, 14-3.

The victory raised the Mustangs overall mark to 7-3 and put them in a first place tie in the NCL II with Tomales and Kelseyville at 1-0.

The Mustangs took the lead in the first inning, 2-1, on a two-run double by center fielder Jim Leoni, which scored Ray Serna and Pete Leoni. Jim Leoni paced the Mustangs with three runs batted in.

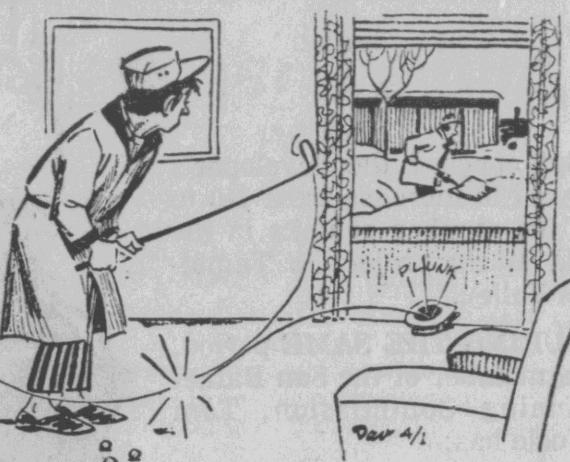
TREVINO TALKS GOLF



Some Indoor Practice

By LEE TREVINO

When you're snowbound in Keokuk, there isn't much you can do in a golfing way. Okay, you can putter around with your wife.

To retain your "feel," put your hands on a golf club a few minutes each day. I haul a roll of carpet around the country with me to practice my stroke. Or I chip from the rug into a chair. I bladed one once and almost ruined a hotel window.

Titanic Thompson, the greatest hustler who ever lived, is such a deadly chipper he can get up and down in two from St. Paul to Minneapolis. He practices chipping against a shoe leaning against the back of a chair. If it's good enough for Ti, it's good enough for Lee.

So roll out the carpet when you're snowbound or just killing time. When I'm rug-putting, I don't think about anything but the stroke. I'm watching the putter, seeing how it goes back. I try to keep the blade just a shade inside the line.

Keep your stroke short, then accelerate as the putter comes into the ball. Then chip. Then putt. Then. . .get the idea?

WITH TAMALPAIS

San Marin Ties For 1st In Track Race

San Marin High School joined Tamalpais in a tie for first place in the Marin County Athletic League Track standings yesterday by dumping host San Rafael, 90-46.

San Marin and Tam both have 3-0 records and meet in Mill Valley tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m. San Rafael drops to fifth place at 1-2.

Only Greg Campbell was able to muster any first places for San Rafael in the running events, but he was able to get two, in the hurdles. Campbell topped his own time in the highs by a tenth of a second (15.6) and cemented his position as the best hurdler in the league.

In a non-league meet yesterday, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park (6-1) whipped winless Marin Catholic, 97-33. The Marin Wildcats are 0-3 in MCAL action.

Four Marks Bettered By Preps

Two athletes from Novato High School, one from Redwood and one four-man relay team from San Marin recorded four Marin County Athletic League track and field dual-meet best performances for the year last week.

Novato's George Cagle ran 880 yards in 1:58.9, the Hornets' Tom Bridges long-jumped 21-8, and San Marin's mile relay team of Joe Guth, Ron Zechlin, Larry Butti and Gary Lathrop ran 3:36.3, all in a dual meet between the schools last Wednesday. Redwood's Pete Sweeney ran the two-mile in 9:46.7 Tuesday.

The list does not include times recorded in yesterday's meet between San Marin and San Rafael. The best times and distances:

120 HH — Campbell (SR), 15.7; 440 relay — San Marin (Goins, Butti, Roche, Kassenbrock), 45.0; 880 — Cagle (N), 1:58.9; 100 — Peterson (TL), 10.4; Mile — Overend (R), 4:33.4; 440 — Johnson (TL), 52.4; 330 LH — Campbell (SR), 40.2; 220 — Johnson (TL), 22.9; Two-Mile — Sweeney (R), 9:46.7; Mile Relay — San Marin (Guth, Zechlin, Butti, Lathrop), 3:36.3; Shot Put — Elder (R), 56-10½; Discus — Elder (R), 157-0; High Jump — Mahoney (MC), 6-0; Long Jump — Bridges (N), 21-8; Pole Vault — Patterson (SR), 11-0; Triple Jump — Grigg (SR), 40-11.

Jeanne Evert Defeated In Sarasota Net

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Ann Kiyomura defeated 15-year-old Jeanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale Wednesday in a qualifying match for the $20,000 Sarasota Women's U. S. Lawn Tennis Association Open.

Miss Kiyomura, 17-year-old high school senior and an amateur from San Mateo, Calif., qualified for the main tournament by turning back the younger sister of Chris Evert, 7-6, 6-2.

Other scheduled matches, including one between Sharon Walsh of San Rafael and Patti Hogan of LaJolla, were washed out by heavy rains.

Elizabeth Szell of Hungary also was qualified in a drawing to fill a vacancy created when Virginia Wade withdrew with a torn muscle in her forearm.

Preliminaries begin Thursday with the featured matches pitting Yvonne Goolagong of Australia against Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakie and Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale against Katja Ebbinghauf of West Germany.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Four Exhibitions Washed Out; Opener Threatened

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If it's raining, it must be time for the baseball season.

Before the fans can worry about things like the designated hitter, the Pirates without Roberto Clemente, Johnny Bench's recovery from lung surgery, Hank Aaron's pursuit of Babe Ruth, the Yankees' marital swaps and Willie Mays' knees, they have to worry about the weather.

Despite the repeated evidence that rain is normal weather in early April, baseball still persists in daring the weatherman by opening the season in early April. Usually, the weatherman wins more than his share and the start of the season is sprinkled with rainouts.

The 1973 baseball season is scheduled to open today in Cincinnati, where the Reds have been playing since 1869 when they were called the Redstockings. The Reds will host the San Francisco Giants and a former POW, Air Force Capt. Ed Mechenbier, is scheduled to throw out the first ball.

Naturally, rain is also scheduled. In fact, the weatherman says there's even a "possibility of snow flurries."

Four exhibition games—Montreal-Boston, Pittsburgh-Chicago, Kansas City-St. Louis and Baltimore-Atlanta — were washed out Wednesday and the baseball executives are keeping their fingers crossed that the weather gets better by Friday.

While the Cincinnati-San Francisco game is the only regular season game scheduled today, (the American League no longer has a traditional opener now that the Washington Senators are in Texas) a full slate of games is set for Friday.

In the exhibition games that were played Wednesday, Los Angeles beat Oakland 6-3, California edged Milwaukee 2-1, the Chicago Cubs blanked San Diego 5-0, the New York Yankees nipped the New York Mets 3-2, Minnesota topped Houston 6-4 and Cleveland beat Texas 4-3.

Of course, starting Friday in the American League, those questions won't be posed since the junior circuit will unveil the designated hitter for the pitcher. All the ramifications of the new rule are still unclear but they'll start coming more in focus Friday.

In the Friday AL openers, it's New York at Boston and Milwaukee at Boston in day games and Minnesota at Oakland, Kansas City at California and Chicago at Texas in night action. In the other NL Friday openers, Philadelphia is at New York, Montreal at Chicago and St. Louis is at Pittsburgh in day action and Houston is at Atlanta and Los Angeles at San Diego in night games.

The Pittsburgh opener will be quite an emotional one since Clemente's widow, Vera, will be attending.

In the games that were played Wednesday, there was some heavy hitting. Bobby Darwin hit a three-run homer and George Mitterwald added a two-run blast in Minnesota's victory over Houston; Steve Garvey and Willie Davis hit back-to-back homers in the sixth inning as Los Angeles topped Oakland and Joe Pepitone doubled in two runs in the Cubs' victory over the Padres.

Bill Singer pitched six innings of three-hit ball and California scored two unearned runs in the eighth inning to beat Milwaukee and Leo Cardenas' two-run single in the sixth gave Cleveland the victory over Texas.

For the second time this spring, manager Ralph Houk pitched both Fritz Peterson and Mike Kekich in the same game. And the Yanks won both games. They did it Wednesday night with a 3-2 triumph over the Mets. Peterson pitched seven innings of four-hit ball and Kekich lasted 1 1-3 before Fred Beene bailed him out.

Petaluma Wins Second Track Meet In A Row

Petaluma High School swept four events in a North Bay League track and field meet with host Vallejo yesterday to get its second straight league victory, 71-65.

With the win, the Trojans evened their NBL record to 2-2. "We're coming back now," Petaluma coach Doug Johnson commented. "Everyone is starting to get healthy."

The Trojans swept the 880, yard run, the mile, two-mile and the shot put. Jon Sisler took both the mile and two-mile runs with times of 4:27.2 and 9:57.6. Dan Aldridge won the 880-yard race and Mike Johnson placed first in the shot put at 50-feet-5.

Terra Linda's Cotton Dives Into Spotlight

Dave Cotton of Terra Linda High School recorded the finest diving score of the current Marin County Athletic League season Tuesday, chalking up 245.45 points against San Rafael.

It was the only change from last week on the list of the best MCAL varsity dual-meet performances.

200 medley relay — San Rafael (Kavrell, J. Kamler, Backhaus, M. Kamler), 1:46.6; 200 free — Eldred (R), 1:52.6; 200 IM — Backhaus (SR), 2:03.2; 50 free — Redig (R), 22.8; Diving — Cotton (TL), 245.45; 100 fly — Eldred (R), 57.9; 100 free — Redig (R), 50.6; 400 free — Eldred (R), 3:58.7; 100 back — Atwood (T), 1:00.5; 100 breast — Strange (TL), 1:03.6; 400 free relay — Redwood (Dunham, Silcox, Eldred, Redig), 3:25.6.

Horse-Opera Politics With Us Again

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
28 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

Marin, supposedly a sophisticated community, delights in horse-opera politics. It pits "conservationists" (who now like to call themselves "environmentalists") against "developers." The "conservationists" wear white hats; the "developers," black hats.

This time, the white hat has been donned by candidate Jack G. Nixon, and his supporters have assigned the black hat to candidate Thomas R. O'Toole — because they figure he's the man Nixon has to beat to get elected. (They apparently are conceding the election of incumbent Lawrence E. Mulryan, and overlooking a man who proved himself a potent vote getter in San Rafael Board of Education elections in 1963 and 1967: Carl J. Brown.)

IT HAPPENS, however, that it's rather easy to compare the credentials of "white-hat" Nixon and "black-hat" O'Toole, because both are serving on planning commissions. O'Toole has been on the San Rafael Planning Commission for 11 years and is now its chairman. Nixon has been on the Marin County Planning Commission since 1969 and is now its chairman.

So let's take a look at how they have voted on some developments of the kind the "conservationists" most loudly decry.

SINCE HE BECAME a member of the county planning commission on July 1, 1969, Jack Nixon has:

Voted for two projects totaling more than 200 units on Strawberry Cove, one of which was killed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

But opposed the developer's request to increase from 110 to 145 the number of units in the Villa Marin project in Tamalpais Valley.

DURING THE SAME period, as a member of the San Rafael Planning Commission, Tom O'Toole has:

Voted for a six-story office building on a hillside near the Civic Center — which Nixon opposed in a discussion by the county commission.

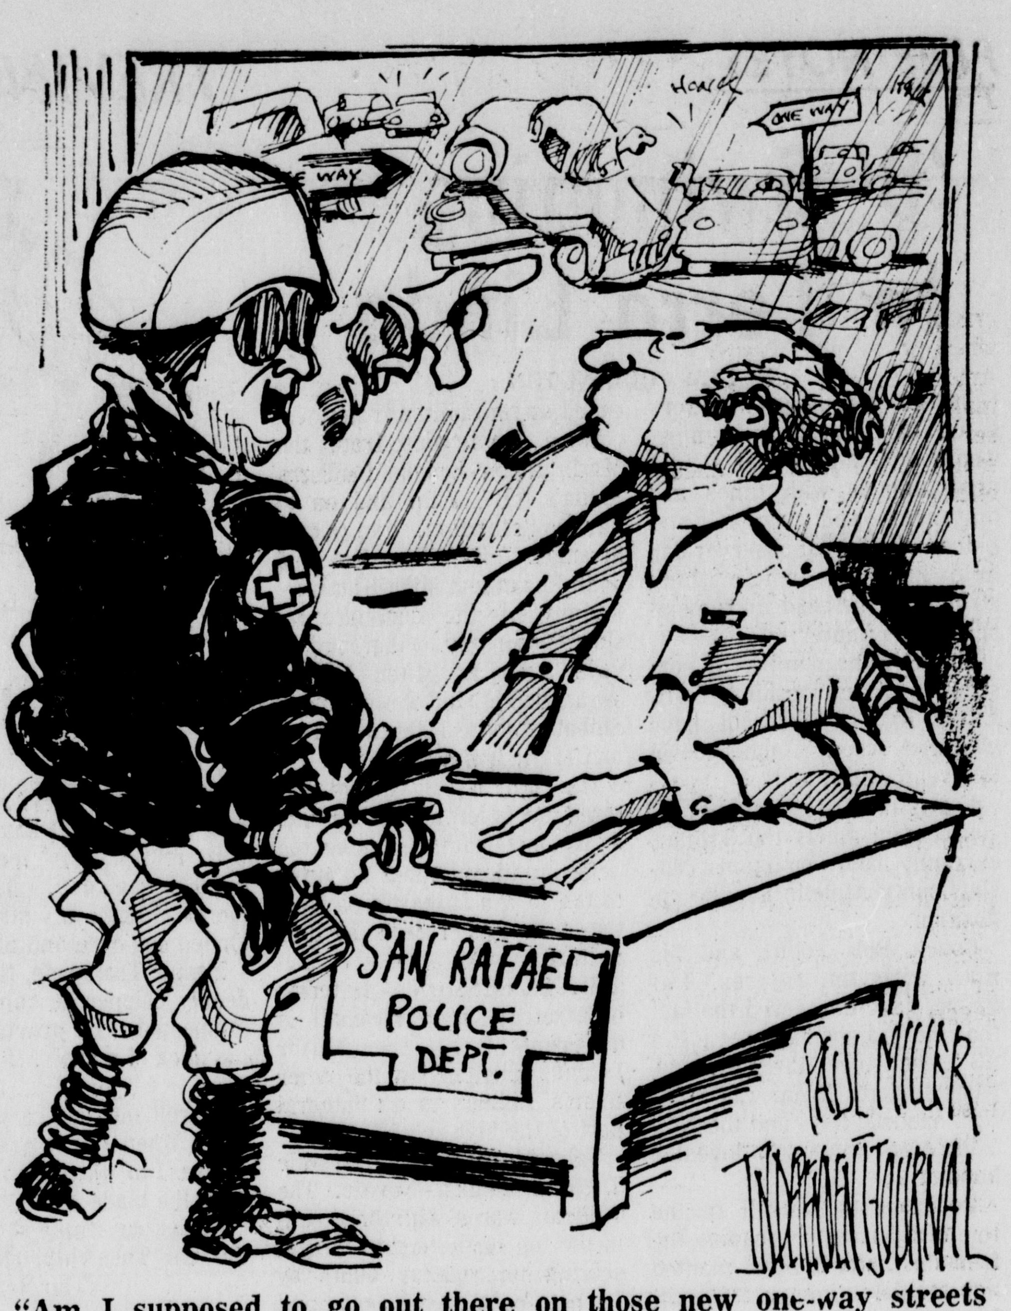
But opposed the 295-unit Pinto Ridge development (which the commission rejected).

Somehow, from here both hats look kind of gray.



"Am I supposed to go out there on those new one-way streets without extra insurance, boss?"

ERWIN D. CANHAM: Crisis Of Leadership

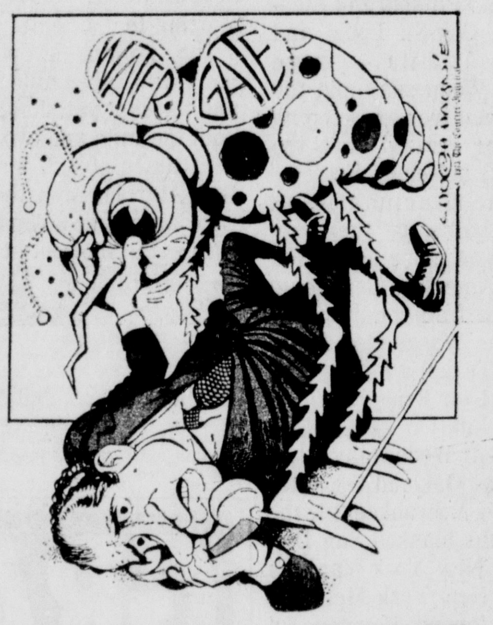
The United States is in a crisis of leadership.

President Nixon unexpectzdly went to the country last Thursday night through his favorite medium of televison to give anxious Americans the immediate relief of a lid on meat prices and the long-range plea of a defense of all his policies.

But not quite all. The President said nothing to clarify the most troubling aspect os his stewardship: the conduct of the 1972 campaign and especially the Watergate episode. It is the unexplained murkiness of that incredible affair that beclouds the sky and will not be clarified until we have a chance to evaluate all the facts. Now, as ever, relatively minor issues become decisive.

LOOK AT THE POSSIBLE alternative explanations:

The first alternative is that the bugging of the Watergate and the other dirty tricks of the 1972 campaign were all the work of over-zealous underlings, without the knowledge of the President or of the principal managers of his campaign. It seems, on the strength of undisputed evidence now on the record, that individual employes at the White House were actually involved. If the President, his immediate staff men, or campaign manager like John Mitchell did not know what was going on, they should have.



"Yes, cancel all my appointments. Tell them I'm down with a — uh — a bug."

They are guilty, at the least, of bad management. But this is a minor responsibility, and a supportable one, in the face of the other possibilities. We would all breathe a sigh of relief if that were the situation.

TAKE A SECOND alternative, the one averred apparently by James McCord's charges and flatly denied by the former attorney-general. It is that John Mitchell, while still chief law officer, knew of the illegal acts that were being planned and later executed. Mr. Mitchell is one of the President's closest political friends and advisers. His knowledge could lead to legal prosecution. It could be very damaging to the President's prestige in integrity. It could be a scandal of the first water.

Suppose, finally, that the President himself knew either generally or specifically of what was being planned. He, too, would be guilty of acts some of which could be prosecuted in court. Certainly the question of impeachment would arise.

Most of us, surely, will wish devoutly that no such tragedy will ensue. Even President Nixon's critics can scarcely see any benefits in such a disgrace, with Vice-President Agnew then succeeding to the presidency. For over three and a half years the nation would have terribly wounded leadership.

WHAT, THEN, should Americans do? The first thing, and this is not in the usual facetious sense of political discourse, is to pray. Pray that the situation, which is still blurred and confused, can be handled without destroying national leadership.

The facts, whatever they are, should have come out during the campaign and before the voting. Even if they involved a situation of bad judgment or wrongdoing, the situation could have been cleaned up. Now that task will be much harder.

We have got to know, factually and credibly, just what each of the chief actors in the melodrama was doing. Denials of involvement are not enough. They will have to be proved. The inside workings of the Committee To Re-elect the President will have to be explained. The financial dealings must be spelled out.

A tremendous demand for explanation is building up, very emphatically, on the more conservative wing of the Republican party. "The moment of truth," says Sen. James F. Buckley, is approaching.

THE FACT that President Nixon has consistently refused to tell the American people just what was going on — has steadily resorted simply to general denials — suggests a determined defense of subordinates. It suggests that events cannot be fully explained with credit, and that the storm must be ridden out.

The use of the valuable right of executive privilege to cover up evidence which could be of a criminal character is simply not defensible.

The nation needs strong and respected leadership for the next three and three-quarters years. It can only be sought by frankness.

President's Stance Lacerates Wounds Left By Division Over Vietnam War

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's aim is to get the Vietnam War back on page 40. Only if the bitter passions coming out of that long and terrible conflict can be damped down will it be possible to get congressional approval for reconstructing both South and North Vietnam.

But President Nixon is moving in the opposite direction. His tough combative speech to the nation could have only one result — to stir anew all the intense feeling that raged during the 11 years of the war. Far from healing wounds, the speech was calculated to lacerate those wounds.

FOR ALL the President's rhetoric about the small minority opposing his policy, the country was deeply divided. Now that the war is ended, the only humane and sensible goal is to try to close ranks, with the vision of a nation united. Just the opposite is achieved by a combative speech invoking patriotic pride bordering on jingoism.

The returning prisoners of war are in the middle. These are brave, steadfast men. They endured months and years of bleak imprisonment and — now it comes out, with the release of the last prisoner — in many instances torture and humiliation.

In press conferences across the country individual prisoners described the ordeal they underwent. This appears to have been an outpouring orchestrated by the Defense Department. These carefully selected prisoners vented emotions long suppressed in the discipline of prison camp.

The shocking revelations may have come under less orderly and controlled circumstances. But it would be hard to imagine anything that could so completely turn public opinion against any help not only for North Vietnam but for the south as well. When President Nguyen Van Thieu comes here next week, he will add his full measure of opposition to any assistance for the Communist North. And he is hardly a figure to command congressional and public approval for money to rebuild the shattered south.

CRIES ARE ALREADY heard for a war crimes trial that would put the prison camp torturers in the public stocks. That could be the final blow to any hope for the program that Kissinger negotiated in Hanoi. It would keep the cauldron of hatreds boiling.

Why could not an impartial international tribunal examine the whole issue of atrocities when passions have somewhat cooled? Carpet bombing of the North and the indiscriminate use of napalm with thousands of civilian victims would surely be examined by such a tribunal. Saigon's tiger cages for political prisoners and some high-ranking North Vietnamese are part of the picture. While the victims of the My Lai massacre were not combatants, they were mowed down by Americans in uniform. The mass slaughter in the Tet offensive at Huey should be examined. To believe that such a tribunal could do justice to all the horrors of the war may be naive. But the Biblical injunction, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," has a powerful bearing on the aftermath of the longest and bitterest war in America's history.

IN THE NOT-TOO-DISTANT past is an example of how to end a war with a minimum of recrimination. In Korea, while the United Nations was a useful facade, the United States was resisting aggressive communism, supplying by far the bulk of the fighting forces. One of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's great services was to close down that war with as little heritage of hatred as possible.

A patient American negotiator at Panmunjom, Arthur Dean, endured weary months of taunts and insults. What the United States would do if North Korea resumed the fighting was conveyed privately in no uncertain terms. But it was not a matter of public threat, either direct or implied.

Eisenhower was confronted with his own Thieu in stubborn old Syngman Rhee, who repeatedly threatened to go it alone in recovering North Korea. Never made a hero, he was left to the tender mercies of his own people, who finally drove him out of the country.

The prescription for unending trouble in Southeast Asia can be read between the lines of the President's pronouncements. The bombing continues in shattered Cambodia, with a deep division over the President's powers to keep it up now that the last American has left.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

It's Congress' Duty To Dig Into Scandal

Presidents come and go, but Congress is eternal. It is the duty of Congress to the American people to dig down to the dirty nitty-gritty of who gave the original order in the Watergate case. With the national honor in arrears and the business of government becoming a disgraceful pastime the United States cannot afford to laugh off political espionage in high office.

If we are to remain a first nation there can be no other way.

Lost Keys Returned, Thanks To U.S. Mail

On March 20 in the evening I lost two chains, together containing eight keys. I sure never did think I'd ever get them back.

The next morning I called the police department with no success. I called a couple other place, a couple friends whom I was talking to. Still no luck.

That evening I went downtown and a gentleman overheard me talking about them, and he suggested, "Why don't you call the post office?"...

I called the next morning, and the man I spoke to said he'd call me back in half an hour. He did and said he was pretty sure he had my keys. I went down and sure enough! they were there. I don't know who found them and dropped them in the mail box, but all I can say is, "Thanks a million to the party and also to the United States Post Office."

Marin Becoming Less 'Marvelous'

Marvelous Marin. Somehow we are hearing the adjective less frequently — that, in spite of improved highways, larger shopping centers, more industries, subdivisions and apartment complexes, so perhaps the term applies to something that is disappearing rather than to the improved facilities.

These improved facilities bring increased, not decreased, taxes. For instance: To provide for an adequate water supply — at present being overdrawn 10 to 20 per cent — it would take an expenditure of 8 to 16 million dollars to correct the overdraft that the Marin Municipal Water District Board has incurred by permitting the delivery system to be expanded without increasing the supply system...

Those residents closer to these proposed developments are generally vehemently opposed, but others farther removed are apathetic until further development reaches their vicinity. These latter residents are then in turn opposed but are faced with the same apathy of those removed, and so on and on.

The boards of supervisors eventually step in to settle the controversy and decide for or against the developer, depending on whether they are for growth or conservation. A case in point: On the end of San Francisco Boulevard in San Anselmo, a developer has requested a zone deviation from R-1 to build 44 apartment-like condominiums. The supervisors by unanimous decision on March 20 approved a lesser number of condominiums. The lesser number was due to the terrain. Ten years earlier the unanimity prevailed in zoning to R-1 to prevent a duplex development. This 1963 board included one of the present board and State Sen. Peter Behr, an ardent conservationist. Apparently the present board is dedicated to growth for growth's sake, also disregarding a deficient water supply...

"The good life" for most of the people will not be forthcoming by taxing them in order that developers may make a "quick buck" by destroying the beautiful natural environment which should be everybody's possession.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Instead of criticizing President Nixon for putting ketchup on his cottage cheese, we should be thankful he doesn't pour champagne on it.

His aversion to bubbly developed when, as vice president, Richard had to drink champagne toasts every night during a 70-day tour abroad.

On oversea trips the President takes Henry Kissinger along to do his diplomatic drinking for him.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

State Leases Apartment Building To Own Employee

By EARL G. WATERS

It didn't cause a big public furor. The reason was that not many knew about it. But in the small circle of those that did, the leasing of some state-owned apartment building to a private enterpriser brought some expressions of disapproval.

Particular criticism was made of the fact that the property was leased to a state employee. Some claimed it was "an inside deal".

After an investigation into the transaction, a conclusion has been reached that the whole thing was poorly handled. Department of General Services officials, who are responsible for the property, have conceded as much.

NORMALLY, the state is not in the business of leasing property to private enterprise. It does not acquire property for that purpose. The instant case involves apartment houses in the path of plans for building of the Capitol Complex. To minimize costs on a rising market, the Legislature funded land purchases far in advance of construction needs.

Most of the structures on the land were rundown and were razed. But some of the property, like the apartment houses, produced revenue and destruction was deferred until the time the sites will be needed.

Since the state is not in the business of managing apartment houses, two buildings, containing 50 units, were offered to lease.

Bids were solicited from a list of persons who had somehow indicated, at one time or another, they might be interested in surplus state property. The list used contained about 140 names.

A REVIEW of the list reveals few of them are in the business of property management. A subsequent survey showed that at least two of those in that business did not receive the mailing even though their names were on the list.

Questionnaires mailed to 130 on the list brought only 39 acknowledgements that the solicitation had been received. Eight said they did not receive it and 17 letters were returned by the post office as undeliverable. On that basis the list used was about 40 per cent defective.

Further, of the 12 bids received, four, including the high bid, were not on the list used.

STILL, IT WOULD NOT appear there was any "inside" dealing, but the low visibility given was bound to stir suspicion when it developed that a fulltime state employee had been the successful bidder.

The lucky bidder has agreed to pay a total of $3,515 a month which includes taxes. The property had a gross revenue of $5,517.50 before rent controls were lifted. Other than the first and last month payments, the lessor has no investment. A successful property manager has estimated the net profit to be a minimum of $1,500 a month.

The department advises that in the future it will advertise and issue press releases to insure public notice of property dealings.

Unresolved is the question of public policy involved in permitting state workers to contract with the state for services, leases and other "moonlighting" activities.

While the department had barred any of its own employees from participating, it had left the door open to otherstate workers.

Horse-Opera Politics With Us Again

Marin, supposedly a sophisticated community, delights in horse-opera politics. It pits "conservationists" (who now like to call themselves "environmentalists") against "developers." The "conservationists" wear white hats; the "developers," black hats.

This time, the white hat has been donned by candidate Jack G. Nixon, and his supporters have assigned the black hat to candidate Thomas R. O'Toole — because they figure he's the man Nixon has to beat to get elected. (They apparently are conceding the election of incumbent Lawrence E. Mulryan, and overlooking a man who proved himself a potent vote getter in San Rafael Board of Education elections in 1963 and 1967: Carl J. Brown.)

IT HAPPENS, however, that it's rather easy to compare the credentials of "white-hat" Nixon and "black-hat" O'Toole, because both are serving on planning commissions. O'Toole has been on the San Rafael Planning Commission for 11 years and is now its chairman. Nixon has been on the Marin County Planning Commission since 1969 and is now its chairman.

So let's take a look at how they have voted on some developments of the kind the "conservationists" most loudly decry.

SINCE HE BECAME a member of the county planning commission on July 1, 1969, Jack Nixon has:

Voted for two projects totaling more than 200 units on Strawberry Cove, one of which was killed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

But opposed the developer's request to increase from 110 to 145 the number of units in the Villa Marin project in Tamalpais Valley.

DURING THE SAME period, as a member of the San Rafael Planning Commission, Tom O'Toole has:

Voted for a six-story office building on a hillside near the Civic Center — which Nixon opposed in a discussion by the county commission.

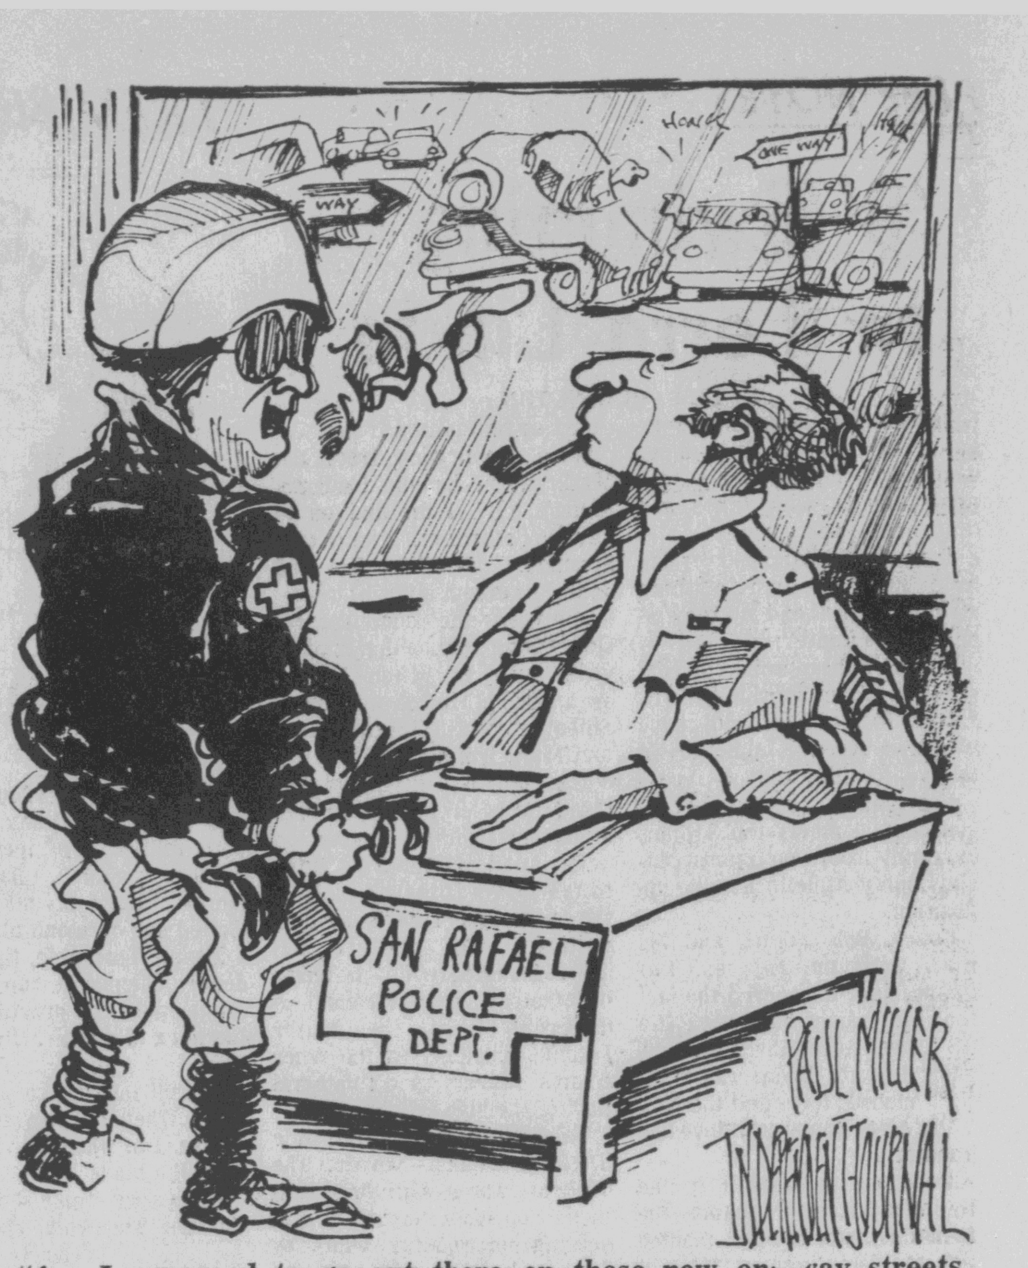
But opposed the 295-unit Pinto Ridge development (which the commission rejected).

Somehow, from here both hats look kind of gray.



"Am I supposed to go out there on those new one-way streets without extra insurance, boss?"

ERWIN D. CANHAM: Crisis Of Leadership

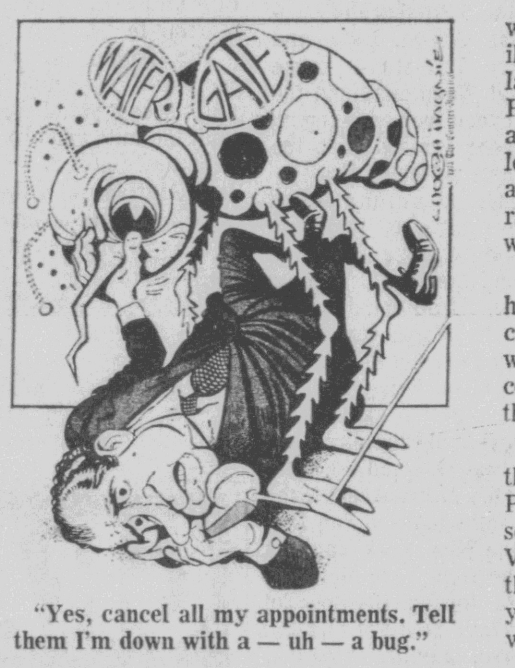
The United States is in a crisis of leadership.

President Nixon unexpectzdly went to the country last Thursday night through his favorite medium of televison to give anxious Americans the immediate relief of a lid on meat prices and the long-range plea of a defense of all his policies.

But not quite all. The President said nothing to clarify the most troubling aspect os his stewardship: the conduct of the 1972 campaign and especially the Watergate episode. It is the unexplained murkiness of that incredible affair that beclouds the sky and will not be clarified until we have a chance to evaluate all the facts. Now, as ever, relatively minor issues become decisive.

LOOK AT THE POSSIBLE alternative explanations:

The first alternative is that the bugging of the Watergate and the other dirty tricks of the 1972 campaign were all the work of over-zealous underlings, without the knowledge of the President or of the principal managers of his campaign. It seems, on the strength of undisputed evidence now on the record, that individual employes at the White House were actually involved. If the President, his immediate staff men, or campaign manager like John Mitchell did not know what was going on, they should have.



"Yes, cancel all my appointments. Tell them I'm down with a — uh — a bug."

They are guilty, at the least, of bad management. But this is a minor responsibility, and a supportable one, in the face of the other possibilities. We would all breathe a sigh of relief if that were the situation.

TAKE A SECOND alternative, the one averred apparently by James McCord's charges and flatly denied by the former attorney-general. It is that John Mitchell, while still chief law officer, knew of the illegal acts that were being planned and later executed. Mr. Mitchell is one of the President's closest political friends and advisers. His knowledge could lead to legal prosecution. It could be very damaging to the President's prestige in integrity. It could be a scandal of the first water.

Suppose, finally, that the President himself knew either generally or specifically of what was being planned. He, too, would be guilty of acts some of which could be prosecuted in court. Certainly the question of impeachment would arise.

Most of us, surely, will wish devoutly that no such tragedy will ensue. Even President Nixon's critics can scarcely see any benefits in such a disgrace, with Vice-President Agnew then succeeding to the presidency. For over three and a half years the nation would have terribly wounded leadership.

WHAT, THEN, should Americans do? The first thing, and this is not in the usual facetious sense of political discourse, is to pray. Pray that the situation, which is still blurred and confused, can be handled without destroying national leadership.

The facts, whatever they are, should have come out during the campaign and before the voting. Even if they involved a situation of bad judgment or wrongdoing, the situation could have been cleaned up. Now that task will be much harder.

We have got to know, factually and credibly, just what each of the chief actors in the melodrama was doing. Denials of involvement are not enough. They will have to be proved. The inside workings of the Committee To Re-elect the President will have to be explained. The financial dealings must be spelled out.

A tremendous demand for explanation is building up, very emphatically, on the more conservative wing of the Republican party. "The moment of truth," says Sen. James F. Buckley, is approaching.

THE FACT that President Nixon has consistently refused to tell the American people just what was going on — has steadily resorted simply to general denials — suggests a determined defense of subordinates. It suggests that events cannot be fully explained with credit, and that the storm must be ridden out.

The use of the valuable right of executive privilege to cover up evidence which could be of a criminal character is simply not defensible.

The nation needs strong and respected leadership for the next three and three-quarters years. It can only be sought by frankness.

President's Stance Lacerates Wounds Left By Division Over Vietnam War

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's aim is to get the Vietnam War back on page 40. Only if the bitter passions coming out of that long and terrible conflict can be damped down will it be possible to get congressional approval for reconstructing both South and North Vietnam.

But President Nixon is moving in the opposite direction. His tough combative speech to the nation could have only one result — to stir anew all the intense feeling that raged during the 11 years of the war. Far from healing wounds, the speech was calculated to lacerate those wounds.

FOR ALL the President's rhetoric about the small minority opposing his policy, the country was deeply divided. Now that the war is ended, the only humane and sensible goal is to try to close ranks, with the vision of a nation united. Just the opposite is achieved by a combative speech invoking patriotic pride bordering on jingoism.

The returning prisoners of war are in the middle. These are brave, steadfast men. They endured months and years of bleak imprisonment and — now it comes out, with the release of the last prisoner — in many instances torture and humiliation.

In press conferences across the country individual prisoners described the ordeal they underwent. This appears to have been an outpouring orchestrated by the Defense Department. These carefully selected prisoners vented emotions long suppressed in the discipline of prison camp.

The shocking revelations may have come under less orderly and controlled circumstances. But it would be hard to imagine anything that could so completely turn public opinion against any help not only for North Vietnam but for the south as well. When President Nguyen Van Thieu comes here next week, he will add his full measure of opposition to any assistance for the Communist North. And he is hardly a figure to command congressional and public approval for money to rebuild the shattered south.

CRIES ARE ALREADY heard for a war crimes trial that would put the prison camp torturers in the public stocks. That could be the final blow to any hope for the program that Kissinger negotiated in Hanoi. It would keep the cauldron of hatreds boiling.

Why could not an impartial international tribunal examine the whole issue of atrocities when passions have somewhat cooled? Carpet bombing of the North and the indiscriminate use of napalm with thousands of civilian victims would surely be examined by such a tribunal. Saigon's tiger cages for political prisoners and some high-ranking North Vietnamese are part of the picture. While the victims of the My Lai massacre were not combatants, they were mowed down by Americans in uniform. The mass slaughter in the Tet offensive at Huey should be examined. To believe that such a tribunal could do justice to all the horrors of the war may be naive. But the Biblical injunction, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," has a powerful bearing on the aftermath of the longest and bitterest war in America's history.

IN THE NOT-TOO-DISTANT past is an example of how to end a war with a minimum of recrimination. In Korea, while the United Nations was a useful facade, the United States was resisting aggressive communism, supplying by far the bulk of the fighting forces. One of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's great services was to close down that war with as little heritage of hatred as possible.

A patient American negotiator at Panmunjom, Arthur Dean, endured weary months of taunts and insults. What the United States would do if North Korea resumed the fighting was conveyed privately in no uncertain terms. But it was not a matter of public threat, either direct or implied.

Eisenhower was confronted with his own Thieu in stubborn old Syngman Rhee, who repeatedly threatened to go it alone in recovering North Korea. Never made a hero, he was left to the tender mercies of his own people, who finally drove him out of the country.

The prescription for unending trouble in Southeast Asia can be read between the lines of the President's pronouncements. The bombing continues in shattered Cambodia, with a deep division over the President's powers to keep it up now that the last American has left.

The Eisenhower example should be persuasive in this larger torment.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

It's Congress' Duty To Dig Into Scandal

Presidents come and go, but Congress is eternal. It is the duty of Congress to the American people to dig down to the dirty nitty-gritty of who gave the original order in the Watergate case. With the national honor in arrears and the business of government becoming a disgraceful pastime the United States cannot afford to laugh off political espionage in high office.

If we are to remain a first nation there can be no other way.

Lost Keys Returned, Thanks To U.S. Mail

On March 20 in the evening I lost two chains, together containing eight keys. I sure never did think I'd ever get them back.

The next morning I called the police department with no success. I called a couple other place, a couple friends whom I was talking to. Still no luck.

That evening I went downtown and a gentleman overheard me talking about them, and he suggested, "Why don't you call the post office?". . .

I called the next morning, and the man I spoke to said he'd call me back in half an hour. He did and said he was pretty sure he had my keys. I went down and sure enough! they were there. I don't know who found them and dropped them in the mail box, but all I can say is, "Thanks a million to the party and also to the United States Post Office."

Marin Becoming Less 'Marvelous'

Marvelous Marin. Somehow we are hearing the adjective less frequently — that, in spite of improved highways, larger shopping centers, more industries, subdivisions and apartment complexes, so perhaps the term applies to something that is disappearing rather than to the improved facilities.

These improved facilities bring increased, not decreased, taxes. For instance: To provide for an adequate water supply — at present being overdrawn 10 to 20 per cent — it would take an expenditure of 8 to 16 million dollars to correct the overdraft that the Marin Municipal Water District Board has incurred by permitting the delivery system to be expanded without increasing the supply system. . .

Those residents closer to these proposed developments are generally vehemently opposed, but others farther removed are apathetic until further development reaches their vicinity. These latter residents are then in turn opposed but are faced with the same apathy of those removed, and so on and on.

The boards of supervisors eventually step in to settle the controversy and decide for or against the developer, depending on whether they are for growth or conservation. A case in point: On the end of San Francisco Boulevard in San Anselmo, a developer has requested a zone deviation from R-1 to build 44 apartment-like condominiums. The supervisors by unanimous decision on March 20 approved a lesser number of condominiums. The lesser number was due to the terrain. Ten years earlier the unanimity prevailed in zoning to R-1 to prevent a duplex development. This 1963 board included one of the present board and State Sen. Peter Behr, an ardent conservationist. Apparently the present board is dedicated to growth for growth's sake, also disregarding a deficient water supply. . .

"The good life" for most of the people will not be forthcoming by taxing them in order that developers may make a "quick buck" by destroying the beautiful natural environment which should be everybody's possession.

Wise Men Seek Non-Essential Electric Appliance In Crisis

WASHINGTON — The energy crisis has reached the point where it is quite possible that Americans will be asked to make great sacrifices to conserve the power we need to maintain the highest standard of living in the world.

A group of wise old men met in Washington, D.C., last week to discuss what electrical appliances could be eliminated from the American home to guarantee an adequate energy supply for our future years.

"GENTLEMEN, we are here today to discuss the elimination of certain electrical appliances from the American scene. The President has asked us to present him with a list of those appliances that will have to be sacrificed to conserve our power supplies. Are there any suggestions?"

"I think the electric toothbrush should go," one of the wise men suggested.

"Are you out of your mind?" another said. "You can't expect Americans to brush their teeth by hand. It would cause tremendous hardship on the average middle-income citizen who has no one to brush his teeth for him. Gentlemen, I'm as much for power conservation as the next person, but let's not lose our heads."

"Ridiculous," a wise man rumbled. "The American women in this country would be up in arms if we took their electric curlers away from them. How can we expect them to support our energy policies if they have no easy way of setting their hair?"

"Good point," said the chairman. "We can't throw out the baby with the bath water."

"I have a suggestion as to how we could save some power," another wise man said. "Why don't we ban the electric pencil sharpener?"

THERE WAS DEAD silence. Finally a man shouted, "No way! The electric pencil sharpener is the key to the entire capitalist system. Do you know why the Russians are behind us in their schools? Because their students are still sharpening their pencils by hand. Besides, our gross national product depends on electric pencil sharpeners. It takes a Russian secretary a full minute to sharpen her pencil by the antiquated nonelectric method. Our secretaries can do it in 10 seconds. Gentlemen, once you allow the Soviets to close the pencil sharpener gap, you can kiss our economy goodby."

The chairman said, "Then we're all in agreement that the electric pencil sharpener stays."

"What about the electric can opener?"

"Absolutely essential. You can't ask an American citizen to open a can by hand. We'll have a revolution on our hands."

"I imagine that would go for electric orange juice squeezers also?"

"No President would be able to govern a people who have to squeeze oranges with their fingers. I would eliminate street lighting before I did away with electric orange juice squeezers."

"I KNOW PEOPLE can't live without electric blankets, but might we forbid the future manufacturing of electric bed vibrators — at least until the crisis is over?"

"Bite your tongue," someone shouted. "The bed vibrator is a priority item in this country, particularly for people with bad backs. I will resign from the commission if you take any action against the electric vibrator."

"Well, gentlemen, we still don't have a list for the President. Surely there is some electrical appliance that we can agree is nonessential."

"The heated swimming pool?"

"Impossible. If Benjamin Franklin ever thought that someday we'd eliminate the heated swimming pool, he never would have discovered electricity."

State Is Determined To Give Service On Freeway

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state is determined to prevent a recurrence on a newly opened desert freeway of a fiasco in the San Joaquin Valley which left motorists stranded without gasoline or emergency repair services.

California Highway Patrol cars cruising Interstate 40 in San Bernardino County are equipped to give stalled automobiles a free transfusion of gasoline to get them on their way.

Maintenance vehicles of the state Division of Highways are being fitted to provide emergency repair services for motorists whose cars suffer minor breakdowns such as flat tires.

Spokesmen for the Highway Patrol and Division of Highways said yesterday the actions were instituted to head off any recurrence of agonies experienced by motorists last year when the Westside Freeway from Tracy through Bakersfield was opened.

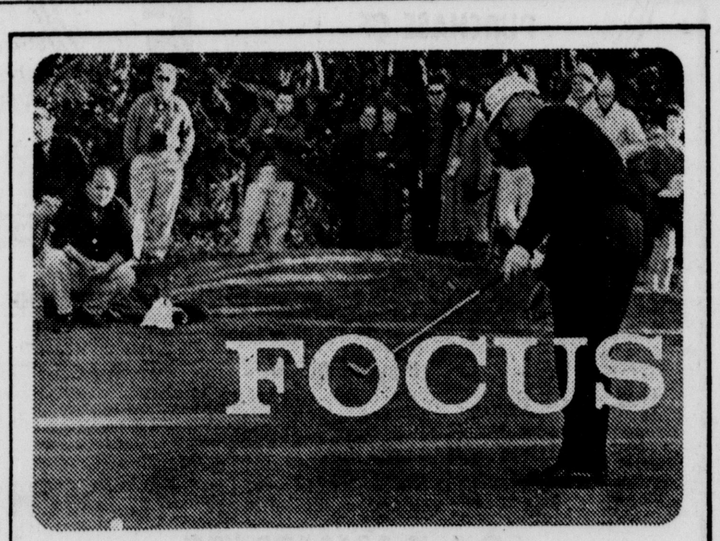
On that lonely roadway, drivers frequently ran out of gas and there were no filling stations along a 185-mile stretch between Los Banos and Wheeler Ridge. Now there are 23.

On a 100-mile segment of Interstate 40 between Ludlow and Needles there are no service stations, although the state is encouraging oil companies to "speed construction" of filling stations along the route.

In the meantime, the Division of Highways installed huge signs warning motorists to "Check Your Gas" and "100 Miles to Next Gas." In addition, drums of emergency radiator water will be placed at key locations along the way.

"We learned a lot from the Westside Freeway experience," said a division spokesman.

In addition, public service announcements are being distributed to Spanish language radio stations in Southern California cautioning Spanish-speaking drivers to check their gas gauges. Spanish language roadsigns also are proposed.



The Legalization Of Golf

In a sense it is fortunate for the sport of golf that gunpowder was invented because without it the game might never have survived. As it is known today, golf originated in Scotland. But Scottish parliaments found it necessary to outlaw the sport on three separate occasions in the last half of the 15th Century. Along with "fute-ball," "golfe" had become so popular that people ceased to take pleasure in the practice of archery. This neglect alarmed lawmakers who considered archery a military skill important to the defense of the realm. With the invention of gunpowder near the end of the 15th Century, archery became less important, and the future of golf was secured.

Candidates' Views On Teacher Tenure

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Dissatisfaction with California teacher tenure laws is much more widespread among candidates seeking reelection to Marin school boards than among those asking election for the first time.

This pattern is shown in responses by 55 candidates to an Independent-Journal question as to whether they believe the present tenure laws give too much or not enough job protection. None of the respondents said they do not give enough.

Of 13 incumbents responding (including one who is seeking election to a different board than that on which she now serves), nine were sharply critical of the present tenure laws. Three qualified their criticism. Only one expressed satisfaction with them.

Of 42 nonincumbent candidates, only 18 — fewer than half — were sharply critical. Ten were mildly critical. Seven expressed satisfaction with the laws. Seven others gave no answers or nonresponsive answers.

Candidates in the Larkspur School District, where replies were received from three incumbents and two challengers, provide an example.

Incumbent John W. Boyd replied: "I've never favored the tenure laws. Good teachers do not need it and poor teachers hide behind it."

Incumbent Leon Persson wrote: "I feel the current tenure laws are wrong... One should be able to fire a teacher for poor performance."

Incumbent Howard C. Harvey responded: "The present law provides excessive protection in those rare instances where a teacher's performance is unsatisfactory."

Challenger James Laviletta replied simply, "No comment." Challenger Don W. Pack wrote, "When the tenure laws provide sanctuary for below-par teaching they should be changed." This was counted as no answer since it did not indicate whether Pack considers the present laws provide such sanctuary.

The only incumbent candidate expressing satisfaction with the present laws was John J. Osborn in Reed district, who wrote, "I have no strong feelings about California teacher tenure laws."

Qualified opposition was expressed by incumbents Laurence G. Hermann and Jane S. Durr in Fairfax district and Jerrold M. Ladar in Tamlapais High School District.

Hermann said the laws "give the poor teacher too much protection" but are needed to protect good teachers from being fired "willy-nilly." Mrs. Durr wrote, "Teacher tenure laws cause so many problems, but no tenure laws would cause at least as many."

Ladar's response was: "I think the present tenure laws are too rigid, but I am unwilling to see teachers lose tenure entirely."

Three of the incumbent candidates — Sally Rakow in Ross district, Paul K. McMullen of the San Rafael Board of Education, and Dorothy C. Brown, a Dixie incumbent seeking election to the county board of education — advocated restoring a true three-year probationary period, which existed until the law was amended in 1961 to give "probationary" teachers protection virtually identical with that of tenured teachers.

Some of the nonincumbents showed by their answers that they believe a true probationary period still exists.

Robert K. Ockner, a Reed district candidate, wrote, "The present laws are acceptable so long as the probationary period includes a thorough assessment of the teacher's abilities." Gale B. Fisher, a San Rafael candidate, responded, "The problem has not been with the tenure laws but with the screening of teachers before they have tenure." Maurine Ballard, A Tamalpais High School District candidate, suggested that if districts have careful procedures "for observing and aiding teachers during the three-year probationary period, schools can operate satisfactorily under the present tenure laws."

Others who found little or no fault with present laws were aspirants Lance P. Moran in Dixie district, Harold A. Drob in Mill Valley district, Judith L. Vallas in San Anselmo district, and Fred C. Hannahs in Tamalpais High School District.

Two nonincumbents put forth the idea that union collective bargaining may solve tenure problems.

Wayne E. Cliff, candidate in Dixie district, suggested, "The solution to the problem, not necessarily correct, is made easier by unionization of teachers." David A. Dixon, Ross district candidate, went further, advocating collective bargaining as "excellent for the schools" and preferable to tenure protection.

One nonincumbent candidate, Oliver L. Haerle in San Anselmo district, suggested that the lock-step salary schedule, rather than tenure, is the "villain" protecting poor teachers.

But the feelings of most of the incumbents were close to those expressed by Donald K. Felt of Marin Community College District: "I firmly believe that the board should have absolute discretion not to rehire for the first three years at a minimum."

One incumbent candidate, Gloria Riccardi in Kentfield, proposed a solution: "It is the responsibility of the community with their legislators, school administrators and finally teacher organizations themselves to work to effect modification of tenure laws."

Wise Men Seek Non-Essential Electric Appliance In Crisis

WASHINGTON — The energy crisis has reached the point where it is quite possible that Americans will be asked to make great sacrifices to conserve the power we need to maintain the highest standard of living in the world.

A group of wise old men met in Washington, D.C., last week to discuss what electrical appliances could be eliminated from the American home to guarantee an adequate energy supply for our future years.

"GENTLEMEN, we are here today to discuss the elimination of certain electrical appliances from the American scene. The President has asked us to present him with a list of those appliances that will have to be sacrificed to conserve our power supplies. Are there any suggestions?"

"I think the electric toothbrush should go," one of the wise men suggested.

"Are you out of your mind?" another said. "You can't expect Americans to brush their teeth by hand. It would cause tremendous hardship on the average middle-income citizen who has no one to brush his teeth for him. Gentlemen, I'm as much for power conservation as the next person, but let's not lose our heads."

"Ridiculous," a wise man rumbled. "The American women in this country would be up in arms if we took their electric curlers away from them. How can we expect them to support our energy policies if they have no easy way of setting their hair?"

"Good point," said the chairman. "We can't throw out the baby with the bath water."

"I have a suggestion as to how we could save some power," another wise man said. "Why don't we ban the electric pencil sharpener?"

THERE WAS DEAD silence. Finally a man shouted, "No way! The electric pencil sharpener is the key to the entire capitalist system. Do you know why the Russians are behind us in their schools? Because their students are still sharpening their pencils by hand. Besides, our gross national product depends on electric pencil sharpeners. It takes a Russian secretary a full minute to sharpen her pencil by the antiquated nonelectric method. Our secretaries can do it in 10 seconds. Gentlemen, once you allow the Soviets to close the pencil sharpener gap, you can kiss our economy goodby."

The chairman said, "Then we're all in agreement that the electric pencil sharpener stays."

"What about the electric can opener?"

"Absolutely essential. You can't ask an American citizen to open a can by hand. We'll have a revolution on our hands."

"I imagine that would go for electric orange juice squeezers also?"

"No President would be able to govern a people who have to squeeze oranges with their fingers. I would eliminate street lighting before I did away with electric orange juice squeezers."

"I KNOW PEOPLE can't live without electric blankets, but might we forbid the future manufacturing of electric bed vibrators — at least until the crisis is over?"

"Bite your tongue," someone shouted. "The bed vibrator is a priority item in this country, particularly for people with bad backs. I will resign from the commission if you take any action against the electric vibrator."

"Well, gentlemen, we still don't have a list for the President. Surely there is some electrical appliance that we can agree is nonessential."

"The heated swimming pool?"

"Impossible. If Benjamin Franklin ever thought that someday we'd eliminate the heated swimming pool, he never would have discovered electricity."

Candidates' Views On Teacher Tenure

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Dissatisfaction with California teacher tenure laws is much more widespread among candidates seeking reelection to Marin school boards than among those asking election for the first time.

This pattern is shown in responses by 55 candidates to an Independent-Journal question as to whether they believe the present tenure laws give too much or not enough job protection. None of the respondents said they do not give enough.

Of 13 incumbents responding (including one who is seeking election to a different board than that on which she now serves), nine were sharply critical of the present tenure laws. Three qualified their criticism. Only one expressed satisfaction with them.

Of 42 nonincumbent candidates, only 18 — fewer than half — were sharply critical. Ten were mildly critical. Seven expressed satisfaction with the laws. Seven others gave no answers or nonresponsive answers.

Candidates in the Larkspur School District, where replies were received from three incumbents and two challengers, provide an example.

Incumbent John W. Boyd replied: "I've never favored the tenure laws. Good teachers do not need it and poor teachers hide behind it."

Incumbent Leon Persson wrote: "I feel the current tenure laws are wrong... One should be able to fire a teacher for poor performance."

Incumbent Howard C. Harvey responded: "The present law provides excessive protection in those rare instances where a teacher's performance is unsatisfactory."

Challenger James Laviletta replied simply, "No comment." Challenger Don W. Pack wrote, "When the tenure laws provide sanctuary for below-par teaching they should be changed." This was counted as no answer since it did not indicate whether Pack considers the present laws provide such sanctuary.

The only incumbent candidate expressing satisfaction with the present laws was John J. Osborn in Reed district, who wrote, "I have no strong feelings about California teacher tenure laws."

Qualified opposition was expressed by incumbents Laurence G. Hermann and Jane S. Durr in Fairfax district and Jerrold M. Ladar in Tamlapais High School District.

Hermann said the laws "give the poor teacher too much protection" but are needed to protect good teachers from being fired "willy-nilly." Mrs. Durr wrote, "Teacher tenure laws cause so many problems, but no tenure laws would cause at least as many."

Ladar's response was: "I think the present tenure laws are too rigid, but I am unwilling to see teachers lose tenure entirely."

Three of the incumbent candidates — Sally Rakow in Ross district, Paul K. McMullen of the San Rafael Board of Education, and Dorothy C. Brown, a Dixie incumbent seeking election to the county board of education — advocated restoring a true three-year probationary period, which existed until the law was amended in 1961 to give "probationary" teachers protection virtually identical with that of tenured teachers.

Some of the nonincumbents showed by their answers that they believe a true probationary period still exists.

Robert K. Ockner, a Reed district candidate, wrote, "The present laws are acceptable so long as the probationary period includes a thorough assessment of the teacher's abilities." Gale B. Fisher, a San Rafael candidate, responded, "The problem has not been with the tenure laws but with the screening of teachers before they have tenure." Maurine Ballard, A Tamalpais High School District candidate, suggested that if districts have careful procedures "for observing and aiding teachers during the three-year probationary period, schools can operate satisfactorily under the present tenure laws."

Others who found little or no fault with present laws were aspirants Lance P. Moran in Dixie district, Harold A. Drob in Mill Valley district, Judith L. Vallas in San Anselmo district, and Fred C. Hannahs in Tamalpais High School District.

Two nonincumbents put forth the idea that union collective bargaining may solve tenure problems.

Wayne E. Cliff, candidate in Dixie district, suggested, "The solution to the problem, not necessarily correct, is made easier by unionization of teachers." David A. Dixon, Ross district candidate, went further, advocating collective bargaining as "excellent for the schools" and preferable to tenure protection.

One nonincumbent candidate, Oliver L. Haerle in San Anselmo district, suggested that the lock-step salary schedule, rather than tenure, is the "villain" protecting poor teachers.

But the feelings of most of the incumbents were close to those expressed by Donald K. Felt of Marin Community College District: "I firmly believe that the board should have absolute discretion not to rehire for the first three years at a minimum."

One incumbent candidate, Gloria Riccardi in Kentfield, proposed a solution: "It is the responsibility of the community with their legislators, school administrators and finally teacher organizations themselves to work to effect modification of tenure laws."

State Is Determined To Give Service On Freeway

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state is determined to prevent a recurrence on a newly opened desert freeway of a fiasco in the San Joaquin Valley which left motorists stranded without gasoline or emergency repair services.

California Highway Patrol cars cruising Interstate 40 in San Bernardino County are equipped to give stalled automobiles a free transfusion of gasoline to get them on their way.

Maintenance vehicles of the state Division of Highways are being fitted to provide emergency repair services for motorists whose cars suffer minor breakdowns such as flat tires.

Spokesmen for the Highway Patrol and Division of Highways said yesterday the actions were instituted to head off any recurrence of agonies experienced by motorists last year when the Westside Freeway from Tracy through Bakersfield was opened.

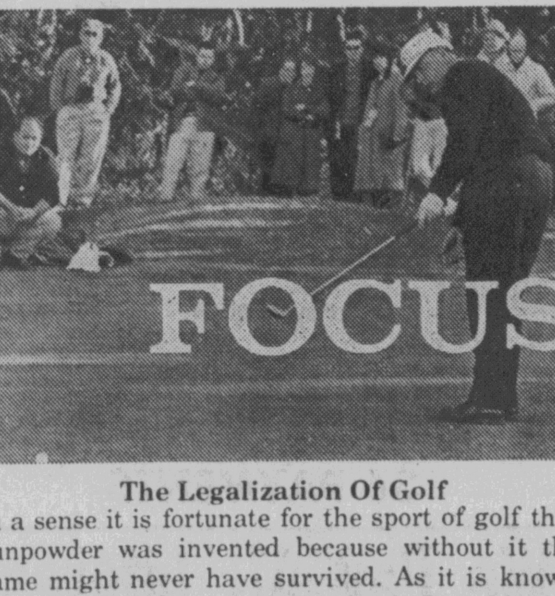
On that lonely roadway, drivers frequently ran out of gas and there were no filling stations along a 185-mile stretch between Los Banos and Wheeler Ridge. Now there are 23.

On a 100-mile segment of Interstate 40 between Ludlow and Needles there are no service stations, although the state is encouraging oil companies to "speed construction" of filling stations along the route.

In the meantime, the Division of Highways installed huge signs warning motorists to "Check Your Gas" and "100 Miles to Next Gas." In addition, drums of emergency radiator water will be placed at key locations along the way.

"We learned a lot from the Westside Freeway experience," said a division spokesman.

In addition, public service announcements are being distributed to Spanish language radio stations in Southern California cautioning Spanish-speaking drivers to check their gas gauges. Spanish language roadsigns also are proposed.



The Legalization Of Golf

In a sense it is fortunate for the sport of golf that gunpowder was invented because without it the game might never have survived. As it is known today, golf originated in Scotland. But Scottish parliaments found it necessary to outlaw the sport on three separate occasions in the last half of the 15th Century. Along with "fute-ball," "golfe" had become so popular that people ceased to take pleasure in the practice of archery. This neglect alarmed lawmakers who considered archery a military skill important to the defense of the realm. With the invention of gunpowder near the end of the 15th Century, archery became less important, and the future of golf was secured.

DO YOU KNOW — What professional golfer was the top money winner of 1972?

Gross National Product Only An Indicator Of The Economy

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'm not sure that I clearly understand what GNP (Gross National Product) means. Could you explain it? — E.H.

A. We Americans like to put complex ideas into simplified forms for easy expression and GNP illustrates this national characteristic. This figure is used to measure the country's economic growth for each quarter. GNP is simply defined as the total value in dollars of all the goods produced and services rendered in the U.S.A. during a specified period of time.

Because GNP is expressed in current dollars, it's necessary to remember that part of the annual increase has been due to inflation. The 1972 GNP of $1,152 billion was 9.6 per cent ahead of 1971. In constant dollars of 1958, GNP for 1972 was $789.5 billion, up 6.4 per cent year to year (U.S. Dept of Commerce figures). At best, GNP is a handy approximation of a nation's economic drive, permitting government officials and business leaders to get a general view of where the national economy has been and where it is headed, quarter by quarter. Experts are now forecasting a 10 per cent annual increase in GNP this year to $1,266 billion. In 1958 dollars the projected gain would be in line with the 6.4 per cent rise reported last year.

Q. I am a 73-year-old widow, retired on an income from interest pensions and dividends of $7,500 annually. My house is owned free of debt. I hold American Electric Power (NYSE), American Telephone preferred (NYSE), Columbia Gas (NYSE). Exxon (NYSE). General Motors (NYSE), and Keystone B-4 (OTC). What recommendations would you make on my stock? — R.H.

A. Your high-quality portfolio produces a 6.8 per cent yield; a generous return in view of the growth potential inherent in several of these issues. Unless you are in need of greater income I would suggest you stand pat. Your portfolio has a current market worth of $48,000. This, plus the value of your home and your savings, gives you an adequate backlog of assets in the event of some emergency.

Price Sag Continues On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices dropped in another sluggish session today on the New York Stock Exchange. A government report showed more indications of uncontrolled inflation.

The government reported wholesale prices for food, lumber and other consumer goods scored a 2.2 per cent increase in March, the biggest one-month gain in 22 years. Last month the same index gained 2.1 per cent.

Most active issue was Brown Group, unchanged at 28 on 204,500 shares.

Prices declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Teleprompter was most active and off 1 at 21 ⅞ on 54,200 shares.

Dupont and Dow each dropped 1 ¼ in the lower Big Board chemicals.

Oils also headed lower with Halliburton off 3 ¾, Superior 2 and Phillips 1 ⅛.

Steels, motors, rails, airlines and aircrafts lost fractions.

Larry Brink Motors Moving To New Showroom This Week

Larry Brink Motors Inc. is moving this week into its brand new showroom at 653 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley next to Del's Liquors.

The new building has 2,400 square feet of floor space and is built of redwood exterior. Larry Brink, starting his 18th year in business, will use the new building as his principal display area for new and used cars, plus recreational vehicles.

He will also display cars at his main office at 250 East Blithedale Avenue, but the main office will serve primarily as the auto service center.

LISA'S LEATHERS, a leather goods shop at 473 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley, was sold this week to new owners, who plan to introduce classes in leather work.

New owners are San Rafael attorney Marvin S. Cahn; his wife, Marjorie P. Cahn; and Gregory J. (Tone) McQuire of San Anselmo. McQuire, who will operate the store, formerly ran a similar shop in Los Angeles, and has conducted classes in leatherwork.

The new owners bought the shop from Lisa Gage of Mill Valley, who had it for about three years.

LISA'S LEATHERS has all kinds of hides, lacings and tools for the hobbyist plus custom leather goods and some ready-made. Mrs. Cahn said McQuire will start classes in making leather goods such as moccasins and purses.

Burns, 39, who also is controller of Kaiser Industries, joined the organization as a senior tax accountant in 1963. He became assistant controller in 1966 and controller in 1968.

Grandin

HENRY GRANDIN JR. of Ross was promoted to vice president and voting shareholder of Davis, Skaggs & Co., Inc., San Francisco stock brokerage firm. Grandin has been with the company for six years and was a registered representative before the promotion.

Grandin has lived in Marin for 17 years, the last 15 in Ross.

VILLAGE MARIN is the name of the $30 million residential and commercial development planned on the 500-acre Pacheco Ranch on the west side of Highway 101 between Marinwood and Loma Verde.

Developer is U.S. Development Corporation, which bought the picturesque property late last year from Perl-Mack Enterprises of Denver. William P. Hatch, president of the Northern California division of U.S. Development Corp., said open space will be the key to Village Marin. "At least 70 per cent of this site will become permanent open space," said Hatch. "We plan to build on no more than 150 of the 500 acres and to deed the rest over to the city."

Besides a variety of home styles including townhomes and single family detached units, a 25-acre shopping and office complex will be built. Work is expected to start this summer.

EUGENE VON WENING Jr. of Belvedere, vice president in charge of Turner Construction Company's office in San Francisco, has been appointed to the company's management committee.

Turner Construction is a nationally-operating general contracting and construction management firm with headquarters in New York. Von Wening joined the company in 1950 and became a vice president in 1967.

Waltz

R. MICHAEL WALTZ of Marinwood has been named manager of Wells Fargo Bank's New Montgomery office in San Francisco, succeeding Phillip Smith, who retired.

Waltz joined the bank in 1966 after graduation from UC Berkeley. He served with the bank's offices in Mill Valley, Sausalito, and Hollywood and was assistant vice president and assistant manager of the New Montgomery office in San Francisco before the latest promotion.

EMPORIUM at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda will be open five nights a week until 9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, beginning next Monday. In the past, the Big E has been open only three nights a week — Wednesday through Friday.

HARDING-LAWSON Associates, an engineering and geological firm with offices in San Rafael and San Francisco, announced the election of Henry T. Taylor of Larkspur as vice president and Keith H. Bergman of Terra Linda as secretary. A.L. Buchignani of Tiburon and Jerome S. Nelson of Terra Linda were named associates in the company.

Taylor is associate in charge of the San Francisco office. Bergman and Buchignani are based in the San Rafael office. Nelson was formerly supervisr of geophysical surveys in the California Department of Water Resources.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE Fund of Novato announced it bought 50 per cent interest in Woodland Town & Country Mobile Manor, a 209-unit mobile home park in Woodland. Total price was in excess of $1,089,000.

National Real Estate Fund also owns Corte Madera Center and has interests in 32 properties with a total value of more than $40 million. Managing underwriter for the Fund is Capital Planning Securities Co., a subsidiary of Capital Planning Associates, 97 San Marin Drive, Novato.

RAYBESTOS BRAKE Service clinic will be hosted by Charles E. (Bud) Everson of Eastside Auto Parts Inc. at 874 Grant Avenue in Novato next Tuesday.

HOEFER, DIETERICH & Brown Inc., San Francisco advertising and public relations firm headed by John H. Hoefer of Belvedere, captured one of the 21 top honors at the annual international Broadcasting awards held last month in Los Angeles.

The agency won a silver trophy in the humorous 60-second category for its Hibernia Bank radio commercial, "What About Ralph." More than 3,000 entries were submitted in the contest, sponsored annually by the Hollywood Radio & Television Society.

Gross National Product Only An Indicator Of The Economy

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'm not sure that I clearly understand what GNP (Gross National Product) means. Could you explain it? — E.H.

A. We Americans like to put complex ideas into simplified forms for easy expression and GNP illustrates this national characteristic. This figure is used to measure the country's economic growth for each quarter. GNP is simply defined as the total value in dollars of all the goods produced and services rendered in the U.S.A. during a specified period of time.

Because GNP is expressed in current dollars, it's necessary to remember that part of the annual increase has been due to inflation. The 1972 GNP of $1,152 billion was 9.6 per cent ahead of 1971. In constant dollars of 1958, GNP for 1972 was $789.5 billion, up 6.4 per cent year to year (U.S. Dept of Commerce figures). At best, GNP is a handy approximation of a nation's economic drive, permitting government officials and business leaders to get a general view of where the national economy has been and where it is headed, quarter by quarter. Experts are now forecasting a 10 per cent annual increase in GNP this year to $1,266 billion. In 1958 dollars the projected gain would be in line with the 6.4 per cent rise reported last year.

Q. I am a 73-year-old widow, retired on an income from interest pensions and dividends of $7,500 annually. My house is owned free of debt. I hold American Electric Power (NYSE), American Telephone preferred (NYSE), Columbia Gas (NYSE), Exxon (NYSE), General Motors (NYSE), and Keystone B-4 (OTC). What recommendations would you make on my stock? — R.H.

A. Your high-quality portfolio produces a 6.8 per cent yield; a generous return in view of the growth potential inherent in several of these issues. Unless you are in need of greater income I would suggest you stand pat. Your portfolio has a current market worth of $48,000. This, plus the value of your home and your savings, gives you an adequate backlog of assets in the event of some emergency.

Price Sag Continues On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices dropped in another sluggish session today on the New York Stock Exchange. A government report showed more indications of uncontrolled inflation.

The government reported wholesale prices for food, lumber and other consumer goods scored a 2.2 per cent increase in March, the biggest one-month gain in 22 years. Last month the same index gained 2.1 per cent.

Most active issue was Brown Group, unchanged at 28 on 204,500 shares.

Prices declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Teleprompter was most active and off 1 at 21 ⅞ on 54,200 shares.

Dupont and Dow each dropped 1 ¼ in the lower Big Board chemicals.

Oils also headed lower with Halliburton off 3 ¾, Superior 2 and Phillips 1 ⅛.

Larry Brink Motors Moving To New Showroom This Week

Larry Brink Motors Inc. is moving this week into its brand new showroom at 653 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley next to Del's Liquors.

The new building has 2,400 square feet of floor space and is built of redwood exterior. Larry Brink, starting his 18th year in business, will use the new building as his principal display area for new and used cars, plus recreational vehicles.

He will also display cars at his main office at 250 East Blithedale Avenue, but the main office will serve primarily as the auto service center.

LISA'S LEATHERS, a leather goods shop at 473 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley, was sold this week to new owners, who plan to introduce classes in leather work.

New owners are San Rafael attorney Marvin S. Cahn; his wife, Marjorie P. Cahn; and Gregory J. (Tone) McQuire of San Anselmo. McQuire, who will operate the store, formerly ran a similar shop in Los Angeles, and has conducted classes in leatherwork.

The new owners bought the shop from Lisa Gage of Mill Valley, who had it for about three years.

LISA'S LEATHERS has all kinds of hides, lacings and tools for the hobbyist plus custom leather goods and some ready-made. Mrs. Cahn said McQuire will start classes in making leather goods such as moccasins and purses.

Burns, 39, who also is controller of Kaiser Industries, joined the organization as a senior tax accountant in 1963. He became assistant controller in 1966 and controller in 1968.

Burns Grandin

HENRY GRANDIN JR. of Ross was promoted to vice president and voting shareholder of Davis, Skaggs & Co., Inc., San Francisco stock brokerage firm. Grandin has been with the company for six years and was a registered representative before the promotion.

Grandin has lived in Marin for 17 years, the last 15 in Ross.

VILLAGE MARIN is the name of the $30 million residential and commercial development planned on the 500-acre Pacheco Ranch on the west side of Highway 101 between Marinwood and Loma Verde.

Developer is U.S. Development Corporation, which bought the picturesque property late last year from Perl-Mack Enterprises of Denver. William P. Hatch, president of the Northern California division of U.S. Development Corp., said open space will be the key to Village Marin. "At least 70 per cent of this site will become permanent open space," said Hatch. "We plan to build on no more than 150 of the 500 acres and to deed the rest over to the city."

Besides a variety of home styles including townhomes and single family detached units, a 25-acre shopping and office complex will be built. Work is expected to start this summer.

EUGENE VON WENING Jr. of Belvedere, vice president in charge of Turner Construction Company's office in San Francisco, has been appointed to the company's management committee.

Turner Construction is a nationally-operating general contracting and construction management firm with headquarters in New York. Von Wening joined the company in 1950 and became a vice president in 1967.

von Wening Waltz

R. MICHAEL WALTZ of Marinwood has been named manager of Wells Fargo Bank's New Montgomery office in San Francisco, succeeding Phillip Smith, who retired.

Waltz joined the bank in 1966 after graduation from UC Berkeley. He served with the bank's offices in Mill Valley, Sausalito, and Hollywood and was assistant vice president and assistant manager of the New Montgomery office in San Francisco before the latest promotion.

EMPORIUM at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda will be open five nights a week until 9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, beginning next Monday. In the past, the Big E has been open only three nights a week — Wednesday through Friday.

HARDING-LAWSON Associates, an engineering and geological firm with offices in San Rafael and San Francisco, announced the election of Henry T. Taylor of Larkspur as vice president and Keith H. Bergman of Terra Linda as secretary. A.L. Buchignani of Tiburon and Jerome S. Nelson of Terra Linda were named associates in the company.

Taylor is associate in charge of the San Francisco office. Bergman and Buchignani are based in the San Rafael office. Nelson was formerly supervisr of geophysical surveys in the California Department of Water Resources.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE Fund of Novato announced it bought 50 per cent interest in Woodland Town & Country Mobile Manor, a 209-unit mobile home park in Woodland. Total price was in excess of $1,089,000.

National Real Estate Fund also owns Corte Madera Center and has interests in 32 properties with a total value of more than $40 million. Managing underwriter for the Fund is Capital Planning Securities Co., a subsidiary of Capital Planning Associates, 97 San Marin Drive, Novato.

RAYBESTOS BRAKE Service clinic will be hosted by Charles E. (Bud) Everson of Eastside Auto Parts Inc. at 874 Grant Avenue in Novato next Tuesday.

HOEFER, DIETERICH & Brown Inc., San Francisco advertising and public relations firm headed by John H. Hoefer of Belvedere, captured one of the 21 top honors at the annual international Broadcasting awards held last month in Los Angeles.

The agency won a silver trophy in the humorous 60-second category for its Hibernia Bank radio commercial, "What About Ralph." More than 3,000 entries were submitted in the contest, sponsored annually by the Hollywood Radio & Television Society.

Medical Firms Call Halt To Merger Try

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Hospital Corporation of America and American Medicorp, Inc., announced today that negotiations with respect to the proposed acquisition of American Medicorp by HCA, previously disclosed Feb. 26, 1973, have been terminated.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED FORMATION OF AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT WITHIN THE OCEANA MARIN AREA OF NORTH MARIN COUNTY WATER DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District will conduct a public hearing on the proposed formation of an improvement district in the Oceana Marin area of North Marin County Water District at 8 o'clock p.m. P.S.T., on Tuesday, April 17, 1973, at the office of the District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California. Said hearing will be held pursuant to and on the matters stated in Resolution No. 999 of the Board of Directors of said District adopted on March 20, 1973, which resolution reads as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 999
RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO UNDERTAKE A PROJECT IN OCEANA MARIN AREA AND TO FORM AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT THEREFOR DESIGNATED OCEANA MARIN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. OM-3

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District as follows:

1. This resolution is adopted to institute the formation of an improvement district within North Marin County Water District in the County of Marin, State of California, pursuant to Chapter 5 of Part 6 of Division 12 of the California Water Code (commencing with Section 31585).

2. A description of the boundaries of the improvement district proposed to be formed is attached hereto, incorporated herein and marked Exhibit "A".

3. A brief general description of the project to be undertaken within such improvement district is to provide for the payment of the costs of operating, maintaining and repairing the sewage collection, treatment and disposal facilities that serve the territory of the proposed improvement district.

4. This Board hereby finds that the project will be of special benefit to such improvement district.

5. This Board hereby declares its intention to undertake the aforesaid project.

6. This Board hereby estimates the cost of the project to be $4,000 to $12,000 per year depending on the degree the territory of the proposed improvement district is developed and inhabited from time to time.

7. The method by which the project is proposed to be financed is as follows: (a) a sewerage service availability or standby charge of $10 per lot per year will be levied against each lot susceptible of being served by said facilities, (b) a sewer service rate of $13 per month (which may be modified from time to time by the Board of Directors) will be charged to each dwelling or other structure connected to said facilities and (c) the balance of any money required to pay the costs of operation, maintenance and repair of said facilities will be derived by the levy of ad valorem taxes upon all the taxable property within the improvement district. The rates of such taxation shall be fixed annually by this Board of Directors in the manner provided in Sections 31702.1 to 31702.4 inclusive of the California Water Code, provided, however, that the maximum amount of such tax which may be levied in any year shall not exceed seventy-five cents (75c) per $100 of assessed value of the taxable property in said improvement district.

8. Said improvement district proposed to be formed is hereby given the designation "Oceana Marin Improvement District No. OM-3 of North Marin County Water District".

9. The Board hereby sets 8:00 o'clock P.M. on Tuesday, April 17, 1973, at the offices of this District at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California, as the time, date and place for a hearing by this Board on the formation of the proposed improvement district, on the boundaries thereof, on the project proposed to be undertaken therein and on the method by which the project is proposed to be financed.

10. The Secretary of this District is hereby directed to give notice of the time and place of the hearing in accordance with Sections 31597 and 31598 of the California Water Code.

A map showing the boundaries of the proposed improvement district is available for inspection at the office of North Marin County Water District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California.

Written protests against the formation of the proposed improvement district, signed and acknowledged or proved in the manner required to entitle deeds to be recorded may be filed at the aforesaid office of the District until 8:00 P.M. on April 17, 1973, and may be filed thereafter at the said hearing at any time prior to the conclusion thereof.

IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. OM-3 OF NORTH MARIN COUNTY WATER DISTRICT

That certain real property situate in the County of Marin, State of California, and described as follows:

PARCEL ONE - Lots 1 Through 7 and Lots 19 Through 68 of Oceana Marin Unit No. 1

COMMENCING at the most northerly corner of Lot 1 as said lot is shown on that certain map entitled, "Map of Oceana Marin in the County of Marin, California", filed for record September 7, 1965, in Volume 13 of Maps at Page 37, Marin County Records, and running thence along the exterior boundary of said Oceana Marin South 49° 58′ 15″ West 150.00 feet; thence along the easterly and northerly lines of Oceana Drive along a curve to the right having a radius of 470.00 feet and whose center bears North 49° 58′ 15″ East, through a central angle of 3° 40′ 32″ for an arc distance of 30.15 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 970.00 feet, through a central angle of 12° 54′ 20″ for an arc distance of 218.49 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 370.00 feet through a central angle of 29° 59′ 24″ for an arc distance of 193.67 feet. Thence North 83° 27′ 29″ West 60.00 feet. Thence along a curve concave to the northwest, having a radius of 20.00 feet, and whose center bears North 83° 27′ 29″ West, through a central angle of 84° 15′ 39″ for an arc distance of 29.41 feet. Thence along the northerly and northeasterly lines of Kailua Way, North 89° 11′ 50″ West 120.23 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 350.00 feet, through a central angle of 7° 12′ 10″ for an arc distance of 44.00 feet. Thence North 81° 59′ 40″ West 131.42 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 100.00 feet, through a central angle of 76° 00′ 00″ for an arc distance of 132.65 feet. Thence along a curve to the left tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 325.00 feet, through a central angle of 57° 17′ 44″ for an arc distance of 325.00 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 100.00 feet, through a central angle of 61° 52′ 45″ for an arc distance of 108.00 feet. Thence North 1° 24′ 39″ West 54.00 feet. Thence along a curve to the left tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 175.00 feet, through a central angle of 82° 07′ 25″ for an arc distance of 250.83 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 125.00 feet, through a central angle of 45° 27′ 30″ for an arc distance of 99.17 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 75.00 feet, through a central angle of 37° 14′ 32″ for an arc distance of 48.75 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 20.00 feet, through a central angle of 46° 11′ 13″ for an arc distance of 16.12 feet. Thence along a curve to the left tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 45.00 feet, through a central angle of 156° 30′ 33″ for an arc distance of 122.92 feet to the most easterly corner of Lot 68 of said Oceana Marin. Thence leaving said northeasterly line of Kailua Way and proceeding North 21° 09′ 22″ West 115.00 feet. Thence South 43° 32′ 29″ West 163.28 feet, South 14° 08′ 50″ East 194.50 feet, South 37° 46′ 41″ East 100.52 feet, South 58° 43′ 04″ East 93.49 feet, South 72° 51′ 52″ East 91.52 feet, South 6° 09′ 40″ East 169.05 feet, South 34° 38′ 32″ East 94.56 feet, South 53° 44′ 27″ East 141.01 feet, South 34° 38′ 33″ East 46.45 feet, South 14° 20′ 42″ East 151.39 feet, South 37° 53′ 42″ East 176.83 feet, North 41° 59′ 03″ East 136.00 feet and thence North 19° 03′ 57″ East 30.00 feet to the southerly line of Kailua Way and the easterly corner of Lot 52 of Oceana Marin. Thence along a curve to the left having a radius of 150.00 feet and whose center bears North 19° 03′ 57″ East, through a central angle of 11° 03′ 37″ for an arc distance of 28.96 feet to the northwest corner of Lot 51 of Oceana Marin. Thence South 8° 00′ 20″ West 87.20 feet. Thence South 06° 28′ 56″ East 160.52 feet to the northerly line of Lanai Way, thence along the northwesterly and southwesterly lines of Lanai Way along a curve concave to the east, having a radius of 45.00 feet and whose center bears South 06° 28′ 56″ East through a central angle of 180° 21′ 27″ for an arc distance of 141.65 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 20.00 feet through a central angle of 52° 01′ 15″ for an arc distance of 18.16 feet. Thence South 44° 49′ 08″ East 227.10 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 20.00 feet, through a central angle of 128° 00′ 00″ for an arc distance of 44.68 feet to the northerly line of Tahiti Way. Thence along the northerly and westerly lines of Tahiti Way South 83° 10′ 52″ West 50.66 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 380.00 feet through a central angle of 15° 49′ 28″ for an arc distance of 104.95 feet. Thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 20.00 feet, through a central angle of 52° 01′ 12″ for an arc distance of 18.16 feet. Thence along a curve concave to the east, tangent to the preceding course, and having a radius of 45.00 feet, through a central angle of 247° 23′ 36″ for an arc distance of 194.30 feet to the northwest corner of Lot 35. Thence South 14° 04′ 16″ West 125.56 feet to the southwest corner of Lot 35. Thence along the southerly and westerly boundaries of said Oceana Marin North 88° 02′ 40″ East 166.06 feet, North 84° 21′ 00″ East 198.00 feet, North 82° 30′ 27″ East 128.50 feet, North 86° 26′ 00″ East 132.00 feet and South 44° 25′ 20″ East 510.00 feet to the southerly corner of Lot 19. Thence along the southeasterly line of Lot 19 North 45° 51′ East 92.58 feet to the easterly corner of Lot 19 on the southwesterly line of Oceana Drive. Thence North 45° 51′ East 25.00 feet to the centerline of Oceana Drive. Thence southeasterly along the centerline of Oceana Drive to a point which bears South 42° 10′ 19″ West 25.00 feet from the southerly corner of Lot 7. Thence North 42° 10′ 19″ East 25.00 feet to the southerly corner of Lot 7. Thence North 42° 10′ 19″ East 129.70 feet to the easterly corner of Lot 7. Thence North 56° 44′ 42″ West 124.54 feet; thence North 50° 05′ 16″ West 51.58 feet; thence North 44° 25′ 20″ West 134.21 feet; thence North 35° 29′ 09″ West 119.83 feet; thence North 70° 30′ 25″ East 54.99 feet; thence North 29° 42′ 04″ West 154.79 feet and thence North 46° 53′ 15″ West 221.87 feet and returning to the point of commencement.

PARCEL TWO - Lots 117 Through 262 of Oceana Marin Unit No. 5

COMMENCING at a point on the southwesterly line of Kameha Way at the easterly corner of Lot 117, all as shown on that certain map entitled, "Oceana Marin - Unit 5 in the County of Marin", filed for record March 3, 1972, in Volume 15 of Maps at Page 11, Marin County Records, and running thence along the southeasterly line of said Lot 117 South 31° 28′ 04″ West 120.00 feet; thence northwesterly along the arc of a curve to the right having a radius of 395.00 feet and whose center bears North 31° 28′ 04″ East, through a central angle of 69° 35′ 16″ for a distance of 479.74 feet; thence along a curve to the left tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 105.00 feet, through a central angle of 47° 18′ 20″ for an arc distance of 86.69 feet; thence along a curve to the left having a radius of 1055.00 feet and whose center bears South 53° 45′ 00″ West, through a central angle of 3° 32′ 29″ for an arc distance of 65.21 feet; thence North 48° 56′ 50″ West 73.00 feet; thence North 36° 45′ 01″ West 110.00 feet; thence North 7° 23′ 18″ East 120.00 feet; thence North 55° 45′ 56″ East 145.00 feet; thence South 72° 07′ 49″ East 115.00 feet; thence South 40° 09′ 52″ East 92.62 feet; thence South 40° 00′ 52″ East 245.00 feet; thence South 4° 39′ 36″ East 330.00 feet; thence South 12° 04′ 43″ West 125.42 feet to the southerly corner of Lot 136 on the northeasterly line of Kameha Way. Thence along the northeasterly line of Kameha Way in a southeasterly direction along the arc of a curve concave to the southwest having a radius of 275.00 feet and whose center bears South 27° 40′ 02″ West, through a central angle of 8° 49′ 41″ for an arc distance of 42.37 feet. Thence departing the northeasterly line of Kameha Way and running North 12° 20′ 00″ East 139.99 feet; thence South 77° 40′ 00″ East 80.00 feet; thence North 12° 20′ 00″ East 246.41 feet; thence along a curve to the right tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 750.00 feet, through a central angle of 15° 15′ 00″ for an arc distance of 199.62 feet; thence along a curve to the left tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 450.00 feet, through a central angle of 5° 15′ 40″ for an arc distance of 41.32 feet; thence South 74° 08′ 18″ East 120.60 feet to a point on the northwesterly line of Oceana Drive at the northeasterly corner of Lot 146. Thence along a curve to the left concave to the northwest having a radius of 570.00 feet and whose center bears North 69° 02′ 31″ West through a central angle of 4° 06′ 25″ for an arc distance of 40.86 feet. Thence departing the northwesterly line of Oceana Drive and running North 73° 08′ 56″ West 120.00 feet; thence along a curve concave to the West having a radius of 450.00 feet and whose center bears North 73° 08′ 56″ West through a central angle of 15° 21′ 04″ for an arc distance of 120.57 feet; thence along a curve tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 1050.00 feet through a central angle of 2° 44′ 45″ for an arc distance of 50.32 feet; thence along a curve concave to the south and having a radius of 855.00 feet along the southerly lines of Lots 151 and 152 through a central angle of 9° 35′ 02″ for an arc distance of 143.02 feet; thence North 19° 39′ 50″ West 120.18 feet to a point on the southerly line of Maui Lane at the northwest corner of Lot 152. Thence along the southerly line of Maui Lane in a southwesterly direction along a curve concave to the southeast having a radius of 975.00 feet, and whose center bears South 16° 43′ 32″ East, through a central angle of 2° 56′ 18″ for an arc distance of 50.00 feet; thence South 19° 39′ 50″ East 120.00 feet; thence southwesterly along the southerly line of Lot 153 along a curve concave to the southeast having a radius of 855.00 feet through a central angle of 5° 21′ 46″ for an arc distance of 80.03 feet; thence South 60° 37′ 06″ West 107.17 feet; thence North 66° 34′ 05″ West 115.00 feet; thence North 32° 37′ 36″ West 120.00 feet; thence North 21° 20′ 19″ East 125.00 feet; thence North 61° 33′ 42″ East 115.00 feet; thence along a curve to the right concave to the south, tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 1145 feet, through a central angle of 18° 12′ 46″ for an arc distance of 363.96 feet; thence North 83° 30′ 00″ East 104.82 feet to a point on the westerly line of Oceana Drive at the northeast corner of Lot 164. Thence along the westerly line of Oceana Drive in a northwesterly direction along a curve to the left having a radius of 1170.00 feet, through a central angle of 2° 12′ 46″ for an arc distance of 45.18 feet; continuing thence along said westerly line along a curve to the left concave to the Southwest, having a radius of 720.00 feet and whose center bears South 71° 45′ 00″ West, through a central angle of 15° 06′ 10″ for an arc distance of 189.79 feet to the easterly corner of Lot 165. Thence departing the westerly line of Oceana Drive and running along the southerly lines of Lots 165 through 172 along a curve concave to the northwest having a radius of 2145.00 feet and whose center bears North 40° 18′ 13″ West, through a central angle of 16° 38′ 13″ for an arc distance of 622.84 feet; thence along a curve to the left tangent to the preceding curve and having a radius of 1855 feet, through a central angle of 9° 38′ 27″ for an arc distance of 312.13 feet to the southerly corner of Lot 176. Thence South 50° 55′ 37″ West 100.00 feet; thence North 83° 06′ 24″ West 125.00 feet; thence North 30° 53′ 33″ East 120.00 feet to the westerly line of Kona Lane. Thence along the westerly line of Kona Lane along a curve concave to the northeast and having a radius of 45.00 feet, through a central angle of 43° 10′ 59″ for an arc distance of 33.92 feet; thence South 79° 36′ 22″ West 120.00 feet; thence North 10° 30′ 38″ East 130.00 feet; thence North 60° 17′ 53″ East 100.00 feet; thence northeasterly along a curve concave to the southeast having a radius of 2145.00 feet and whose center bears South 33° 37′ 14″ East, through a central angle of 9° 57′ 14″ for an arc distance of 372.65 feet; thence northeasterly along a curve to the left having a radius of 1855.00 feet and whose center bears North 23° 40′ 00″ West, through a central angle of 15° 53′ 52″ for an arc distance of 514.70 feet to the southwesterly line of Oceana Drive at the northerly corner of Lot 191. Thence along the southwesterly line of Oceana Drive in a northwesterly direction along a curve concave to the southwest and having a radius of 720.00 feet, through a central angle of 17° 11′ 29″ for an arc distance of 216.03 feet to the northeasterly corner of Lot 192. Thence South 8° 01′ 00″ West 121.46 feet; thence along the southerly lines of Lots 192 and 193 in a northwesterly direction along a curve having a radius of 600.00 feet and whose center bears South 17° 45′ 47″ West, through a central angle of 14° 19′ 26″ for an arc distance of 150.00 feet; thence South 76° 59′ 30″ West 435.66 feet; thence North 78° 41′ 05″ West 92.17 feet; thence South 42° 51′ 31″ West 118.93 feet; thence along a curve to the right concave to the northwest having a radius of 1565.00 feet and whose center bears North 48° 30′ 20″ West, through a central angle of 13° 25′ 56″ for an arc distance of 366.89 feet; thence South 57° 08′ 46″ West 102.03 feet; thence South 84° 40′ 14″ West 213.07 feet; thence North 36° 48′ 50″ West 221.36 feet; thence North 21° 42′ 06″ East 213.07 feet; thence North 53° 40′ 18″ East 107.88 feet; thence along a curve to the left concave to the northwest having a radius of 1115.00 feet and whose center bears North 34° 41′ 00″ West, through a central angle of 15° 59′ 05″ for an arc distance of 311.06 feet; thence North 24° 42′ 20″ West 231.11 feet; thence North 63° 13′ 57″ East 148.49 feet to a point on the Westerly line of Oceana Drive at the northeast corner of Lot 220. Thence along said westerly line in a northwesterly direction along a curve to the right concave to the northeast having a radius of 630.00 feet whose center bears North 63° 13′ 57″ East, through a central angle of 6° 11′ 03″ for an arc distance of 68.00 feet; thence departing said westerly line and running South 69° 25′ 00″ West 150.00 feet; thence North 24° 42′ 20″ West 79.67 feet; thence North 65° 29′ 43″ East 153.01 feet to a point on the westerly line of Oceana Drive at the northerly corner of Lot 221. Thence along said westerly line along a curve to the left having a radius of 1315.00 feet and whose center bears South 65° 29′ 43″ West, through a central angle of 5° 41′ 01″ for an arc distance of 130.45 feet; thence North 59° 48′ 42″ East 60.00 feet; thence southeasterly along a curve concave to the North having a radius of 20.00 feet and whose center bears North 59° 48′ 42″ East, through a central angle of 93° 08′ 52″ for an arc distance of 32.51 feet to a point on the northwesterly line of Lelani Lane; thence along a curve to the left tangent to the preceding course and having a radius of 575 feet, through a central angle of 9° 25′ 47″ for an arc distance of 94.63 feet; thence South 42° 45′ 57″ East 50.00 feet to the most northerly corner of Lot 222. Thence along the northeasterly line of Lots 222 and 223 South 42° 45′ 57″ East 229.04 feet; thence southeasterly along a curve concave to the northeast having a radius of 370.00 feet and whose center bears North 66° 49′ 18″ East, through a central angle of 35° 38′ 36″ for an arc distance of 230.17 feet; thence South 29° 37′ 47″ West 200.05 feet to a point on the northeasterly line of Oceana Drive. Thence along said northeasterly line in a southeasterly direction along a curve to the left having a radius of 570.00 feet, through a central angle of 2° 00′ 38″ for an arc distance of 20.00 feet to the westerly corner of Lot 228. Thence North 29° 37′ 47″ East 200.05 feet. Continuing thence southeasterly along a continuation of aforementioned curve concave to the northeast having a radius of 370.00 feet whose center bears North 28° 04′ 52″ East from the terminus of the last mentioned course, through a central angle of 39° 39′ 52″ for an arc distance of 256.15 feet to the northeast corner of Lot 231; thence South 89° 55′ 53″ East 163.14 feet; thence North 87° 21′ 27″ East 162.44 feet; thence South 77° 32′ 24″ East 337.38 feet, thence South 41° 21′ 39″ East 288.32 feet to the easterly corner of Lot 241; thence South 45° 15′ 00″ West 158.43 feet to a point on the northeasterly line of Oceana Drive; thence along said northeasterly line in a southeasterly direction along a curve concave to the southwest having a radius of 780.00 feet and whose center bears South 43° 24′ 48″ West, through a central angle of 3° 40′ 24″ for an arc distance of 50.01 feet to the westerly corner of Lot 242. Thence departing said northeasterly line of Oceana Drive and running North 45° 15′ 00″ East 155.47 feet; thence South 41° 21′ 39″ East 403.98 feet; thence South 6° 57′ 43″ East 600.49 feet; thence South 71° 20′ 00″ East 47.00 feet; thence South 18° 40′ 00″ West 145.00 feet to a point on the northeasterly line of Ocean View Boulevard at the southeast corner of Lot 251. Thence South 18° 40′ 00″ West 60.00 feet to the southwesterly line of Ocean View Boulevard; thence along said southwesterly line North 71° 20′ 00″ West 90.00 feet to the northeast corner of Lot 252. Thence departing said southwesterly line and running South 18° 40′ 00″ West 155.02 feet; thence South 71° 11′ 28″ East 29.19 feet; thence South 25° 55′ 48″ West 42.54 feet; thence South 11° 45′ 17″ West 726.86 feet; thence North 51° 25′ 55″ West 240.34 feet to a point on the easterly line of Oceana Drive at the westerly corner of Lot 262. NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED FORMATION OF AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT WITHIN THE OCEANA MARIN AREA OF NORTH MARIN COUNTY WATER DISTRICT

RESOLUTION NO. 999

RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO UNDERTAKE A PROJECT IN OCEANA MARIN AREA AND TO FORM AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT THEREFOR DESIGNATED OCEANA MARIN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. OM-3

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District as follows:

1. This resolution is adopted to institute the formation of an improvement district within North Marin County Water District in the County of Marin, State of California, pursuant to Chapter 5 of Part 6 of Division 12 of the California Water Code (commencing with Section 31585).

2. A description of the boundaries of the improvement district proposed to be formed is attached hereto, incorporated herein and marked Exhibit "A".

3. A brief general description of the project to be undertaken within such improvement district is to provide for the payment of the costs of operating, maintaining and repairing the sewage collection, treatment and disposal facilities that serve the territory of the proposed improvement district.

4. This Board hereby finds that the project will be of special benefit to such improvement district.

5. This Board hereby declares its intention to undertake the aforesaid project.

6. This Board hereby estimates the cost of the project to be $4,000 to $12,000 per year depending on the degree the territory of the proposed improvement district is developed and inhabited from time to time.

7. The method by which the project is proposed to be financed is as follows: (a) a sewerage service availability or standby charge of $10 per lot per year will be levied against each lot susceptible of being served by said facilities, (b) a sewer service rate of $13 per month (which may be modified from time to time by the Board of Directors) will be charged to each dwelling or other structure connected to said facilities and (c) the balance of any money required to pay the costs of operation, maintenance and repair of said facilities will be derived by the levy of ad valorem taxes upon all the taxable property within the improvement district. The rates of such taxation shall be fixed annually by this Board of Directors in the manner provided in Sections 31702.1 to 31702.4 inclusive of the California Water Code, provided, however, that the maximum amount of such tax which may be levied in any year shall not exceed seventy-five cents (75c) per $100 of assessed value of the taxable property in said improvement district.

8. Said improvement district proposed to be formed is hereby given the designation "Oceana Marin Improvement District No. OM-3 of North Marin County Water District".

9. The Board hereby sets 8:00 o'clock P.M. on Tuesday, April 17, 1973, at the offices of this District at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California, as the time, date and place for a hearing by this Board on the formation of the proposed improvement district, on the boundaries thereof, on the project proposed to be undertaken therein and on the method by which the project is proposed to be financed.

10. The Secretary of this District is hereby directed to give notice of the time and place of the hearing in accordance with Sections 31597 and 31598 of the California Water Code.

A map showing the boundaries of the proposed improvement district is available for inspection at the office of North Marin County Water District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California.

Written protests against the formation of the proposed improvement district, signed and acknowledged or proved in the manner required to entitle deeds to be recorded may be filed at the aforesaid office of the District until 8:00 P.M. on April 17, 1973, and may be filed thereafter at the said hearing at any time prior to the conclusion thereof.

AN easement as an appurtenance to Parcel One above, for water and underground utilities, 3 feet in width lying Northerly of, adjacent to and parallel with the following described line:

BEGINNING at a point distant thereon North 63° 10' East 26.16 feet from the Northerly terminus of the underground utility easement, above described and thence from said point of beginning South 63° 10' West 190.80 feet.

PARCEL FIVE:

AN easement as an appurtenance to Parcel One above for sewer purposes four feet in width, the center line of which is described as follows:

COMMENCING at a point in the Northerly line of Spencer Avenue, which point is the Southwest corner of the lands conveyed to Edna Mary Champie, by Deed recorded August 14, 1927 in Volume 179 of Official Records, at page 267, Marin County Records; running thence from said point of beginning, thence North 17° 27' West 102.11 feet; thence South 63° 10' West 29.38 feet to the true point of beginning of said center line; thence North 21° 50' West 119.38 feet to a point in the Southeasterly line of Santa Rosa Avenue."

The sale is subject to current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way, and easements of record, any encumbrances of record to be satisfied out of the purchase price.

The property is to be sold on an "as is" basis.

Bids or offers are invited for this property and must be in writing and will be received at the office of DONOVAN O. COOKE, M.D., Public Administrator of the County of Marin, SPECIAL ADMINISTRATOR of the Estate of the above-named decedent; the office of BURESH, VALLARINO, COSTAMAGNA, CLAXON & DUFFICY, attorneys for the SPECIAL ADMINISTRATOR; or may be filed with the clerk of said Superior Court, at any time after first publication of this notice and before making said sale.

Bids must be sealed and will be opened at the office of DONOVAN O. COOKE, M.D., SPECIAL ADMINISTRATOR, at the hour of 12:00 Noon on the above date.

The property will be sold on the following terms: cash or part cash and part credit, the terms of such credit to be acceptable to the undersigned and to the Superior Court, ten per cent (10%) of the amount bid to accompany the offer by certified check, and the balance to be paid on confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes, rents, operating and maintenance expenses, and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be prorated as of the date of confirmation of sale. Examination of title, recording of conveyance, transfer taxes, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers.

The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids prior to entry of an order confirming the sale.

Strawberry Council Hears Hard Facts

Strawberry citizens must "put aside their petty differences" and work together if they want to develop a master plan for their community, a Marin Planner has told the Strawberry area Community Council.

Secretary Sandra A. Dorsano said Steven Chaum of the Marin County Planning Department promised to work with citizens on the plan "as long as we're interested."

Mrs. Dorsano said Chaum told the council Tuesday he wants to see committees formed to work on specific details of the proposed plan and that he'll help in any way he can.

She said he warned that his position and three other half-time jobs at the planning department will expire June 30 and that the plan had better be finished by then or it may never be.

"We want Strawberry people to come by and contribute a few minutes of their time to work on the plan," said Mrs. Dorsano. "We're not asking them to attend a long, drawn-out meeting though."

The community council is meeting weekly to work with Chaum on the plan, she said. The next meeting is at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Strawberry Recreation Center.

'Fiddler' Tickets Still Available

The departments of music and drama at College of Marin announced yesterday that contrary to their previous report, tickets are still available for performances of "Fiddler on the Roof."

The musical may be seen at the college's fine arts therater on the Kentfield campus every evening this week and April 12-15 at 8 p.m.

Council Passes Ban On Smoking

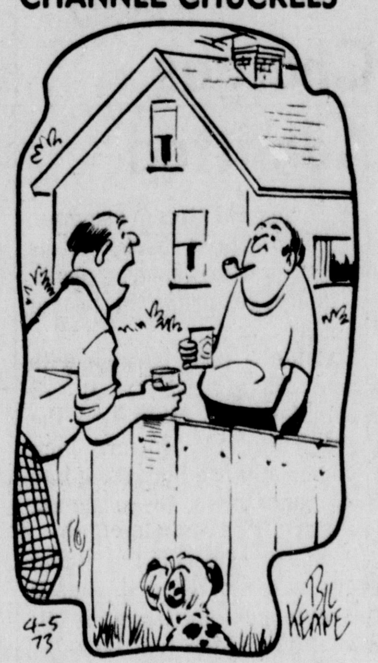
Anyone convicted of the misdemeanor of lighting up can be fined a maximum of $500 and spend up to six months in jail, under an ordinance passed 4-1 Tuesday night by the city council.

The no-smoking ban must be upheld if 10 or more persons are present, or if anyone complains.

Major Bernard Esser, a chain smoker, cast the dissenting vote. The other four councilmen are non-smokers.

CHANNEL CHUCKLES



"Then, when her mother and sister FINALLY left it was 8 o'clock Tuesday night and she invites MAUDE into our living room!"

Use Salt To Remove Tattoos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A San Diego physician says tattoos may be removed simply by rubbing them with salt.

Dr. Gary H. Manchester wrote in California Medicine that salt had been used as long ago as in 1935 for the removal of tattoos.

Manchester said he decided to research and improve the method because "recently requests for tattoo removal have increased greatly in the United States due to the use of these markings in the initiation rites of the various Hippie-Yippie cults."

The plastic surgeon said he began experimenting about two years ago and has achieved good results—and without causing pain to his patients.

Manchester said his process was called "salabrasion" and consisted simply of rubbing the skin containing the tattoo ink with ordinary table salt.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Strawberry Council Hears Hard Facts

Strawberry citizens must "put aside their petty differences" and work together if they want to develop a master plan for their community, a Marin Planner has told the Strawberry area Community Council.

Secretary Sandra A. Dorsano said Steven Chaum of the Marin County Planning Department promised to work with citizens on the plan "as long as we're interested."

Mrs. Dorsano said Chaum told the council Tuesday he wants to see committees formed to work on specific details of the proposed plan and that he'll help in any way he can.

She said he warned that his position and three other half-time jobs at the planning department will expire June 30 and that the plan had better be finished by then or it may never be.

"We want Strawberry people to come by and contribute a few minutes of their time to work on the plan," said Mrs. Dorsano. "We're not asking them to attend a long, drawn-out meeting though."

The community council is meeting weekly to work with Chaum on the plan, she said. The next meeting is at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Strawberry Recreation Center.

'Fiddler' Tickets Still Available

The departments of music and drama at College of Marin announced yesterday that contrary to their previous report, tickets are still available for performances of "Fiddler on the Roof."

The musical may be seen at the college's fine arts therater on the Kentfield campus every evening this week and April 12-15 at 8 p.m.

Council Passes Ban On Smoking

Anyone convicted of the misdemeanor of lighting up can be fined a maximum of $500 and spend up to six months in jail, under an ordinance passed 4-1 Tuesday night by the city council.

The no-smoking ban must be upheld if 10 or more persons are present, or if anyone complains.

Major Bernard Esser, a chain smoker, cast the dissenting vote. The other four councilmen are non-smokers.

CHANNEL CHUCKLES

Use Salt To Remove Tattoos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A San Diego physician says tattoos may be removed simply by rubbing them with salt.

Dr. Gary H. Manchester wrote in California Medicine that salt had been used as long ago as in 1935 for the removal of tattoos.

Manchester said he decided to research and improve the method because "recently requests for tattoo removal have increased greatly in the United States due to the use of these markings in the initiation rites of the various Hippie-Yippie cults."

The plastic surgeon said he began experimenting about two years ago and has achieved good results—and without causing pain to his patients.

Manchester said his process was called "salabrasion" and consisted simply of rubbing the skin containing the tattoo ink with ordinary table salt.

Judge Orders Knifing Case To High Court

A 27-year-old San Rafael man, charged with knifing an off-duty San Quentin guard during a brawl outside a San Rafael bar, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court.

Ordered by Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman to appear on April 18 was Lonnie Lawder Rivas, already serving a jail term for grand theft.

Rivas is said to have stabbed James Ellis Butler, 31, with a pocket knife near George's San Rafael Recreation Parlor at 842 Fourth Street on Feb. 19.

The stabbing was just one incident in a melee that took a dozen officers to break up. A second guard, Gary Lee Jackson, 29, of San Rafael, and Dennis Hugh Jensen, 20, also of San Rafael, were arrested and face misdemeanor charges of disturbing the peace.

Police said a verbal exchange between a group of seven guards and other patrons of the bar touched off the violence.

$300,000 In Airport Improvements Are Eyed

The Marin County Aviation Commission has reviewed for possible inclusion in the 1973-74 county budget about $300,000 worth of capital improvement projects at Gnoss Field, north of Novato.

Francis E. Torr, airport manager at Gnoss Field, said the projects will be proposed in next fiscal year's county budget to be considered by supervisors during June budget hearings.

The bulk of the funds, some $200,000, is slated for development of a southern extension of the airport to include hangers, auto parking, and airplane wash and maintenance areas.

The first phase of the project was approved this year by county supervisors but was delayed due to the need for an environmental impact report.

Some $99,000 in the budget for the project is expected to be carried over to next fiscal year when the entire project will be undertaken, Torr said.

Other capital projects reviewed by the commission include aircraft turnaround pads at each end of the runway and safety lights to help pilots during landings.

Torr said the commission also spent time reviewing for three new commissioners the history of Gnoss Field and the aviation commission.

Open House Events Set At Hamilton

The Thunderbirds, the Air Force's precision flying team, will give an aerial demonstration at the annual open house at Hamilton Air Force Base, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 21.

The Thunderbirds, flying red, white and blue, 4 Phantom II tactical fighter aircraft, are scheduled to take off at 3 p.m.

During open house there will be displays of current and vintage aircraft, fashion show, rifle drills, band music and demonstrations of radio-controlled flying.

Activities will be at the Air Force Reserve area at the south end of the base, a change from the former location near the base operations center.

The new location will provide more parking and display space and better viewing for the air demonstrations, the Air Force said.

Typewriter Stolen From Nurses' Office

A typewriter valued at between $400 and $600 was stolen from a nurses' office on the first floor of Marin General Hospital between 6 and 6:30 p.m. Friday, the Marin County Sheriff's Department reported yesterday.

The thief opened a sliding door, deputies said.

Two Felony Charges Admitted

A 25-year-old Greenbrae man, named in three felony cases pending in Marin courts, pleaded guilty yesterday in two of the cases.

Striking a plea bargain with Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court and the district attorney, Edward John Bonadeo admitted breaking into a car and trying to burglarize the Marin Rod and Gun Club.

A charge of concealing stolen property is to be dismissed if the sentencing settlement is followed. The judge told Bonadeo he will receive a suspended prison sentence and up to a year in jail when he is sentenced May 7.

The burglary charge arose from the theft of $201 from a parked car in San Rafael March 15. The attempt to break into the gun club occurred Dec. 23.

Students To Be Meet Panelists

Students from Clear Lake High School will discuss "Accent on Youth — the Two-Way Street" during the annual membership dinner meeting of the Respiratory Disease Association of the Redwood Empire April 13 at the Rainbow Lodge in Lakeport.

Members also are scheduled to vote on a name change for the organization to Lung Association of the Redwood Empire, and to elect officers and board members for 1973-74.

The meeting is open to the public. Social hour will be at 6:30 p.m. and dinner will be at 7:30 p.m., according to the association.

Musician Recalls His TV Entry

TORONTO (AP) — Gordon Robinson found his "niche in the world of music" 20 years ago.

It came about while the Toronto-born musician was watching the 1952 New Year's Day Rose Bowl game on television at his Los Angeles home.

"I'll never forget it," Robinson said.

"The phone rings and it's a friend of mine calling to say he had played a dance the previous night and met a man who was looking for an arranger for a piano player who was going to start a television show.

"He told me the piano player's name and I didn't even know him."

The piano player was Liberace.

"A couple days later we met and framed and built that first television show.

"He was given four shows to make it in Los Angeles without a sponsor. After the second show, the biggest bank chain in Los Angeles bought it and I sat on the sidelines and watched this thing develop over the years from absolutey nothing to a storybook showbiz story and I've been part of it ever since and it's been marvelous."

As well as arranging music for the orchestra that plays behind Liberace, Robinson has conducted the orchestration for all of the pianist's television and personal appearance shows for the last two decades.

"I know I could have never found a more favorable niche in the world of music than the one I have for many, many reasons. My style of thinking in music just fits exactly and Liberace himself trusts me thoroughly. He never questions anything I do."

Ex-Veterinarian Finds Paradise

Hayes has found the tropical island paradise many people dream about but most never even see. And he has found a way to make a modest living on lush Jesusita — little Jesus — Island in the Bay of Nicoya on Costa Rica's west coast.

The doctor of veterinary medicine, who closed up a pet hospital in Hollywood, Calif., 12 years ago to seek relief from chronic asthma, operates a tiny 10-room resort on 50 acres of the heavily wooded, 80-acre island. He is one of a growing number of Americans who feel they have found the rainbow's end in Costa Rica. He hunts, fishes, attends his guests, grows fruit trees, cooks gourmet meals and reads good books. But a lot of the time he just sits in a wood and leather rocker, pulling at a beer bottle with a sly grin on his face.

The doctor, who says he is 50 but may be older, has been on Jesusita for six years. He goes back to California occasionally to visit his children and grandchildren. But most of the time he is on the island, in his standard dress of bathing trunks and beer bottle.

"I had the Hollywood Dog and Cat Hospital but I was bothered by chronic asthma and couldn't find relief," Hayes said. "So I decided on a change in climate. Two other couples and I got on a boat and started going south. After we got to Costa Rica one woman was pregnant and wanted to have her baby in the United States so they left. Then the other couple decided they didn't like life on the boat so they left and I was stuck with the boat."

Hayes put the boat up for charter, mainly for fishermen and treasure hunters who were looking for the legendary pirate booty on Costa Rica's Coco Island in the Pacific Ocean.

"I lost money on that so I started fishing for lobster. I lost a lot of money on that. So I started fishing for tiger shark, selling the hide and meat. That was hard work but I made some money on that. Then I finally went broke and sold the boat. With the proceeds I bought the rights to the island."

Ex-Veterinarian Finds Paradise

Hayes has found the tropical island paradise many people dream about but most never even see. And he has found a way to make a modest living on lush Jesusita — little Jesus — Island in the Bay of Nicoya on Costa Rica's west coast.

The doctor of veterinary medicine, who closed up a pet hospital in Hollywood, Calif., 12 years ago to seek relief from chronic asthma, operates a tiny 10-room resort on 50 acres of the heavily wooded, 80-acre island. He is one of a growing number of Americans who feel they have found the rainbow's end in Costa Rica. He hunts, fishes, attends his guests, grows fruit trees, cooks gourmet meals and reads good books. But a lot of the time he just sits in a wood and leather rocker, pulling at a beer bottle with a sly grin on his face.

The doctor, who says he is 50 but may be older, has been on Jesusita for six years. He goes back to California occasionally to visit his children and grandchildren. But most of the time he is on the island, in his standard dress of bathing trunks and beer bottle.

"I had the Hollywood Dog and Cat Hospital but I was bothered by chronic asthma and couldn't find relief," Hayes said. "So I decided on a change in climate. Two other couples and I got on a boat and started going south. After we got to Costa Rica one woman was pregnant and wanted to have her baby in the United States so they left. Then the other couple decided they didn't like life on the boat so they left and I was stuck with the boat."

Hayes put the boat up for charter, mainly for fishermen and treasure hunters who were looking for the legendary pirate booty on Costa Rica's Coco Island in the Pacific Ocean.

"I lost money on that so I started fishing for lobster. I lost a lot of money on that. So I started fishing for tiger shark, selling the hide and meat. That was hard work but I made some money on that. Then I finally went broke and sold the boat. With the proceeds I bought the rights to the island."

Expert Links Dams And Quakes

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Do big dams and their reservoirs cause some earthquakes in California, the West, and elsewhere in the world?

A man who spent more than half of his 40-year career as a geologist in the federal government working for the Bonneville Power Administration thinks so.

He is Don Birch, just recently retired from the big federal agency here which transmits the government's major hydroelectric power in the region. He was the agency's only geologist.

Birch said he abandoned his belief in the theory that earthquakes were due to faults just last year. He's been researching eathquakes since 1956 and acknowledges there may be a variety of causes, but he has come to the conclusion that the constant lowering and refilling of reservoirs behind some dams has also triggered earthquakes.

His theory originated with earthquakes of the southern Puget Sound, an oval area in western Washington. He said the area is subject to sediment loading, constant pulsation nrom daily tide-loading and is triggered by a combination of earth-tide and atmospheric low.

"I realized my theory applied also to the San Fernando earthquake with a magnitude of 6.6 on the Richter scale Feb. 9, 1971," he said.

"The Pacoima Dam, two-thirds empty, had generated the quake. Constant lowering and refilling had by fatigue weakened the earth's crust," he said.

"A gravitational earth-tide, actually carefully recorded by instruments at two stations, served to trigger the quake. A large area surrounding the reservoir raised by over seven feet. Some of the movement may have occurred by slippage along old fault planes but this quickly diminished away from the reservoir."

He said his load theory is applicable to the famed San Francisco earthquake of 1906. He said that quake was "due to the Lower Crystal Springs Dam, height 54 feet and built in 1887-88." He also notes that prior to 1936 and the filling of Lake Mead behind Hoover Dam on the Nevada-Arizona border, it was not generally recognized that dams and their reservoirs can create serious earthquakes.

Birch said, "What better place was there to generate a big earthquake than to build a series of dams and reservoirs, totaling 12 miles in length, right on top of the sensitive San Andreas Fault. The first was Pilarcitos Lake formed by the damming of Pilarcitos Creek in 1864." He said an earthquake of high intensity was reported Oct. 8, 1865.

San Andreas Creek, in the San Andreas rift valley, was dammed in 1868-70 to form San Andreas Lake, but this again, he said, was raised in 1875. Upper Crystal Springs Dam was built in 1877 but later was flooded by the building of Lower Crystal Springs Dam in 1877-88.

"The right combination for triggering of the quake — a gravitational earth-tide and perhaps a coincidence with a barometric low, did not arrive until April 18, 1906, at a time when the reservoir probably was full," he said.

"It was indeed a most unique earthquake," said Birch, "for it ruptured the San Andreas Fault for a distance of over 195 miles."

At one time Birch said he was of the opinion that the Daly City earthquake of March 22, 1957, might have been generated by a low reservoir level at the Crystal Springs Dam, but he now believes the Daly City earthquake was due to filling of tidal flats — a form of overloading — perhaps at the San Francisco Airport.

Author Proves Persistence Pays

NEW YORK (AP) — Writer John Knowles, looking back without anger, notes wryly that his first novel "was rejected by every publisher of any importance in the United States — some 22, I believe."

Then, Knowles turned over "A Separate Peace" to a British house, it "was accepted immediately, got marvelous reviews, and eventually was published in this country.'

Since coming out in 1960 the novel, which deals with "two boys at a prep school during World War II," has, says Knowles, gone through some 40 hard and paperback printings, sold around four million copies, won three awards, and recently was made into a movie.

"Imagine!" Knowles says happily. "Who would have dreamed this book would be made into a film. Knock on wood!" And he does, getting up to thump a desk near him.

He says he isn't sure why the novel has been such a success, although he adds thoughtfully, "I suppose it may be because it's a very teachable book. Teachers find their students like the book and get involved with it. After all, it does deal with adolescence, growing up, hostility — all things young people can identify with."

Knowles, a 46-year-old bachelor who says he has "been writing forever," wrote "A Separate Peace" while working fulltime as a travel magazine editor.

"It wasn't too difficult," he recalls. "I'd get up early and work on the book and then I'd go to the magazine. it was a matter of important things first, and the important thing was the novel. Right?"

Knowles, who has published four novels, a collection of short stories and a collection of travel essays, still gets up early.

"I go to work first thing in the morning," he says. "My mind is at its best then. It hasn't been overlaid yet by the trivialities of the day.

"I never get dressed up or read the newspaper. I just splash water on my face, drink a cup of coffee, and start in writing in longhand. My first drafts always are in longhand. Then I do them over on the typewriter because no one can read my handwriting.

"I stop writing after two or three hours. It's wise to take time off. A beginning writer should work steadily because he has a lot to learn and a lot of bad writing to get out of his system. But after 25 years of writing — like me — you have to rest sometimes and recharge your batteries or your writing can become thin and repetitious."

Knowles, who has been writer-in-residence at Princeton and at the University of North Carolina, currently is at work on a novel and a collection of short stories.

The novel, titled "Spreading Fires," deals, he says, with "madness — the most contagious disease in the world. The collection will be called 'A Passion for Places.' A strong influence in each of the six stories is the place where it takes place."

Building Boom Hurts Elk Herds

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. (AP) — Housing developments and super shopping centers are beginning to ring the land of Big Bill, a bull elk, and his harem of female elk whose lineage is traced back 50 years to Jackson Hole, Wyo.

Over the years, hundreds of thousands of families have visited the elk herds at the 4,200-acre Ned Brown Forest Preserve 30 miles northwest of Chicago. The area by law will remain "eternally" a preserve, like others in the Cook County Forest Preserve District.

A half century ago when nine female elk and one bull were brought to the preserve from the National Park Service at Jackson, Wyo., the country was about as unpopulated as that from which they came. But now the building boom is on and the preserve's acres, of which 20 are fenced off for the elk, are valued at more than $85 million.

"We have to keep cutting down the herd — it grows fast," says James Mattson, division superintendent of the northwestern preserve areas. "Our original herd has started others that we have shipped out to 30 locations in the Midwest."

Recently, the herd was cut in half and Big Bill now reigns over only eight females.

"By May or June each of the females probably will have offspring," says Mattson. "And as this herd grows, we'll ship out more to similar centers."

A dozen years ago the herd had grown to 51 animals and overgrazing of the 20-acre enclosure was feared. The district commission decided to slaughter half the herd and give the meat to the Brookfield Zoo.

"There was such a hullabaloo we gave up the idea and began shipping the elk out," Mattson says. "The whole idea for an elk herd was that children should be able to see some large animals in their natural setting other than those on the farm. The children and parents didn't like the thought of killing the elk and feeding the meat to lions in a zoo."

Upkeep of the herd is small. A nearby farmer gives the elk enough hay and feed to last through the winter and the animals forage in the summer. They drink from a small creek running through their pasture.

Open Neck Dress Still 'Not Liked'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A growing trend among some of the better dressed men in the United States is to wear open neck shirts with their suits during the hot summer months. But if they do they will still have trouble getting into some of the better restaurants.

A couple of years ago the big fad was wearing turtle necks with anything and again there was a big uproar among the restaurants, some of which still will not admit women in pantsuits. Lord Snowdown, the husband of Britain's Princes Margaret, was once refused permission to enter a New York restaurant because of his turtleneck.

The new fad is the shirt-without-a-tie and it will just be hitting its stride this summer. Bob Connors of Hart Schaffner & Marx got curious about it and surveyed 38 top restaurants in 31 cities. Of the 38 only 12 said they could consider it appropriate fashion.

But time is on the side of the open neck. Twenty of the restaurants said they could accept turtlenecks in lieu of shirt and tie although nine said they would do so grudgingly — an improvement over a few years ago when the answer was a flat "no."

The survey indicated that a man who wanted to play it safe and avoid a possible scene had two alternatives — to telephone the restaurant first and check its policies or to have a tie handy for such emergencies.

Some restaurants keep a supply of ties on hand for this recurring crisis, and some even have a few jackets, usually shapeless. However, the manager of a Phoenix, Ariz., restaurant said he would try to match the coat to a man so he would not look too outlandish.

A possibility for a man who wants to approach fashion with a casual air would be to team a shirt, tie and sports coat. Even this is frowned on in some restaurants but all said they would admit such a combination.

There are exceptions to anything, of course, especially in the case of celebrities. Bill Veeck, a man-about-sports for years, has had long standing permission to go his usual tieless way in an elegant Chicago restaurant. And a San Francisco restaurant said it admits Truman Capote even when he is wearing sweater and slacks.

But bad things do happen to some celebrities. A Boston restaurant turned thumbs down on Paul Lynde when his dress failed to meet the management's requisite. And a Kansas City, Mo., restaurant said "No" to Ernie Ford — "too casual."

In Dallas one eatery requires a coat and tie but admits cowboy boots. A Milwaukee restaurant tries to swing with the times, saying times have changed so much it will admit anything "provided it's in gob taste." It even permits body shirts — but on younger patrons who have the physique for them.

Couple Silent For 25 Years

LONDON (AP) — Bus driver Edward Couchman and his wife, Rose, have not spoken to each other for 25 years — and they maintained their silence when they faced each other in the divorce court.

They married in 1936 and have three grown children. They separated in 1947. Couchman was granted a divorce because he had not lived with his wife for more than five years.

Outside the court Couchman said: "It's right, we have not spoken for 25 years."

Mrs. Couchman remained silent.

THE DRIVE-INS

An Old Hangout Thing Of The Past

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Remember the good old days of the drive-in restaurant?

It wasn't uncommon when the high school and college crowd would cruise into their favorite drive-in night spot after a football game or a movie, looking for some excitement, showing off their new cars and burning rubber on the blacktop just for the fun of it.

Well, times have changed. Gone are the days of the drive-in. In fact, in the last 20 years, drive-in restaurants across the country have just about vanished, giving way to the fast food-to-go places, which sell everything from hamburgers, fried chicken, and roast beef sandwiches.

During the 1930s and continuing through the late 1940s, drive-ins enjoyed their biggest business. They were the places where a working man could take his wife and kids to eat "just to get out of the house."

Ralph Duesbury, 64, who has been in the restaurant business since the 1930's, remembers the glorious days gone by.

"I remember we used to be busy all the time," Duesbury recalls. "Business was always booming, and there could be cars three deep, just waiting to get into our place."

In fact, business was so good that his drive-in served as the hub for many important businesses, Political, and sports personalities in the San Diego area.

"They all used to come here," Duesbury said. "Bing Crosby came in here once, but there were so many important people that came in to eat, and I just can't recall them all."

Duesbury, who describes himself as a hard-nosed perfectionist, started in the restaurant business in 1939, and has owned a restaurant in the same location for 30 years.

He openly displays an excitement for his profession, and recalls the good old days at the height of the drive-in craze.

"There used to be dozens in San Diego," Duesbury recalls. "They were all over San Diego. Then there was my place here. I built it at a cost of a little more than $67,000."

Duesbury's drive-in, called "Lawton's," was built in the typical drive-in style of architecture, a sort of round building with parking spaces all around except in the back.

Duesbury sadly admits that 1947 marked the beginning of the end for the drive-in restaurant.

A local food chain dealer said the demise of the drive-in resulted because people wanted to keep moving — they wanted speedy service at a reasonable cost in price.

A distinctive feature of the drive-in was the carhops who often wore brief outfits and would amble over to the customers' car and take their order. A few minutes later, they'd come back with a tray which they would attach to the front window on the driver's side.

"I always hired a special kind of girl to be a carhop," Duesbury said. "A customer was a bit more rowdy than the customer who came inside to eat. It took a girl with a lot up patience and stamina to put up with some of our customers."

Today, Duesbury has only one carhop left, and she also works inside.

Duesbury also had a rule that every customer obeyed.

"We put up a special sign that no one could leave their car," Duesbury said. Apparently former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis didn't read the sign.

"He was in San Diego to referee a boxing match and later stopped in to get a bite to eat," Duesbury recalls. "When he drove in, he got out of his car to talk to someone else. I didn't know who he was at first, so I ordered him to get back in his car. Someone nearby told me it was Joe Louis, but I told him I didn't care." Louis obliged by getting back in his car.

Duesbury has managed to survive the demise of the drive-in restaurant. He now considers his business a "family-style" restaurant, a place where a family can eat conveniently and reasonably.

Road Maps Need Constant Rework

NEW YORK (AP) — Both roads and road maps have changed significantly in the 30 years since Paul T. Tiddens started dealing with them as surveyor, cartographer and aerial photographer during World War II.

"The creation of the Interstate Highway System has been a major development in the nation's road network," says Tiddens, now the senior editor of Rand McNally's Road Atlas, who went to work for the company in 1945 after serving with the Army Corps of Engineers.

On the technical side he has seen map production grow from a one-man operation where the cartographer "did everything" to an assembly-line effort involving such specialists as designers, researchers, cartographer-draftsmen, cameramen, lithographers and printers.

"Original road maps were in black and white until about 1932, when they went to two colors," says Tiddens. "They're getting more complex all the time and in 1960 we began putting out four-color maps on which we could put twice as much material and still have it legible.

"We have to keep the information the motorist needs clear," he goes on. "The basic idea is to help someone get from where he is to where he is going as easily as possible, providing safety, enjoyment of the trip and saving him gasoline."

Opening of new sections of roads, connections and bridges, as well as changing of highway numbers, annexation of territory by towns, and updating of population figures make constant revisions necessary. There were 18,000 changes in maps and information from 1972 to 1973 in the Atlas, which covers all 50 states, Canada and Mexico. The company, which also produces oil company road maps, revises them twice a year.

"In fall we get the bulk of revisions because highway departments have been working like mad all summer," Tiddens says. "But they're doing some work all year and when a major connection to a highway or a new bridge opens we want to get the information out to the public as soon as possible. If we know a road will be closed for six months we put that on the map."

Researchers are in close touch with city engineers and with every state highway department and get regular detour bulletins showing construction in the state. A research car is constantly in operation, smetimes actually clocking mileage, at other times checking highway conditions and arranging for contacts in various areas — people who report on local changes.

"The index includes population figures and we have our own census system to keep up to date," Tidden points out. "We send out 26,000 queries every year to postmasters asking how many they serve in their area. We want to know the relative importance of a place in its locality. A town of 500 might make it on the map in Arizona but not in a population center like New Jersey."

The first road "maps," which appeared in the late 19th century, were merely verbal descriptions of the road, later accompanied by photographs of junctions and landmarks, Tiddens says. Early maps were bulky and expensive items sold by hotels. About 1917 map makers were using circle symbols such as a circle for a certain road and actually going out and nailing these symbols on trees, fences and telephone poles along the road so designated. Finally, in 1925, states began designating roads by number.

Tiddens, who has been boning up on map history in connection with the 1974 celebration of the 50th anniversary of Rand McNally's first Road Atlas, plans to reissue for the occasion that 1924 Atlas — if one can be found.

That failing, he plans to reissue the earliest one in the firm's archives, the 1926 Road Atlas, which contains such comments as these: "It takes gas to propel a motor vehicle — profanity won't do it." And "Women drivers of motor vehicles should be given special consideration and watching."

Tiddens suggests that in using a road map the motorist check the copyright date to make sure it is current. Mark the intended route with grease pencil and keep it for a souvenir, he adises.

But he has no advice on how to fold a road map. "I can't manage to do it either," he admits.

Airplane Project Clutters

The tail skid sits where he once had his couch. Two 14-foot wings spread over the living room floor.

For almost three years now — whenever he has had the urge to work on it — Duncan has been building the single seat monoplane in his apartment.

"I've reached the point where it's just getting a little too big for the place," Duncan said of his project. "I gotta get it out of here."

He still has to mount a 65-horsepower engine and the propeller and cover the plane with 50 yards of fabric.

He plans to roll the craft out the back patio door, head for an airport, fasten the wings and be ready to take to the air.

Road Maps Need Constant Rework

NEW YORK (AP) — Both roads and road maps have changed significantly in the 30 years since Paul T. Tiddens started dealing with them as surveyor, cartographer and aerial photographer during World War II.

"The creation of the Interstate Highway System has been a major development in the nation's road network," says Tiddens, now the senior editor of Rand McNally's Road Atlas, who went to work for the company in 1945 after serving with the Army Corps of Engineers.

On the technical side he has seen map production grow from a one-man operation where the cartographer "did everything" to an assembly-line effort involving such specialists as designers, researchers, cartographer-draftsmen, cameramen, lithographers and printers.

"Original road maps were in black and white until about 1932, when they went to two colors," says Tiddens. "They're getting more complex all the time and in 1960 we began putting out four-color maps on which we could put twice as much material and still have it legible.

"We have to keep the information the motorist needs clear," he goes on. "The basic idea is to help someone get from where he is to where he is going as easily as possible, providing safety, enjoyment of the trip and saving him gasoline."

Opening of new sections of roads, connections and bridges, as well as changing of highway numbers, annexation of territory by towns, and updating of population figures make constant revisions necessary. There were 18,000 changes in maps and information from 1972 to 1973 in the Atlas, which covers all 50 states, Canada and Mexico. The company, which also produces oil company road maps, revises them twice a year.

"In fall we get the bulk of revisions because highway departments have been working like mad all summer," Tiddens says. "But they're doing some work all year and when a major connection to a highway or a new bridge opens we want to get the information out to the public as soon as possible. If we know a road will be closed for six months we put that on the map."

Researchers are in close touch with city engineers and with every state highway department and get regular detour bulletins showing construction in the state. A research car is constantly in operation, smetimes actually clocking mileage, at other times checking highway conditions and arranging for contacts in various areas — people who report on local changes.

"The index includes population figures and we have our own census system to keep up to date," Tidden points out. "We send out 26,000 queries every year to postmasters asking how many they serve in their area. We want to know the relative importance of a place in its locality. A town of 500 might make it on the map in Arizona but not in a population center like New Jersey."

The first road "maps," which appeared in the late 19th century, were merely verbal descriptions of the road, later accompanied by photographs of junctions and landmarks, Tiddens says. Early maps were bulky and expensive items sold by hotels. About 1917 map makers were using circle symbols such as a circle for a certain road and actually going out and nailing these symbols on trees, fences and telephone poles along the road so designated. Finally, in 1925, states began designating roads by number.

Tiddens, who has been boning up on map history in connection with the 1974 celebration of the 50th anniversary of Rand McNally's first Road Atlas, plans to reissue for the occasion that 1924 Atlas — if one can be found.

That failing, he plans to reissue the earliest one in the firm's archives, the 1926 Road Atlas, which contains such comments as these: "It takes gas to propel a motor vehicle — profanity won't do it." And "Women drivers of motor vehicles should be given special consideration and watching."

Tiddens suggests that in using a road map the motorist check the copyright date to make sure it is current. Mark the intended route with grease pencil and keep it for a souvenir, he adises.

But he has no advice on how to fold a road map. "I can't manage to do it either," he admits.

Airplane Project Clutters

The tail skid sits where he once had his couch. Two 14-foot wings spread over the living room floor.

For almost three years now — whenever he has had the urge to work on it — Duncan has been building the single seat monoplane in his apartment.

"I've reached the point where it's just getting a little too big for the place," Duncan said of his project. "I gotta get it out of here."

He still has to mount a 65-horsepower engine and the propeller and cover the plane with 50 yards of fabric.

He plans to roll the craft out the back patio door, head for an airport, fasten the wings and be ready to take to the air.

Gypsies Learning A New Life Style

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Now they operate used car lots instead of palmistry parlors, and many of the adults and children attend school.

A legendary gypsy caravan has rolled to rest in Tacoma.

Historically, the gypsies have eluded the census takers by teaching their children false names, and evaded truant officers by their spontaneous mobility and their ancestral Romany language. Most are illiterate and see scant need to learn to read or write.

But now, the only Gypsy school in the nation has been started here. It is sponsored by the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and funded by a $155,000 three-year grant.

Phonics, reading, spelling and math are taught adult men for two hours two nights a week in a grade school. Gypsy men come from as far away as Portland and Seattle to learn.

The gypsies are suspicious of the Gadjoe, or outsider, meaning anyone who is not a Gypsy.

Yet about 20 youngsters from approximately 60 gypsy families attend regular elementary school here, a practice which is also unique nationally. The children often have trouble with English, their second language, but are exceptionally quick in arithmetic.

The adult school includes an hour on the fundamentals of the used car business. Four years ago, a dynamic gypsy leader named Miller Stevens convinced a group of men to enter vocational training in managing used car lost. Now five of them own their own lots here, with some Small Business Administration help.

Stevens, the national leader of the American gypsies, was the first Tacoma gypsy to own a used car lot.

"Now I have my own license to sell cars, but today insurance companies still demand coxigners before they will bond gypsies," he said.

Running a used car lot when you can't read or write can raise problems, and officials of the State Department of Motor Vehicles Dealer Licensing Office have been working with the Gypsy dealers to help them keep appropriate records.

The licensed gypsy dealers are refuting the beliefs of many that a gypsy is a fly-by-night, fast-buck operator. Administrator Robert Hayter said his department has very few problems with them, and they are "no better and no worse than other car dealers here."

Long before gypsies were officially recognized as a National Ethnic Minority, Stevens had asked the Tacoma Human Relations Board for relief from the discrimination his people suffered.

Stevens says there are about 2,000 gypsies in Washington year-round. Spokane has the largest colony, perhaps 100 families. Seattle's is the smallest, with about 30 families.

There is also a nomadic population of gympsies who "stay as long as the police let them," he said. Fortune telling is illegal in Washington state, he added, and "that's why you see a lot of gypsies on welfare — the law deprives them of their livelihood."

They are by tradition tinsmiths, horse traders, coppersmiths, and one tribe — the Boyash of Romania — is famous for the cedar picnic furniture its members create.

Although the old Gypsy trades are being replaced by modern technology, the cultural taboos which dictate that tribal members avoid Gadjo employers, food, dishes, schools and social institutions remain intact.

Their leaders say the gypsies are still suffering from pervasive prejudice which keeps them out of work, out of stable homes, and often on the run.

employees of Casa Marin will be busily engaged in placing 12-HOUR SALE price tags on many, many home furnishings throughout our store. Why? Because the tremendous volume of business usually anticipated at this season has not come in — to date. A lag in traffic, with its resulting loss in movement of goods, cannot be tolerated for many days.

Fresh, new merchandise arrives almost daily and with these arrivals comes the problem of locating such items in the store . . . and in the warehouse. Now, to move out some $10,000 worth of overstock in one day takes some real doing. And the only way that we know to accomplish same is with a hotter-than-hot, door-busting sale. Consequently, we are offering TOMORROW (Friday) $114,500 worth of quality home furnishings for only $86,495 . . . every single item at a substantial saving to you.

This certainly will be the BIGGEST ONE-DAY SAVINGS OPPORTUNITY OF THE YEAR. So don't be late. Casa Marin opens at 9 A.M. tomorrow morning. No matter what furnishings you need or want for your home, you'll find them . . . and at almost unbelievably low, low prices.
Remember: SALE LASTS FROM 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. Don't miss it! Bring the entire family with you. You'll be glad you did!

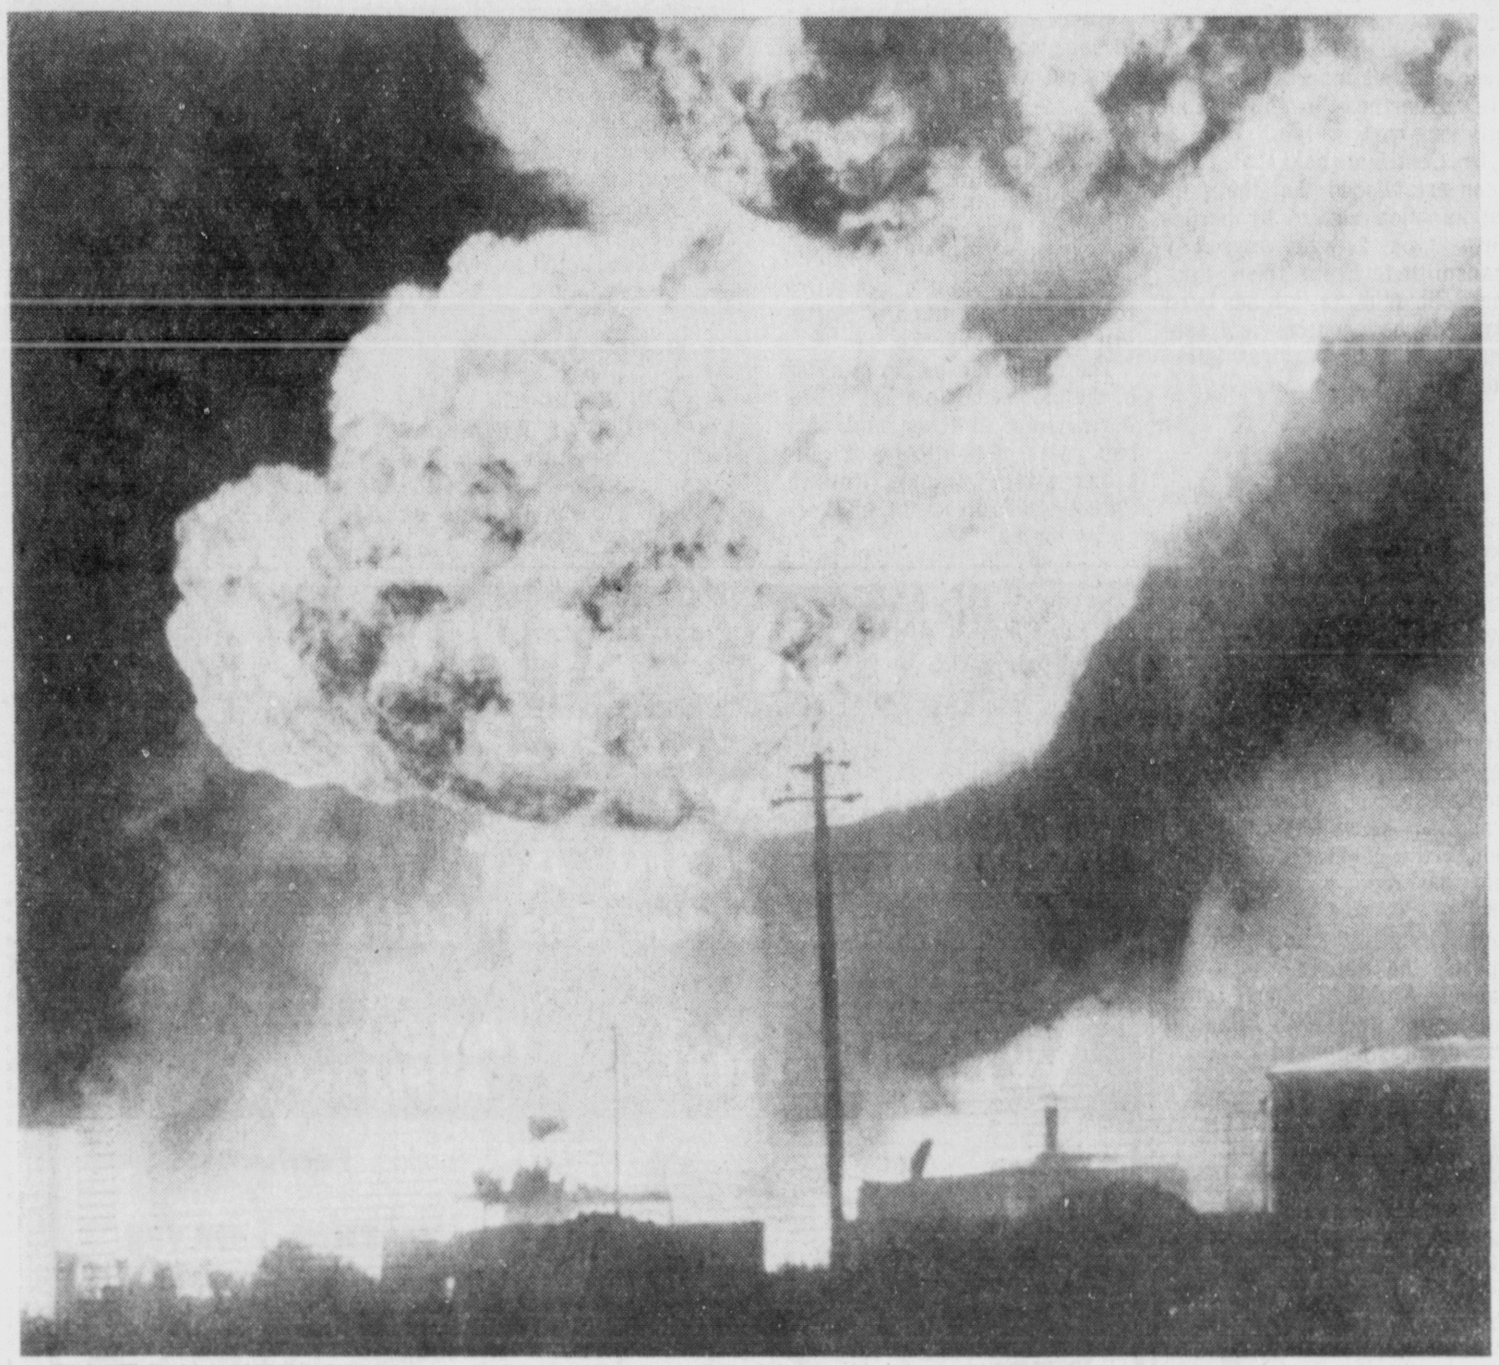
$1 Million Damage In East Bay Blast



EAST BAY EXPLOSION — A fireball roared up from flames at the M&T Chemical Co. plant near Richmond early this morning following an explosion and fire that shook homes and awakened residents in the East Bay, Marin County and as far away as Napa to the north and Redwood City to the south. Nine persons were injured, none seriously.

San Pablo Explosion Shakes Whole Area

Combined AP & UPI

SAN PABLO — An explosion tore through a chemical plant early today, sending huge fireballs hundreds of feet into the air, breaking windows a mile away and awakening Bay Area residents as far as 50 miles from the scene.

Nine persons were injured in the blast and fire which caused an estimated $1 million damage to the M&T Chemical Co. Most were injured by flying glass in their homes nearby.

A huge cloud of smoke drifted over the East Bay after the 4:27 a.m. explosion. Residents in Marin County, San Francisco, and as far away as Redwood City and Palo Alto said they were awakened. Many far from the scene said it sounded like a sonic boom or felt like an earthquake.

San Quentin officials who live at the prison and some of the prisoners were awakened by the blast, although heavy sleepers reportedly felt nothing.

In Larkspur, police said their building was shaken and that they received four or five calls before the Marin County Communications Center broadcast that the disturbance probably resulted from an explosion in Richmond.

One Belvedere resident reported that his house shook as if involved in an earthquake and several calls were received by Corte Madera police asking what had happened.

Police switchboards in East Bay communities were jammed with calls.

Chief Manuel Teixeira of the San Pablo Fire Department said the damage would come to "more than a million dollars, you can be sure of that."

Brookside Hospital's emergency room reported treating nine persons, all for minor injuries. None of the injured came from within the plants themselves but from homes in the largely agricultural area north of Richmond.

Periodically, 55-gallon steel drums in the plant exploded. Mrs. Catherine Martin, who lives across the road from the plant, said drums were blown 100 feet in the air.

Firemen said the explosions, near the center of the two-acre complex, flattened and tore up buildings in a widening circle.

The blasts ripped up basketball-sized chunks of pavement and hurled them 150 feet across the street where they tore ragged holes through the sheet metal siding of DeCarlo's Cabinet Co.

ALFRED J. MALVINO
Another stint as mayor

Malvino Is New Mayor Of Larkspur

Malvino, elected to the council in 1966, served his first term as mayor in 1968. He operates a furniture store in San Francisco.

Malvino was the only nominee for mayor, and was unanimously elected.

Councilman Joan Sestak also was nominated for vice mayor, by Councilman Robert H.Lee — like Mrs. Sestak, who is a freshman on the council. In that voting, Brixon and Mrs. Sestak abstained, and Lee joined Fleckles and Malvino in voting for Brixon, to avoid a minority election.

The city staff presented Fleckles with a desk alarm clock and pen set, and the Larkspur Volunteer Firemen gave Malvino a gavel.

Heroin User Admits Till Tapping Risky

By LARRY MOWELL

Stephen Luis Young makes his living stealing from unguarded cash registers. It is a high risk business, which has landed him behind bars for almost five of the past seven years, but he has kept at it with singular determination in order to satisfy his craving for heroin.

From New York City to Los Angeles and finally to the Bay Area and Marin County, the 28-year-old till tapper has left a trail littered with 66 arrests and probation violations.

His 11-year drug habit and method of financing it have withstood the punitive assaults of fines and jail and the rehabilitative efforts of probation officers, halfway houses and even the California Rehabilitation Center for treatment of drug addiction.

Young, in short, is "an example of failure" by the legal system, according to Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court. Nevertheless, the judge yesterday made another effort to turn Young around by ordering him to spend six months in jail and 18 months in a treatment program or go to prison.

The judge wasn't too optimistic. In the words of probation officer Jesse W. Johnson, "Mr. Young apparently has never developed any other method of existence except by furtively stealing money from store cash registers. The instant offense is simply one more of these acts, which he obviously performs for personal gain in terms of food and clothing and to support his drug addiction."

The "instant offense," the theft Jan. 2 of $300 in cash and food stamps from a cash register in a Tamalpais Valley Market, made Young the headache of Marin courts for the first time.

Young's long list of till taps and other thefts astounded Marin officials. "I think society is getting, sick, sore, lame and disabled from arresting this man," Menary said.

But apart from the length of his record and his choice of till tapping instead of burglary, Young is not unlike numerous others caught in the vicious circle of heroin and theft.

In his case and many others that appear on Menary's criminal calendar, the resilient power of a narcotic has outmuscled all punitive and rehabilitative measures.

"Your honor, this man has

Span Panel Rejects Bus Purchase Plea

A committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors today rejected a staff plea to buy 30 more buses — a rejection that will mean no new buses at least until mid 1974.

The transportation committee voted 4-3 to postpone action until after a pending financial study of tolls and fares is completed in six months.

The district's Washington lobbyist, Richard Smart, said the district has only two more weeks to apply for federal transit funds during the next fiscal year. The result of the committee's action apparently will be to foreclose federal funding for new buses until fiscal 74-75, he said.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring cautioned before the vote that failure to buy more buses to carry increasing number of commuters will mean increasingly severe traffic. In addition to the 30 buses needed by next spring, he said, another 32 buses or a fourth ferry boat will be needed by July 1976.

The motion to postpone action until after the six month study was made by director Laurence Mazzola of San Francisco, who said the cost of the buses, when combined with an operating deficit of about $600,000 a year just for the 30 buses, may be more than the district's purse can stand.

The financial study will consider the effects of raising tolls and fares.

Without federal funding there is no chance the district would buy the buses since government grants would cover two-thirds of the $1.5 million to buy the 30 coaches.

Petaluma city officials pleaded unsuccessfully for committee approval of the additional buses, which, they said, would help to improve Sonoma County service.

Volcano In Chile Erupts, Killing Two

PUERTO AYSEN, Chile (UPI) — Snowcapped Hudson Volcano, dormant two years, exploded in a gigantic fireball today, killing two persons and more than a thousand head of cattle. Debris fell over a 25-mile area.

Police said the 7,500-foot volcano roared into life before dawn, showering flaming lava, rocks and ashes over the Huemules Valley.

Tough New Smog Rules Suggested

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Mandatory inspection and maintenance of automobile antismog devices has been proposed for four of California's major air basins — the San Francisco Bay Area, San Diego, Sacramento Valley and San Joaquin Valley.

In addition, the installation of catalytic converter devices on used vehicles has been recommended for the Bay Area, San Diego and Sacramento Valley basins.

The recommendations were made Wednesday in a staff report to the California Air Resources Board, which set hearings on them during the last half of May.

The proposals are aimed at achieving acceptable air quality levels of oxidant and carbon monoxide by 1977. They were made after the Federal Environmental Protection Agency demanded revisions of standards in the four basins, plus the South Coast air basin.

The South Coast basin was excluded from the latest proposals because the EPA held hearings on its plan there in March, and the board wishes to evaluate the information obtained by the EPA before making further recommendations, a spokesman said.

For the Bay Area, tighter controls on emissions from organic solvents in such industries as dry cleaning were also recommended.

Judge Refuses To Shift Trial

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Superior Court Judge Kenneth Eyman yesterday refused to transfer the trial for two men charged in the shooting of two Sonoma sheriff's deputies.

The defense attorney for Doublas Savory and David Ferguson sought to have the trial removed to San Francisco on grounds that adverse publicity would prevent the defendants from getting justice in Sonoma County.

The two men are accused of shooting the two deputies March 2 in a kidnap incident near Sebastopol.

Treatment At 'Hanoi Hilton'

By MARY LEYDECKER
(Second of three articles)

For Capt. William W. Butler of San Rafael, his first four days in the "Hanoi Hilton" in 1967 were probably the worst of the more than five years he was to spend in North Vietnam as a prisoner of war.

The Communist captors never "considered us American officers or prisoners of war," Butler said. "We were always called 'war criminals' ".

Although the treatment Butler and other Americans received at the hands of the North Vietnamese was never a bed of roses, he considers himself lucky because his periods of solitary confinement and torture were relatively short.

When he first was taken to the Hanoi prison after being shot down over a village northwest of the city, Butler received the torture he said was a customary part of efforts to extract military information.

Butler said he was first beaten, then put into "the straps," ropes with which his arms were tied behind him in a painful position and his body immobilized.

"I was gagged — so that was painful, too — so no one could hear screams," he said.

Then his captors from time to time pulled on his elbows and arms, causing more pain. When he was released from the ropes fom time to time, "it was just as painful," he said.

Off and on during the four days, he was asked if he was ready to answer a particular question, and while pain made him answer, Butler said, "I never told them the truth."

He said his captors asked such questions as the location of the next bombing targets in North Vietnam, but because of the possibility of capture, he and other pilots were never given such information.

Nonetheless, Butler said he apparently satisfied his tormentors by making up answers and "then sticking to them."

After what turned out to be a relatively short torture period, Butler was returned to a three-man cell.

"There were extremely heavy bombings of Hanoi at that time, and quite a number of people (Americans) were captured," so Butler speculated the North Vietnamese guards were too busy to concentrate

County Superagency Proposal Is Unveiled

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A major reorganization to consolidate three county departments in one was recommended yesterday by County Administrator John F. Barrows who said the proposal was part of a move to streamline local government.

As outlined by him, the departments of planning, public works and parks and recreation would be combined in a new Department of Planning and Public Facilities.

Barrows recommended that Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. head the new department while Parks Director Pierre W. Joske and Planning Director Werner von Gundell be demoted to third level supervisory slots.

The position of assistant director would be filled by Foreaker, who is believed to be leaning toward filling the slot with someone with an administrative background.

"It became apparent that there are many similar and somewhat parallel activities being conducted in these departments," Barrows said, adding that consolidation would eventually save tax dollars and provide better service.

"For instance," he said, "maintenance of facilities is carried on by both public works and parks and recreation.

"While planning is the primary function of the planning

Prices Up By Leaps In March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With finished food costs rising by record proportions, wholesale prices overall leaped 2.2 per cent in March for their biggest one-month advance in 22 years, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said consumer finished foods — those ready for retail sale and ranging from canned goods to completely processed meats — soared 4.6 per cent in March after seasonal adjustment. The increase far exceeded a 1.6 per cent rise in February and was the highest since the government began keeping such records in 1947.

AFL-CIO President George Meany called the report "proof positive" that all food prices must be controlled immediately, but presidential economic adviser Herbert Stein said more controls were unnecessary and that administration action "will alleviate the food problem later this year."

The jump for consumer finished foods was coupled with record highs for lumber and sharp increases for fuels, among other items.

The BLS said the overall March increase, largest for any month since January, 1951, meant that the Wholesale Price Index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 21.5 per cent, in the first three months of 1973, also the largest quarterly increase in 22 years.

Leading the increases among consumer finished foods were meats, poultry and fish, up 7.8 per cent; eggs, 17.3 per cent; fresh and dried fruits and vegetables, 7.9 per cent, and dairy products, 2.3 per cent.

There also were increases of 9.3 per cent for livestock and 20.3 per cent for live poultry.

Meany said the report was "proof positive that all food prices must be controlled stringently and at once."

The administration has resisted putting controls on farm products.

The March statistics were compiled before President Nixon ordered retail price ceilings on beef, pork and lamb a week ago.

THE FLOODING MISSISSIPPI

About the only high ground left in West Alton, Mo., a small community on the Mississippi River is this church. The town is located near St. Louis where the river is expected to reach a level today that is expected to be higher than any time since 1844. So far the current wrath of the Mississippi has claimed 19 lives. High waters are reported as far south as New Orleans where officials said today there is no immediate danger. (UPI Telephoto)

Communist Attacks Heaviest Launched Since Cease-Fire

SAIGON (UPI) — Communists attacks in all of South Vietnam's four military regions touched off the heaviest fighting since the Jan. 28 cease-fire and stirred fears of a new North Vietnamese-Viet Cong offensive, military sources said today.

The fighting ranged from the far north, where the Communists pumped 785 rounds of artillery and mortar fire into a South Vietnamese position in a single 20-minute period, to the Mekong Delta in the south, where 16 Communists and 23 South Vietnamese died in a three-hour battle.

One military source said the Communist attacks were probes designed to find a South Vietnamese weak spot and prepare for a major offensive.

'They (the Communists) never wanted a cease-fire at all. Now they are using the Joint Military Commission (JMC), the International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICS) and the talks in Paris as a shield to gain more time to move supplies into the country, send in reinforcements and prepare for an attack," the source said.

Tong Le Chan has been surrounded by the Communists since Feb. 26. Its estimated 500 defenders have taken about 33 per cent casualties and the South Vietnamese have said they will have to launch a fullscale relief operation if action is not taken soon.

The ICCS—the peace-keeping force composed of representatives from Canada, Hungary, Indonesia and Poland—discussed the situation at Tong Le Chan for two hours today, a source said. The source said the group discussed sending a second letter to the two-party JMC, composed of members from South Vietnam and the Viet Cong, asking the commission to provide a liaison officer to aid in an investigation of the situation.

One letter was sent last Saturday, but there has been no reply. The South Vietnamese said they will boycott the JMC meetings until some action is taken about Tong Le Chan.

A military source said the cease-fire could break down completely if something is not done at the camp. He said there is a plan on paper to form a relief force which would involve about 10,000 men.

"The Communists could do one of two things," the source said. "They could withdraw or they could stay and resist. In the second case, they will send in reinforcements from Loc Ninh, then we would have to send in reinforcements."

Fighting between Communist and government troops moved closer to Saigon Wednesday in the third largest battle reported since the first week of the cease-fire.

The Saigon command said Communist troops shelled a Saigon infantry battalion position of roughly 500 men and followed up with a ground assault near Cai Lay, a Mekong Delta market town 46 miles southwest of Saigon.

A command spokesman said the government troops repelled the attack at sundown after three hours of fighting, but he reported 23 infantrymen killed and 56 wounded, plus 16 Communist soldiers killed. In terms of South Vietnamese dead, it was the third biggest battle since the truce was declared and the biggest in more than two months.

The command said 19,985 Vietnamese on both sides have been killed since the cease-fire took effect—including 15,994 Communist troops, 3,518 of Saigon's soldiers and 523 civilians.

Impounding Ban Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted Wednesday to restrict the power of the President to refuse to spend all Congress appropriates.

In return, it also voted to restrict its own propensity for spending—at least in fiscal 1974, which starts July 1—to $268 billion, which is $700 million below the amount of spending Nixon has recommended.

In an unusual display of party unity, Democrats pushed their anti-impoundment proposal through the Senate Wednesday by a 70-24 vote. Only two Democrats, Harry F. Byrd Jr., Va., and James V. Allen, Ala., deserted party loyalty.

But whether the House would accept the Senate approach—and whether Nixon would veto the bill—remain unanswered questions.

The House Rules Committee is conducting a hearing today on a bill by Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the Appropriations Committee and backed by Speaker Carl Albert, Okla., which takes another approach in seeking to restrict Nixon's power to impound.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Cancer Link

NOGALES, Ariz. (UPI) — A Florida biologist said Wednesday that a link has been "implied" between cancer of the cervix and certain viral genital infections possibly transmitted by sexual intercourse.

Dr. Ysolina M. Centifanto told the concluding session of the American Cancer Society's science writers' seminar that it has been documented that "the incidence of carcinoma of the cervix is higher in women that have multiple marriages, multiple sex partners, or start sexual relations early in life."

Dr. Centifanto said that it had been established that the genital infection caused by herpes virus type 2 was venereally transmitted. From these findings, she said, "a link has been implied" between cervical cancer and the herpesvirus infections.

Kidnap Report

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — The military government of Argentina has pledged that a wave of political kidnapings this week will not impede the inauguration of President-elect Hector Campora.

There have been four confirmed kidnapings or kidnaping attempts since Monday and today military sources reported the daughter of a powerful general had been kidnaped, although the general's command said the reports were "inexact."

According to the unconfirmed reports, the daughter of Gen. Manuel Aroldo Pomer, commander of the 10th Infantry Brigade, was kidnaped.

Pueblo Skipper

AGANA, Guam (UPI) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, skipper of the American spy ship Pueblo when it was captured by North Korea in 1968, today sat through a private showing of a television film on the incident.

"Fantastic, absolutely fantastic," Bucher said to an unidentified U.S. Navy officer who accompanied him to the studio control rooms of KUAM television, where the film was screened.

Bucher is assigned in Guam as the commander of a mine flotilla. He has refused interview requests and it is not known if the decision is personal or if he is under orders not to discuss the Pueblo incident.

Coalition Stalls

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Government sources said today that formation of a coalition government as outlined in a February truce treaty appears unlikely before next month, thus pushing back the treaty timetable for withdrawal of U.S. advisers and North Vietnamese troops.

Meanwhile, Gen. Phoun Sipaseuth, the formal head of the Pathet Lao peace delegation, and government negotiator Ngone Sananikone continued private meetings.

Capitol Repair

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee voted today in favor of spending $58 million to repair the crumbling west wall of the Capitol by building a five-story, marble addition primarily for use as extra office space for congressmen.

The action set the stage for a House vote, probably next week, on the controversial "west front extension." The addition would extend some 88 feet out from the existing wall.

Peace Drive

BELFAST (UPI) — Roman-Catholic women in Belfast launched a campaign today to force the Irish Republican Army to proclaim a cease-fire that would halt much of Northern Ireland's violence.

The campaign began in a lull in the bloodshed that has killed 763 persons in three and one-half years of political and religious strife among Roman Catholics, Protestants and security forces.

Anti-Hanoi Aid

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — The Arkansas House passed a resolution Wednesday opposing American aid to rebuild North Vietnam.

Auto Sales Boom

DETROIT (UPI) — New car buyers in March beat the spring sales rush as they bought a record 1.1 million automobiles—the most sold in one month in automotive history.

Predictions made at the end of the record 1972 sales year have been revised upward by auto executives who saw more cars sold in the first three months of 1973 than in any previous first quarter. The trend was expected to continue through the year.

Backs Indians

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts Senate Wednesday adopted a resolution urging the federal government to meet the demands of the Indians at Wounded Knee, S.D.

'State Of Danger' In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Government officials said today that President Lon Nol has officially declared the nation in a "state of danger." All supply routes into Phnom Penh have been cut by Communist troops.

The action came after the Communists tightened their grip on the capital yesterday by severing the last remaining supply line feeding the city despite the 28th consecutive day of heavy U.S. air raids on Communist targets.

Defense officials in Washington said they saw no imminent threat of a collapse of Cambodia but shortly after Communist soldiers cut the capital's vital Highway 5 rice road, the National Assembly authorized Lon Nol to issue the "state of danger" decree "should the situation warrant."

Communist forces have been advancing slowly but steadily on Phnom Penh in their largest Cambodian offensive.

GRIM TALE — Capt. William W. Butler, now home with his family in San Rafael, muses as he recalls the tortures which were part of his experiences during more than five years as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam. Butler counts himself among the luckier of the POW's because he suffered less than many.

long on one man.

"Some people (prisoners) were in 'solo' (POW slang for solitary confinement) for a year," Butler said.

After Butler's initial torture period, he was assigned to a seven-by-nine-foot cell shared with three fliers shot down about the same time.

Butler, with his unattended broken foot, and another man, Navy Lt. Theodore Stier of Wisconsin, who had "torn the daylights out of his feet" when forced to run over some "pretty rough terrain," were helped by the other two cellmates.

The two healthy prisoners helped Stier and Butler about until their feet healed and carried their belongings for them when they went out to wash.

During his confinement, Butler never received medical aid for his broken foot except once when a doctor gave him two shots. "I don't know what they were, but it's a wonder I didn't get hepatitis," he said, "because he didn't even wash my foot off." He finally was given a pair of crutches.

After about a month of confinement, Butler said he realized one day that his foot had quit hurting and that he could step on it. Today it has a lump on one side, but doctors in this country told him "not to worry about it as long as it doesn't bother you."

During his first eight months in Hanoi, Butler and the others were only allowed out of the cell once a day to wash. Their food, collected from a rack outside the cell, was "darned near impalatable."

He described a typical meal (there wwere two a day) as soup containing cut-up banana peels, accompanied by a piece of moldy bread.

The 31-year-old pilot said he ate everything he was given, no matter how unappetizing it was, "since I still figured they were going to quit feeding me at some point."

In six months his weight dropped from about 180 pounds to 160. When he was released last month, Butler weighed 151 pounds, but he said he liked being thinner and wants to stay that way.

(Later, in other prison camps to which he was transferred, Butler said the food improved somewhat, and he and the other men "were not starving.")

One of the worst deprivations, he said, was the cold during the bitter winters in North Vietnam. Two light blankets provided little warmth.

Butler also considers himself lucky that he never "had tooth problems" as some prisoners did, and was not seriously ill, though he still is "ridden with parasites," including amoeba and pinworms, and his eyesight is much worse than when he was captured.

Already slightly near-sighted at that time, Butler was never given the glasses he had with him when he was shot down. He thinks the close quarters he was confined in for so long resulted in greater near-sightedness.

After a couple of months of captivity, Butler and his cellmates were "caught red-handed" with a cache of ropes made from blankets, razor blades and rocks, which correctly indicated to their guards they were planning an escape.

Butler now calls the escape plan, which still had no details when thwarted, "naive." "We wouldn't have lasted 30 minutes even if we had made it over the wall," he said.

Seizure of the escape materials was followed by a new period of torture for Butler. "They worked us over," he said. In addition to beatings administered by guards, Butler was put into leg irons and "forced to urinate on myself."

After eight months at the "Hanoi Hilton," Butler was transferred, for "no reason we could determine," to another prison "out in the boondocks" where he was kept two years.

Papers Reveal Mussolini Ignored Plea By Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Neither dictator Benito Mussolini nor King Victor Emmanuel were moved by the late Pope Pius XII's attempt to influence an "honorable" withdrawal of Italy from World War II in 1943, according to the documents made public by the Vatican.

The wartime documents released Wednesday are part of a continuing series covering the period of November 1942 December 1943, including the start of the Allied onslaught against Italy and the Italian surrender, followed immediately by Nazi Germany's takeover.

Although President Franklin D. Roosevelt's representative at the Vatican, Myron C. Taylor, had pressured Pope Pius to use his influence in favor of an Italian withdrawal, this was apparently not the pontiff's motive. He acted more out of concern to save Italy, which then had virtually no air force or navy, from the horrors of large-scale fighting.

Later Pius showed himself to be very critical of the allied "Casablanca" policy to fight until the Axis surrendered unconditionally. He tried and failed to get a commitment from the Americans and British not to bomb Rome on the grounds it was a sacred city.

Thieu Honors Americans Who Died For His Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu paid homage to the 56,000 Americans who died defending his nation by laying a wreath today at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

With less than 100 civilians looking on and a chill wind blowing, Thieu placed the wreath of red roses and yellow lilies —representing South Vietnam's national colors —in front of the tomb containing remains of unidentified U.S. servicemen who died in World Wars I, II and Korea.

Thieu's early morning visit to the cemetery, which lies across the Potomac River in Virginia, was marked by booming 21-gun salutes on his arrival and departure and set a solemn tone for the first full day of his visit to Washington.

Thieu met privately Monday and Tuesday with President Nixon at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif. Thieu came to the capital late Wednesday night seeking to persuade members of Congress to continue U.S. economic and military aid to Saigon.

ALMANAC

By U.P. International

Today is Thursday, April 5, the 95th day of 1973 with 270 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

American educator Booker T. Washington was born April 5, 1865.

On this day in history:

In 1614, Pocahontas, daughter of Indian Chief Powhatan, was married to English colonist John Rolfe in Virginia.

In 1951, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg of New York City were sentenced to death for stealing atomic secrets for Russia.

In 1964, Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur died at the age of 84.

In 1968, major American cities were hit by violent riots as an aftermath of the assassination of Negro leader Martin Luther King.

A thought for the day: American Negro leader Booker T. Washington said, "No race shall prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Condition Of Cyclist Is Fair

Stephen C. Brocksen, the 16-year-old Novato youth who received a torn aorta in a motorcycle accident Saturday, was reported off the critical list and in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital's intensive care unit.

He received the injury when his motorcycle and a car collided head-on on Nicasio Valley Road. This type of injury is fatal in 98 per cent of all cases, according to hospital spokesmen. The youth received an aortic graft, the first time it was done at the hospital.

McCord Will Tell Story Of Bugging

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Convicted Watergate conspirator James W. McCord, Jr. said today he feels the "story should be told" about the bugging of Democratic national headquarters and that he would soon make public what he knows.

McCord, breaking a long-standing silence with reporters, also said he was hopeful that his recent cooperation in new investigations of the burglary would win him a lighter sentence for his part in the plot.

"And I hope it would help the other defendants as well," McCord said.

The former security chief for President Nixon's reelection campaign spoke with reporters briefly as he waited to go before a federal grand jury that has reopened its investigation into the break-in of the offices of the Democratic National Committee last June 17 in the Watergate building here.

McCord, one of two of the seven original Watergate defendants who were convicted (the five others pleaded guilty), testified last week before a special Senate committee investigating the Watergate.

The trial judge, John J. Sirica, has not yet sentenced McCord and has indicated his term might depend on the degree of his cooperation with new investigations of the Watergate. Sirica also gave tentative sentences to the five who pleaded guilty, likewise suggesting the final terms would depend on their cooperation.

The grand jury is investigating fresh leads into possible involvement by other persons in the political espionage case, besides the seven it previously indicted, and the Senate committee is conducting a separate inquiry into the entire case.

McCord is said to have told Senate investigators that he was told by G. Gordon Liddy, the second convicted conspirator, that others connected with the administration or President Nixon's reelection campaign last fall knew of the Watergate plot.

An Apology Is Offered

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ruchell Magee's defense attorneys offered yesterday to apologize for two incidents during the convict's murder-kidnap trial for which he was cited for contempt.

Superior Court Judge Morton R. Colvin set sentencing on the contempt citations against Novato attorney Robert D. Carrow for May 1.

Colvin will hold a hearing tomorrow to determine if the black convict should be tried a second time on murder-kidnap charges in the 1970 Marin County Hall of Justice shoot-out.

Carrow was cited once for a remark made after the judge ruled on the scope of cross examination. "I submit your honor, that this trial is becoming a joke," he said.

He was cited a second time for violating a rule against advising the jury of penalties that would result from Magee's conviction.

At a hearing on the charges, Avlin Goldstein, representing Carrow, said the lawyer had never before been involved in a contempt charge and that the remarks were caused by the "very high emotional level" in the courtroom.

Labor Council Endorsements

The Marin County Labor Council last night unanimously endorsed four8 persons running for election to various bodies on April 17.

Endorsed were Thomas R. O'Toole, candidate for the San Rafael City Council; Jerome C. Hauke, running for the Marin Municipal Water District board, Division 4; Joseph E. Doherty, candidate for the Marin Community College District board, and Lotte Schiller, who is seeking a seat on the Tamalpais High School District board.

Charles B. Weers, secretary-treasurer of the council, said the endorsements were made after reviewing resumes of candidates and through recommendations of members of the council.

He said the council chose to put its efforts into backing just the four candidates.

been in every program you can name," Deputy Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert said in wonder.

None of those programs had any significant effect, Johnson added.

At least 10 separate jail sentences ranging from five days to six months and a total of 38 months in the California Rehabilitation Center failed to stop his crime once free again. In most cases, he was back in custody within months of his release.

"It was all done behind the habit," Young explained to the judge.

His comment yesterday echoed criminal after criminal appearing in Marin Superior Court, often repeatedly, and explaining they stole to pay for heroin.

"It's frustrating," Menary said, but the answer isn't obvious. Prison and jail aren't working and in some cases, neither is the state drug treatment facility, he said.

The answer for Marin judges has been the DeLancey Street Foundation in San Francisco, a group that believes hard work, not methadone, is the answer. However, Menary, who sent Young to the foundation, said even DeLancey Street has its failures.

"The longer I sit in this position here, the longer I know I don't have the answer," the judge said.

Nixon Veto Will Not Hurt Marin

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — President Richard M. Nixon today vetoed a $300 million rural water and sewer grant program, saying it was double taxation, inflationary and "smacked of pork barrel politics."

(However, Dennis Mishek, a spokesman for the California Regional Water Quality Control Board, said Nixon's veto will not block Stinson Beach nd Bolinas sewage disposal plans now on the drawing boards. He said the state is committed to fund the projects as much as federal regulations permit.

(The Bolinas Community Public Utility District has applied for a $363,000 state grant, mostly to buy land for proposed treatment ponds and percolation gallery. The Stinson Beach County Water District has not progressed to the grant application stage.)

In Congress, supporters of the rural federal project immediately made plans to try to override the veto, which had killed funding for an eight-year-old program. The House is scheduled to vote Tuesday. The fund measure originally was passed by well over the two-thirds majority needed to override the veto.

Marin-Sonoma Fair Entries Being Accepted

Entries in various competitions are being accepted for the Sonoma-Marin Fair which will be held June 20-24 at the Petaluma fairgrounds.

Future Farmer of America and 4-H entries will close May 9 or when classifications are filled. Entries will be accepted until June 1 in open divisions such as arts and crafts, sculpture and horticulture.

Affairs Council To Hear Swede

J. K. Eliasson, first secretary in the Swedish Embassy in Washington, D. C., will be speaker for the April program of the Marin unit of the World Affairs Council at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Sausalito Yacht Club.

He will discuss Swedish foreign policy and the deterioration of Swedish-American relations, mainly over the United States' Southeast Asia policy.

Reservations are required for the public program through World Affairs Council headquarters in San Francisco.

Found Innocent On Public Drunkenness

CUMMING, Ga. (UPI) — Junior Samples, comedian on television's "Hee Haw," was found innocent Wednesday on a charge of public drunkeness.

The hefty, overall-wearing Samples had been accused of appearing drunk with his son, Emory, 25, at the Forsyth County jail last Aug. 26.

OBITUARIES

Rolland L. Coffield Dies At 59

Retired Navy Lt. Cmdr. Rolland L. Coffield of San Anselmo died yesterday at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio of San Francisco after a long illness. He was 59.

Coffield, who had a long career in the service, was commended by the Navy for his efforts in World War II when he was credited with saving the lives of fellow prisoners of war in the Pacific.

In recent years Coffield had worked as office manager for a San Francisco law firm.

He was born in Oregon and enlisted in the Navy as a medical corpsman in 1935. In 1942 he was captured by the Japanese and spent four years in prison camp.

During his imprisonment he was ordered to set up a medical facility and organized the treatment of fellow prisoners suffering from an epidemic of dysentery.

A career officer, he remained in the Navy and also served during the Korean War. In 1962, when he retired, he was dispensary administrator for the Marine Corps at Camp Pendleton.

After he retired, he and his wife, Bertha, moved to San Anselmo, residing at 1237 San Anselmo Avenue.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a stepson, Faylin Finch, and four sisters.

Funeral with full military honors will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Daphne Funeral Home in San Francisco. Military burial will be Monday in Willamette National Cemetery in Portland, Ore.

Oil Firm Will Fight Smog Plan

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An oil company that overturned a key law used to prosecute air polluters has declared it will oppose legislation to restore the prosecution powers to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Ray A. March, Northern California public relations representative for Exxon Co., told newsmen at a district board meeting yesterday that company officials have decided to fight passage of the legislation pending in Sacramento.

Emergency legislation to restore the enforcement powers to the district has been introduced by Assemblyman Alister McAlister (AB 831) and Sen. Alfred Alquist (SB 547), both D-San Jose.

The powers were struck down last month by the Benicia Justice Court in a suit filed by Exxon. District directors voted to seek legislation to reverse the ruling on the ground it cripples prosecution of polluters.

The disputed law empowered air pollution control districts to sue polluters $500 a day for each violation. The court ruled it did not extend to the Bay Area district, which was formed under a special law.

Hub Woman, 70, Is Fair From Accident

A 70-year-old San Anselmo woman was reported in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital with scraped knees, elbow cuts and possible internal injuries following a four-car chain collision in San Anselmo yesterday.

Inga Radford of 6 Sunview Avenue was injured in the 11 a.m. accident after her car crashed into the rear of one driven by Edward Louis Moracito of 270 Montezuma Avenue, Forest Knolls, according to police.

The collision propelled Moracito's car, which was stopped in traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, into one driven by Carol M. Abraham of 50 Laura Lane, Fairfax, police said. The Abraham car was in turn pushed into the rear of another driven by Anna M. Bengsch of 18 Buckeye Circle, Woodacre, according to police.

Novato Horses Place In Show

Doc's Mica Bar, owned by Monument Oaks Inc., was first in the 2-year-old halter class and became first in total point in Pacific Coast Quarter Horse Association competition this season.

Gay Bonanza, owned by Fair Enterprises of Novato, won the 1-year-old halter class.

Home Owners To Meet Friday

Robertson Collins, businessman and historian, will speak to the Heritage Homes Association of Petaluma at 8 p.m. today at the home of Timothy Noland, 231 Howard Street. The meeting is open to the public.

A previous Independent-Journal story incorrectly said the meeting would be Friday.

GEORGE WEISE

George H. Weise of Martinez, stepfather of Mrs. Marion Gloistein of Novato, died yesterday in Martinez. He was 69.

A native of Kansas, he lived in California for the past 49 years and was a resident of Martinez for the past 37 years.

Also surviving are his wife, Rebecca, and two stepsons, Robert and Richard Clark of Martinez.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Friends may call after 9 a.m. Friday. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. The family asks memorial contributions to a favorite charity.

JENNINGS LYON

Dr. John C. Siemans, head of the Ross Valley Clinic, will delier a eulogy at the funeral for Jennings Lyon at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Lyon was laboratory supervisor for the clinic for the past 16 years, until he succumbed Tuesday to a second heart attack in two months.

Lyon also formerly assisted his wife in the now defunct L and S Lapidary Supply store the family operated for several years in San Anselmo.

He was a retired Army lieutenant, wounded in Italy during World War II.

PAUL HANKINSON

Paul Hankinson, 96, of San Rafael died yesterday at Marin General Hospital apparently from complications related to a fall he suffered at his apartment, according to the Marin County Coroner's office.

Hankinson, of 532 C Street, was admitted to the hospital Monday suffering from a broken hip. Neighbors found him unconscious, lying on the floor of his apartment Monday. He apparently had been lying there for 24 hours before he was found. He may have suffered a stroke and broken his hip when he collapsed, the coroner said.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

MRS. RICCARDI

Maria M. Riccardi of Novato, a resident of Marin County for five years, died yesterday in a local convalescent home after a long illness. She was 99.

Mrs. Riccardi, a native of Italy, came to the U.S. in 1920, two years after the death of her husband, Antonio. She lived with her daughter, Assunta Pannaci, and moved to Novato in 1968.

In addition to Mrs. Pannaci, she leaves two grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the chapel. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

STELLA HORSMAN

Stella Horsman, mother of Clifford Horsman of Novato, died yesterday in a Menlo Park convalescent home after a long illness. She was 88.

Mrs. Horsman was born in Prescott, Ariz., but had lived in California 64 years, the last 25 in San Mateo County.

Before her retirement, she was a claims check clerk for the state compensation fund in San Francisco. She was a member of the California State Employees Association.

Her husband, Harry, died in 1956.

In addition to her son in Novato, Mrs. Horsman is survived by two daughters, Myrna Koehler of San Carlos and Marjorie Jenkins of San Jose, and another son, Everett, of Mountain View.

Funeral will be at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the White Oaks Chapel in San Carlos. Burial will be private.

The family prefers contributions to the memorial fund of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, San Carlos.

MRS. BRUSCHINI

Celestine Bruschini of San Francisco, mother of Edmond Bruschini of Fairfax, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. She was 92.

She and her husband, the late Joseph Bruschini, were married more than 30 years before his death in 1943. He was an employee of Ghirardelli Chocolate Company and they once lived in a flat on the present site of Ghirardelli Square.

She was a member of the Marina Homeowners Association in San Francisco.

In addition to her son, she is survived by two daughters, Eleanor Raymond and Alma Bruschini of San Francisco, and two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mass of Requiem will be at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Vincent de Paul's Church, Green and Steiner streets, San Francisco. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Friday at Halsted and Company Mortuary, 1123 Sutter Street, San Francisco. Burial will be in the Italian Cemetery in Colma.

MARIE P. MacINTYRE

Marie P. MacIntyre, mother of Mrs. Ray K. Bolinger, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 79.

She was born in France and came to this country as a young woman. She was a salesman for a cosmetics firm in the east prior to her marriage in 1925 to the late Raymond A. MacIntyre. She lived in Bound Brook, N.J., until moving to Marin County six years ago. She made her home with her daughter and husband, manager of Marin General Hospital, at 3 Marinita Avenue, San Rafael.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by two grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m., Monday, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Bound Brook. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Newark, N.J.

Impounds & Extras Explained.

Through this series of Ads, the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors want you to know as much as possible about buying or selling your home.

When you buy a home, there may be charges known as "Impounds & Extras". Since some mortgage loans require taxes and insurance be paid monthly, a trust fund, or "Impound" account is set up by the lender for the payment of these funds. Other payments through an Impound account might include pro-rated taxes between buyer and seller; pro-rated fire insurance premiums; pro-rated rents or bonds.

Extras include such things as a credit report, Notary and recording Fee, Loan Fee, Appraisal report, tax services, ALTA Inspection Fee.

When buying a home, you'll find it to your advantage to work through a member of the Marin County Board of Realtors. And when selling your home, be sure to place it on Multiple Listing. You'll have more than 1,000 salesmen working for you. The member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors. Your Real Estate Professionals.

MARIN COUNTY BOARD OF REALTORS

Wandering Dogs: Beware In Larkspur

Larkspur, plagued by wandering dogs and by packs of them which on two occasions recently attacked children, will be assigned an animal control officer for three months, the city council was told last night. (Another Larkspur City Council story, page 1.)

Though welcoming the announcement by the Marin County Humane Society, City Councilman William G. Fleckles expressed skepticism.

"I am very interested to find out how the society can afford to send a man here for 90 days at no extra expense," Fleckles said, "when they told us before it couldn't be done."

He was reacting to a letter from John N. Gill, society executive director, promising that Charles Light, a veteran animal control officer, would be on duty full time in Larkspur for 90 days beginning Monday at no cost to the city. Last month, the Larkspur council decided to hire a full-time dogcatcher for three months to combat roving dog packs that have bitten at least two youngsters and spurred vociferous citizen complaints.

Fleckles recalled that during animal control discussions in January he had asked Gill for an accounting of the humane society's use of county animal control funds. He said last night he never received it.

City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said he would meet with Gill and Light today to work out details of the city's campaign against wandering dogs, including what hours Light will be patrolling the city's streets.

During the period, Councilman Neil R. Brixon suggested, citizens should be able to get an immediate response from the animal control officer simply by calling the Larkspur police station.

Councilman Joan Sestak reported that dogs that normally roam Baltimore Canyon already had mysteriously vanished. "I haven't seen the one that always bites my car, for days," she said.

Maybe they, or their owners, got the word "we've raised the impound fees," Bathurst speculated.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

ENVIRONMENT — Adopted a resolution providing guidelines for environmental impact reports on private and public developments within the city (except single and some multiple family residential projects) as required by state law.

HELIPORT — Unanimously opposed a proposal by the Marin County Aviation Commission that the board of supervisors negotiate a lease with the Golden Gate Bridge District to move the heliport from Sausalito the future Larkspur ferry terminal. "The noise factor would be incredible," Mrs. Sestak warned.

BICYCLE PATH — Approved a lease for city use of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way between the Alpha Beta Market and William Avenue for a 10-foot-wide, paved bicycle path to be maintained and policed at city expense. Audience members living in the neighborhood were assured by councilmen that the path would be policed to prevent repetition of vandalism that has occurred along the roadbed in the past. The lease will cost the city $360 a year.

MODEL AIRPLANES — Mayor Alfred Malvino asked other councilmen to attend a demonstration Sestak model airplane flying in Piper Park, at 10 a.m. Sunday. Complaints had been received about noise from the hobby. Action on rules covering the flying was postponsed to the council's April 18 session.

BEAUTIFICATION — Mrs. Seatak reported conferring with chamber of commerce officials and others on citywide beautification needs. She was appointed to establish and chair a planning commission, environmental and design review board, chamber and others.

MEETINGS — Introduced an ordinance changing the council's regular meetings from monthly, to the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Fleckles dissented that "Parkinson's Law" would simply increase the unpaid councilmen's workload "until we're meeting weekly or even daily."

PARK NAME — Agreed with the city park and recreation commission's suggestion that action on Elizabeth Bray's request to change the name of Piper Park to Larkspur Park be shelved. The city staff found that the commission recommended in 1962 that the park be named for astronaut John Glenn Jr., but action never was taken. The council decided to act only after the park is improved and actually made usable.

CLOSED — Met in closed session with City Atty. Joseph A. Forest on pending litigation over park dedication fees contested by a developer, and in a separate session to instruct Bathurst on coming salary negotiations with city employee representatives.

FLOOD CONTROL — Ordered Bathurst to prepare information packets on the Ross flood control controversy for Councilmen Sestak, Robert H. Lee and Fleckles as well as Earl J. O'Grady, one of Larkspur's representatives on the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone 9 advisory board. Malvino, another delegate to the board, reported attending three fruitless meetings on successive days in March to seek a solution to the Ross impasse.

REDEVELOPMENT — Meeting as the Larkspur Redevelopment Agency, formally ratified the previously announced hiring of Dean Witter and Co. as financial consultants and John Gray as redevelopment consultant.

DISASTER — Formally ended the storm disaster state of emergency declared Feb. 7.

DESIGN REVIEW — Introduced amendments to the zoning ordinance establishing an environment and design review board to replace the old architectural advisory board, and set a fee of .05 per cent of building permit fees to finance its work.

SPRINKLERS — Adopted an ordinance calling for installation of sprinklers and fire alarms in non residential and multiple residential new construction.

ADJOURNED — To 8 p.m. April 18.

Larkspur Tables Tax Share Idea

Larkspur city councilmen last night abandoned the idea of sharing sales tax revenue and coordinating planning and other efforts with Corte Madera.

City Atty. Joseph A. Forest reported state law permits sharing sales tax revenues between jurisdictions where it is collected and where the shoppers live, by contract between the agencies — but only if the voters of the cooperating agencies approve.

The sharing idea came from the Larkspur Town Meeting last fall. The city council passed it along to Corte Madera councilmen — who tabled it on Monday.

Councilman William G. Fleckles declared last night he'd never favor sharing revenues with the twin city unless Corte Madera councilmen contributed their salaries "to the pot." Larkspur councilmen are unpaid.

Councilman Neil R. Brixon declared "let's get moving on the shopping center and forget about revenue sharing." The neighbor cities are pressing rival redevelopment and regional shopping center plans.

Reed School Board Seeks Book Funds

The Reed School District board has applied for $1,541 in federal funds to buy books, according to Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello.

Board members Tuesday approved the application and two others, also for federal funds for books. They are $238 for the Marin Country Day School and $181 for St. Hilary's School. Giovanniello said the federal program requires that private schools make their applications through the local school district.

In other business, trustees changed auditors from the firm of Leader, Jarvis and Keigwin to Sleezer and Eckhoff of San Rafael. The latter firm will audit the district's book this year for $1,950.

The board also held a 20-minute closed session to instruct him on negotiations with district employees on salary requests, Giovanniello said.

Miners Rescued

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet newspaper said today six Ukrainian coal miners were rescued from a mine after an explosion trapped them for more than 20 hours.

Meat Boycott Reported Holding Firm In Marin

Marin County housewives' meat boycott appeared to be holding firm today, but how much good it will do was problematical.

Several butchers reported that jobbers' beef and lamb prices, which had dropped a few cents a pound last week, would rebound next week, to the ceiling set by President Richard M. Nixon when he limited meat prices to their March peaks — an all-time high.

The noramlly busy butcher shop at Petrini's Market in Greenbrae reported that only nine butchers were working, with 14 laid off due to the boycott.

Del Reemo Meat Fish and Poultry in San Rafael said their jobbers' cost on beef had backed off "three or four cents a pound" last week, but would go back up next week. Meanwhile, "we're selling lots of fish," which has increased slightly in cost.

Other markets reported heavy trade both in fish and in poultry, even though they too are at record or near-record prices. All butchers said turkey supplies are almost exhausted.

The first breaks in the battle over prices were reported today in New England, where the 25-store Big G. Discount Food Stores chain announced price rollbacks on more than 100 meat items by as much as 40 cents a pound, according to United Press International.

Press wire services reported that surveys showed meat sales off as much as 70 per cent on the West Coast yesterday, and 20 to 30 per cent in other parts of the nation.

A New York advertising firm said its polls showed many housewives plan to continue their boycott into next week or longer, UPI reported.

Meanwhile, an estimated 5,000 packinghouse workers had been laid off nationwide and meat growers were reported holding back their stock from the market.

Cattleman Sheldon Cotton of Brookings, S.D., told a press conference, "The farmers are tired of subsidizing the housewife. . . the housewives will have to learn that if they want to feed their families properly, it's going to cost money."

School Board Coffees Set

Candidates in Marin school board races April 17 have announced newly scheduled campaign coffees and public appearances.

They are:

KENTFIELD SCHOOL DISTRICT — Candidate Joan Brownstein, 10 a.m. tomorrow at the home of Rosemary Ring at 7 Rosebank Avenue, Kentfield.

Joan Baez Will Bypass Taxes Again

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Singer Joan Baez will refuse to pay part of her federal income taxes again this year to protest military spending even though American troops have left Vietnam, her business manager says.

"She's a pacifist and she's always protested the amount spent on arms," Roy Kepler of Menlo Park, Calif., said yesterday in a telephone interview.

New Roadblock For Fluoridation

Fluoridation of Marin water, already faced with a roadblock from the state Board of Health, has been confronted with another one thrown up by a consumer-oriented law group.

In a lawsuit filed Tuesday and amended yesterday, the California Public Interest Law Center asked Marin's Superior Court to step into the fluoridation controversy.

Judge Henry J. Broderick, at the request of the law group, ordered the Marin Municipal Water District, in effect to prepare an environmental impact report on fluoridation, or appear in court April 25 to explain why it shouldn't.

The law group also asks for a permanent order setting aside the declaration of the water district board that fluoridation will have no significant environmental effect and forcing the board to prepare an environmental impact report.

Also sought are an order barring any fluoridation until such a report is considered, costs of the suit and any damages that are shown during the course of the suit.

Apart from the court action, the district is already forbidden to add fluoride immediately to its water supply. In an unprecedented move, the state Health Board March 13 barred fluoridation until it is studied by Marin's Medical and Dental societies.

The law board is taking a different tack, claiming the water district board exceeded its authority by acting on "insufficient and inadequate data" and by failing to prepare an environmental impact report.

The decision not to prepare a report created "an unnecessary risk of substantial physical, aesthetic and recreational harm," the suit said.

Fluorine will do three-fold damage, according to the suit. It will contaminate Marin County and the bordering bay waters, accumulate in people and contribute to the denigration in the aesthetic quality of the environment and ecosystem used for recreation.

The law center, in a letter to the water board, had asked for a waiver of the 30-day appeal period on the district's environmental impact ruling so it could wait until the state Board of Health approved fluoridation.

The water board denied the request so the suit had to be filed before today.

Library Board Approves Budget

The Larkspur Library board Tuesday night approved a proposed 1973-74 budget of $118,377, more than double this year's total of $54,204.

The proposed budget includes a $50,200 request to buy a site for a new library next year, the primary reason for the more than 100 per cent jump.

The budget includes requests for 12.5 per cent salary hikes for the library's three full-time and four part-time employees. It will, like other departmental budget requests, be forwarded to the Larkspur City Council budget hearings.

FUZZY FIR TREE EATER

This fuzzy creature is the Douglas fir tussock moth which foresters say poses a grave threat to 270,000 acres of forests in southeastern Washington and northeastern Oregon. The Environmental Protection Agency is expected to decide this month if DDT can be used to kill the moth, which thrives on the tender tips of new growth of cone-bearing trees.

Cost Of Countywide Plan Said Threat To Families

Members of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association were told by the association's board of directors yesterday that "you may not be able to afford to keep your home should the (Marin Countywide) Plan be instituted."

The board estimated total cost of establishing the plan at $18,996 per family and annual operating costs anywhere from $1,000 to $3,000 per family.

An analysis of the cost impact of the countywide plan was contained in a four-page letter of the board of directors, prepared by Norman P. Higby, president, and mailed to all members.

Higby based his figures on those used in the "User's Guide to the Countywide Plan" prepared by the county planning department.

Eighty per cent of Marin's families would have to carry the cost of the plan, said the letter, because 20 per cent would be subsidized low-income families. It then broke down each cost figure in the plan to the amount per family.

Cost of subsidized low-income housing is estimated in ehe plan at $455 million. This, said the letter, would be $6,613 per family.

Cost of establishing an intra-county bus system is estimated at $525 million — or $7,630 per family.

The plan proposes buying 31,000 acres of green-belt open space in Marin's "eastern corridor," where virtually all the population growth would be permitted, and estimates this would cost $52 million.

This figures out to $1,700 per acre. However, Higby reported a check with the Marin County Board of Realtors' miltiple listing office showed the average price of raw land now on the market in East Marin is $7,410 per acre. Taking $7,000 per acre as an average figure, the letter projected a cost of $327 million for the proposed open space — or $4,753 per family.

Annual cost of operating the bus system was estimated in the "User's Guide" at $90 million. This would be $1,160 per year per family, said the letter.

Housing subsidies for 20 years under the plan were estimated at $24 million.

Maintenance and operation of open space parks, based on a December revision of the county figures, was pegged at $1,333,000 from now until 1990. But the letter commented: "It is doubted whether the estimated costs include. . . thousands of real estate parcel acquisitions, surveys, appraisal fees, condemnation cases, court costs, attorneys' fees, record keeping and acquisition agents' salaries."

Operation of the proposed county review agency, according to revised countywide plan figures, was shown at $4 million between now and 1990.

The letter, summarizing total cost initial at $18,996 per family, called annual operating costs "a wide-open checkbook figure, maybe anywhere from $1,000 to $3,000 per family to be added to your present tax bills, annually."

"It is our belief," declared the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association board, "that we cannot afford the Marin Countywide Plan."

Good Skiing Conditions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mild temperatures and good skiing conditions continue today in the Northern and Central California mountains.

The weatherman says it should be fair and sunny through Friday, with only light winds.

Snow depths and conditions, as reported by the California State Automobile Association at 10 a.m.:

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS

By Ken Reichard

A LONG LOOK AT TELEPHOTO

Telephoto lenses are the "Big Guns" for most professional photographers. They are heavier than most lenses and they cost a lot, too. Why then are they used? And should you use one?

Telephoto lenses create "stopper" photographs. They can enable you to photograph the kids without their seeing you, or to take a picture of that special girl down the block and then make a print to surprise her with. They are used in combat where it is difficult to get up close and live to tell about it, and in the Sunday morning battles between the Rams and the Vikings on TV.

The types available are the all-glass and the mirror lenses. All-glass lenses are refractive and run from 85 mm to 1,000 mm. They can be expensive if you are looking for high-speed formulas. The longer lenses are also bulky and slow. The mirror lenses are easy to handle, fast and in some cases inexpensive. They use internal mirrors to fold the light beams back and forth so that the lens can be compact and light. Their prime drawback is lack of a diaphragm and subsequent loss of depth-of-field. Mirror lenses are generally 250 mm to 2,000 mm in focal length.

You can find a telephoto lens for most cameras in our selection. Come in and talk over your needs — in lenses, accessories, and photo supplies.

County Superagency Is Proposed

department, the parks and recreation department also engages in long-range planning for parks.

"Likewise, construction planning and construction contract administration are activities conducted by both public works and parks and recreation.

"Planning and public works must review proposals for land development and improvements. Environmental protection activities are shared by all three departments," he added.

Barrows said the "customers" of many of these functions are often required to go through all departments.

Cost figures were not included in his report, which will go to county supervisors Tuesday. A board discussion of the proposal is expected May 1.

If approved by supervisors, the new department would take effect July 1 with Foreaker expected to have the reorganization well under way by October.

Barrows said two positions could be eliminated by October — a vacant principal planner slot in the planning department and Joske's assistant parks director.

Suggested for inclusion in the proposed planning and public facilities department is the new regional park district, currently headed by Joske, which Barrows was told not to tamper with months ago.

"The regional park and open space district should, in my opinion, be staffed from within this consolidated department," he said. "However, it may be segregated and identified with its own separate staff if your board so desires."

The reorganization was proposed last January by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. after controversy erupted over the planning department's handling of the Martinelli Farms subdivision proposal.

At that time, a spokesman for the developer charged that the planning department had manipulated his plan and had shown a general lack of cooperation.

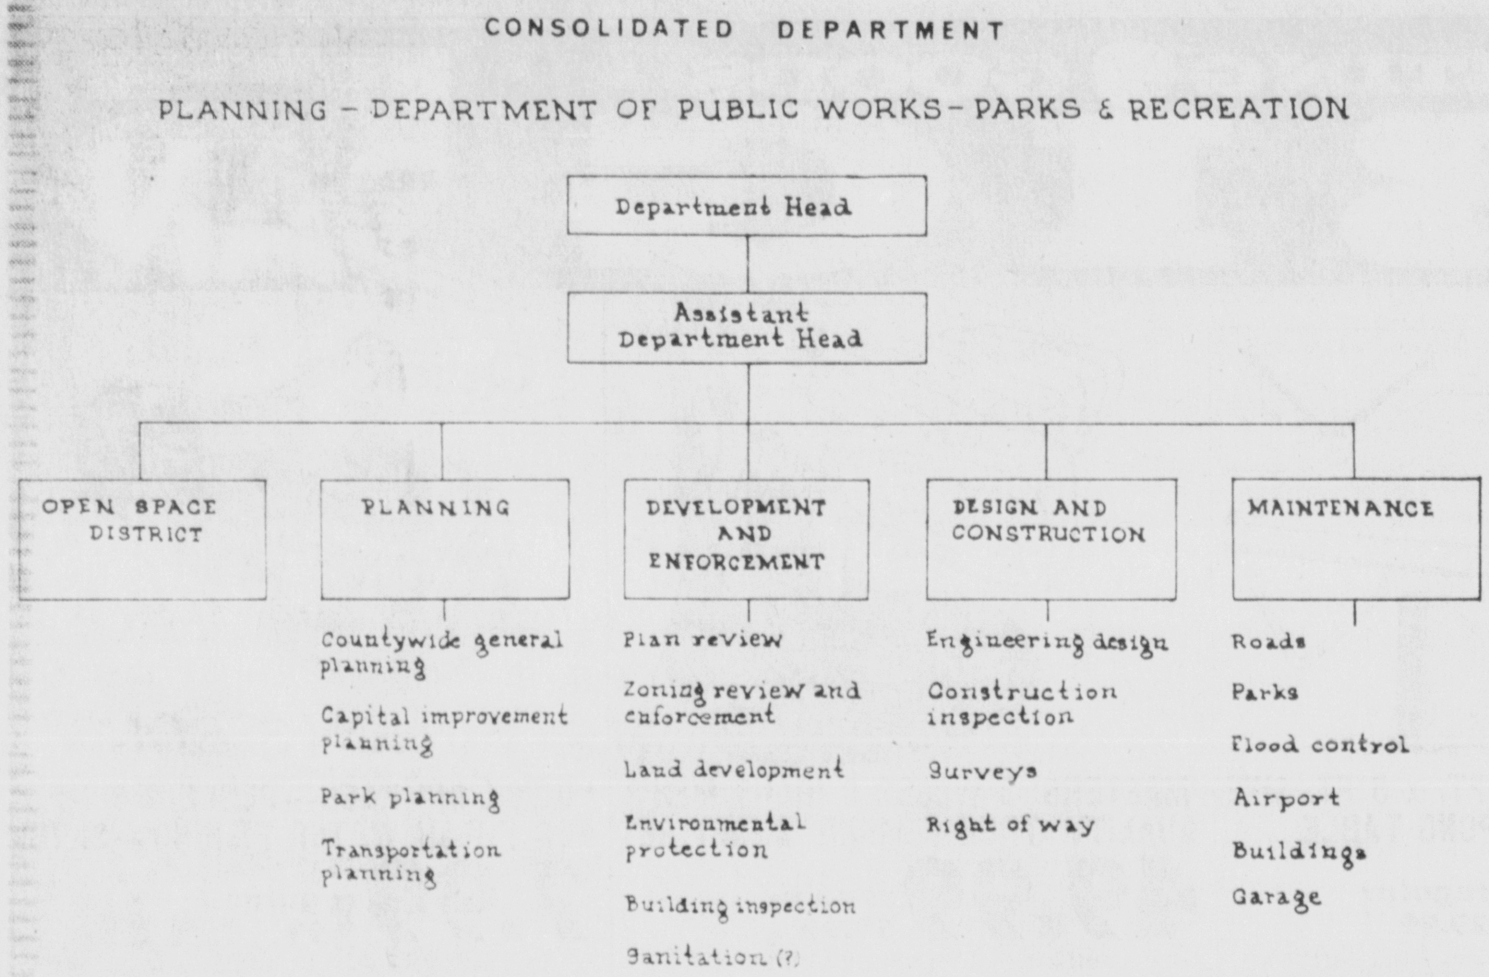
The planning department denied the charges and countered that it was the developer who had failed to cooperate with planners.

Barrows, meanwhile, said he could not "point to serious or dramatic failures in any of the three departments as a cause for a major reorganization.

"All three departments are providing a reasonable level of service and all three departments can point to performances and achievements in the last few years which have received high commendation from the board and the public," he said.

The county administrator added that the board also may want to consider moving the division of environmental control (sanitation division) out of the health department and place it under the new department.

He said his recommendation that Foreaker head the department was reached after reviewing all three department heads and considering the possibility of recruitment from outside.



SUPER AGENCY — A table of organization shows the possible make up of the proposed Department of Planning and Public Facilities. The new department, proposed by County Administrator John F. Barrows, would consolidate the planning, public works and parks and recreation departments.

Second Chance For Opera Star

WASHINGTON (AP) — After having to cancel out once before, Metropolitan Opera soprano Mary Costa will have a second opportunity to perform at a White House state dinner.

Miss Costa has been invited to entertain at a state dinner being given next week by President Nixon for visiting Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore.

She was scheduled to perform at a state dinner Feb. 1 for British Prime Minister Edward Heath, but she fell and sprained her back and had to cancel the appearance.

Youth Held In Marin

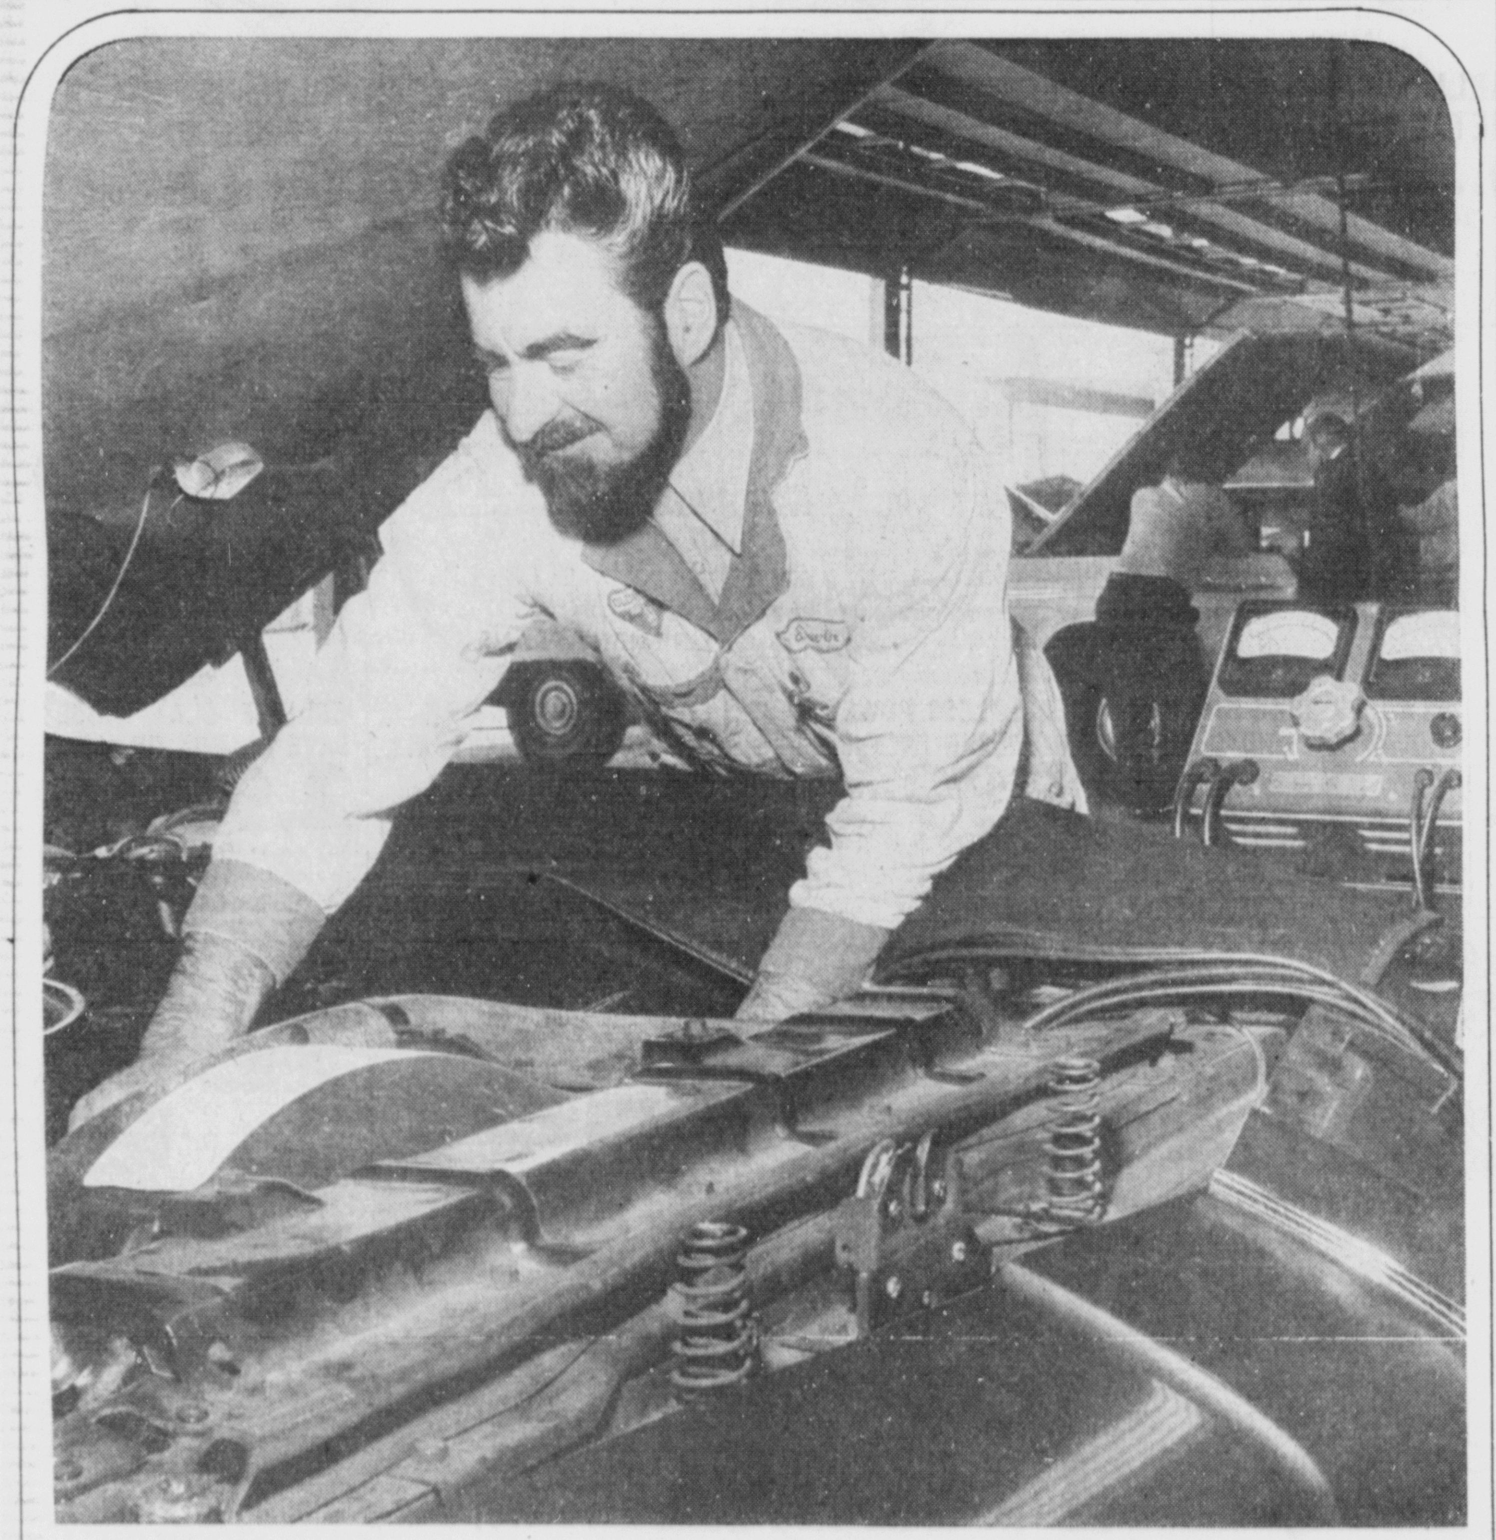
A 17-year-old Petaluma youth was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall today after Mill Valley police spotted him in a car that had been reported stolen yesterday in Mill Valley.

The youth was booked on suspicion of car theft and possessing stolen property and marijuana after an officer noticed him in the vehicle at about 6:30 a.m. near the intersection of Amicita and East Blithedale Avenue.

The teen-ager saw the police car, pulled his vehicle up onto the sidewalk and jumped out and over a fence into a nearby yard. He was caught as he left the yard.

Following his arrest, a search revealed a small quantity of suspected marijuana as well as a number of stolen credit cards in his possession.

The youth's name was withheld on a standing order of Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson.



The guy who makes the last adjustment on your new Olds before it leaves the assembly line doesn't live in Marin County . . .

But I Do . . .

I'm Irwin Sami, and I've been servicing new Oldsmobiles since 1958 and for the last 10 years here at Scripture Olds.

We spend 7 to 8 hours servicing, checking, and detailing every new Olds and we try to make sure your new car is right before you take delivery. Even then new cars sometimes require rechecking and adjustments, that's why I want you to know that when you buy or lease your Oldsmobile from Scripture today I'll be here tomorrow — if you need me.

Ross Candidates See Few School Faults

Little fault with Ross School District affairs was found last night as four candidates in the April 17 election for three seats on the district board spoke at a candidates forum.

The forum, attended by about 100 persons, was sponsored at the district's only school by the Ross Parent-Teacher Association and the League of Women Voters of Central Marin.

Thomas A. Guerin, an accountant, said he wants "family life education" only in the seventh and eighth grades, but the other three thought the one-school district should have more than it has. "I think we should have more, but it does have to be done well,"David A. Dixon said.

Guerin also struck the only discordant note against the existing program of moving children from room to room for different subjects. The best learning environment is one room with one teacher all day, Guerin said.

However, Dixon and incumbents Sally Ann Rakow and Elizabeth F. Way disagreed in the session sponsored by the Ross Parent-Teacher Association and the League of Women Voters of Central Marin.

They said problems of children "going every which way" have been solved. Mrs. Way said the program is "our way of solving some of the problems of class size," and Dixon felt giving a child more than one teacher "minimizes personality conflicts."

Each of the candidates gave a short talk on the district's most pressing problems, and all agreed that finances will be tighter because of the new law on school financing.

Otherwise, the candidates varied on what problems face the district. Mrs. Way said, "The enforcement of discipline and the respect for the rights of others is at the top of my priority list."

She also wanted more required subjects for junior high school students, specifically art, music and sport. "12 and 13-year-old students should be offered some direction," she said.

Guerin didn't like tenure laws and favored setting up better lines of communications and a career education program in the district.

Dixon, a business executive, was most concerned about a sound curriculum, "one that will turn children on." He said the parent volunteer and after school activities programs should be expanded.

He also wanted to see the English curriculum beefed up because that is the one area in which Ross students have to do remedial work "to get into the fine prep schools."

Mrs. Rakow, first elected to the board in 1969, favored further study of sharing programs with the Kentfield School District and also placed priority on getting volunteer help, not only for education, but also for chores like painting doors.

She further urged reassessment of the district goals adopted two years ago and establishment of citizen-staff committees to advise the board.

Following the prepared speeches, the meeting was thrown open to questions, but the large audience produced only five. Questions dealt with vandalism and litter, sex education, the English instruction, and whether Ross should be preparing students for private or public schools.

Candidates agreed the Ross School should prepare its students for any high school, private or public.

Mrs. Rakow and Mrs. Way, elected to fill an unexpired term in 1971, are seeking to retain their seats.The third position is held by Van Logan Norden, who is not running for reelection.

Recreation Area Funds Top Hurdle

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — The final congressional hurdle was cleared late last night in the "reprogramming" of a $5.9 million appropriation, which will provide the first funds for purchase of private land for the new Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, reported today that the Senate appropriations subcommittee on the interior last night approved earmarking the money for land acquisition in Marin County.

The money was found in surplus appropriations from previous budgets for Point Reyes National Seashore and a park in Minnesota. The Department of the Interior had asked that it be reallocated to the Golden Gate project.

Last month, a house subcommittee approved the request, and with the senate subcommittee approval, the National Park Service can begin buying land. Mailliard's spokesman said he does not know when actual purchase will begin.

The park service has said that five holdings totaling 5,712 acres, ranging from Tennessee Valley to the Bolinas Ridge are top priority for first acquisition to the new park.

The holdings represent about one-third of the total land in private ownership slated for the park.

A Warning On Building Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration does not intend to lift its moratorium on the construction of federally subsidized housing until Congress reforms the housing programs.

This warning was given a Senate Housing subcommittee Wednesday by Housing Secretary James T. Lynn.

Congress cannot act to change the housing programs until Lynn submits his recommendations. Lynn promised to do this by September, but Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., said this meant congressional action could not be completed until next year.

College Board Spurns Redevelopment Offers

The Marin Community College District trustees last night emerged from a closed session with their attorney to call unacceptable two offers made by the San Rafael City Council to settle a dispute over the city's redevelopment.

College district officials have opposed the method of financing the city's proposed redevelopment program, because they are unhappy that tax revenue from increased property valuation will go toward paying for redevelopment, not to the college district.

The city had offered the college a choice of two proposals to settle the matter, the one negotiated with the county or the one with the San Rafael Board of Education.

Both agreements provide for a return of some revenue that would be "siphoned off" under redevelopment.

The settlement with the schools assures a return of revenues resulting from a flat 3.8 per cent growth in assessed valuation in the redevelopment area.

College Trustee Donald K. Felt said last night the trustees did not want to accept either offer, according to district publicist Earlene Jones.

Felt, Trustee Francis Compton, Supt.-Pres. John A. Grasham and Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino were named as a committee to work up a new proposal in an attempt to settle the matter.

The Marin Community College District board also:

FUNDS — Approved a request for $16,402 in federal funds to continue operation of the Marin City Adult Self-Improvement Project. An additional $7,515 from district funds would also be needed, according to Jared B. Sharon, who reported on the project.

GIFT — Accpeted $300 from the Dental Assistants Association for the college dental assistant program.

FURNITURE — Approved contracts with various firms for new library furniture, totaling $47,393.

CONTRACT — Set a closed session for May 7 to discuss with Supt.-Pres. John A. Grasham his contract.

BIDS — Authorized advertising for bids for a new electrical system for part of the College of Marin campus and a fire alarm system, estimated to cost $77,890.

MINORITIES — Asked Grasham to report at the April 18 meeting on the status of a program aimed at recruiting women and members of minority groups for faculty positions.

FEES — Set a fee schedule of $27 a unit for out-of-state students who wish to register at College of Marin next year.

Cabinet Change

LISBON (UPI) — Prime Minister Marcello Caetano today dropped Dr. Joao da Costa, the Secretary of State for Cultural Instruction, from his cabinet. He was replaced by Dr. Augusto Soares de Albergaria, who was transferred from his post as secretary of state for youth and sports.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

9:46 a.m., Petaluma — Car fire out on arrival at East Washington Street and Eli Boulevard caused by backfire igniting gas in carburetor; minor damage to auto owned by J.W. Baggett of Washington.

12:24 p.m., Novato — Fire in sawdust and grass cuttings at rear of Novato High School field; cause undetermined.

5:34 p.m., Marinwood — Fire in heating element of stove at 642 Blackberry Lane, Mildred J. Flood residence; minor damage.

5:51 p.m., Petaluma — Fire in shed at rear of Lova Laster home at 219 Petaluma Boulevard South; heavy damage; cause under investigation.

Pleasure Faire Site Hopes Dimmed

Hopes for a permanent Marin County home for the Renaissance Pleasure Faire dimmed yesterday as state highway officials withheld endorsement of the proposed site north of Novato.

According to Irving L. Schwartz, county land development engineer for the department of public works, officials from the highway patrol and state Division of Highways said safe access to the site could be handled only through a $4 million highway interchange.

As a result, Schwartz continued, his office will recommend denial of a use permit for the fair when it is considered April 16 by the county zoning administrator.

Schwartz said his move to block the fair will not affect the promoter's plan to open a renaissance educational center at the 270-acre site, located west of Highway 101 at the Sonoma County line.

He added that his recommendation for denial does not kill the possibility of staging the annual fair at that location since promoters may be able to develop plans for shuttle bus service.

Fair promoters Ron and Phyllis Patterson have an option to buy the sprawling site, part of the Veronda Ranch in the San Antonio Creek Valley. They had hoped to stage the fair at that location in 1975.

But, said Schwartz, state and county officials agreed yesterday that without an interchange, cars traveling to the popular event would cause havoc on 101. On peak days, he said, as many as 7,000 cars would be added to the highway with only marginal access to the site.

The proposed route rejected yesterday called for northbound traffic to travel to Petaluma Boulevard at Petaluma, reverse direction, come back into Marin County and then to the site via San Antonio Road.

That would back up traffic on the fast-moving highway for miles, he said, adding highway patrol officials objected strenuously. Petaluma officials did not attend the meeting.

Deputy Zoning Administrator Harvey Bragdon said this morning that if the public works department and state officials object to the fair for traffic safety reasons he probably will have no choice but to deny the use.

"That doesn't mean they can't use the site for the renaissance center," he said, explaining that use would not draw the same amount of traffic. "I'll have to wait until the hearing, however."

The renaissance center and an Old English village is outlined in a proposed master plan envisioning overnight lodgings, restaurant and tavern, small shops, Elizabethan theater and village square.

Whether that project will be financially attractive to its promoters without the annual renaissance faire, which draws costumed visitors from throughout the Bay Area, remains in question.

Fair attorney Douglas P. Ferguson, who did not attend yesterday's meeting, declined to discuss its future until he had discussed the matter with county officials.

Fair promoters have been seeking a permanent site for years and touched off heated controversy in 1971 when they proposed locating in Upper Lucas Valley.

The fair has been operating on a year-to-year basis in the county, first in the Santa Venetia area and during the last two years at Black Point.

School Hopefuls Schedule Events

Candidates in Marin school board races April 17 have announced newly scheduled campaign coffees and public appearances.

They are:

TAMALPAIS HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT — Candidate Fred C. Hannahs, 10 a.m. Saturday at the E. J. Ezekiel home, 15 San Gabriel Court, Fairfax.

NEW "GRAND PRIX" STEEL BELTED RADIAL TIRES!

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER!

STEEL RADIAL
GRAND PRIX

MADE BY ONE OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST TIRE MANUFACTURERS!

. .SEE WHY THESE PREMIUM* STEEL BELTED RADIAL TIRES ARE THE BEST TIRE BUY. . . ANY WHERE!

MILEAGE! With less tread squirm you get longer treadwear. Squirm rubs off tread rubber like an eraser and causes serious heat buildup. The Grand Prix Steel Radial has great tread stability. The belts of rayon and steel run directly under the tread to hold the tread firm and open.

RIDE! Strong yet supple rayon cord belts surround and cushion the brass coated strands of high strength steel in the center belt. You experience the ride of comfort with all the advantages of a steel belted radial tire.

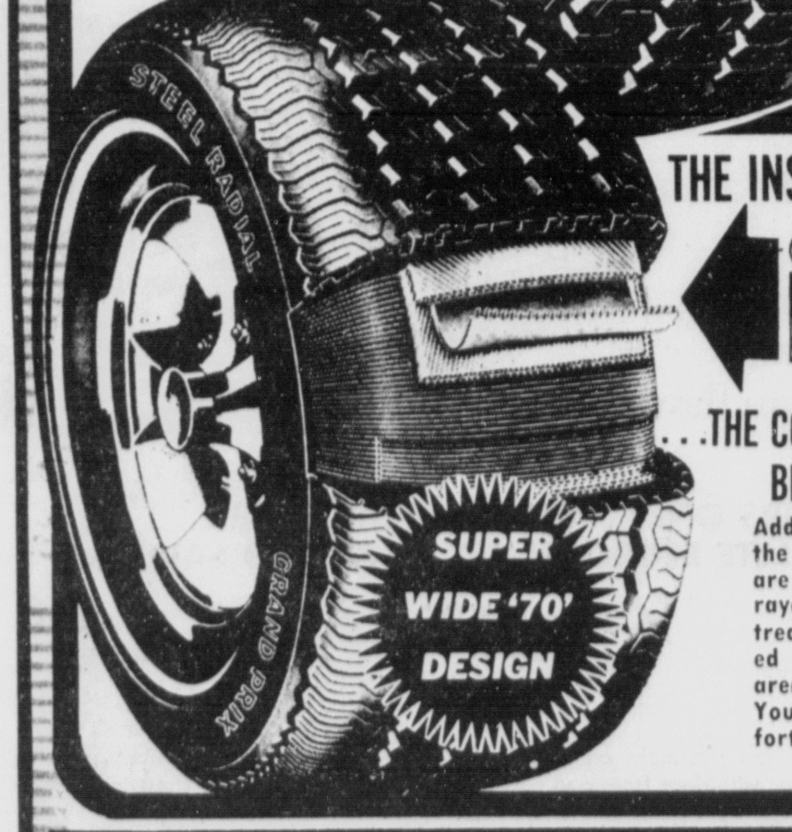
SAFETY! The combination of steel and radial construction when added to 4 rayon belts and 2 strong body plies of rayon cord delivers a tire of unusual safety and protection from road hazards and punctures.

TRACTION! Radial construction gives you a full flat footprint on the road. The Grand Prix Steel Radial's aggressive tread grabs the road to deliver a feeling of control and traction. On curves and corners in particular you will experience the feeling of stability that full footprint traction makes in driving.

STABILITY! Flexible body plies that run straight from bead to bead combine with the tread stabilizing belts to provide shoulder to shoulder stability. The tread remains in full contact with the road when cornering. You experience maximum control at all times.

IMPACT RESISTANCE All the extra protection delivered by the steel and rayon belts and strong body plies helps to shrug off road shock and punctures and make this a worry free tire.

FREE WITH ANY NEW TIRE PURCHASE. . .
INSTALLATION ON CONVENTIONAL WHEELS • 5,000 MILE ROTATION WITH PURCHASE OF WHEEL BALANCE • 8 POINT SAFETY INSPECTION. PUNCTURE REPAIR.



THE INSIDE STORY. . .

. . .THE COMFORT OF A STEEL BELTED RADIAL TIRE!
Adding to the protection of the super strong steel belt are 4 rayon belts. The folded rayon belts stabilize the tread and also provide added protection to the tread area and pad the steel belt. You get Stability and Comfort.

Special Indian Panel Is Formed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate Republican and Democratic leaders yesterday announced creation of a special Senate committee "to get California moving on solving its Indian problems."

Senate Republican Caucus Chairman John L. Harmer of Glendale and Democratic Caucus Chairman Mervyn M. Dymally of Los Angeles issued a joint statement urging senators to join the Senate Ad Hoc Committee in Indian Affairs.

"We must set aside partisan differences, take hold of these long-festering problems and do something," said Dymally, adding that possibly some of the $852 million state budget surplus could be used to give Indians "the chance they deserve."

Harmer said he has "long been concerned about the complexity inherent in providing our Indian people with adequate housing, education, jobs and with a sounding board in the Legislature to hear their opinions firsthand. I hope this temporary committee can move us in that direction."

The lawmakers said the committee was set up after they and other caucus members met several times with representatives of the American Indian Movement. Dymally and Harmer said they wanted to hear from all segments of the Indian population in California on how to solve Indian problems.

They said three possible approaches will be examined by the committee:

Setting up a committee of government officials and Indian representatives to deal with problems.

Creating an Indian ombudsman's office to receive Indian grievances and try to work them out with state, federal and local agencies.

Forming a state-federal committee which would meet regularly with Indian representatives to help resolve Indian problems involving health, education, jobs and criminal justice.

"This must be an effort with full Indian participation," Dymally and Harmer said. "It must not become just another effort bogged down by white man's domination and telling he Indian what is best for him."

Tape Equipment Reported Stolen

A stereo tape player, two speakers and tapes valued at a total of $569 were stolen from an auto owned by Gerald L. Diminovich, 5 Harte Street, San Rafael, police said.

Tentative Approval To 15 Units

The Tiburon Planning Commission has tentatively approved two single-family developments totaling 15 units above the Hilarita Housing site and Reed School.

Planning assistant Andrew E. Hahto said commissioners Monday approved tentative subdivision maps and precise plans for the eight-unit Reed Park subdivision and the seven-unit Radomile development.

The houses are to be built on Round Hill Road.

Commissioners also viewed plans for 14 apartments at 48 Lyford Drive but asked the applicant, H. R. Lever, to redesign one of the three buildings so that views from neighboring dwellings are not blocked.

The revised plans will be considered at an adjourned commission meeting at 8 p.m. April 17 at city hall. Also on the agenda for that session will be a hearing on rezoning much of the city's ridgeland to a special planned residential and open space zone.

If the land is rezoned, Hahto said property owners who want to build would be asked to set aside part of their developments as open space.

A Woman Mayor

Disaster Label Eyed For Dead Tree Areas

SACRMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Wednesday announced he will declare a state of emergency in Alameda and Contra Costa counties due to the fire danger posed by dead eucalyptus trees in the hills east of Oakland.

The governor said the declaration was part of a long-range plan worked out between the state and representatives of local governments from the affected areas on dealing with the fire hazard.

Reagan said the plan is designed to make "the best, most effective use" of local and state resources to alleviate the potential fire hazard resulting from the killing of the highly inflammable trees by freezing temperatures last December.

Under the agreement, the governor's disaster declaration will cover both counties plus the cities of Oakland, Berkeley, El Cerrito and Kensington plus the East Bay Regional Park District and the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

Reagan, in a statement issued by his office, said he also will ask President Nixon to declare threatened portions of the East Bay hills a disaster area. The designation would allow residents to apply for federal aid to assist them in clearing brush, dead trees and other debris which are fire hazards from their property.

The agreement also provides that the state and affected local government will establish a center to coordinate fire prevention activities and insure immediate response in case of fires. The state Division of Forestry will increase its firefighting capability in the area.

Also, the state will assign National Guard units and equipment to augment the work of local agencies and volunteers in removing dead trees and brush from the area.

Final details of the agreement were concluded at a meeting Wednesday in the governor's office attended by state and local officials, including Mayors John Reading of Oakland and Warren Widener of Berkeley.

Assault Case Still Probed

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against a 28-year-old Santa Venetia man arrested Monday on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon and assault with intent to rape.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Raymond E. Gilbert said Craig Clayton Nance was released pending further investigation of the allegations of a 25-year-old woman given a ride by Nance.

The woman told San Rafael police Nance gave her a ride in San Rafael, and, after saying he would rape her, drove to his home. His roommates took her to police.

Preregistration Is Set For Mill Valley Pupils

Preregistration of children who will enter kindergarten in the Mill Valley School District in September will be conducted Tuesday and Wednesday at all schools in the district (except the Middle School) from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

To be eligible for kindergarten, a child must be five years old on or before Dec. 2. Proof of age, such as a birth or baptismal certificate, passport, hospital record of birth or notarized statement by parent or guardian, must be supplied.

Parents are asked to know the dates of children's immunizations for polio, rubella, diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

Tapes Are Stolen From Parked Car

Stereo tapes and case worth $236 were stolen Tuesday from a car owned by Gary M. Burrafato of Fairfax, San Rafael police reported.

The auto was parked in the 500 block of Lindaro Street.

Santa Rosa Groups Will Play Friday

The Santa Rosa String Quartet and Contemporary Woodwind Quintet will present a concert of chamber music in Ives Hall at Sonoma State College tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Margaretta Redwine and Jean Stevens of the Sonoma State music faculty are members of the group. The program will include music by Hadyn, Mozart, Poulenc and Brahms.

PROFESSIONAL INSTRUCTION — Thomas Fleschute (right), 15, and Julia Sonsteng, 11, learn the ways of marksmanship from disabled Petaluma policeman Vilho Ahola, who has devoted his time since being shot three years ago to helping young shooting enthusiasts.

EVEN THOUGH PARALYZED

Petaluma Policeman Spending Time With Junior Rifle Team

By BONNIE BARD

Three years have passed since Petaluma policeman Vilho Ahola was paralyzed by an assailant's bullet and the months have been filled with therapy sessions and helping youngsters.

Ahola, 45, was attempting to quell a family argument the morning a bullet struck his spinal cord and left him paralyzed from the waist down. The officer since has made long strides to regain physical control of his husky frame. His convicted assailant, Walter Hale, 55, is serving a prison term.

Much of Ahola's time has been spent trying to bring his life back to normal. He still has therapy sessions twice weekly and can now drive a car, although he remains bound to a wheelchair.

A great deal of time also has been devoted to forming the Petaluma Police Assistance League Junior Rifle Team. He has used his reputation as a police marksman to mold a team of youngsters.

The 30-member team includes boys and girls ranging in age from 10 to 18.

"Eight are already working toward the expert rank," Ahola said proudly. "They're a real fine group of youngsters.

Ahola holds 20 national shooting records and a life master rating from the National Rifle Association. He qualified many times for the Olympic shooting team, but never was able to give up his job to devote time for the required months of training.

The young marksmen are graded for shooting from various positions. Youngsters compete for individual awards as well as for team scores.

The team now has five .22 caliber rifles. One was purchased and four are on loan from the Army through the Department of Civilian Marksmanship.

"We also get ammunition and targets from them, but you wouldn't believe the amount of paperwork that's involved," Ahola said. "The Army wants to make sure it doesn't end up in the wrong hands."

"We have a big stress on safety," he said. "We have strict rules on how to handle the guns and they're strictly enforced. We've had no problems and after a while safety becomes a habit."

Most of the youngsters had never handled guns before joining the team. "It's a good sport because you don't really have to be an athlete," he said. "It's not a muscle sport and youngsters who might not be able to make the football team can learn to enjoy and excel in shooting."

"It takes a lot of self-discipline since the sport really requires coordination of the mind and muscles," Ahola said. "We've found the youngsters build up self-confidence and it carries over into their school work and other areas."

Ahola said the youngsters have raised money on their own by providing services rather than asking for donations. Team members received $750 last year for clean-up duties at the Sonoma-Marin Fairgrounds. Money is also raised by operating the cloak stand for events at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

Ahola, with the help of parents and officers George Evans and Donald Price, drive the youngsters to shooting matches throughout the bay area.

"We've really been too successful," Ahola said. A long list of youngsters awaits an opening on the team. But until a larger shooting range is found, the team cannot be expanded.

Ahola hopes a new range offering facilities for more than four shooting positions soon can be built in Petaluma.

In addition to his time with the team, Ahola worked part time three days a week doing statistical work at the police department.

Not only does the work keep him in contact with police work and fellow officers, it also helps out financially.

"I really took a big pay cut when I got hurt," Ahola said. "I was making $850 a month at the time and now I get $284 from state compensation. It's really tough making ends meet with a wife and two sons."

"If I had known it could turn out like this I would have continued being a cranberry picker in Massachusetts," he said with some bitterness.

"Except for the money situation, everybody's really been great to me," he said. "I can drive now and be independent. It's really not all that hard to keep busy."

A Hike In Airline Passengers Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) officials predict airline passenger traffic will more than double over the next decade, exceeding the 500 million-a-year level.

The FAA estimated yesterday there will be about 179 million domestic airline passengers this year and that the figure will climb to 460 million in 1984. Adding those traveling overseas, there will be about 200 million enplanements in 1973 and 524 million a year by 1984.

Conflict Of Interest Is Cleared Up

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The chairman of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District's advisory council was cleared yesterday of a possible conflict of interest.

Joseph D. Coons of San Rafael, a consulting chemical engineer, has represented an oil company that wants to build a new refinery in Contra Costa County. A citizen opposed to the refinery suggested last month that Coons may be unsuitable to continue on the council because of his work for the refinery.

District directors, however, agreed unanimously yesterday there is no merit to the suggestion of a conflict of interest. A closed-door discussion of the possible conflict had been scheduled, but the issue was settled openly with a letter from the advisory council defending Coons.

The council noted it has nothing to do with permits for oil refineries, thus there is no way it could affect the outcome of its application for a district permit. "There is not one shred of evidence to suggest that he has ever been motivated by anything other than a desire to help establish sound and workable air pollution control measures," it said of Coons.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors also:

ELECTION — Voted, 12-2, to oppose SB 546 by Sen. Alfred Alquist, D-San Jose, which would require election of district directors instead of a board composed of county supervisors and city councilmen. Both Marin representatives, Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Sausalito City Councilman Stephen Fraser, voted with the majority to oppose the bill.

SECRETS — Voted, 8-6, to support pending legislation to eliminate "trade secrets" from air pollution data closed to public disclosure.

VIOLATIONS — Received staff report that notices for violating district regulations have been issued against Hillcrest Hospital and Richard Fields, both of Petaluma, and Wilmac Constructors Inc., Rohnert Park. None was issued in Marin.

Marin Artists Poster Winners

Two Marin youngsters were blue ribbon winners in a wildlife poster contest sponsored by the San Francisco Zoological Society, officials announced.

Jennifer MacSwain, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacSwain of Lucas Valley, and Paul Clary, 13, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Clary of San Rafael, were the winners.

Jennifer won first prize for her picture in poster paints of a giraffe conversing with birds. Paul sketched a woodland stream and its inhabitants in pen and ink. They were among more than 600 contest entrants.

Sewage Flowing Into Lake Erie

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — A pipeline at the city sewage treatment plant ruptured Wednesday pouring 70,000 gallons of raw sewage a minute into Lake Erie.

All businesses and residents were asked to curtail the use of water as much as possible.

An estimated 250 million gallons of the sewage is expected to be pumped into the lake before the rupture is fixed sometime Friday.

Death Of Boy Blamed On Rose

Thomas Gardiner, the Oxford coroner, recorded a verdict of accidental death Wednesday and said Simon died by a million-to-one chance.

Simon, celebrating his seventh birthday, was playing in the garden with his party guests when he fell on a rose bush. Thorns pierced his mouth and the inside of his throat.

He died nine days later from blood clotting in the brain and arteries, the coroner's court was told.

Pioneer 11 Ready For Long Journey

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A nuclear-powered spacecraft named Pioneer 11 is set for launch tonight on a 20-month, 620-million mile journey to explore the planet Jupiter.

The 570-pound probe is scheduled to take off at 9:11 p.m. EST on an Atlas-Centaur rocket.

French Halt A Soviet Ship

BREST, France (AP) — A French destroyer stopped a Soviet cargo vessel in the Atlantic today and a boarding party ordered the ship to return to French waters after it apparently rammed and sank a French fishing trawler.

The Soviet ship was being escorted to Brest.

The trawler, the Dany Gerard, out of the Brittany port of Loctudy, was lost with six men aboard.

Conservationist Groups Lose Plea

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Riverside County Board of Supervisors voted Wednesday to reject two environmental impact report provisions sought by conservation groups.

The board voted down a proposal to ban developers from making their own impact reports and another plan which would have required public hearings on controversial development projects.

City Worker Group Formed In Tiburon

Tiburon's city employees have announced formation of an employees association which will begin discussions on salaries and benefits with City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer in time for this year's budget preparation.

Twenty-five of the city's 30 full-time employees voted unanimously to form the Tiburon City Employees Association, according to Louise Mirata, the group's president.

The group has yet to request formal recognition of the city council as the bargaining agent for employees, Balmer said, but he is treating the association as though it has been recognized.

Several bills pending in Sacramento could change the procedure in recognizing and dealing with employee groups, Balmer said, so he is waiting until action is taken on these before acting on formal recognition.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Mirata said, the association will meet to draw up a list of requests regarding salaries and fringe benefits which will be given tc Balmer for inclusion in this year's recommended budget.

Within the association are three divisions: police, public works and city hall employees, Balmer said.

All city employees with the exception of five department heads belong to the group, Mrs. Mirata said. Other officers are Frank Brooks, vice president, and Janet Foulger, secretary-treasurer.

Banana Prices At 1948 Level

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — More people are eating bananas than ever before, and at 1948 prices.

"I doubt that any other food product can make that claim," said Donald J. Kirchoff, a salesman for Castle & Cook.

He told a meeting of security analysts Wednesday that his firm is now No. 1 in the banana business, supplying 40 per cent of the North American market.

The reason you can buy a banana at 25-year-old prices, he said, "is because of major technical advances in growing and marketing the fruit."

He said the average American eats 18 pounds of bananas each year, making it the most popular fruit in the United States.

BOLTS DON'T STOP THEFT OF HYDRANT

Going one step beyond the adage that people will steal anything that isn't nailed down, thieves last week stole a heavy, new fire hydrant that was bolted into place on Janes Street in Homestead Valley.

The Marin County Sheriff's Department said yesterday the thieves turned off the water, then unbolted the 185-pound hydrant located in a construction area.

The yellow and green cast iron plug, owned by the Tamalpais Valley Fire Protection District, was valued at $225. It disappeared between 4:30 p.m. last Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday.

Newton Says His Party 'Much Alive'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Huey P. Newton, co-founder and minister of Defense of the Black Panther Party said yesterday his organization is "still very much alive and kicking" although it has given up "the gun for the balllot."'

Newton, 31, said the party has not abandoned the original "vision of revolution," but had chosen the ballot and community organizing as weapons to achieve that end."

Reed School Sign-Ups For Kindergarten Set

Registration dates for kindergarten in the Reed School District have been announced.

Children scheduled to attend Granada School will register there tomorrow; Bel Aire registration will be at the school Wednesday and registration for Belvedere and Tiburon schools will be at Reed School April 13. Hours at all schools are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Vision and hearing tests will be given and teachers will be on hand to meet parents and children.

Although parents are not required to register their children on the above dates, school officials said, they are asked to do so in order to give the district an accurate idea of the number of kindergartners who will attend school in September.

To be eligible, children must be 5 years old as of Dec. 1. Proof of age will be required.

Three Deny Dealing In Hashish Oil

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Mill Valley man and two companions from Oakland have pleaded innocent in U.S. District Court to charges arising from confiscation of $100,000 worth of hashish oil.

The Mill Valleyan, Thomas Paul Mabie of 690 Camino del Canon, and the two others were arrested February 26 in Sausalito while reportedly in the process of selling a portion of the powerful drug to undercover agents.

Charged with possession of hashish oil with intent to distribute it, the trio entered pleas Monday before Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli. A hearing on pretrial motions was set for April 24, with trial scheduled to follow May 9.

Agnew Releases Friendly Story

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's office has approved distribution of a newspaper column about him to all members of the Republican National Committee and all GOP state party chairmen.

The move was considered by some here as the first indirect encouragement Agnew has given to anyone seeking to promote him for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976. Agnew has said he would not decide until at least 1974 whether to run.

The column, an interview with James Reston of The New York Times, was distributed recently by Clarence E. Warner, Oklahoma Republican party chairman.

Candidates Discuss Views On Key Issues

Class cutting and modular scheduling at San Rafael High School and selection of a new superintendent for the city schools came in for discussion last night at a San Rafael Board of Education candidates' forum.

About 100 people were on hand for the forum at San Rafael High School, sponsored by the San Rafael Parent-Teacher Association Council and San Rafael Teachers Association. Two of the six candidates will be elected to the school board on April 17.

The modular scheduling program was stoutly defended by Jeffrey Yarbrough III, 18-year-old board candidate who is himself a senior at the school; by incumbent Paul K. McMullen, and by candidate Lewis S. Pollock. Candidate Suzanne L. Beitel thought students should be given still greater flexibility in class scheduling.

Candidate Gale B. Fisher, however, said modular scheduling "is one of the greatest concerns of parents." She blamed it for much of the class cutting, which she said is excessive at San Rafael High, because it makes it difficult to know whether a student is cutting or merely has a "free mod."

"We are spending tax money on students who are not in class," charged Mrs. Fisher.

Candidate Marie J. Sessi suggested that students should be required to earn the right for more flexible class scheduling by proving they can assume the responsibility entailed.

But Pollock won a round of audience applause when he declared: "I absolutely disagree with locking kids up in school."

Mrs. Beittel said the school system needs to reevaluate its goals before hiring a new superintendent to replace John F. Plank, who will leave in July for a job in Singapore.

Mrs. Fisher said she was dismayed that the 11 persons named to a committee to screen superintendent candidates are all members of school administrations and faculties.

Pollock said it is the sole responsibility of the board of education to select a superintendent.

All the candidates deplored the state's teacher tenure laws, particularly the requirement for dismissing teachers solely on the basis of seniority and holding a lottery to determine which of the latest hired shall be released.

Pollock and McMullen differed on teacher evaluation, McMullen insisting it is solely up to administrators while Pollock urged participation by students and parents. Mrs. Sessi joined Pollock in urging student participation, saying it would benefit teachers to have their students evaluate them by "blind ballot" procedure.

High school counseling also came in for some criticism, with all agreeing it needs improvement. Mrs. Sessi suggested adopting the "home room counselor" plan which has been used in San Rafael's junior high schools.

Over-all, incumbent McMullen defended the way things are done by the present board and administration, with all the challengers except Yarbrough hitting at weaknesses in current operations.

Helen Bentley of KPIX (Channel 5) television was moderator.

Airlines Accused Of Charging Improper Fares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Citing 193 separate cases, the Civil Aeronautics Board's Bureau of Enforcement has accused seven major airlines of charging passengers improper fares.

Bureau Director Richard J. O'Melia said Wednesday that the airline companies involved could face as much as a $1,000 fine for each violation.

The seven airlines cited by the bureau were: American, Eastern, National, Trans World, United, Allegheny and Piedmont.

In a complaint to the CAB, the bureau alleged that the airlines were collecting "improper fares from passengers" making connecting flights.

Mulryan, Nixon Win Support Of Students

San Rafael City Council candidates Lawrence E. Mulryan and Jack G. Nixon have emerged as the favorites of a group of 66 San Rafael High School government students who heard council contenders air their views at a candidates meeting last week.

In a poll of the students, incumbent councilman Mulryan won 37 votes, with Nixon a close second at 32 votes.

Third in the poll was candidate Thomas R. O'Toole, with 20 votes, according to instructor Morse Byer.

Candidate Leo Tinkler polled 19 votes, Richard C. Fox 15 votes, and Carl J. (Red) Brown nine votes, said Byer, noting that Brown did not even appear before students at last Monday's candidate's session because he was teaching at the time at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The council contenders meet again at 7:30 p.m. today for a candidates night at Vallecito School in Terra Linda.

Hopefuls To Talk

Eleven candidates for four seats on the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School District board are expected to air their views at a candidates' night sponsored by the school board at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Mesa clubhouse in Bolinas.

Tunney Urges Full Space Work Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Space programs that will inject about $750 million into the California economy in fiscal 1974 alone were supported yesterday by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif.

Tunney, testifying before the Senate Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee, urged full funding of the NASA programs.

The California Democrat emphasized three NASA projects —Skylab, Apollo-Soyuz Test Project and the Space Shuttle —in his prepared testimony.

Of $2.5 billion earmarked for Skylab, Tunney said, about $1 billion will be spent in California over the life of the program.

"In December of this year," he said, "the number of Californians employed in the Skylab effort will reach 4,500."

Tunney said the Apollo-Soyuz program would add up to $65 million and 2,200 jobs to the state's economy.

He said a $2.5 billion Space Shuttle contract awarded to Rockwell international last fall would result in the flow of about $1.4 billion into the California economy and provide direct employment for 18,000 aerospace workers.

In addition, Tunney said, fiscal 1974 NASA programs in California would mean about $163.9 million and 8,000 jobs at four facilities—the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, the Ames Research Center, the Flight Research Center and the Western Test Range.

"Any further reductions in the NASA budget could result in closing one or more of these vital California installations," he said.

For Sweet Sleep

SINGAPORE (UPI) — A department store here is selling "sweet sleep pillows" stuffed with different herbs and leaves for use of insomniacs. The pillows, with stuffings that include tea leaves and chrysanthemum petals, sell for between $3.30 and $5 each.

Woman Robbed Of $200 Cash

A Sausalito woman has reported to Marin sheriff's deputies she was robbed of $200 in cash at gunpoint Saturday.

Deputies said Irene Anderson of Gate 6 reported Tuesday that she was parking her car in the houseboat area at 2:30 a.m. when a man armed with a snub-nose revolver ordered her to hand over her purse.

The robber was described as a black adult, deputies said.

CARDEN-MARIN SCHOOL

Teacher Learns What It's Really About

By JOAN LISETOR

Laurene Jensen taught school in Fresno for many years, but it was not until she went to a seminar led by Mae Carden in Southern California that she knew why she was teaching.

Now director of the Carden-Marin School in San Rafael Mrs. Jensen came out of retirement to teach the Carden method of education in Marin County.

The Carden-Marin School is the outgrowth of a private school which began five years ago when a group of Christian Science parents got together to find a private school with a good system.

Forerunners of the Carden school were Clairbourn-Marin and the Shepherd School, which met at various locations in San Rafael.

"The Carden method appeals to Christian Scientists because principles are stressed," Mrs. Jensen said, "and I heard two years ago that a group wanted to start a Carden School in Marin. Things were not going well with the Shepherd School, so I offered my help."

MRS. JENSEN had founded the Fresno Carden School after attending the seminar and taught there before moving to Point Richmond several years ago. She offered her expertise to the parents in Marin organizing the Carden school, and they eventually offered her the position of director.

No longer restricted to Christian Science children, the school now has 41 students and six teachers.

"I am in the classroom when a child requires individual attention," she said. "Our classes are small, and we have dedicated teachers who love to teach. Each child receives individual attention, so we don't want to get big, but a little bigger. Our salaries are practically nonexistent."

All teachers are required to attend the two-week seminars conducted by Miss Carden each summer. Miss Carden devised the academic curriculum and reviews the method with teachers in a series of annual seminars.

According to Miss Carden the purpose of the method is to develop adjusted, capable, confident, eager, alert, courageous, generous, just, self critical, compassionate, courteous, happy children who have a sense of humor, who will be able to develop their native ingenuity, who base their actions on the idea that we came to life to make a contribution to the welfare of the human race.

"MOST OF our children are here because their parents are unhappy with public schools because there is not enough structure and emphasis on moral values and character training," Mrs. Jensen explained.

Upon entering the classroom in the morning each child greets his teacher with a handshake and courteous remark, and at the end of the day they again shake hands and also evaluate the day's progress, Mrs. Jensen explained. Children rise when an adult enters the classroom.

In kindergarten work is done to build the ability to observe detail, stress is on pronunciation, and an enrichment background of associative material is offered to the child before he learns to read, Mrs. Jensen said.

"After ninth grade most of our pupils have gone on to good private schools and do very well," she said.

It is her belief that the teacher fails to teach when the child fails to learn.

"We are always drawing from within the child," she said.

The Payoff—Tips On Less Expensive Meats

LIVERMORE (AP) — The meat boycott is a lot of tripe, and housewives deserve the higher meat prices they are getting, says Margie Thompson, who has been in the butchering business for 30 years.

To prove her point, Mrs. Thompson, 52, plans to start a meat-cutting class to show house-wives how to cut costs by retrieving choice cuts from less savory ones.

Mrs. Thompson says spiraling meat costs have been caused to a great extent by housewives' demands for more packaged gourmet cuts. She also criticizes women for skimping on family food budgets to pay for other luxury items.

Mrs. Thompson, who learned meat cutting after answering a "Butcherette Wanted" ad in 1943, now wants to teach techniques housewives can use to save money.

A round steak, selling here for $1.49 a pound, if properly cut yields top and swiss steaks which sell from 20 cents to 60 cents more in stores, she said.

HOUSEWIVES COULD save "at least 40 cents a pound" by cutting steaks and stew pieces off a prime rib roast, she said. And a large porterhouse or T-bone can be cut into New York steaks or filet mignon.

She also recommends saving leftovers and to stop purchasing "out of sight" luncheon meats which sell in four-ounce packages for 69 cents.

Women's Club Members Prepare For Convention

Marin members of federated women's clubs are coordinating the work prior to the Golden Gate District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, convention in San Rafael Tuesday and Wednesday.

As convention chairman, Mrs. Ragnar Thaning of San Rafael is overseeing the two day program at the Holiday Inn. Assisting with the plans are Mrs. Claude Besselieu of San Rafael, Mrs. William Porter, district vice president; and Mrs. Dale Jensen, district amenities chairman. Mrs. John D. Atkinson is district president.

For the president's open house Monday at 5:30 p.m., the Corte Madera Women's Club and the Tamalpais Centre Woman's Club will hostess and the Outdoor Art Club of Mill Valey will decorate. The latter will also furnish floral arrangements for the podium during the meeting.

The Novato Federated Women's Club will decorate the head table and assembly tables for the Tuesday luncheon, and the San Rafael Improvement Club will decorate for the Tuesday banquet and the awards luncheon Wednesday.

The Larkspur Woman's Club and the Marin Women's Legislative Council are providing room arrangements, and the Sausalito Woman's Club is preparing tote bags for the delegates.

The pages and ushers committee are Mmes. Harold Arthur, Americo Oberto, C. Harvey Mielenz and Alvin Baukol, and Misses Wylma Cunningham and Eloise Mays, chairman, all of San Rafael.

Mmes. Art Aviron and Charles Tacchi are assisting Mrs. Jensen with amenities.

Mrs. J. L. Heisel, credentials chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Baukol and Mrs. Fred Bardo of the Outdoor Art Club.

The Orchestra Piccola will play during the Wednesday awards luncheon.

ON THE AGENDA

18th Annual Easter Egg Hunt, Fair Next Week At Ross Center

Pixie Parents 18th annual Easter Egg Hunt and Fair will be held Wednesday and Thursday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Three new events have been added to the public event for preschool children and their parents. In the Creative Play Experience children will have a choice of working with clay or drawing, view an aquarium and a terrarium and be allowed to keep an item they recognize through touch in a "touch me" box.

Also new this year is a four-foot high, 14-foot square crawl-through maze with stained glass windows, textured walls and an assortment of pictures.

New for small children is a wishing well, where they can wish and fish for prizes.

Traditional activities, hunting for Easter eggs, meeting big bunny, pony rides, popping through the rabbit hole and puppet shows, will be part of the day, and bunny bag lunches will be for sale.

Proceeds from the fair will be used to maintain and improve the grounds and equipment at Pixie Place, the playground for preschool children located at the Art and Garden Center.

Chairman of the fair is Mrs. Steve Thompson, and she is being assisted by Mmes. A. J. Grubb and Donald Herbers.

A WILDFLOWER walk to benefit Amigos de las Americas will be Sunday beginning at 11 a.m. at the Westerbeke and Van Hoosear Ranch in Sonoma.

Dr. Robert West of Corte Madera and Marstin Tallant of San Anselmo will lead groups through the meadows, and families are asked to bring picnics and kites for the afternoon.

Mrs. Frederick W. Goode of San Rafael is reservations chairman and can be contacted for directions.

Reservations chairman is Mrs. Joseph Argento of Corte Madera.

Proceeds will benefit the Penny Pines Foundation, which does reforestation.

WELCOME WAGON of Marin's annual salad bowl charity luncheon will be held Tuesday at 11 a.m. at the Fairfax Community Church.

Reservations chairmen are Mmes. William Young of Belvedere and F. F. Slewing of San Rafael.

A BRIEF meeting to elect new officers is scheduled by the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teacher Association for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the school Student Center.

The meeting is open to parents, teachers and students. It will precede the Tamalpais High School open house which will begin at 8 p.m.

TIBURON PENINSULA Club will hold an art show and cocktail party for members and their guests on Sunday from 4 to 7 p.m.

Chairman Mrs. Harvey Posert has arranged the exhibit of sculpture, prints, jewelry, stitchery, leatherwork and photographs done by members and other Tiburon residents.

BEL MARIN Keys Yacht Club will hold a roaring '20s dinner dance Saturday at the Bel Marin Keys Community Center. A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 8 p.m.

Chairman is Mrs. Donald Knight assisted by Mmes. Henry Kearn, Dan Thrall, Ronald Keil and George Larsen. Reservations chairmen are Mmes. Mary aas and Arthur Oppedal.

Bath Begins Foot Grooming

The foot-grooming routine starts with a soothing, warm bath that includes using a pedibrush and a beauty stone, to smoothe rough spots on heels and bottoms of feet.

A follow-up pedicure is polished off with a coat of enamel in a new earthy tone to match well-manicured nails, and bright lip colors.

VOLUNTEERS JOIN ROBERT'S CREW

Sixty children and their mothers watched the antics of mime Robert Shields of San Francisco at his performance yesterday at the Sausalito Nursery School. At first reactions were mixed, with some of the younger children fearful of the white-faced stranger. When Robert climbed into their familiar tree house, and pretended it was a ship, some of the boldest tots followed him. From then on he was like a Pied Piper for the three to five-year-olds. They were spellbound as he gave such pantomine performances as climbing an imaginary ladder, swimming and impersonating a mechanical doll. When he began to play on the school's outside climbing equipment, many of the children joined him. The mime was asked to entertain by Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman of Sausalito as a birthday treat for their 4-year-old daughter, Lauren.

Marin Couples End Yacht Trip

By MOLLY MARIN

Three Marin couples have just returned from a glamorous two week cruise aboard the 109-foot yacht Pakeha, owned by A. L. McCormick of San Rafael. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Delmas and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spongberg of San Rafael, and Judge and Mrs. Henry Broderick of Tiburon met the ship near the Panama Canal. They stopped in the ports of Cartagena and Santa Maria in Colombia and went on to Curacao, and spent a week exploring the Lesser Antilles. The Pakeha carries a crew of five, including the captain, steward, cook and two deck hands.

MR. AND MRS. William Nave and their sons, William Jr., Robert and Richard Nave and their wives will be hosts at a cocktail party at their restaurant at Nero's in Ignacio from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Guests will be the commanding officers and staff members of Hamilton Air Force Base organizations to meet invited civic and political members of the community.

PUPPETEERS KEN Bloom, Raina Zelenka and Kathy Masterson who will present the performances of the Smithsonian Institution's Touring Puppet Show, "Mark Twain" will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Magagna of San Rafael during the showings, April 13, 14 and 15.

Mrs. Tracy Morton of San Anselmo will entertain the trip for lunch on April 13, and Mrs. Jock Miller will give a gourmet box dinner for the visitors and the committee that night while preparing for the performance at Reed School.

Mrs. Richard Allen will hold a backstage picnic between the Saturday performances, April 14, at San Rafael High School. Mrs. Robert Christensen of San Rafael will entertain between performances April 15 in San Francisco. The Boyd Marin Museum of Science is sponsoring the performances.

MRS. ELLA McCauley of Winona, Minn., celebrated her 80th birthday recently with friends and family at the home of her daughter, Mary Ellen McIntyre of Novato. Her son Joseph McCauley and his wife, Nancy, and daughter, Patti, of Corte Madera attended, and her granddaughter, Janet McCauley of Minnesota, was a guest also for the buffet luncheon.

The Rev. James McCauley of Minnesota celebrated a Mass also for his mother.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

It's Only Wishful Thinking On Her Part—Let The Girl Dream

RAP:

What do you think of a girl who isn't even going with a guy, but she sees a wedding dress marked down to half price, so she buys it — just in case? — CART BEFORE THE HORSE?

CBTH:

I'd say she really believes in the power of positive thinking! — HELEN

CBTH:

I'd say she's a little ahead of the Chimes. — SUE

DEAR RAP:

I hope to become a doctor, so I'm especially interested in helping the medical profession.

After I die, young or old, I want my body donated to science. If I should die in my teens, my parents will handle my affairs. Can you give me some suggestions on how to tell them I want my body sent to a medical school without the fancy funeral or anything? — FUTURE DOCTOR WHO WANTS TO HELP, ALIVE OR DEAD

P.S. They'll probably think I'm morbid, which I'm not.

DEAR FUTURE DOCTOR:

Why not use this column to start a discussion? — SUE

DEAR PARENTS OF FUTURE DOCTOR:

Even if you don't agree — listen. Death is a normal part of life and when a teenager talks about it rationally, he shouldn't be considered morbid. — HELEN

HELEN AND SUE:

I am a girl of 16 and my girlfriend, also 16, has been out of contact. In the past we shared many great moments. We were just like sisters, and called each other every day.

For the past two weeks, I haven't been able to get in touch with her. I call, and someone at her house says she can't come to the phone, or some other excuse.

I checked with the kids who go to her school and they say she hasn't been there. Then I tried calling her again, and they hung up on me.

I'm afraid something is really wrong. Her folks act so strange they might not even let me in if I went to see her.

What can I do? — DESPERATELY WORRIED FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:

Why not get your parents to call your friend's school? Surely the principal can tell them why she is absent. If she is ill or in trouble, she needs a friend. — SUE

DEAR FRIEND:

But your parents must be the go-betweens. You aren't getting anywhere, trying to break down the wall by yourself. — HELEN

P.S. Please let us know what you discover. Doing an advice column is often like reading a story in the doctor's office — and finding the last page torn out. For curious people like the Bottels —that's darn near fatal! — H. AND S.

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

How Long Should You Keep Stuff?

How long should you keep those valuable pieces of paper such as receipts, deposit slips, check stubs, deeds and bills of sale?

Authorities agree that different valuable records should be keep for varying amounts of time:

PERMANENTLY: Birth certificates, marriage records, wills, Social Security cards, deeds and bills of sale for major purchases, record of securities, guarantees, employment records, personal-property inventory.

FOR SIX YEARS: Check stubs, bank statements, records of business expenses and charitable contributions, payroll records and record of other income, duplicate tax returns.

FOR ONE YEAR: Receipts, receipted bills, duplicate deposit slips.

FOR ONE YEAR after they are closed out: Home and automobile maintenance records; records of debts — what you owed, what was owed to you.

FOR 60 DAYS: Sales slips.

PARENT AND CHILD

This Column For 'Children Only'

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

This column is written especially for children.

Last week, Parent and Child urged your mothers and fathers to ask Sunday Schools and regular schools to make a radical change in the way you're taught. We don't think they can manage all by themselves so we're enlisting your aid.

Ready?

We think you shouldn't have to learn lessons in school or in Sunday School just with kids your own age. We think you should be able to progress as fast as you can and that your teachers should spend more time teaching you how to learn and less time telling you how poorly you're doing.

If you're for that, then read on.

WHAT WE told your parents was that swimming and music teachers didn't make kids stay with their own age group. They let them learn just as much as they can. For example, even if you were 10 years old, the swimming teacher wouldn't let you into the deep end of the pool until you'd learned to float and tread water and swim with your feet off the bottom. But he would let you swim with more advanced swimmers if you prove you can keep up, even though they may be older than you.

And then we told your parents that there wasn't any reason for you to be divided up into reading or arithmetic or Sunday School classes by age, but that you should be able to progress according to what you learn.

We don't really know why so many Sunday School and regular school teachers separate learners by age instead of ability. But because so many churches put out handbooks that advocate such class divisions, and so many teachers' colleges tell teachers to work with 25 to 30 students all the same age, your parents are going to have a difficult time getting the superintendents to change.

You can help by asking to be tested for ability beyond the grade or class you're in. Suppose, for example, you're in the fourth grade. You can ask to be tested on your ability to read in the fifth-grade basal reader and to do several pages in the fifth-grade workbook.

If you pass that test easily, you could ask to be tested on the sixth-grade basal reader. It's just as though you were taking swimming lessons and were sure you could not only swim in the deep end of the pool but could swim 20 laps of the pool without stopping. Probably the swimming coach would let you try. If you succeeded, the coach would move you to a more advanced class.

YOU MUST let your parents know what you are doing when you take these advanced reading tests, and you must tell your teacher and the principal what you're trying to prove. Then, supposing you have done as well as the average sixth grader even though you're in the fourth grade, you should not ask to be put in grade six.

You see, you don't just want to hop up to another grade. What you want to help your parents do is show the school that they are organized incorrectly, that you should spend most of the time in ability groupings and be allowed to progress continuously.

Another thing you could do is to find several other students in your grade and in grades above and below you who all have the same ability and interest in reading. Then ask the school to let you study together for half a year.

At the end of a half year, you might regroup again so that you'd be in with those kids who are learning about the same things you are. This way, if you were to put in some extra practice time by yourself, you could see it pay off in progress to a higher learning level.

It would be the same if you had practiced swimming longer and harder than the rest of your class. If you really did well enough, you could be sure the swimming coach would put you in another group.

You'll have to be patient with your Sunday School and regular school teachers and superintendents, though. They don't always want to change even though they know what they're doing isn't working too well.

SOCIOLOGIST Dr. Ruth Lewis Farkas is the newly appointed ambassador to Luxembourg from the United States. She believes her experience in business may have helped sway the appointment toward her.

Ambassador To Luxembourg Was A Big Donor To Nixon

By MARTHA FOSTER
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

PALM BEACH, FLA. — Somewhere in the middle of the storm that still brews over President Nixon's campaign chest is Dr. Ruth Lewis Farkas, sociologist, philanthropist, and newly appointed U.S. Ambassador to Luxembourg.

Dr. Farkas is due soon to take her diplomatic post — a job that critics tie to her approximately $300,000 contribution to the Nixon campaign.

The newly chosen ambassador takes issue with the charges and said in a recent interview, "I'm sure he (the President) thought I had the qualifications." She added that the sum was a "minimal amount" compared to the more than $3 million she and her husband have given to hospitals, universities, museums, and other charities.

Dr. Farkas is the wife of George Farkas, founder of the Alexander's department store chain headquartered in New York. His business interests have taken the couple throughout the world over the past decades.

"BUT WHEN it's my turn to be in the limelight, he will step aside," she said. "And I don't think the people of Luxembourg will mind having a female ambassador," she added, noting that in the past, rule of the tiny Common Market country has been in the hands of a Duchess.

Dr. Farkas, educated at Columbia and New York Universities, is vice president and consultant sociologist in research of Maferr Foundation, Inc., of New York, an institute for the research of male-female role perceptions and behavior.

"We wondered if males and females really do understand each other," she said. "And we found in our studies that while most young American males wanted a home, they did not want a home-oriented wife.

"And as it turns out, most of the young women we studied felt their husbands wanted them to be home-oriented," she continued. "So you see, there's a big gap in understanding of expectant roles."

Of the Farkas household she said, "Long ago I told my husband if he wanted a housekeeper he shouldn't have picked me. If I were that one-sided, I'd just fall apart."

AS A SOCIOLOGIST, she has lectured throughout this country. She acted as consultant sociologist to the U.S. State Department delegation to the International Conference on Eradication of Illiteracy in Iran in 1965 and has served on numerous boards for the handicapped, the elderly, and underprivileged children.

How will a prominent professional woman adapt to the role of hostess as she will no doubt have to do in her new diplomatic post?

"I think working in the kitchen is great — letting the children help you and in that way teaching them responsibility — but I wouldn't want a steady stream of it."

Asked if she will leave party planning to staff members, Dr. Farkas just smiled and continued talking — on a similar, but different subject.

"Entertaining, to me is an atmosphere of people being comfortable and at ease, with intelligent conversation," she explained.

Dr. Farkas says she has talked briefly on the telephone with Kingdon Gould, the man she will replace in Luxembourg.

"I've never been to Luxembourg for more than a day, but I understand it is most friendly toward the United States," she said.

DR. FARKAS said she feels hre experience in business may have helped sway the appointment her way.

"Luxembourg has become a great financial center, you know," she noted. "It's a small country (55 miles long and 34 miles wide), but it is a member of NATO, the European Economic Community and is home of the International Court of Justice," she said.

"The only thing I am hesitant to leave is the hospital," she said, referring to Beth Abraham Hospital in New York, of which she is president.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Too Many Aces Not Bad Only In The Proverbial Poker Game

It's unusual to have more aces than you can use, but this sad fate befell South in today's hand.

South dealer

◇ A 7 3
♣ K 7

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead — ♡ 9

West opened the nine of hearts, and South was led astray by his ace of hearts. He put up dummy's queen, thus getting a free finesse.

East properly played a low heart, and dummy's queen won the trick. South didn't know it, but he had already lost the hand. He could win only two heart tricks, and was bound to lose two clubs and two diamonds.

WRONG THINKING

South wouldn't dream of making the wrong play if he held the king of hearts instead of the ace.

He would then play the low heart from dummy at the first trick and follow with the king from his own hand — regardless of whether or not an opponent played the ace.

He would next draw trumps with the king and queen, and would then lead a heart to set up two more heart tricks in the dummy. He would get to dummy with the ace of spades and would discard two losing diamonds on dummy's good hearts.

SAME PLAY POSSIBLE

The same play was possible even though South held the ace of hearts. It just looked more difficult.

South should play dummy's low heart to start with, and should win in his hand with the ace. He can then draw trumps with the king and queen, after which he should lead his low heart to force out the king.

The point is that South must keep out of his own way by getting rid of the ace of hearts as quickly as possible.

DAILY QUESTION

You have opened the bidding with one spade, and your partner has raised to three spades. The opponents pass, and it is up to you again.

You hold:
♠- K Q J 10 8 7
♥- A 3
♦- A 7 3
♣- K 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 4 no-trump, the Blackwood Convention, asking partner to bid in such a way as to tell you how many aces he has. If partner bids five hearts, showing two aces, you will continue with 5 no-trump, asking how many kings partner has. You will surely reach a small slam (partner cannot really be aceless), and may reach a makable grand slam.

Drake Boulevard Widening Slated

About a half-mile of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near San Quentin prison will be widened and realigned in a state Department of Public Works project this summer.

Bids will be opened May 2 in Sacramento. A total of $225,000 is available for the project.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Birthday twins! Two of these celebrities were born on the same day and year. Guess who?

1. BETTE DAVIS, 57 or 65 today, has always been a fighter! She decided as a school girl to become an actress, flunked her first screen test, was put in second-rate movies after being signed. But she fought to the top, being called Hollywood's "best" by Life magazine and nominated 10 times for an Academy Award. When offers stopped coming, she ran full-page advertisements in trade magazines asking for work, producing her stunning role in "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" Her price: $200,000 and 10 per cent of the gross.

2. GREGORY PECK, 57 or 65 today, was born in La Jolla, Calif. and educated at the University of California. Tall, thin (6-foot, 3-inches) he has the rugged looks of a sea captain, cow puncher, lawyer, or governor. But he won his Academy Award in 1962 playing a part he really believed, "To Kill a Mockingbird." Says Peck: "We've got to bring about a totally multi-racial society with absolute equality and opportunity of expression . . . and it can be done."

3. MELVYN DOUGLAS, 65 of 72 today, got his big break in 1931 when Greta Garbo chose him as her leading man in the picture, "As You Desire Me." That led to top Hollywood roles straight into the 1940's, when he volunteered at age 40 to serve in the Army during World War II, rising from private to major before it was over. He has been married to actress Helen Gahagan since 1930.

4. CHESTER BOWLES, 65 or 72 today, is a Yale man who made a fortunate early in life by starting a successful New York advertising agency with William Benton. Then he entered politics, serving in the Democratic administrations of President Roosevelt, Truman, and Kennedy. He was twice ambassador to India.

ANSWERS: 1-Betty Davis, 65; 2-Gregory Peck, 57; 3-Melvyn Douglas, 72; 4-Chester Bowles, 72. The last two are the same age.

Sausalito Plan Produces Crowd

By REBECCA LARSEN

Dozens of houseboat dwellers overflowed the Sausalito Planning Commission meeting last night and peppered the builders of the proposed $35 million Schoonmaker development with questions about its effect on the environment.

After an hour, the commission moved from city hall chambers to the Central School auditorium to house the crowd of about 200 at this second hearing on the project.

To be built by the O'Meara-Chandler Co. of Texas, it would include 100 condominiums and a 220-unit inn. There would also be tennis courts, two yacht clubs, restaurants, shops and a boat marina.

The development would end houseboat docking on Napa Street pier, but would open 50 new berths for houseboats.

The developer is seeking zoning changes to allow the planned unit development on 39 acres between Napa and Spring streets in Marinship where A. G. Schoonmaker now has offices.

The commission took no action and continued the hearing until April 18 to give more time to examine an environmental impact report discussed last night.

Summarizing the report, Assist. Planner Jerry L. Cormack said the project would create 150,000 gallons of waste water per day, taking up almost the entire residual capacity of the local sewer system. He said that it might also require more water than the water district can supply. He estimated that 9,000 persons would use the development each day. The project, he said, would produce about $500,000 in revenue per year for the city and school districts.

The main advantage of the project, he said, would be a walkway providing public access to Richardson Bay.

Audience complaints about the project ranged from what would happen to a beach on the property to how much traffic the development would create.

"This would wipe out the fishing industry in Sausalito."

"Seventy per cent of the existing beach would be covered by the development."

"A great many microscopic animals would be destroyed that have importance in the food chain."

"The kind of traffic produced would make Sausalito all the time the congested mess that it is in the summer."

"There's no indication of what kind of impact this project would have in combination with other property proposed for the waterfront."

Sally Blagborn, who said she lives in a Marinship area houseboat, said she has lists of many wildflowers growing in the area and has made sightings of harbor seals and rare birds on the property.

Gate 6 resident Andrea Goodman protested that the development would make Sausalito "a one-class community."

An unidentified man, who said he was 72, complained that waterfront developments would eventually drive him out of his houseboat. "If you approve this plan, what happens to people like me who have lived here modestly for years," he said. "I'm being asked to pay for Mr. Schoonmaker's plans with my life."

Saul Rouda, who said he had helped organize the opposition to the project, asked the commission to survey more people in the hills for their opinions.

At Rouda's request, Ted Schoonmaker, president of A. G. Schoonmaker, said he will open the gates of the property from noon until 5 p.m. this Sunday for anyone who wants to look at it or ask questions.

Steve Siskind, from Environmental Systems International of Los Angeles, which is investing in the project, told the protesting houseboaters that the project would generate heavy traffic during rush hours only. He also said that it would keep some cars from clogging the downtown area.

He complained that the houseboat residents are trying to force their "value judgments" on other people. "Why shouldn't people in an office be able to look out their windows and see water and boats just like you can?" he asked.

He said that the project would provide office space and boat berths badly needed in Sausalito and claimed that the public would have complete access to the waterfront.

"If there is a lot of wildlife on the land now," he said. "Think how much better off they'll be in a tranquil residential area than under the present uses there now."

A. G. Schoonmaker Co. has occupied the property for shipbuilding and marine repairs since the end of World War II.

The commission also granted variances to Wayne T. O'Connell permitting single family homes to be built at 41 and 45 Central Avenue with garages that abut the property line and do not meet five foot sideyard setback requirements, and to Eve Byron Wyatt for an addition to a residence at 105 Cloudview Road, exceeding the allowed building coverage by 726 square feet.

Fare Cut Hikes Bus Patronage

CINCINNATI (UPI) — About 20 per cent more persons are riding buses since fares were cut to 25 cents.

The Cincinnati Transit Co. said about 4,000 more persons than usual rode buses Sunday, 9,000 more than normal on Monday and 11,000 on Tuesday.

Fares had been 50 cents, but a $350,000 a month subsidy, financed by a .3 per cent increase in the city earnings tax, allowed the transit company to reduce them by half.

Events Set By Audubon Society Unit

A slide talk, island excursion, film, nature hikes and rides have been scheduled during April by the Marin Audubon Society.

David and Maggie Cavagnaro will discuss their first two years as resident biologists at the Audubon Canyon Ranch at 8 p.m. Friday at the Ross School auditorium. They also will lead a tour of Volunteer Canyon at 10 a.m. Sunday, meeting at the canyon mouth, one canyon south of the Audubon Canyon Ranch.

Rich Stallcup and Jon Winter will lead a boat tour of the Farallones Islands to view birds during breeding season, departing at 7 a.m. April 15 at the Blue Horizon pier in Sausalito.

Pablo Point land birds will be studied with Robert Stewart April 28, meeting at 8 a.m. at the Point Reyes Bird Observatory headquarters at the end of Mesa Road in Bolinas.

"Twentieth Century Wilderness," a film exploration of the varieties of wilderness areas in the U.S., will be shown by Tom Sterling at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Olney Hall on the College of Marin campus.

Elizabeth Terwilliger will lead a bicycle tour of Bear Valley Trail Monday, meeting at the trailhead parking lot at the Point Reyes National Seashore headquarters near Olema, and a canoe excursion into the Limantour Estero April 16. Both trips are from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

BART Probing First Fatality

OAKLAND (UPI) — A track foreman of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District was killed by a 70 mile-per-hour commuter train Wednesday while he was working on switches at the Hayward yard.

BART's first fatality since operations began last September on the problem plagued line was Miguel C. Camposana, 48, of the Yolo County community of Broderick, where his wife and five children live.

A board of inquiry was told at an emergency meeting that the victim was in the center of the track and turned to look over his should only a split second before he was hit.

Another trackman, Lancelot Perry, told the board that "human error" was the only way he could account for the accident.

A Working Tour Of Afghanistan

Eye-Opening Experience For Orthopedic Surgeon

By PAT ANGLE

It will be a long time before Dr. William Clark forgets the 10-year-old boy he saw recently in a hospital in Afghanistan, lying all curled up and crying out in pain whenever anyone touched him.

His X-rays showed that the bones in both hips had been almost completely destroyed by infection," the San Rafael orthopedic surgeon said.

"It almost brought tears to my eyes, because if that little boy had had modern medical care, there's a good chance he would have recovered. As it is now, he'll never talk again. If he's lucky, he'll die."

Recently Clark spent nine weeks — at his own expense — teaching his specialty to residents at Avicenna Hospital in Kabul as part of a worldwide program sponsored by MEDICO, a service of CARE.

It was an eye-opening experience for a physician who has spent the last 18 years practicing medicine in wealthy, suburban Marin.

The large amount of untreated disease in the desert country was startling to Clark. He saw people with tuberculosis of the bones and spine and others who had never had a doctor's care for congenital deformities, dislocated bones and similar ailments.

One patient had such badly clubbed feet that he was walking on the tops of them and wearing his shoes backwards. Thanks to corrective surgery, the man is on the way to recovery.

Part of the problem is that many of the country's 15 million people — most of them Moslems — will not accept Western medicine. When they are ill, they will depend on prayer or their mullah (religious teacher) to heal them, rather than go to a doctor, according to Clark.

But many of the medical tragedies, particularly some of those he saw, occur because the country is largely without specialists who can handle difficult cases.

"It's not their fault that these things go untreated," he said. "If they don't have people trained in these fields (such as orthopedics), what can they do?"

Under the MEDICO program, (completely financed by private contributions), physicians do not simply treat the sick; they also teach their skills to native doctors, so that the knowledge is left behind when they leave.

The San Rafael surgeon spent mornings making rounds with Avicenna's residents and in surgery. In the afternoons, he did more operations, participated in orthopedic clinics, lectured to the young doctors and taught them how to use braces.

"It's one of the most worthwhile things I ever did," he said. "Here, if I operate on somebody's hip, it's helpful to that person. "But, if I teach a resident to do the operation, he will do many of them and also teach others. So I may, in effect, have operated on 1,000 hips."

Clark came away enchanted with the exotic, ancient land and with great affection for its people.

He delighted in sharing the winding streets with camels, donkeys, turbaned men and mysterious-looking veiled women and poking around the picturesque shops in the old bazaar, which sold everything from oranges to second-hand tires.

"It's a fascinating place, right out of National Geographic; like nothing I had ever seen before."

At Tashqrgan, an old trading center where caravans used to leave for faraway places like Russia and China, Clark was almost convinced he had stepped into the past.

"I didn't have to try to imagine what it looked like a thousand years ago or what the people were doing in those days," he said. "I'm willing to bet it was much the same then."

He found his patients in Afghanistan a "refreshing change" from some in this country who waste their doctors' time with infinitesimal problems which don't really warrant treatment.

"Our society is so rich and we have so much that people tend to complain about things that are not very important. We have a tendency to run to the doctor too often.

"I'll admit that the doctors here often encourage this, because they warn you to come in whenever you have a pain because 'it might be something serious.' " he said.

He added: "In Afghanistan, I could tell from clear across the room that the people who came in needed me."

He was impressed by the "unbelievable stoicism" of the people, who seemed to accept pain quietly and without fuss.

Post operative patients, for example, are given only two aspirins every four hours — if they need it — and many don't even ask for the pills.

"I was amazed at the recovery room at Avicenna because it was so quiet. Here, at Marin General, people will be crying and carrying on after surgery, but it's different there. People seem to realize that an operation is going to hurt and they just lie there and take it."

Clark hopes to return to Afghanistan next year for another stay and this time take along his wife, Patricia, a pediatrician and allergist.

He would like to encourage some of his colleagues to make similar "country calls" and said just about any physician could benefit from the experience.

"It's wonderful to know that you're doing more than just making a living, that you're doing what a doctor is really supposed to do — saving lives and relieving suffering."

Assessment Reductions Announced

The Marin County Assessment Appeals Board has concluded its protest hearings for fiscal 1972-73, awarding some $4.3 million in reductions.

According to the county assessor's office, 538 property owners appealed their assessments this year.

Of the total, 249 reached agreement with Assessor Bert W. Broemmel and did not appear before the appeals board; 203 had their cases heard by the appeals baord, and 86 failed to appear.

Using market value figures, the total value of the protesters' property was listed at $45.4 million by the assessor's office but was dropped to $41.1 million after the appeals.

The total assessed valuation (25 per cent of market value) of the protesters' property was listed at $11.3 million before the appeals and $10.3 million after.

Time Of Year For Predictions

I guess I've waited long enough. With baseball season officially scheduled to get under way today and the Giants trying to beat the rain in Cincinnati, I had better make those predictions which will surely come back in six months to prove me a liar, a cheat and a dumb picker of baseball teams.

In the American League, I have to pick the A's over the Chicago White Sox in the West and Baltimore over Detroit and Boston in a close fight in the East. But I've been hearing a lot of warnings from strong Yankee supporters that the Yanks are back.

I'm expecting a repeat in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds in the West and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the East. Squeezing the old crystal ball for all it's worth, I'll go all the way to October and pick the A's to beat the Pirates in the World Series after those teams eliminate the Orioles and Reds.

The Giants? I'm guessing they play better than .500 ball and end up third, behind the Reds and Dodgers.

And since everybody always picks the winners this time of year, I'm going to go the other way and pick the losers. After all, most of the losers of this world try just as hard as the winners, it's their misfortune to be placed on the other end of the scale.

In the American League cellar I will pick the Milwaukee Brewers of the East and the Texas Rangers of the West, and in the National League lower floor I will go with the Philadelphia Phillies in the East and San Diego Padres in the West. And may their losses be gloriously played.

IT'S THAT TIME of year for 49er promotions man Dick Berg to spend his days talking to pretty young women. What an assignment! Berg is circulating application forms throughout the Bay Area for a new crop of Niner Nuggets, those pretty gals who help the team celebrate touchdowns at games and represent the Niners at banquets, golf tourneys and receptions. They also sing as a choral group.

The 1972 Nuggests included two lovelies from San Rafael, Jo McManus and Diane Tucker. Deadline for applicants is May 15.

MERT LAWWILL of Tiburon, former national motorcycle racing champion, will be in the field Sunday for the season opener at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds in San Jose. Also racing will be Scott Brelsford, former San Anselmo lad who now lives in Woodside. Scott is a younger brother of Mark, national champion who suffered some burns in a fiery crash last month at Daytona Speedway. Mark will appear, as scheduled, at the seventh annual San Francisco International Sport Cycle Exposition at Brooks Hall tomorrow through Sunday. The two Brelsfords and Lawwill are the main part of the Harley Davidson factory racing team.

THREE MARIN COUNTIANS were among the winners in the "name dropping" contest held by the people who run Northstar ski resort at Tahoe. It was a contest to help name the 14 ski runs down 8,600-foot Mount Pluto. So when you skiers are zipping down Polaris Rim, you can thank Thomas G. McShannock of Sausalito for that name, and when you ski down Eagle's Flight, thank Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Silberstein of Mill Valley.

HARRAH'S TAHOE RACEBOOK, even before Rick Barry's ankle injury, was listing the Warriors as 15-1 against winning the National Basketball Association title. The only playoff team picked with steeper odds was Atlanta at 25-. Favored at 2-1 are Los Angeles and Boston.

FOR ALL OF YOU physically fit individuals, the Lake County Chamber of Commerce is now taking entries for its third annual Clear Lake Marathon Sept. 22. The marathon opens with a seven-mile run from Lucerne to Indian Beach Resort in Glenhaven and is followed in order by a three-mile swim across Clear Lake to the Konocti, a return down the mountain and a final three-mile swim back to Indian Beach. As I said, this is for you physically fit individuals.

THE DELIVERY — Tamalpais High School right fielder John Hanley (6) began uncoiling his bat at a ball thrown by San Marin pitcher Mike Robertson in the first inning yesterday as the unidentified umpire looked on. Tam Edges San Marin In Baseball

Tamalpais High School continued to surprise most Marin County Athletic League baseball observers yesterday, as the Indians edged visiting San Marin 6-4.

Tam (2-1) has already won as many league baseball games as it did all last year, while San Marin remained winless at 0-3.

Tom Collins scored the winning run on a passed ball in the fifth inning after the bases were loaded on two walks and a Dave Thomsett base hit.

After San Marin had scored Dave Villa on a Ken Niebur base hit and Bob Louie on a passed ball in the first inning, Tam came roaring back in the same stanza, taking a 3-2 lead, when Thomsett doubled home Collins, and David Jones singled in Thomsett and Bob Hanley.

DeMONT FALLS SHORT

Backhaus Is Second In Cincy Swim Meet

I-J Special Report

CINCINNATI — Robin Backhaus almost scored a victory and Rick DeMont scored the biggest surprise yesterday when five members of the Marin Aquatic Club competed among the nation's best at the National Amateur Athletic Union Short Course Men's and Women's Swimming Championships. (See other swim story, page 26.)

Backhaus was second to Jack Tingley of USC in the 500-yard freestyle event, although he was gaining rapidly on the winner of the last lap. Tingley's winning time was 4:26.86, and Backhaus' time was 4:27.95. Backhaus, of San Rafael, was a bronze medalist in the 200-meter butterfly at the Munich Olympics.

DeMont, the Terra Linda youth who won the Olympic gold medal in the 400-meter free before it was stripped away from him, didn't even make it to the finals in the 500 free here, the closest event in distance to the 400-meter free.

"He missed seven days of practice during the past 25 days because of the flu," explained his coach, Don Swartz. "He just didn't have that punch at the end. We all know it's a disappointment but he will be all right in the 1,650 Saturday," Rick's next event.

DeMont's third in the trials kept him out of the championship finals but his third in the consolation finals gave the Marin A.C. team six points. DeMont's time was 4:33.3, 11th best. Backhaus's second place was good for 17 points, so Marin, with 23 points, is tied for sixth in team standings. Robin had bettered his previous best time by more than six seconds.

Maura Campion of the Marin A.C. was 18th out of 40 in the women's 500 free, 5:10.5, her best time. Kim Hughes was 27th out of 50 in the women's 200 back, 2:15.7, tieing her best time. Art Morrill in the 200 back was 35th out of 63, his time of 1:59.5 first time under two minutes.

Six other members of the Marin Aquatic Club will be getting into action the next two days of the meet.

Badminton Results

Redwood High School's girls badminton team won its third game without a loss yesterday by defeating San Rafael High, 4-1, at San Rafael High. Singles winners were Sue Stoehr and Chris Broderick of Redwood and Ginny Ackerman of San Rafael. Doubles winners for Redwood were Linda May-Leslie Anixter and Pam and Beth Powell.

Ailing Warriors Host Bucks Tonight At 8

OAKLAND (UPI) — With Rick Barry hobbling, the Golden State Warriors may be running on only 4 ½ cylinders tonight at 8 o'clock in their third National Basketball Association playoff game with the Milwaukee Bucks.

But Warrior coach Al Attles promises at least they will run.

"If we play a set-up game and they play a set-up game, we'll lose every time," he said of the obvious disadvantages of playing the Bucks with a deliberate offense and allowing big center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to glare ominously from the pivot.

The teams are deadlocked 1-1 entering the third game of the Western Conference playoffs. The fourth game will be played Saturday night at the Coliseum-Arena.

Milwaukee won the opener by 20 points but lost by three points to the Warriors in Milwaukee Sunday. Barry twisted his right ankle early in Sunday's game and has been giving it whirlpool treatments and running on it gingerly all week.

"If worse comes to worst, I could play," said the Warriors forward who played in all 82 regular season games. He led Golden State with a 22.3 average.

"I'd hurt two tendons in the ankle earlier in the season," said Barry. "They'd just started feeling good again. Then I twist the ankle and reinjure the tendons."

Rick also has been suffering from a pulled back muscle and has been battling a head cold the last couple of days.

"He certainly isn't normal," said Attles. "We'll have to decide after the warmups whether he will be able to play."

In Barry's absence, forward Cazzie Russell tallied 25 points against the Bucks, even with Oscar Robertson guarding him.

Barry also feels the Warriors must run in order to balance the outstanding speed of Milwaukee's Lucius Allen and Bob Dandridge.

"We've got to get down quickly before their defense sets up," noted Barry. "We got too conservative in the final minutes Sunday and we almost lost."

Warrior center Nate Thurmond also has been climbing in the whirlpool this week. He's had fluid drained from his knee but it's nothing too serious.

Thurmond realizes he must try to keep Abdul-Jabbar as far from the hoop as physically possible because the big guy from Milwaukee is deadly with his soft hooks from within 12 feet.

Attles feels if the Bucks need points, they'll go to a three-guard offense with Jon McGlocklin coming in as the third backcourt man to perform his specialty—bombing with keen accuracy from way outside.

San Rafael Beaten By Redwood '9'

Redwood pitcher Gene Frey hit a triple in the fourth inning, scoring Doug Hartman and Phil Bacigalupi to lead his team to a crucial 5-2 Marin County Athletic League victory over San Rafael yesterday in Larkspur.

Frey, 2-0 in the MCAL this year, brought home the winning runs and scored later in the same inning on a sacrifice fly. Although not yesterday's starting pitcher, Frey threw for six innings, allowing only two hits, while striking out eight.

Redwood remains on top of MCAL standings with a 3-0 record, while San Rafael slips into a four-way tie for second at 2-1.

IN AUGUSTA

Aaron Is Early Masters Leader

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Tommy Aaron, the native Georgian best known at the Masters for his faulty arithmetic, shot a sizzling 4-under-par 68 over the 18 holes of the Augusta National today to take an early first round lead.

Aaron, who tied the front-nine record of 31 in 1970, is appearing in his 10th Masters championship with his best finish a fifth in '70 when he wound up with a 5-under-par 283.

But Aaron attracted his most attention here in 1968 when he was the final-round playing partner of Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina. Aaron mistakenly credited De Vicenzo with a par on the next to last hole when he actually had a birdie and the mistake cost De Vicenzo a chance to win the tournament.

Scores were running lower than in previous tournaments during the early play of the first round thanks to the rain-soaked softer greens that were holding low approach shots and enabling the golfers to gamble with their putts.

Bob Dickson, the San Diego Open winner, and Guy Hunt of England both had 1-under-par 35s on the front nine and there was a rash of 36s.

Dickson and Cesar Sanudo were the first twosome to tee off today as the 37th Masters tournament opened play in clear, cold weather.

The temperature was expected to climb into the 60's today and the sunshine was a welcome change from the heavy overcast and occasional drizzle that had plagued the practice rounds.

Dickson, one of only three golfers to win the U.S. and British Amateur titles the same year, was making his first professional start in the Masters and listed his chances of winning as "slim and none" prior to teeing off.

Sanudo, like Dickson, played here once before as an amateur and also was appearing in his first Masters as a pro; quite a contrast to the second twosome which included Gene Sarazen, who has been playing here since the tournament was founded in 1934.

The big names, including Jack Nicklaus who hopes to turn a lifelong dream into reality this week, weren't scheduled to tee off until later.

The "Golden Bear" was the favorite when the prestigious Masters tournament began today. If he lives up to that role, he will have won more major championships than any other golfer —including the legendary Bobby Jones, the Masters' founder.

Through the years, as record after record has yielded to his

A's Open Defense Of Title Tomorrow Night Vs. Twins

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's take a day off from the spring grind today, then get ready to open defense of their World Championship Friday night against the Minnesota Twins.

The A's wound up spring training at Mesa, Ariz., Wednesday by dropping a 6-3 decision to the Los Angeles Dodgers. Ken Holtzman pitched the first five innings and left with a 2-1 lead but homers by Steve Garvey and Willie Davis off Rollie Fingers jumped the Dodgers in front in the sixth and they went on to wrap it up.

Holtzman will pitch Sunday's third game of the new season against Minnesota. Jim "Catfish" Hunter has the opening night assignment Friday and John "Blue Moon" Odom goes Saturday. The respective Twins starters are Bert Blyleven, Jim Kaat and Bill Hands.

When the A's open the season they will present a few changes from the starting team which won the American League West and the World Series in 1972.

Ray Fosse, picked up three weeks ago, will catch in place of Dave Duncan, packed off to Cleveland; Gene Tenace will be at first in place of Mike Epstein, shipped to Texas; Dal Maxvill will be at short in place of Bert Campaneris, who starts a seven-day suspension for throwing his bat during the A. L. playoffs last October, and Billy Conigliaro will be in center in place of Angel Mangual, who lost out in a bid for the regular job.

Another change will see Bill North, picked up from the Cubs in exchange for reliever Bob Locker, leading off as the club's designated hitter. He is being placed first in the order by manager Dick Williams because of his speed on the bases.

A crowd of about 25,000 is anticipated for the night-time opener. Saturday and Sunday's games are day affairs.

The A's finished Cactus League play with a 15-10 record, not bad considering Williams often used rookies while nursing his regulars along. A few days were lost because of an unusually cold spring in Arizona, but Williams said his pitching staff is in good shape to start the season.

While the A's rested at their respective homes, Vida Blue pitched for the Tucson Pacific Coast League farm club today. Vida has been hit hard in his last two spring outings and, since he isn't scheduled to start until next Tuesday against the White Sox in Chicago, Williams gave him one more day of work to get his control down.

NBA ROUNDUP

Knicks Play 'Smart' Way Versus Bullets

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Whatever happened to the Baltimore Bullets, the dark horse team of the National Basketball Association playoffs which finished the regular season like a champion and was supposed to take New York apart with raw strength?

Did they fold under playoff pressure or have the Knicks just been playing too strong? After New York took a commanding 3-0 lead over the Bullets with a 103-96 victory last night, Knicks forward Bill Bradley said his team played "our smartest game of the series."

Bradley was referring to the manner in which the Knicks moved the ball around, balanced their scoring and blunted the Bullets despite a 36-point performance by Elvin Hayes.

Bradley contributed to New York's victory with 23 points but the Knicks' played a team game not an individual one.

In the other Eastern Conference semifinal playoff, the Boston Celtics are having an easy romp over the Atlanta Hawks.

Dave Cowen's 25 rebounds and John Havlicek's 29 points enabled the Celts to slip past the Hawks 126-113 last night and give Boston a 2-0 lead in their best of seven playoff series.

The outcome wasn't half as close as the final score indicated. The Celtics were only challenged once, midway in the second period when the Hawks came within two points at 35-33.

Boston then ran off 10 quick points and the game was never close again.

ABA Stars' Wise Calls Team 'Lucky'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — "We won, but we were lucky," said Utah forward Willie Wise after the Stars' second straight American Basketball Association playoff win over San Diego.

"Their slowdown style lulls you into forgetting what you're supposed to be doing," Wise said after Wednesday night's 103-92 win. "We were way ahead of them and they just picked away until they had us down."

Wise scored a game high 29 points, leading the Stars from six down in the second half back to their second win in the best-of-seven series. The two teams move to San Diego for games three and four, April 7-8.

"Their slowdown style hurt us. We like to run with the ball, but pretty soon we were playing the way they do and taking bad shots," Wise added.

Utah raced to a 34-23 first quarter lead before the San Diego slowdown took hold.

With guards Chuck Williams and Ollie Taylor leading the way, the Conquistadors' deliberate game style cut into the gap and Utah led by just four at intermission, 53-49.

When the second half opened, San Diego continued to eat into the lead and moved ahead 55-54 on a layin by Stew Johnson one minute into the third period.

But poor shooting by the Conquistadors—39.6 per cent from the field—gave the game back to Utah. The Stars moved ahead for good, 74-73, after the lead had changed hands seven times in the third quarter.

In the other ABA playoffs, Carolina, Indiana and Kentucky all have 2-1 records in their series.

The Pacers—defending ABA champions—play at Denver tonight in the other Western Division series. And in the East, Carolina is at New York tonight, and Kentucky plays Virginia at Hampton, Va., Friday night.

NHL ROUNDUP

Rangers Enjoy Dish Of Shocked Bruins

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The New York Rangers not only turned the tables on Boston last night, they ate the Bruins for dinner.

Brad Park and Walt Tkaczuk scored two goals apiece while the Rangers upended the defending Stanley Cup champion Bruins by a decisive 6-2 margin in the opening game of the playoff series.

The underdog Rangers, who haven't won the title since 1940, bunched four goals in the second frame to take a 5-1 lead and break the game open, leaving Boston goalie Jacques Plante shell-shocked.

"I wasn't sharp and I knew this was going to happen sometime," said the 44-year old Plante. "It was just a bad time for it to happen," Plante added.

In other NHL playoff games, Chicago breezed past St. Louis, 7-1, Montreal trimmed Buffalo, 2-1, and Minnesota downed Philadelphia, 3-0.

Dennis Hextall, Dennis O'Brien and Jude Drouin scored goals to pace Minnesota to victory over Philadelphia and put the North Stars one-up in the Stanley Cup quarterfinal playoffs.

Yvan Cournoyer scored a power play goal at 4:27 of the final period to lead Montreal to victory over Buffalo in the opening game of their best-of-seven series.

Dick Redmond and Pit Martin scored hat tricks in Chicago's 17th straight quarterfinal Stanley Cup win as the Black Hawks trounced St. Louis in the opener of their series.

Dominican Cagers In Tourney At USF

A girls basketball team from Dominican College will participate in the first Muni Bus Classic tournament tomorrow and Saturday at the University of San Francisco's Memorial Gymnasium.

The four-team tournament also includes Mills College of Oakland and two USF teams, McAllister 5 and Hayes 21, so named because of the two Municipal bus lines which run past the school's campus. First-round games are scheduled for 6 and 8 p.m. tomorrow and final games at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

Midget Loop Signups

The San Anselmo Recreation Department's midget league, an instructional baseball league for boys aged 7-8, is now accepting signups at the department's office in Memorial Park. Fee is $5 for residents and $7 for non-residents, and clinic and practice are scheduled to begin in May.

Santa Clara Gal Sets U.S. Swim Record

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Keena Rothhammer, a 16-year-old from Santa Clara, Calif., swimming against triple Gold Medalist Shane Gould, set an American record Wednesday night in the women's 500-yard freestyle.

"I could hear the crowd in that last hundred yards," the high school sophomore said, "and I just wanted to go, go, go."

Her time of 4:52.547 was 1.553 seconds better than the old record set in 1968 by Debbie Meyer.

American records also were set in the 100-yard breast stroke and 100-yard butterfly during the first day of the four-day National AAU short course swimming championships at Keating Natatorium.

Shane Gould finished second to Miss Rothhammer in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 4:52.725, also bettering the old mark.

"I knew Shane was going to finish hard," Miss Rothhammer said. "She always does. She's really strong."

Cathy Carr, who won two gold medals at Munich, established an American record in the women's 100-yard breast stroke with a 1:06.1, four tenths of a second faster than the old mark, set here in 1970 by Kim Brecht.

Rangy 6-6 John Naber, a high school senior from Menlo Park, Calif., set a record in the men's 200-yard backstroke with a 1:49.84 in preliminary qualifying heats.

He later won the finals, but in a slower time of 1:50.58.

The men's and women's 1,650-yard freestyle, 100-yard freestyle, 200-yard individual medley and 400-yard freestyle were to be swum today.

Miss Gould was favored to take the 1,650 handily.

AAU Act On Meet Backed

Combined AP & UPI

PRETORIA — Americans competing at the current South African Games did so either as individuals or with the approval of their various sports bodies, Stan Wright, chairman of the Track and Field Committee of the American Athletics Union (AAU) said today.

Wright said all committees of the AAU were autonomous, and so gymnasts, wrestlers, swimmers and a basketball team could compete at the games while a track team was barred from competition.

"We believe we live in a democracy, and that we practice that," he said. "For this reason, the various committees of the AAU had the right to decide separately what they wanted to do."

Wright said his own committee had decided that no American athletes — in teams or as individuals — should compete in South Africa until it had been established that the apartheid policy had changed sufficiently to allow all races to have an equal chance.

The five-man American wrestling squad from Oregon State University dominated the games scene last night picking up three gold medals and two silver.

Baseball

HOUSTON — Houston Astros manager Leo Durocher, despite a threat to resign before bowing under, said he paid a $250 fine for interfering with a players' meeting in Pompano Beach, Fla., March 12.

Durocher was fined by the National League office after he broke up the meeting of his players with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players' Association.

Charles S. Feeney, league president, ruled Durocher violated the owners-players' agreement, and Durocher vowed to quit his job rather than pay the fine.

But yesterday he said, "I sent a check in with a letter requesting a hearing," Durocher said. "any other comment must come from the National League office."

Basketball

EVANSTON, Ill. — Tex Winter, former Houston Rockets coach, has been named head basketball coach at Northwestern University.

The post was left vacant March 12 by the resignation of Brad Snyder following a season in which the Wildcats were 2-12 in the Big Ten and 5-19 overall.

Tennis

MUNICH, Germany — Wimbledon champ Stan Smith, Pasadena, Calif., yesterday ousted Cliff Drysdale, South Africa, 6-4, 6-3 in the Group A World Championship Tennis Tournament.

HOUSTON — Top-seeded Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., yesterday overpowered Australia's Ross Case 7-5, 6-0 in the second round of the 39th Annual River Oaks-American General Tennis Tournament.

PHILADELPHIA — Australia's Margaret Court yesterday scored a 6-2, 6-1 victory over fellow Australian Karen Krantzcke in the opening round of the $50,000 Max-Pax Coffee Tennis Classic.

Boxing

LOS ANGELES — Muhammad Ali lost to Ken Norton, "an ordinary, run-of-the-mill fighter," last weekend because he wasn't in condition, the man who negotiates for the former heavyweight champion said yesterday.

Joe Frazier also was out of shape when he lost his title to George Foreman of Hayward in January, attorney Bob Arum of Los Angeles said.

Arum, who heads Top Rank, Inc., blamed Frazier and his manager, Yank Durham, for refusing to meet Ali in a rematch which might have brought each fighter from $3 to $3.5 million.

MASTERS

Last year, while winning his fourth Masters and third U.S. Open titles, Nicklaus tied the record of 13 major titles Jones set in 1930 when he captured four with his "grand slam."

Despite Nicklaus' protests this week that his game wasn't rounding into shape as he would like, the other 81 starters in the 37th Masters' field insist he's the man to beat.

"Let's face it," said Lee Trevino, the man considered most likely to beat Nicklaus, if anyone can. "If Jack plays as he is capable of playing, it is going to be awfully tough for anyone to keep up with him."

But Trevino, who leads this year's money list with more than $100,000, has one big hope.

"There has been a lot of rain here the past week and the greens are soft," said Trevino. "If they stay that way, it's going to equalize things a bit. Those of us who can't hit the high shots this course requires will be able to get our low shots to hold on the greens.

OWNERS MEETING

Sudden Death Overtime Seen For NFL Regular Season Play

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Sudden death overtime for regular season play was expected to become reality today when National Football League owners voted on rule changes at their annual spring meeting.

A ruling for a two point conversion was expected to be defeated.

"I think sudden death has a better chance of passing," said Paul Brown, head coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals and a member of the four-man competition committee. "A number of the coaches, especially those with college background, are againt the two-point conversion. They feel it nullifies the effect of a touchdown and I tend to agree with them. But sudden death has an excellent chance of making it through."

For the measure to be enacted, 20 of the 26 owners must cast an affirmative vote.

Opinion regarding the two major rule changes was fairly well divided among the many coaches present. Those with strong offenses tended to agree with the sudden death proposal while defensive-oriented teams generally opposed to the measure, feeling it puts them at a disadvantage.

"I'm for the two-point conversion and I'm for sudden death," said Hank Stram, coach of the Kansas City Chiefs and one of the brightest offensive innovators in the game. "They give you an extra way to win a game and I'm for anything that will help us win."

George Allen, one of the game's defensive whizzes, takes a totally different view.

"I'm against both sudden death and the two-point conversion," Allen said. "I like the game the way it is. Why change it? I think I might have gone for the best two-of-three Super Bowl proposal if it had come up through the competition committee but maybe I'd even feel differently about that if we (the Washington Redskins) had won the game."

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, like Brown, feels the sudden death proposal will pass while he isn't too thrilled with the two-point conversion.

Other rules under consideration included those governing legal pass receptions (one foot inbounds instead of the present two), uniform numbering of players according to position, shifting of goal posts from the goal line to the end line and giving a receiving team the option of taking an out-of-bounds kickoff at the point it left the field rather than subjecting the kicking team to a five-yard penalty.

'B' Swimming In Terra Linda

By LEW CODDINGTON

In the confusing numbers game of Class B swimming, where age, height and weight digits mingle with times and distances and scores and places, the casual observer can help keep the whole thing straight in his head by remembering two figures:

Seven is the number of consecutive championships Terra Linda High School will have captured when it nails down this year's title; and

Forty-six is the number of consecutive meets the Trojans currently have won against Marin County Athletic League opposition.

Coach Bob Pollitt and his man with the figures, Pat Fearn, have uncovered the fact that the Trojans have not lost a "B" meet since March 21, 1969, when Richard Nixon was in his first hundred days and the New York Mets were still loveable losers.

Pollitt casts himself in the role of a harvester, reaping the fruits in winter of seeds planted the previous summer. He credits the Marin Swim League for his "B" team's success.

"It's a low-key summer league where boys and girls, little kids,can go and have fun and have a chance to swim competitively as well," he explains. "The boys have a little success in the seventh and eighth grades and they decide to stay with swimming."

By a happy geographical coincidence, a disproportionate number of the Marin Swim League's teams flourish in the area which feeds Terra Linda High School. Swimmers from Marinwood, Lucas Valley, Terra Linda and the Ann Curtis Swim Club of San Rafael have ended up on Pollitt's roster.

Some have gone from the Marin Swim League to Terra Linda's "B" team and on to varsity stardom, like Keith Strange, Jeff Miller, Pat and John Fearn and Mike Klunk.

Many of the current "B" stars claim this background as well, such as Mitch Young, Tom Enright, Bill Power, Mark Shibata, John Tyler and Tom and Mark Bollinger.

The Trojan "B" squad has three meets left on its schedule, all against teams it has beaten before, and must lose all three to fail to win at least a piece of the title. Its record at this writing is 9-0.

SKULL SESSION — In terms of strategy, prep baseball is different from the Major League. Challenging the other team's fielders is an integral part of the high-school game.

Take Marin Catholic's game Tuesday against Novato. The Wildcats won it with three runs in the top of the eighth inning, scoring on squeeze bunts by Layne Cozza, Jeff Knotts and Tim Haley. They scored twice earlier on what coaches call "the first and third play" — a runner on first breaks for second (or attracts a pickoff throw), and while the play is made for him, the runner on third tries for the plate.

In fact, that play pops up so often it might deserve a place in the box scores. In the offensive portion, right after S, SF and SB, would be the notation, FTP — Marin Catholic 2.

St. Vincent '9' Tops Upper Lake In Opener, 14-3

St. Vincent High School of Petaluma won its North Central League II baseball opener yesterday, clouting visiting Upper Lake, 14-3.

The victory raised the Mustangs overall mark to 7-3 and put them in a first place tie in the NCL II with Tomales and Kelseyville at 1-0.

The Mustangs took the lead in the first inning, 2-1, on a two-run double by center fielder Jim Leoni, which scored Ray Serna and Pete Leoni. Jim Leoni paced the Mustangs with three runs batted in.

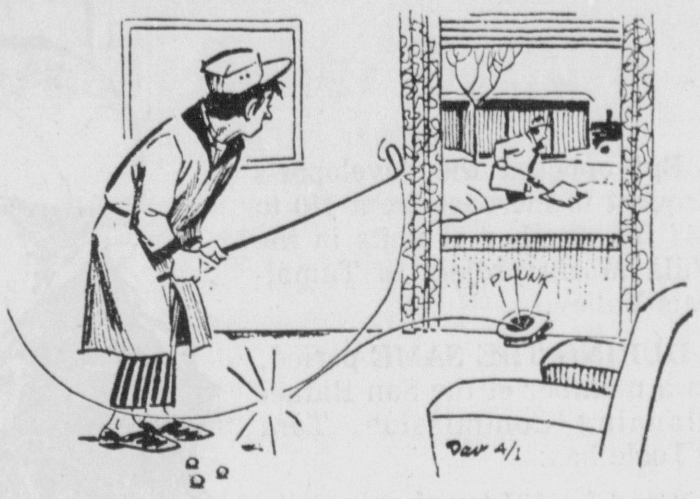
TREVINO TALKS GOLF



Some Indoor Practice

By LEE TREVINO

When you're snowbound in Keokuk, there isn't much you can do in a golfing way. Okay, you can putter around with your wife.

To retain your "feel," put your hands on a golf club a few minutes each day. I haul a roll of carpet around the country with me to practice my stroke. Or I chip from the rug into a chair. I bladed one once and almost ruined a hotel window.

Titanic Thompson, the greatest hustler who ever lived, is such a deadly chipper he can get up and down in two from St. Paul to Minneapolis. He practices chipping against a shoe leaning against the back of a chair. If it's good enough for Ti, it's good enough for Lee.

So roll out the carpet when you're snowbound or just killing time. When I'm rug-putting, I don't think about anything but the stroke. I'm watching the putter, seeing how it goes back. I try to keep the blade just a shade inside the line.

Keep your stroke short, then accelerate as the putter comes into the ball. Then chip. Then putt. Then. . .get the idea?

WITH TAMALPAIS

San Marin Ties For 1st In Track Race

San Marin High School joined Tamalpais in a tie for first place in the Marin County Athletic League Track standings yesterday by dumping host San Rafael, 90-46.

San Marin and Tam both have 3-0 records and meet in Mill Valley tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m. San Rafael drops to fifth place at 1-2.

Only Greg Campbell was able to muster any first places for San Rafael in the running events, but he was able to get two, in the hurdles. Campbell topped his own time in the highs by a tenth of a second (15.6) and cemented his position as the best hurdler in the league.

In a non-league meet yesterday, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park (6-1) whipped winless Marin Catholic, 97-33. The Marin Wildcats are 0-3 in MCAL action.

Four Marks Bettered By Preps

Two athletes from Novato High School, one from Redwood and one four-man relay team from San Marin recorded four Marin County Athletic League track and field dual-meet best performances for the year last week.

Novato's George Cagle ran 880 yards in 1:58.9, the Hornets' Tom Bridges long-jumped 21-8, and San Marin's mile relay team of Joe Guth, Ron Zechlin, Larry Butti and Gary Lathrop ran 3:36.3, all in a dual meet between the schools last Wednesday. Redwood's Pete Sweeney ran the two-mile in 9:46.7 Tuesday.

The list does not include times recorded in yesterday's meet between San Marin and San Rafael. The best times and distances:

120 HH — Campbell (SR), 15.7; 440 relay — San Marin (Goins, Butti, Roche, Kassenbrock), 45.0; 880 — Cagle (N), 1:58.9; 100 — Peterson (TL), 10.4; Mile — Overend (R), 4:33.4; 440 — Johnson (TL), 52.4; 330 LH — Campbell (SR), 40.2; 220 — Johnson (TL), 22.9; Two-Mile — Sweeney (R), 9:46.7; Mile Relay — San Marin (Guth, Zechlin, Butti, Lathrop), 3:36.3; Shot Put — Elder (R), 56-10½; Discus — Elder (R), 157-0; High Jump — Mahoney (MC), 6-0; Long Jump — Bridges (N), 21-8; Pole Vault — Patterson (SR), 11-0; Triple Jump — Grigg (SR), 40-11.

Jeanne Evert Defeated In Sarasota Net

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Ann Kiyomura defeated 15-year-old Jeanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale Wednesday in a qualifying match for the $20,000 Sarasota Women's U. S. Lawn Tennis Association Open.

Miss Kiyomura, 17-year-old high school senior and an amateur from San Mateo, Calif., qualified for the main tournament by turning back the younger sister of Chris Evert, 7-6, 6-2.

Other scheduled matches, including one between Sharon Walsh of San Rafael and Patti Hogan of LaJolla, were washed out by heavy rains.

Elizabeth Szell of Hungary also was qualified in a drawing to fill a vacancy created when Virginia Wade withdrew with a torn muscle in her forearm.

Preliminaries begin Thursday with the featured matches pitting Yvonne Goolagong of Australia against Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakie and Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale against Katja Ebbinghauf of West Germany.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Four Exhibitions Washed Out; Opener Threatened

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If it's raining, it must be time for the baseball season.

Before the fans can worry about things like the designated hitter, the Pirates without Roberto Clemente, Johnny Bench's recovery from lung surgery, Hank Aaron's pursuit of Babe Ruth, the Yankees' marital swaps and Willie Mays' knees, they have to worry about the weather.

Despite the repeated evidence that rain is normal weather in early April, baseball still persists in daring the weatherman by opening the season in early April. Usually, the weatherman wins more than his share and the start of the season is sprinkled with rainouts.

The 1973 baseball season is scheduled to open today in Cincinnati, where the Reds have been playing since 1869 when they were called the Redstockings. The Reds will host the San Francisco Giants and a former POW, Air Force Capt. Ed Mechenbier, is scheduled to throw out the first ball.

Naturally, rain is also scheduled. In fact, the weatherman says there's even a "possibility of snow flurries."

Four exhibition games—Montreal-Boston, Pittsburgh-Chicago, Kansas City-St. Louis and Baltimore-Atlanta — were washed out Wednesday and the baseball executives are keeping their fingers crossed that the weather gets better by Friday.

While the Cincinnati-San Francisco game is the only regular season game scheduled today, (the American League no longer has a traditional opener now that the Washington Senators are in Texas) a full slate of games is set for Friday.

In the exhibition games that were played Wednesday, Los Angeles beat Oakland 6-3, California edged Milwaukee 2-1, the Chicago Cubs blanked San Diego 5-0, the New York Yankees nipped the New York Mets 3-2, Minnesota topped Houston 6-4 and Cleveland beat Texas 4-3.

Of course, starting Friday in the American League, those questions won't be posed since the junior circuit will unveil the designated hitter for the pitcher. All the ramifications of the new rule are still unclear but they'll start coming more in focus Friday.

In the Friday AL openers, it's New York at Boston and Milwaukee at Boston in day games and Minnesota at Oakland, Kansas City at California and Chicago at Texas in night action. In the other NL Friday openers, Philadelphia is at New York, Montreal at Chicago and St. Louis is at Pittsburgh in day action and Houston is at Atlanta and Los Angeles at San Diego in night games.

The Pittsburgh opener will be quite an emotional one since Clemente's widow, Vera, will be attending.

In the games that were played Wednesday, there was some heavy hitting. Bobby Darwin hit a three-run homer and George Mitterwald added a two-run blast in Minnesota's victory over Houston; Steve Garvey and Willie Davis hit back-to-back homers in the sixth inning as Los Angeles topped Oakland and Joe Pepitone doubled in two runs in the Cubs' victory over the Padres.

Bill Singer pitched six innings of three-hit ball and California scored two unearned runs in the eighth inning to beat Milwaukee and Leo Cardenas' two-run single in the sixth gave Cleveland the victory over Texas.

For the second time this spring, manager Ralph Houk pitched both Fritz Peterson and Mike Kekich in the same game. And the Yanks won both games. They did it Wednesday night with a 3-2 triumph over the Mets. Peterson pitched seven innings of four-hit ball and Kekich lasted 1 1-3 before Fred Beene bailed him out.

Petaluma Wins Second Track Meet In A Row

Petaluma High School swept four events in a North Bay League track and field meet with host Vallejo yesterday to get its second straight league victory, 71-65.

With the win, the Trojans evened their NBL record to 2-2. "We're coming back now," Petaluma coach Doug Johnson commented. "Everyone is starting to get healthy."

The Trojans swept the 880, yard run, the mile, two-mile and the shot put. Jon Sisler took both the mile and two-mile runs with times of 4:27.2 and 9:57.6. Dan Aldridge won the 880-yard race and Mike Johnson placed first in the shot put at 50-feet-5.

Terra Linda's Cotton Dives Into Spotlight

Dave Cotton of Terra Linda High School recorded the finest diving score of the current Marin County Athletic League season Tuesday, chalking up 245.45 points against San Rafael.

It was the only change from last week on the list of the best MCAL varsity dual-meet performances.

Horse-Opera Politics With Us Again

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
28 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

Marin, supposedly a sophisticated community, delights in horse-opera politics. It pits "conservationists" (who now like to call themselves "environmentalists") against "developers." The "conservationists" wear white hats; the "developers," black hats.

This familiar scenario is getting a rerun in the San Rafael City Council election.

This time, the white hat has been donned by candidate Jack G. Nixon, and his supporters have assigned the black hat to candidate Thomas R. O'Toole — because they figure he's the man Nixon has to beat to get elected. (They apparently are conceding the election of incumbent Lawrence E. Mulryan, and overlooking a man who proved himself a potent vote getter in San Rafael Board of Education elections in 1963 and 1967: Carl J. Brown.)

IT HAPPENS, however, that it's rather easy to compare the credentials of "white-hat" Nixon and "black-hat" O'Toole, because both are serving on planning commissions. O'Toole has been on the San Rafael Planning Commission for 11 years and is now its chairman. Nixon has been on the Marin County Planning Commission since 1969 and is now its chairman.

So let's take a look at how they have voted on some developments of the kind the "conservationists" most loudly decry.

SINCE HE BECAME a member of the county planning commission on July 1, 1969, Jack Nixon has:

Voted for more than 600 units of housing on hills between Tennessee and Tamalpais Valleys — the Marinview project.

Voted for 220 townhouse units in Marinwood (loudly opposed by Marinwood residents).

Voted for two projects totaling more than 200 units on Strawberry Cove, one of which was killed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Voted for 66 apartments on Los Ranchitos Road, just outside the San Rafael city limits.

Voted for 334 apartment units on the ridge beside Highway 101 in Strawberry.

But opposed the developer's request to increase from 110 to 145 the number of units in the Villa Marin project in Tamalpais Valley.

DURING THE SAME period, as a member of the San Rafael Planning Commission, Tom O'Toole has:

Voted for a six-story office building on a hillside near the Civic Center — which Nixon opposed in a discussion by the county commission.

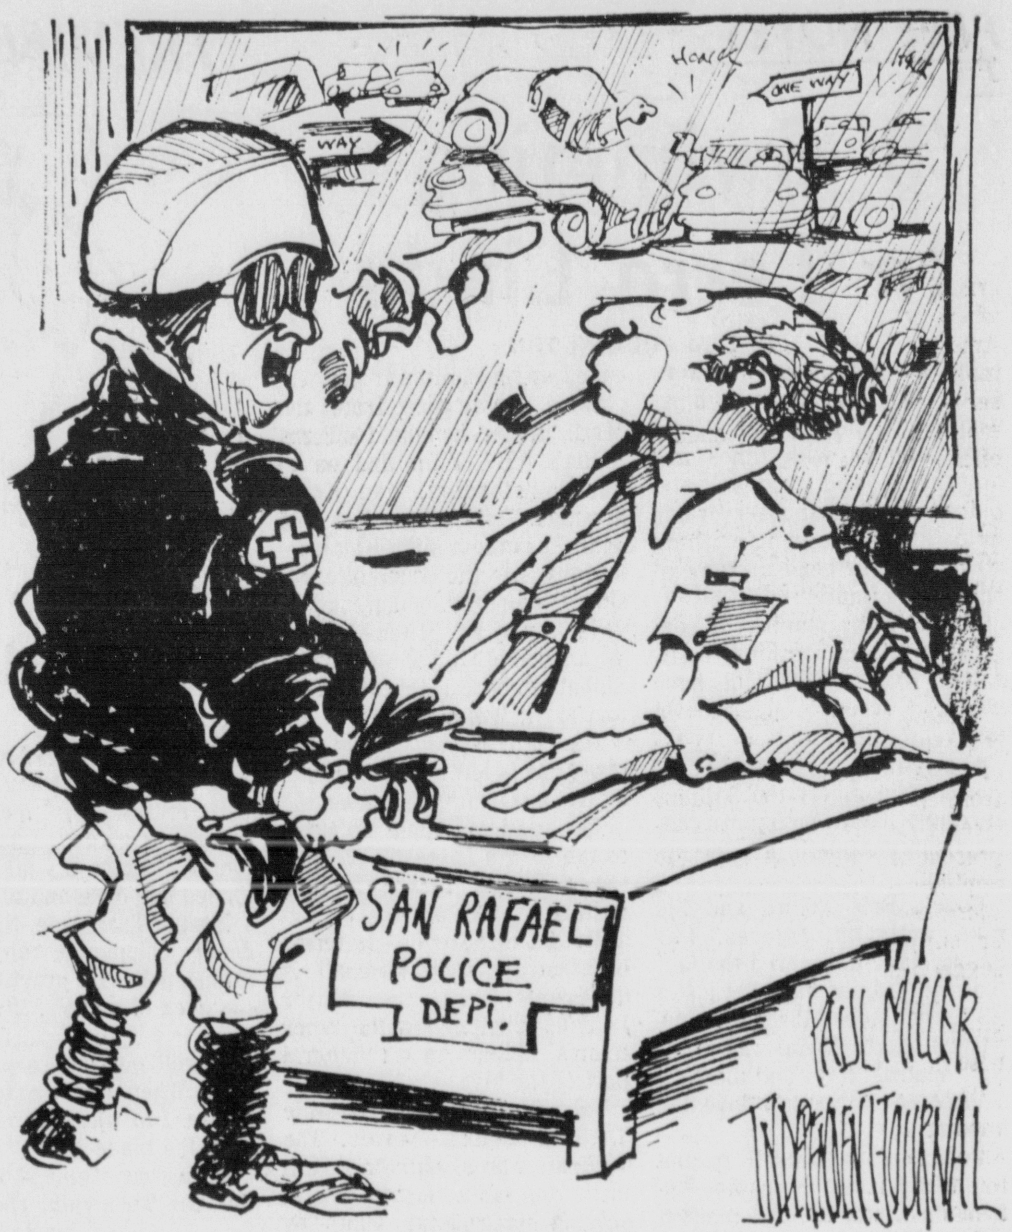
But opposed the 295-unit Pinto Ridge development (which the commission rejected).

Somehow, from here both hats look kind of gray.



"Am I supposed to go out there on those new one-way streets without extra insurance, boss?"

ERWIN D. CANHAM: Crisis Of Leadership

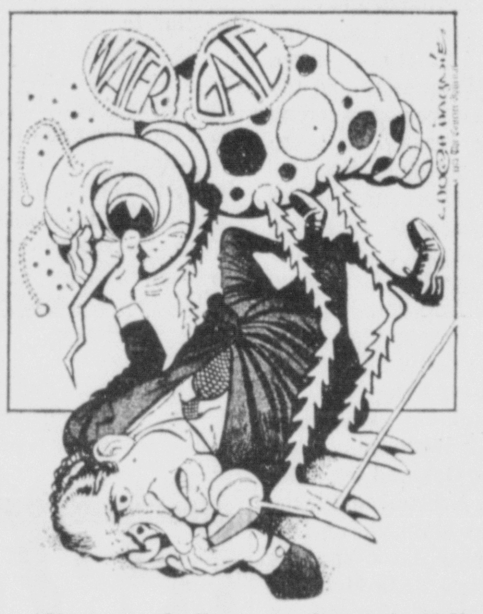
The United States is in a crisis of leadership.

President Nixon unexpectzdly went to the country last Thursday night through his favorite medium of televison to give anxious Americans the immediate relief of a lid on meat prices and the long-range plea of a defense of all his policies.

But not quite all. The President said nothing to clarify the most troubling aspect os his stewardship: the conduct of the 1972 campaign and especially the Watergate episode. It is the unexplained murkiness of that incredible affair that beclouds the sky and will not be clarified until we have a chance to evaluate all the facts. Now, as ever, relatively minor issues become decisive.

LOOK AT THE POSSIBLE alternative explanations:

The first alternative is that the bugging of the Watergate and the other dirty tricks of the 1972 campaign were all the work of over-zealous underlings, without the knowledge of the President or of the principal managers of his campaign. It seems, on the strength of undisputed evidence now on the record, that individual employes at the White House were actually involved. If the President, his immediate staff men, or campaign manager like John Mitchell did not know what was going on, they should have.



"Yes, cancel all my appointments. Tell them I'm down with a — uh — a bug."

They are guilty, at the least, of bad management. But this is a minor responsibility, and a supportable one, in the face of the other possibilities. We would all breathe a sigh of relief if that were the situation.

TAKE A SECOND alternative, the one averred apparently by James McCord's charges and flatly denied by the former attorney-general. It is that John Mitchell, while still chief law officer, knew of the illegal acts that were being planned and later executed. Mr. Mitchell is one of the President's closest political friends and advisers. His knowledge could lead to legal prosecution. It could be very damaging to the President's prestige in integrity. It could be a scandal of the first water.

Suppose, finally, that the President himself knew either generally or specifically of what was being planned. He, too, would be guilty of acts some of which could be prosecuted in court. Certainly the question of impeachment would arise.

Most of us, surely, will wish devoutly that no such tragedy will ensue. Even President Nixon's critics can scarcely see any benefits in such a disgrace, with Vice-President Agnew then succeeding to the presidency. For over three and a half years the nation would have terribly wounded leadership.

WHAT, THEN, should Americans do? The first thing, and this is not in the usual facetious sense of political discourse, is to pray. Pray that the situation, which is still blurred and confused, can be handled without destroying national leadership.

The facts, whatever they are, should have come out during the campaign and before the voting. Even if they involved a situation of bad judgment or wrongdoing, the situation could have been cleaned up. Now that task will be much harder.

We have got to know, factually and credibly, just what each of the chief actors in the melodrama was doing. Denials of involvement are not enough. They will have to be proved. The inside workings of the Committee To Re-elect the President will have to be explained. The financial dealings must be spelled out.

A tremendous demand for explanation is building up, very emphatically, on the more conservative wing of the Republican party. "The moment of truth," says Sen. James F. Buckley, is approaching.

THE FACT that President Nixon has consistently refused to tell the American people just what was going on — has steadily resorted simply to general denials — suggests a determined defense of subordinates. It suggests that events cannot be fully explained with credit, and that the storm must be ridden out.

The use of the valuable right of executive privilege to cover up evidence which could be of a criminal character is simply not defensible.

The nation needs strong and respected leadership for the next three and three-quarters years. It can only be sought by frankness.

President's Stance Lacerates Wounds Left By Division Over Vietnam War

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's aim is to get the Vietnam War back on page 40. Only if the bitter passions coming out of that long and terrible conflict can be damped down will it be possible to get congressional approval for reconstructing both South and North Vietnam.

But President Nixon is moving in the opposite direction. His tough combative speech to the nation could have only one result — to stir anew all the intense feeling that raged during the 11 years of the war. Far from healing wounds, the speech was calculated to lacerate those wounds.

FOR ALL the President's rhetoric about the small minority opposing his policy, the country was deeply divided. Now that the war is ended, the only humane and sensible goal is to try to close ranks, with the vision of a nation united. Just the opposite is achieved by a combative speech invoking patriotic pride bordering on jingoism.

The returning prisoners of war are in the middle. These are brave, steadfast men. They endured months and years of bleak imprisonment and — now it comes out, with the release of the last prisoner — in many instances torture and humiliation.

In press conferences across the country individual prisoners described the ordeal they underwent. This appears to have been an outpouring orchestrated by the Defense Department. These carefully selected prisoners vented emotions long suppressed in the discipline of prison camp.

The shocking revelations may have come under less orderly and controlled circumstances. But it would be hard to imagine anything that could so completely turn public opinion against any help not only for North Vietnam but for the south as well. When President Nguyen Van Thieu comes here next week, he will add his full measure of opposition to any assistance for the Communist North. And he is hardly a figure to command congressional and public approval for money to rebuild the shattered south.

CRIES ARE ALREADY heard for a war crimes trial that would put the prison camp torturers in the public stocks. That could be the final blow to any hope for the program that Kissinger negotiated in Hanoi. It would keep the cauldron of hatreds boiling.

Why could not an impartial international tribunal examine the whole issue of atrocities when passions have somewhat cooled? Carpet bombing of the North and the indiscriminate use of napalm with thousands of civilian victims would surely be examined by such a tribunal. Saigon's tiger cages for political prisoners and some high-ranking North Vietnamese are part of the picture. While the victims of the My Lai massacre were not combatants, they were mowed down by Americans in uniform. The mass slaughter in the Tet offensive at Huey should be examined. To believe that such a tribunal could do justice to all the horrors of the war may be naive. But the Biblical injunction, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," has a powerful bearing on the aftermath of the longest and bitterest war in America's history.

IN THE NOT-TOO-DISTANT past is an example of how to end a war with a minimum of recrimination. In Korea, while the United Nations was a useful facade, the United States was resisting aggressive communism, supplying by far the bulk of the fighting forces. One of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's great services was to close down that war with as little heritage of hatred as possible.

A patient American negotiator at Panmunjom, Arthur Dean, endured weary months of taunts and insults. What the United States would do if North Korea resumed the fighting was conveyed privately in no uncertain terms. But it was not a matter of public threat, either direct or implied.

Eisenhower was confronted with his own Thieu in stubborn old Syngman Rhee, who repeatedly threatened to go it alone in recovering North Korea. Never made a hero, he was left to the tender mercies of his own people, who finally drove him out of the country.

The prescription for unending trouble in Southeast Asia can be read between the lines of the President's pronouncements. The bombing continues in shattered Cambodia, with a deep division over the President's powers to keep it up now that the last American has left.

The Eisenhower example should be persuasive in this larger torment.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

It's Congress' Duty To Dig Into Scandal

Presidents come and go, but Congress is eternal. It is the duty of Congress to the American people to dig down to the dirty nitty-gritty of who gave the original order in the Watergate case. With the national honor in arrears and the business of government becoming a disgraceful pastime the United States cannot afford to laugh off political espionage in high office.

If we are to remain a first nation there can be no other way.

Lost Keys Returned, Thanks To U.S. Mail

On March 20 in the evening I lost two chains, together containing eight keys. I sure never did think I'd ever get them back.

The next morning I called the police department with no success. I called a couple other place, a couple friends whom I was talking to. Still no luck.

That evening I went downtown and a gentleman overheard me talking about them, and he suggested, "Why don't you call the post office?". . .

I called the next morning, and the man I spoke to said he'd call me back in half an hour. He did and said he was pretty sure he had my keys. I went down and sure enough! they were there. I don't know who found them and dropped them in the mail box, but all I can say is, "Thanks a million to the party and also to the United States Post Office."

Marin Becoming Less 'Marvelous'

Marvelous Marin. Somehow we are hearing the adjective less frequently — that, in spite of improved highways, larger shopping centers, more industries, subdivisions and apartment complexes, so perhaps the term applies to something that is disappearing rather than to the improved facilities.

These improved facilities bring increased, not decreased, taxes. For instance: To provide for an adequate water supply — at present being overdrawn 10 to 20 per cent — it would take an expenditure of 8 to 16 million dollars to correct the overdraft that the Marin Municipal Water District Board has incurred by permitting the delivery system to be expanded without increasing the supply system. . .

Those residents closer to these proposed developments are generally vehemently opposed, but others farther removed are apathetic until further development reaches their vicinity. These latter residents are then in turn opposed but are faced with the same apathy of those removed, and so on and on.

The boards of supervisors eventually step in to settle the controversy and decide for or against the developer, depending on whether they are for growth or conservation. A case in point: On the end of San Francisco Boulevard in San Anselmo, a developer has requested a zone deviation from R-1 to build 44 apartment-like condominiums. The supervisors by unanimous decision on March 20 approved a lesser number of condominiums. The lesser number was due to the terrain. Ten years earlier the unanimity prevailed in zoning to R-1 to prevent a duplex development. This 1963 board included one of the present board and State Sen. Peter Behr, an ardent conservationist. Apparently the present board is dedicated to growth for growth's sake, also disregarding a deficient water supply. . .

"The good life" for most of the people will not be forthcoming by taxing them in order that developers may make a "quick buck" by destroying the beautiful natural environment which should be everybody's possession.

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Instead of criticizing President Nixon for putting ketchup on his cottage cheese, we should be thankful he doesn't pour champagne on it.

His aversion to bubbly developed when, as vice president, Richard had to drink champagne toasts every night during a 70-day tour abroad.

On oversea trips the President takes Henry Kissinger along to do his diplomatic drinking for him.

State Leases Apartment Building To Own Employee

By EARL G. WATERS

It didn't cause a big public furor. The reason was that not many knew about it. But in the small circle of those that did, the leasing of some state-owned apartment building to a private enterpriser brought some expressions of disapproval.

Particular criticism was made of the fact that the property was leased to a state employee. Some claimed it was "an inside deal".

After an investigation into the transaction, a conclusion has been reached that the whole thing was poorly handled. Department of General Services officials, who are responsible for the property, have conceded as much.

NORMALLY, the state is not in the business of leasing property to private enterprise. It does not acquire property for that purpose. The instant case involves apartment houses in the path of plans for building of the Capitol Complex. To minimize costs on a rising market, the Legislature funded land purchases far in advance of construction needs.

Most of the structures on the land were rundown and were razed. But some of the property, like the apartment houses, produced revenue and destruction was deferred until the time the sites will be needed.

Since the state is not in the business of managing apartment houses, two buildings, containing 50 units, were offered to lease.

Bids were solicited from a list of persons who had somehow indicated, at one time or another, they might be interested in surplus state property. The list used contained about 140 names.

A REVIEW of the list reveals few of them are in the business of property management. A subsequent survey showed that at least two of those in that business did not receive the mailing even though their names were on the list.

Questionnaires mailed to 130 on the list brought only 39 acknowledgements that the solicitation had been received. Eight said they did not receive it and 17 letters were returned by the post office as undeliverable. On that basis the list used was about 40 per cent defective.

Further, of the 12 bids received, four, including the high bid, were not on the list used.

STILL, IT WOULD NOT appear there was any "inside" dealing, but the low visibility given was bound to stir suspicion when it developed that a fulltime state employee had been the successful bidder.

The lucky bidder has agreed to pay a total of $3,515 a month which includes taxes. The property had a gross revenue of $5,517.50 before rent controls were lifted. Other than the first and last month payments, the lessor has no investment. A successful property manager has estimated the net profit to be a minimum of $1,500 a month.

The department advises that in the future it will advertise and issue press releases to insure public notice of property dealings.

Unresolved is the question of public policy involved in permitting state workers to contract with the state for services, leases and other "moonlighting" activities.

While the department had barred any of its own employees from participating, it had left the door open to otherstate workers.

Wise Men Seek Non-Essential Electric Appliance In Crisis

WASHINGTON — The energy crisis has reached the point where it is quite possible that Americans will be asked to make great sacrifices to conserve the power we need to maintain the highest standard of living in the world.

A group of wise old men met in Washington, D.C., last week to discuss what electrical appliances could be eliminated from the American home to guarantee an adequate energy supply for our future years.

"GENTLEMEN, we are here today to discuss the elimination of certain electrical appliances from the American scene. The President has asked us to present him with a list of those appliances that will have to be sacrificed to conserve our power supplies. Are there any suggestions?"

"I think the electric toothbrush should go," one of the wise men suggested.

"Are you out of your mind?" another said. "You can't expect Americans to brush their teeth by hand. It would cause tremendous hardship on the average middle-income citizen who has no one to brush his teeth for him. Gentlemen, I'm as much for power conservation as the next person, but let's not lose our heads."

"ALL RIGHT. What about abolishing electric hair curlers?"

"Ridiculous," a wise man rumbled. "The American women in this country would be up in arms if we took their electric curlers away from them. How can we expect them to support our energy policies if they have no easy way of setting their hair?"

"Good point," said the chairman. "We can't throw out the baby with the bath water."

"I have a suggestion as to how we could save some power," another wise man said. "Why don't we ban the electric pencil sharpener?"

THERE WAS DEAD silence. Finally a man shouted, "No way! The electric pencil sharpener is the key to the entire capitalist system. Do you know why the Russians are behind us in their schools? Because their students are still sharpening their pencils by hand. Besides, our gross national product depends on electric pencil sharpeners. It takes a Russian secretary a full minute to sharpen her pencil by the antiquated nonelectric method. Our secretaries can do it in 10 seconds. Gentlemen, once you allow the Soviets to close the pencil sharpener gap, you can kiss our economy goodby."

The chairman said, "Then we're all in agreement that the electric pencil sharpener stays."

"What about the electric can opener?"

"Absolutely essential. You can't ask an American citizen to open a can by hand. We'll have a revolution on our hands."

"I imagine that would go for electric orange juice squeezers also?"

"No President would be able to govern a people who have to squeeze oranges with their fingers. I would eliminate street lighting before I did away with electric orange juice squeezers."

"I KNOW PEOPLE can't live without electric blankets, but might we forbid the future manufacturing of electric bed vibrators — at least until the crisis is over?"

"Bite your tongue," someone shouted. "The bed vibrator is a priority item in this country, particularly for people with bad backs. I will resign from the commission if you take any action against the electric vibrator."

"Well, gentlemen, we still don't have a list for the President. Surely there is some electrical appliance that we can agree is nonessential."

"The heated swimming pool?"

"Impossible. If Benjamin Franklin ever thought that someday we'd eliminate the heated swimming pool, he never would have discovered electricity."

Candidates' Views On Teacher Tenure

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Dissatisfaction with California teacher tenure laws is much more widespread among candidates seeking reelection to Marin school boards than among those asking election for the first time.

This pattern is shown in responses by 55 candidates to an Independent-Journal question as to whether they believe the present tenure laws give too much or not enough job protection. None of the respondents said they do not give enough.

Of 13 incumbents responding (including one who is seeking election to a different board than that on which she now serves), nine were sharply critical of the present tenure laws. Three qualified their criticism. Only one expressed satisfaction with them.

Of 42 nonincumbent candidates, only 18 — fewer than half — were sharply critical. Ten were mildly critical. Seven expressed satisfaction with the laws. Seven others gave no answers or nonresponsive answers.

Candidates in the Larkspur School District, where replies were received from three incumbents and two challengers, provide an example.

Incumbent John W. Boyd replied: "I've never favored the tenure laws. Good teachers do not need it and poor teachers hide behind it."

Incumbent Leon Persson wrote: "I feel the current tenure laws are wrong. . . One should be able to fire a teacher for poor performance."

Incumbent Howard C. Harvey responded: "The present law provides excessive protection in those rare instances where a teacher's performance is unsatisfactory."

Challenger James Laviletta replied simply, "No comment." Challenger Don W. Pack wrote, "When the tenure laws provide sanctuary for below-par teaching they should be changed." This was counted as no answer since it did not indicate whether Pack considers the present laws provide such sanctuary.

The only incumbent candidate expressing satisfaction with the present laws was John J. Osborn in Reed district, who wrote, "I have no strong feelings about California teacher tenure laws."

Qualified opposition was expressed by incumbents Laurence G. Hermann and Jane S. Durr in Fairfax district and Jerrold M. Ladar in Tamlapais High School District.

Hermann said the laws "give the poor teacher too much protection" but are needed to protect good teachers from being fired "willy-nilly." Mrs. Durr wrote, "Teacher tenure laws cause so many problems, but no tenure laws would cause at least as many."

Ladar's response was: "I think the present tenure laws are too rigid, but I am unwilling to see teachers lose tenure entirely."

Three of the incumbent candidates — Sally Rakow in Ross district, Paul K. McMullen of the San Rafael Board of Education, and Dorothy C. Brown, a Dixie incumbent seeking election to the county board of education — advocated restoring a true three-year probationary period, which existed until the law was amended in 1961 to give "probationary" teachers protection virtually identical with that of tenured teachers.

Some of the nonincumbents showed by their answers that they believe a true probationary period still exists.

Robert K. Ockner, a Reed district candidate, wrote, "The present laws are acceptable so long as the probationary period includes a thorough assessment of the teacher's abilities." Gale B. Fisher, a San Rafael candidate, responded, "The problem has not been with the tenure laws but with the screening of teachers before they have tenure." Maurine Ballard, A Tamalpais High School District candidate, suggested that if districts have careful procedures "for observing and aiding teachers during the three-year probationary period, schools can operate satisfactorily under the present tenure laws."

Others who found little or no fault with present laws were aspirants Lance P. Moran in Dixie district, Harold A. Drob in Mill Valley district, Judith L. Vallas in San Anselmo district, and Fred C. Hannahs in Tamalpais High School District.

Two nonincumbents put forth the idea that union collective bargaining may solve tenure problems.

Wayne E. Cliff, candidate in Dixie district, suggested, "The solution to the problem, not necessarily correct, is made easier by unionization of teachers." David A. Dixon, Ross district candidate, went further, advocating collective bargaining as "excellent for the schools" and preferable to tenure protection.

One nonincumbent candidate, Oliver L. Haerle in San Anselmo district, suggested that the lock-step salary schedule, rather than tenure, is the "villain" protecting poor teachers.

But the feelings of most of the incumbents were close to those expressed by Donald K. Felt of Marin Community College District: "I firmly believe that the board should have absolute discretion not to rehire for the first three years at a minimum."

One incumbent candidate, Gloria Riccardi in Kentfield, proposed a solution: "It is the responsibility of the community with their legislators, school administrators and finally teacher organizations themselves to work to effect modification of tenure laws."

State Is Determined To Give Service On Freeway

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state is determined to prevent a recurrence on a newly opened desert freeway of a fiasco in the San Joaquin Valley which left motorists stranded without gasoline or emergency repair services.

California Highway Patrol cars cruising Interstate 40 in San Bernardino County are equipped to give stalled automobiles a free transfusion of gasoline to get them on their way.

Maintenance vehicles of the state Division of Highways are being fitted to provide emergency repair services for motorists whose cars suffer minor breakdowns such as flat tires.

Spokesmen for the Highway Patrol and Division of Highways said yesterday the actions were instituted to head off any recurrence of agonies experienced by motorists last year when the Westside Freeway from Tracy through Bakersfield was opened.

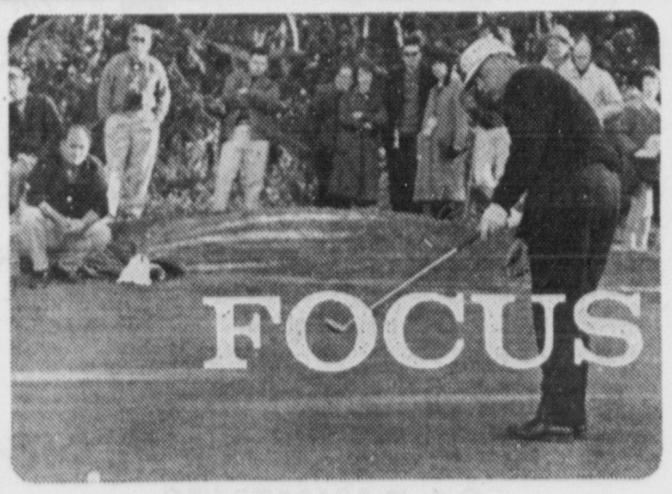
On that lonely roadway, drivers frequently ran out of gas and there were no filling stations along a 185-mile stretch between Los Banos and Wheeler Ridge. Now there are 23.

On a 100-mile segment of Interstate 40 between Ludlow and Needles there are no service stations, although the state is encouraging oil companies to "speed construction" of filling stations along the route.

In the meantime, the Division of Highways installed huge signs warning motorists to "Check Your Gas" and "100 Miles to Next Gas." In addition, drums of emergency radiator water will be placed at key locations along the way.

"We learned a lot from the Westside Freeway experience," said a division spokesman.

In addition, public service announcements are being distributed to Spanish language radio stations in Southern California cautioning Spanish-speaking drivers to check their gas gauges. Spanish language roadsigns also are proposed.



The Legalization Of Golf

In a sense it is fortunate for the sport of golf that gunpowder was invented because without it the game might never have survived. As it is known today, golf originated in Scotland. But Scottish parliaments found it necessary to outlaw the sport on three separate occasions in the last half of the 15th Century. Along with "fute-ball," "golfe" had become so popular that people ceased to take pleasure in the practice of archery. This neglect alarmed lawmakers who considered archery a military skill important to the defense of the realm. With the invention of gunpowder near the end of the 15th Century, archery became less important, and the future of golf was secured.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Gross National Product Only An Indicator Of The Economy

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'm not sure that I clearly understand what GNP (Gross National Product) means. Could you explain it? — E.H.

A. We Americans like to put complex ideas into simplified forms for easy expression and GNP illustrates this national characteristic. This figure is used to measure the country's economic growth for each quarter. GNP is simply defined as the total value in dollars of all the goods produced and services rendered in the U.S.A. during a specified period of time.

Because GNP is expressed in current dollars, it's necessary to remember that part of the annual increase has been due to inflation. The 1972 GNP of $1,152 billion was 9.6 per cent ahead of 1971. In constant dollars of 1958, GNP for 1972 was $789.5 billion, up 6.4 per cent year to year (U.S. Dept of Commerce figures). At best, GNP is a handy approximation of a nation's economic drive, permitting government officials and business leaders to get a general view of where the national economy has been and where it is headed, quarter by quarter. Experts are now forecasting a 10 per cent annual increase in GNP this year to $1,266 billion. In 1958 dollars the projected gain would be in line with the 6.4 per cent rise reported last year.

Q. I am a 73-year-old widow, retired on an income from interest pensions and dividends of $7,500 annually. My house is owned free of debt. I hold American Electric Power (NYSE), American Telephone preferred (NYSE), Columbia Gas (NYSE), Exxon (NYSE), General Motors (NYSE), and Keystone B-4 (OTC). What recommendations would you make on my stock? — R.H.

A. Your high-quality portfolio produces a 6.8 per cent yield; a generous return in view of the growth potential inherent in several of these issues. Unless you are in need of greater income I would suggest you stand pat. Your portfolio has a current market worth of $48,000. This, plus the value of your home and your savings, gives you an adequate backlog of assets in the event of some emergency.

Price Sag Continues On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices dropped in another sluggish session today on the New York Stock Exchange. A government report showed more indications of uncontrolled inflation.

The government reported wholesale prices for food, lumber and other consumer goods scored a 2.2 per cent increase in March, the biggest one-month gain in 22 years. Last month the same index gained 2.1 per cent.

Most active issue was Brown Group, unchanged at 28 on 204,500 shares.

Prices declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Teleprompter was most active and off 1 at 21 ⅞ on 54,200 shares.

Dupont and Dow each dropped 1 ¼ in the lower Big Board chemicals.

Oils also headed lower with Halliburton off 3 ¾, Superior 2 and Phillips 1 ⅛.

Steels, motors, rails, airlines and aircrafts lost fractions.

Larry Brink Motors Moving To New Showroom This Week

Larry Brink Motors Inc. is moving this week into its brand new showroom at 653 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley next to Del's Liquors.

The new building has 2,400 square feet of floor space and is built of redwood exterior. Larry Brink, starting his 18th year in business, will use the new building as his principal display area for new and used cars, plus recreational vehicles.

He will also display cars at his main office at 250 East Blithedale Avenue, but the main office will serve primarily as the auto service center.

LISA'S LEATHERS, a leather goods shop at 473 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley, was sold this week to new owners, who plan to introduce classes in leather work.

New owners are San Rafael attorney Marvin S. Cahn; his wife, Marjorie P. Cahn; and Gregory J. (Tone) McQuire of San Anselmo. McQuire, who will operate the store, formerly ran a similar shop in Los Angeles, and has conducted classes in leatherwork.

The new owners bought the shop from Lisa Gage of Mill Valley, who had it for about three years.

LISA'S LEATHERS has all kinds of hides, lacings and tools for the hobbyist plus custom leather goods and some ready-made. Mrs. Cahn said McQuire will start classes in making leather goods such as moccasins and purses.

JOHN F. BURNS of San Rafael was elected a vice president of Kaiser Industries Corporation, Oakland.

Burns, 39, who also is controller of Kaiser Industries, joined the organization as a senior tax accountant in 1963. He became assistant controller in 1966 and controller in 1968.

Grandin

HENRY GRANDIN JR. of Ross was promoted to vice president and voting shareholder of Davis, Skaggs & Co., Inc., San Francisco stock brokerage firm. Grandin has been with the company for six years and was a registered representative before the promotion.

Grandin has lived in Marin for 17 years, the last 15 in Ross.

VILLAGE MARIN is the name of the $30 million residential and commercial development planned on the 500-acre Pacheco Ranch on the west side of Highway 101 between Marinwood and Loma Verde.

Developer is U.S. Development Corporation, which bought the picturesque property late last year from Perl-Mack Enterprises of Denver. William P. Hatch, president of the Northern California division of U.S. Development Corp., said open space will be the key to Village Marin. "At least 70 per cent of this site will become permanent open space," said Hatch. "We plan to build on no more than 150 of the 500 acres and to deed the rest over to the city."

Besides a variety of home styles including townhomes and single family detached units, a 25-acre shopping and office complex will be built. Work is expected to start this summer.

EUGENE VON WENING Jr. of Belvedere, vice president in charge of Turner Construction Company's office in San Francisco, has been appointed to the company's management committee.

Turner Construction is a nationally-operating general contracting and construction management firm with headquarters in New York. Von Wening joined the company in 1950 and became a vice president in 1967.

Waltz

R. MICHAEL WALTZ of Marinwood has been named manager of Wells Fargo Bank's New Montgomery office in San Francisco, succeeding Phillip Smith, who retired.

Waltz joined the bank in 1966 after graduation from UC Berkeley. He served with the bank's offices in Mill Valley, Sausalito, and Hollywood and was assistant vice president and assistant manager of the New Montgomery office in San Francisco before the latest promotion.

EMPORIUM at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda will be open five nights a week until 9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, beginning next Monday. In the past, the Big E has been open only three nights a week — Wednesday through Friday.

HARDING-LAWSON Associates, an engineering and geological firm with offices in San Rafael and San Francisco, announced the election of Henry T. Taylor of Larkspur as vice president and Keith H. Bergman of Terra Linda as secretary. A.L. Buchignani of Tiburon and Jerome S. Nelson of Terra Linda were named associates in the company.

Taylor is associate in charge of the San Francisco office. Bergman and Buchignani are based in the San Rafael office. Nelson was formerly supervisr of geophysical surveys in the California Department of Water Resources.

NATIONAL REAL ESTATE Fund of Novato announced it bought 50 per cent interest in Woodland Town & Country Mobile Manor, a 209-unit mobile home park in Woodland. Total price was in excess of $1,089,000.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED FORMATION OF AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT WITHIN THE OCEANA MARIN AREA OF NORTH MARIN COUNTY WATER DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District will conduct a public hearing on the proposed formation of an improvement district in the Oceana Marin area of North Marin County Water District at 8 o'clock p.m. P.S.T., on Tuesday, April 17, 1973, at the office of the District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California. Said hearing will be held pursuant to and on the matters stated in Resolution No. 999 of the Board of Directors of said District adopted on March 20, 1973, which resolution reads as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 999
RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO UNDERTAKE A PROJECT IN OCEANA MARIN AREA AND TO FORM AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT THEREFOR DESIGNATED OCEANA MARIN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. OM-3

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District as follows:

1. This resolution is adopted to institute the formation of an improvement district within North Marin County Water District in the County of Marin, State of California, pursuant to Chapter 5 of Part 6 of Division 12 of the California Water Code (commencing with Section 31585).

2. A description of the boundaries of the improvement district proposed to be formed is attached hereto, incorporated herein and marked Exhibit "A".

3. A brief general description of the project to be undertaken within such improvement district is to provide for the payment of the costs of operating, maintaining and repairing the sewage collection, treatment and disposal facilities that serve the territory of the proposed improvement district.

4. This Board hereby finds that the project will be of special benefit to such improvement district.

5. This Board hereby declares its intention to undertake the aforesaid project.

6. This Board hereby estimates the cost of the project to be $4,000 to $12,000 per year depending on the degree the territory of the proposed improvement district is developed and inhabited from time to time.

7. The method by which the project is proposed to be financed is as follows: (a) a sewerage service availability or standby charge of $10 per lot per year will be levied against each lot susceptible of being served by said facilities, (b) a sewer service rate of $13 per month (which may be modified from time to time by the Board of Directors) will be charged to each dwelling or other structure connected to said facilities and (c) the balance of any money required to pay the costs of operation, maintenance and repair of said facilities will be derived by the levy of ad valorem taxes upon all the taxable property within the improvement district. The rates of such taxation shall be fixed annually by this Board of Directors in the manner provided in Sections 31702.1 to 31702.4 inclusive of the California Water Code, provided, however, that the maximum amount of such tax which may be levied in any year shall not exceed seventy-five cents (75c) per $100 of assessed value of the taxable property in said improvement district.

8. Said improvement district proposed to be formed is hereby given the designation "Oceana Marin Improvement District No. OM-3 of North Marin County Water District".

9. The Board hereby sets 8:00 o'clock P.M. on Tuesday, April 17, 1973, at the offices of this District at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California, as the time, date and place for a hearing by this Board on the formation of the proposed improvement district, on the boundaries thereof, on the project proposed to be undertaken therein and on the method by which the project is proposed to be financed.

10. The Secretary of this District is hereby directed to give notice of the time and place of the hearing in accordance with Sections 31597 and 31598 of the California Water Code.

A map showing the boundaries of the proposed improvement district is available for inspection at the office of North Marin County Water District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California.

Written protests against the formation of the proposed improvement district, signed and acknowledged or proved in the manner required to entitle deeds to be recorded may be filed at the aforesaid office of the District until 8:00 P.M. on April 17, 1973, and may be filed thereafter at the said hearing at any time prior to the conclusion thereof.

Strawberry Council Hears Hard Facts

Strawberry citizens must "put aside their petty differences" and work together if they want to develop a master plan for their community, a Marin Planner has told the Strawberry area Community Council.

Secretary Sandra A. Dorsano said Steven Chaum of the Marin County Planning Department promised to work with citizens on the plan "as long as we're interested."

Mrs. Dorsano said Chaum told the council Tuesday he wants to see committees formed to work on specific details of the proposed plan and that he'll help in any way he can.

She said he warned that his position and three other half-time jobs at the planning department will expire June 30 and that the plan had better be finished by then or it may never be.

"We want Strawberry people to come by and contribute a few minutes of their time to work on the plan," said Mrs. Dorsano. "We're not asking them to attend a long, drawn-out meeting though."

The community council is meeting weekly to work with Chaum on the plan, she said. The next meeting is at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Strawberry Recreation Center.

'Fiddler' Tickets Still Available

The departments of music and drama at College of Marin announced yesterday that contrary to their previous report, tickets are still available for performances of "Fiddler on the Roof."

The musical may be seen at the college's fine arts therater on the Kentfield campus every evening this week and April 12-15 at 8 p.m.

Council Passes Ban On Smoking

Anyone convicted of the misdemeanor of lighting up can be fined a maximum of $500 and spend up to six months in jail, under an ordinance passed 4-1 Tuesday night by the city council.

The no-smoking ban must be upheld if 10 or more persons are present, or if anyone complains.

Major Bernard Esser, a chain smoker, cast the dissenting vote. The other four councilmen are non-smokers.

"Then, when her mother and sister FINALLY left it was 8 o'clock Tuesday night and she invites MAUDE into our living room!"

Use Salt To Remove Tattoos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A San Diego physician says tattoos may be removed simply by rubbing them with salt.

Dr. Gary H. Manchester wrote in California Medicine that salt had been used as long ago as in 1935 for the removal of tattoos.

Manchester said he decided to research and improve the method because "recently requests for tattoo removal have increased greatly in the United States due to the use of these markings in the initiation rites of the various Hippie-Yippie cults."

The plastic surgeon said he began experimenting about two years ago and has achieved good results—and without causing pain to his patients.

Manchester said his process was called "salabrasion" and consisted simply of rubbing the skin containing the tattoo ink with ordinary table salt.

SERVING MARIN AND SONOMA SINCE 1884

Judge Orders Knifing Case To High Court

A 27-year-old San Rafael man, charged with knifing an off-duty San Quentin guard during a brawl outside a San Rafael bar, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court.

Ordered by Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman to appear on April 18 was Lonnie Lawder Rivas, already serving a jail term for grand theft.

Rivas is said to have stabbed James Ellis Butler, 31, with a pocket knife near George's San Rafael Recreation Parlor at 842 Fourth Street on Feb. 19.

The stabbing was just one incident in a melee that took a dozen officers to break up. A second guard, Gary Lee Jackson, 29, of San Rafael, and Dennis Hugh Jensen, 20, also of San Rafael, were arrested and face misdemeanor charges of disturbing the peace.

Police said a verbal exchange between a group of seven guards and other patrons of the bar touched off the violence.

$300,000 In Airport Improvements Are Eyed

The Marin County Aviation Commission has reviewed for possible inclusion in the 1973-74 county budget about $300,000 worth of capital improvement projects at Gnoss Field, north of Novato.

Francis E. Torr, airport manager at Gnoss Field, said the projects will be proposed in next fiscal year's county budget to be considered by supervisors during June budget hearings.

The bulk of the funds, some $200,000, is slated for development of a southern extension of the airport to include hangers, auto parking, and airplane wash and maintenance areas.

The first phase of the project was approved this year by county supervisors but was delayed due to the need for an environmental impact report.

Some $99,000 in the budget for the project is expected to be carried over to next fiscal year when the entire project will be undertaken, Torr said.

Other capital projects reviewed by the commission include aircraft turnaround pads at each end of the runway and safety lights to help pilots during landings.

Torr said the commission also spent time reviewing for three new commissioners the history of Gnoss Field and the aviation commission.

Open House Events Set At Hamilton

The Thunderbirds, the Air Force's precision flying team, will give an aerial demonstration at the annual open house at Hamilton Air Force Base, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 21.

The Thunderbirds, flying red, white and blue, 4 Phantom II tactical fighter aircraft, are scheduled to take off at 3 p.m.

During open house there will be displays of current and vintage aircraft, fashion show, rifle drills, band music and demonstrations of radio-controlled flying.

Activities will be at the Air Force Reserve area at the south end of the base, a change from the former location near the base operations center.

The new location will provide more parking and display space and better viewing for the air demonstrations, the Air Force said.

Typewriter Stolen From Nurses' Office

A typewriter valued at between $400 and $600 was stolen from a nurses' office on the first floor of Marin General Hospital between 6 and 6:30 p.m. Friday, the Marin County Sheriff's Department reported yesterday.

The thief opened a sliding door, deputies said.

Two Felony Charges Admitted

A 25-year-old Greenbrae man, named in three felony cases pending in Marin courts, pleaded guilty yesterday in two of the cases.

Striking a plea bargain with Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court and the district attorney, Edward John Bonadeo admitted breaking into a car and trying to burglarize the Marin Rod and Gun Club.

A charge of concealing stolen property is to be dismissed if the sentencing settlement is followed. The judge told Bonadeo he will receive a suspended prison sentence and up to a year in jail when he is sentenced May 7.

The burglary charge arose from the theft of $201 from a parked car in San Rafael March 15. The attempt to break into the gun club occurred Dec. 23.

Students To Be Meet Panelists

Students from Clear Lake High School will discuss "Accent on Youth — the Two-Way Street" during the annual membership dinner meeting of the Respiratory Disease Association of the Redwood Empire April 13 at the Rainbow Lodge in Lakeport.

Members also are scheduled to vote on a name change for the organization to Lung Association of the Redwood Empire, and to elect officers and board members for 1973-74.

The meeting is open to the public. Social hour will be at 6:30 p.m. and dinner will be at 7:30 p.m., according to the association.

Musician Recalls His TV Entry

TORONTO (AP) — Gordon Robinson found his "niche in the world of music" 20 years ago.

It came about while the Toronto-born musician was watching the 1952 New Year's Day Rose Bowl game on television at his Los Angeles home.

"I'll never forget it," Robinson said.

"The phone rings and it's a friend of mine calling to say he had played a dance the previous night and met a man who was looking for an arranger for a piano player who was going to start a television show.

"He told me the piano player's name and I didn't even know him."

The piano player was Liberace.

"A couple days later we met and framed and built that first television show.

"He was given four shows to make it in Los Angeles without a sponsor. After the second show, the biggest bank chain in Los Angeles bought it and I sat on the sidelines and watched this thing develop over the years from absolutey nothing to a storybook showbiz story and I've been part of it ever since and it's been marvelous."

As well as arranging music for the orchestra that plays behind Liberace, Robinson has conducted the orchestration for all of the pianist's television and personal appearance shows for the last two decades.

"I know I could have never found a more favorable niche in the world of music than the one I have for many, many reasons. My style of thinking in music just fits exactly and Liberace himself trusts me thoroughly. He never questions anything I do."

Ex-Veterinarian Finds Paradise

Hayes has found the tropical island paradise many people dream about but most never even see. And he has found a way to make a modest living on lush Jesusita — little Jesus — Island in the Bay of Nicoya on Costa Rica's west coast.

The doctor of veterinary medicine, who closed up a pet hospital in Hollywood, Calif., 12 years ago to seek relief from chronic asthma, operates a tiny 10-room resort on 50 acres of the heavily wooded, 80-acre island. He is one of a growing number of Americans who feel they have found the rainbow's end in Costa Rica. He hunts, fishes, attends his guests, grows fruit trees, cooks gourmet meals and reads good books. But a lot of the time he just sits in a wood and leather rocker, pulling at a beer bottle with a sly grin on his face.

The doctor, who says he is 50 but may be older, has been on Jesusita for six years. He goes back to California occasionally to visit his children and grandchildren. But most of the time he is on the island, in his standard dress of bathing trunks and beer bottle.

"I had the Hollywood Dog and Cat Hospital but I was bothered by chronic asthma and couldn't find relief," Hayes said. "So I decided on a change in climate. Two other couples and I got on a boat and started going south. After we got to Costa Rica one woman was pregnant and wanted to have her baby in the United States so they left. Then the other couple decided they didn't like life on the boat so they left and I was stuck with the boat."

Hayes put the boat up for charter, mainly for fishermen and treasure hunters who were looking for the legendary pirate booty on Costa Rica's Coco Island in the Pacific Ocean.

"I lost money on that so I started fishing for lobster. I lost a lot of money on that. So I started fishing for tiger shark, selling the hide and meat. That was hard work but I made some money on that. Then I finally went broke and sold the boat. With the proceeds I bought the rights to the island."

Expert Links Dams And Quakes

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Do big dams and their reservoirs cause some earthquakes in California, the West, and elsewhere in the world?

A man who spent more than half of his 40-year career as a geologist in the federal government working for the Bonneville Power Administration thinks so.

He is Don Birch, just recently retired from the big federal agency here which transmits the government's major hydroelectric power in the region. He was the agency's only geologist.

Birch said he abandoned his belief in the theory that earthquakes were due to faults just last year. He's been researching eathquakes since 1956 and acknowledges there may be a variety of causes, but he has come to the conclusion that the constant lowering and refilling of reservoirs behind some dams has also triggered earthquakes.

His theory originated with earthquakes of the southern Puget Sound, an oval area in western Washington. He said the area is subject to sediment loading, constant pulsation nrom daily tide-loading and is triggered by a combination of earth-tide and atmospheric low.

"I realized my theory applied also to the San Fernando earthquake with a magnitude of 6.6 on the Richter scale Feb. 9, 1971," he said.

"The Pacoima Dam, two-thirds empty, had generated the quake. Constant lowering and refilling had by fatigue weakened the earth's crust," he said.

"A gravitational earth-tide, actually carefully recorded by instruments at two stations, served to trigger the quake. A large area surrounding the reservoir raised by over seven feet. Some of the movement may have occurred by slippage along old fault planes but this quickly diminished away from the reservoir."

He said his load theory is applicable to the famed San Francisco earthquake of 1906. He said that quake was "due to the Lower Crystal Springs Dam, height 54 feet and built in 1887-88." He also notes that prior to 1936 and the filling of Lake Mead behind Hoover Dam on the Nevada-Arizona border, it was not generally recognized that dams and their reservoirs can create serious earthquakes.

Birch said, "What better place was there to generate a big earthquake than to build a series of dams and reservoirs, totaling 12 miles in length, right on top of the sensitive San Andreas Fault. The first was Pilarcitos Lake formed by the damming of Pilarcitos Creek in 1864." He said an earthquake of high intensity was reported Oct. 8, 1865.

San Andreas Creek, in the San Andreas rift valley, was dammed in 1868-70 to form San Andreas Lake, but this again, he said, was raised in 1875. Upper Crystal Springs Dam was built in 1877 but later was flooded by the building of Lower Crystal Springs Dam in 1877-88.

"The right combination for triggering of the quake — a gravitational earth-tide and perhaps a coincidence with a barometric low, did not arrive until April 18, 1906, at a time when the reservoir probably was full," he said.

"It was indeed a most unique earthquake," said Birch, "for it ruptured the San Andreas Fault for a distance of over 195 miles."

At one time Birch said he was of the opinion that the Daly City earthquake of March 22, 1957, might have been generated by a low reservoir level at the Crystal Springs Dam, but he now believes the Daly City earthquake was due to filling of tidal flats — a form of overloading — perhaps at the San Francisco Airport.

Author Proves Persistence Pays

NEW YORK (AP) — Writer John Knowles, looking back without anger, notes wryly that his first novel "was rejected by every publisher of any importance in the United States — some 22, I believe."

Then, Knowles turned over "A Separate Peace" to a British house, it "was accepted immediately, got marvelous reviews, and eventually was published in this country.'

Since coming out in 1960 the novel, which deals with "two boys at a prep school during World War II," has, says Knowles, gone through some 40 hard and paperback printings, sold around four million copies, won three awards, and recently was made into a movie.

"Imagine!" Knowles says happily. "Who would have dreamed this book would be made into a film. Knock on wood!" And he does, getting up to thump a desk near him.

He says he isn't sure why the novel has been such a success, although he adds thoughtfully, "I suppose it may be because it's a very teachable book. Teachers find their students like the book and get involved with it. After all, it does deal with adolescence, growing up, hostility — all things young people can identify with."

Knowles, a 46-year-old bachelor who says he has "been writing forever," wrote "A Separate Peace" while working fulltime as a travel magazine editor.

"It wasn't too difficult," he recalls. "I'd get up early and work on the book and then I'd go to the magazine. it was a matter of important things first, and the important thing was the novel. Right?"

Knowles, who has published four novels, a collection of short stories and a collection of travel essays, still gets up early.

"I go to work first thing in the morning," he says. "My mind is at its best then. It hasn't been overlaid yet by the trivialities of the day.

"I never get dressed up or read the newspaper. I just splash water on my face, drink a cup of coffee, and start in writing in longhand. My first drafts always are in longhand. Then I do them over on the typewriter because no one can read my handwriting.

"I stop writing after two or three hours. It's wise to take time off. A beginning writer should work steadily because he has a lot to learn and a lot of bad writing to get out of his system. But after 25 years of writing — like me — you have to rest sometimes and recharge your batteries or your writing can become thin and repetitious."

Knowles, who has been writer-in-residence at Princeton and at the University of North Carolina, currently is at work on a novel and a collection of short stories.

The novel, titled "Spreading Fires," deals, he says, with "madness — the most contagious disease in the world. The collection will be called 'A Passion for Places.' A strong influence in each of the six stories is the place where it takes place."

Building Boom Hurts Elk Herds

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. (AP) — Housing developments and super shopping centers are beginning to ring the land of Big Bill, a bull elk, and his harem of female elk whose lineage is traced back 50 years to Jackson Hole, Wyo.

Over the years, hundreds of thousands of families have visited the elk herds at the 4,200-acre Ned Brown Forest Preserve 30 miles northwest of Chicago. The area by law will remain "eternally" a preserve, like others in the Cook County Forest Preserve District.

A half century ago when nine female elk and one bull were brought to the preserve from the National Park Service at Jackson, Wyo., the country was about as unpopulated as that from which they came. But now the building boom is on and the preserve's acres, of which 20 are fenced off for the elk, are valued at more than $85 million.

"We have to keep cutting down the herd — it grows fast," says James Mattson, division superintendent of the northwestern preserve areas. "Our original herd has started others that we have shipped out to 30 locations in the Midwest."

Recently, the herd was cut in half and Big Bill now reigns over only eight females.

"By May or June each of the females probably will have offspring," says Mattson. "And as this herd grows, we'll ship out more to similar centers."

A dozen years ago the herd had grown to 51 animals and overgrazing of the 20-acre enclosure was feared. The district commission decided to slaughter half the herd and give the meat to the Brookfield Zoo.

"There was such a hullabaloo we gave up the idea and began shipping the elk out," Mattson says. "The whole idea for an elk herd was that children should be able to see some large animals in their natural setting other than those on the farm. The children and parents didn't like the thought of killing the elk and feeding the meat to lions in a zoo."

Upkeep of the herd is small. A nearby farmer gives the elk enough hay and feed to last through the winter and the animals forage in the summer. They drink from a small creek running through their pasture.

Open Neck Dress Still 'Not Liked'

NEW YORK (UPI) — A growing trend among some of the better dressed men in the United States is to wear open neck shirts with their suits during the hot summer months. But if they do they will still have trouble getting into some of the better restaurants.

A couple of years ago the big fad was wearing turtle necks with anything and again there was a big uproar among the restaurants, some of which still will not admit women in pantsuits. Lord Snowdown, the husband of Britain's Princes Margaret, was once refused permission to enter a New York restaurant because of his turtleneck.

The new fad is the shirt-without-a-tie and it will just be hitting its stride this summer. Bob Connors of Hart Schaffner & Marx got curious about it and surveyed 38 top restaurants in 31 cities. Of the 38 only 12 said they could consider it appropriate fashion.

But time is on the side of the open neck. Twenty of the restaurants said they could accept turtlenecks in lieu of shirt and tie although nine said they would do so grudgingly — an improvement over a few years ago when the answer was a flat "no."

The survey indicated that a man who wanted to play it safe and avoid a possible scene had two alternatives — to telephone the restaurant first and check its policies or to have a tie handy for such emergencies.

Some restaurants keep a supply of ties on hand for this recurring crisis, and some even have a few jackets, usually shapeless. However, the manager of a Phoenix, Ariz., restaurant said he would try to match the coat to a man so he would not look too outlandish.

A possibility for a man who wants to approach fashion with a casual air would be to team a shirt, tie and sports coat. Even this is frowned on in some restaurants but all said they would admit such a combination.

There are exceptions to anything, of course, especially in the case of celebrities. Bill Veeck, a man-about-sports for years, has had long standing permission to go his usual tieless way in an elegant Chicago restaurant. And a San Francisco restaurant said it admits Truman Capote even when he is wearing sweater and slacks.

But bad things do happen to some celebrities. A Boston restaurant turned thumbs down on Paul Lynde when his dress failed to meet the management's requisite. And a Kansas City, Mo., restaurant said "No" to Ernie Ford — "too casual."

In Dallas one eatery requires a coat and tie but admits cowboy boots. A Milwaukee restaurant tries to swing with the times, saying times have changed so much it will admit anything "provided it's in gob taste." It even permits body shirts — but on younger patrons who have the physique for them.

Couple Silent For 25 Years

LONDON (AP) — Bus driver Edward Couchman and his wife, Rose, have not spoken to each other for 25 years — and they maintained their silence when they faced each other in the divorce court.

They married in 1936 and have three grown children. They separated in 1947. Couchman was granted a divorce because he had not lived with his wife for more than five years.

Outside the court Couchman said: "It's right, we have not spoken for 25 years."

Mrs. Couchman remained silent.

THE DRIVE-INS

An Old Hangout Thing Of The Past

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Remember the good old days of the drive-in restaurant?

It wasn't uncommon when the high school and college crowd would cruise into their favorite drive-in night spot after a football game or a movie, looking for some excitement, showing off their new cars and burning rubber on the blacktop just for the fun of it.

Well, times have changed. Gone are the days of the drive-in. In fact, in the last 20 years, drive-in restaurants across the country have just about vanished, giving way to the fast food-to-go places, which sell everything from hamburgers, fried chicken, and roast beef sandwiches.

During the 1930s and continuing through the late 1940s, drive-ins enjoyed their biggest business. They were the places where a working man could take his wife and kids to eat "just to get out of the house."

Ralph Duesbury, 64, who has been in the restaurant business since the 1930's, remembers the glorious days gone by.

"I remember we used to be busy all the time," Duesbury recalls. "Business was always booming, and there could be cars three deep, just waiting to get into our place."

In fact, business was so good that his drive-in served as the hub for many important businesses, Political, and sports personalities in the San Diego area.

"They all used to come here," Duesbury said. "Bing Crosby came in here once, but there were so many important people that came in to eat, and I just can't recall them all."

Duesbury, who describes himself as a hard-nosed perfectionist, started in the restaurant business in 1939, and has owned a restaurant in the same location for 30 years.

He openly displays an excitement for his profession, and recalls the good old days at the height of the drive-in craze.

"There used to be dozens in San Diego," Duesbury recalls. "They were all over San Diego. Then there was my place here. I built it at a cost of a little more than $67,000."

Duesbury's drive-in, called "Lawton's," was built in the typical drive-in style of architecture, a sort of round building with parking spaces all around except in the back.

Duesbury sadly admits that 1947 marked the beginning of the end for the drive-in restaurant.

A local food chain dealer said the demise of the drive-in resulted because people wanted to keep moving — they wanted speedy service at a reasonable cost in price.

A distinctive feature of the drive-in was the carhops who often wore brief outfits and would amble over to the customers' car and take their order. A few minutes later, they'd come back with a tray which they would attach to the front window on the driver's side.

"I always hired a special kind of girl to be a carhop," Duesbury said. "A customer was a bit more rowdy than the customer who came inside to eat. It took a girl with a lot up patience and stamina to put up with some of our customers."

Today, Duesbury has only one carhop left, and she also works inside.

Duesbury also had a rule that every customer obeyed.

"We put up a special sign that no one could leave their car," Duesbury said. Apparently former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis didn't read the sign.

"He was in San Diego to referee a boxing match and later stopped in to get a bite to eat," Duesbury recalls. "When he drove in, he got out of his car to talk to someone else. I didn't know who he was at first, so I ordered him to get back in his car. Someone nearby told me it was Joe Louis, but I told him I didn't care." Louis obliged by getting back in his car.

Duesbury has managed to survive the demise of the drive-in restaurant. He now considers his business a "family-style" restaurant, a place where a family can eat conveniently and reasonably.

Road Maps Need Constant Rework

NEW YORK (AP) — Both roads and road maps have changed significantly in the 30 years since Paul T. Tiddens started dealing with them as surveyor, cartographer and aerial photographer during World War II.

"The creation of the Interstate Highway System has been a major development in the nation's road network," says Tiddens, now the senior editor of Rand McNally's Road Atlas, who went to work for the company in 1945 after serving with the Army Corps of Engineers.

On the technical side he has seen map production grow from a one-man operation where the cartographer "did everything" to an assembly-line effort involving such specialists as designers, researchers, cartographer-draftsmen, cameramen, lithographers and printers.

"Original road maps were in black and white until about 1932, when they went to two colors," says Tiddens. "They're getting more complex all the time and in 1960 we began putting out four-color maps on which we could put twice as much material and still have it legible.

"We have to keep the information the motorist needs clear," he goes on. "The basic idea is to help someone get from where he is to where he is going as easily as possible, providing safety, enjoyment of the trip and saving him gasoline."

Opening of new sections of roads, connections and bridges, as well as changing of highway numbers, annexation of territory by towns, and updating of population figures make constant revisions necessary. There were 18,000 changes in maps and information from 1972 to 1973 in the Atlas, which covers all 50 states, Canada and Mexico. The company, which also produces oil company road maps, revises them twice a year.

"In fall we get the bulk of revisions because highway departments have been working like mad all summer," Tiddens says. "But they're doing some work all year and when a major connection to a highway or a new bridge opens we want to get the information out to the public as soon as possible. If we know a road will be closed for six months we put that on the map."

Researchers are in close touch with city engineers and with every state highway department and get regular detour bulletins showing construction in the state. A research car is constantly in operation, smetimes actually clocking mileage, at other times checking highway conditions and arranging for contacts in various areas — people who report on local changes.

"The index includes population figures and we have our own census system to keep up to date," Tidden points out. "We send out 26,000 queries every year to postmasters asking how many they serve in their area. We want to know the relative importance of a place in its locality. A town of 500 might make it on the map in Arizona but not in a population center like New Jersey."

The first road "maps," which appeared in the late 19th century, were merely verbal descriptions of the road, later accompanied by photographs of junctions and landmarks, Tiddens says. Early maps were bulky and expensive items sold by hotels. About 1917 map makers were using circle symbols such as a circle for a certain road and actually going out and nailing these symbols on trees, fences and telephone poles along the road so designated. Finally, in 1925, states began designating roads by number.

Tiddens, who has been boning up on map history in connection with the 1974 celebration of the 50th anniversary of Rand McNally's first Road Atlas, plans to reissue for the occasion that 1924 Atlas — if one can be found.

That failing, he plans to reissue the earliest one in the firm's archives, the 1926 Road Atlas, which contains such comments as these: "It takes gas to propel a motor vehicle — profanity won't do it." And "Women drivers of motor vehicles should be given special consideration and watching."

Tiddens suggests that in using a road map the motorist check the copyright date to make sure it is current. Mark the intended route with grease pencil and keep it for a souvenir, he adises.

But he has no advice on how to fold a road map. "I can't manage to do it either," he admits.

Airplane Project Clutters

The tail skid sits where he once had his couch. Two 14-foot wings spread over the living room floor.

The decor is a bit unusual for a townhouse apartment.

For almost three years now — whenever he has had the urge to work on it — Duncan has been building the single seat monoplane in his apartment.

"I've reached the point where it's just getting a little too big for the place," Duncan said of his project. "I gotta get it out of here."

He still has to mount a 65-horsepower engine and the propeller and cover the plane with 50 yards of fabric.

He plans to roll the craft out the back patio door, head for an airport, fasten the wings and be ready to take to the air.

Gypsies Learning A New Life Style

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Now they operate used car lots instead of palmistry parlors, and many of the adults and children attend school.

A legendary gypsy caravan has rolled to rest in Tacoma.

Historically, the gypsies have eluded the census takers by teaching their children false names, and evaded truant officers by their spontaneous mobility and their ancestral Romany language. Most are illiterate and see scant need to learn to read or write.

But now, the only Gypsy school in the nation has been started here. It is sponsored by the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and funded by a $155,000 three-year grant.

Phonics, reading, spelling and math are taught adult men for two hours two nights a week in a grade school. Gypsy men come from as far away as Portland and Seattle to learn.

The gypsies are suspicious of the Gadjoe, or outsider, meaning anyone who is not a Gypsy.

Yet about 20 youngsters from approximately 60 gypsy families attend regular elementary school here, a practice which is also unique nationally. The children often have trouble with English, their second language, but are exceptionally quick in arithmetic.

The adult school includes an hour on the fundamentals of the used car business. Four years ago, a dynamic gypsy leader named Miller Stevens convinced a group of men to enter vocational training in managing used car lost. Now five of them own their own lots here, with some Small Business Administration help.

Stevens, the national leader of the American gypsies, was the first Tacoma gypsy to own a used car lot.

"Now I have my own license to sell cars, but today insurance companies still demand coxigners before they will bond gypsies," he said.

Running a used car lot when you can't read or write can raise problems, and officials of the State Department of Motor Vehicles Dealer Licensing Office have been working with the Gypsy dealers to help them keep appropriate records.

The licensed gypsy dealers are refuting the beliefs of many that a gypsy is a fly-by-night, fast-buck operator. Administrator Robert Hayter said his department has very few problems with them, and they are "no better and no worse than other car dealers here."

Long before gypsies were officially recognized as a National Ethnic Minority, Stevens had asked the Tacoma Human Relations Board for relief from the discrimination his people suffered.

Stevens says there are about 2,000 gypsies in Washington year-round. Spokane has the largest colony, perhaps 100 families. Seattle's is the smallest, with about 30 families.

There is also a nomadic population of gympsies who "stay as long as the police let them," he said. Fortune telling is illegal in Washington state, he added, and "that's why you see a lot of gypsies on welfare — the law deprives them of their livelihood."

They are by tradition tinsmiths, horse traders, coppersmiths, and one tribe — the Boyash of Romania — is famous for the cedar picnic furniture its members create.

Although the old Gypsy trades are being replaced by modern technology, the cultural taboos which dictate that tribal members avoid Gadjo employers, food, dishes, schools and social institutions remain intact.

Their leaders say the gypsies are still suffering from pervasive prejudice which keeps them out of work, out of stable homes, and often on the run.

TONIGHT while MARIN sleeps . . .

employees of Casa Marin will be busily engaged in placing 12-HOUR SALE price tags on many, many home furnishings throughout our store. Why? Because the tremendous volume of business usually anticipated at this season has not come in — to date. A lag in traffic, with its resulting loss in movement of goods, cannot be tolerated for many days.

Fresh, new merchandise arrives almost daily and with these arrivals comes the problem of locating such items in the store . . . and in the warehouse. Now, to move out some $10,000 worth of overstock in one day takes some real doing. And the only way that we know to accomplish same is with a hotter-than-hot, door-busting sale. Consequently, we are offering TOMORROW (Friday) $114,500 worth of quality home furnishings for only $86,495 . . . every single item at a substantial saving to you.

This certainly will be the BIGGEST ONE-DAY SAVINGS OPPORTUNITY OF THE YEAR. So don't be late. Casa Marin opens at 9 A.M. tomorrow morning. No matter what furnishings you need or want for your home, you'll find them . . . and at almost unbelievably low, low prices.
Remember: SALE LASTS FROM 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. Don't miss it! Bring the entire family with you. You'll be glad you did!
